OUR CANADIAN WEST

Mr. Burnham Gives the Readers of The Times a Short But Exceeding Interesting Letter.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, The sunny nature of the air at this altitude is due probably to the thin veil of light textured air between the sun and humanity. The air is much lighter and thinner here. I have been so thoroughly enjoying the clear, pure, delicious water here that I went out this a.m. to the source of supply—the reservoir into which the various wells are pumped. The wells are from 20 to 30 feet deep, and are simply large pipes sunk down to the bed of water beneath. The reservoir cost $76,000, and the pumps are very simple affairs. The water is pumped by one pump into the mains. So is a very inexpensive system, but the water is so much superior to ours in Peterborough that I am quite sure that if our water drinking population at home found out how things are here they would insist on a change.

I went to the grain exchange yesterday and got the quotations—several cents a bushel higher here and at Fort William than at Minneapolis and Chicago. Farmers laugh at you if you mention reciprocity here. MacRae, who used to be on the Review, is one of the big men of the Free Press here. He is doing wonderfully well. The weather is perfect for ripening purposes and the people are happy.

TRYING TO MAKE UP.

Chimes Rang Merrily Civic Holiday to Make Up for 12th July.

(Editor Morning Times).

Sir, Those in charge of what is known as "The People's Chimes" must have been endeavoring to make up on civic holiday for their conduct in not ringing the bells on the 12th of July. The chimes were constantly in evidence on Monday last, it was said, in order to offset the omission on the occasion referred to. In the first case there were fully fifteen to twenty thousand strangers in the city, while on Monday last the number of outsiders were conspicuously few.

If it was advisable to hammer the bells so strenuously on civic holiday in order to let a few hundred outsiders hear them, surely on the greater occasion, when thousands were here, there should at least have been an equal effort made to entertain the guests within our doors.

The fact is, Mr. Editor, the church authorities would not permit the chimes to be rung for the Orangemen or their friends. I charge the Church Wardens with offering this gratuitous insult not only to the Orangemen of Peterborough City and County, but also to the citizens of Peterborough, who provided the necessary money for the purchase of the bells.

I am sure every Protestant who is worthy of the name must feel grateful to The Times for its manly stand on this and other similar matters.

WHO ARE THE "THE'S"?

Celts Who Are Entitled to the Chieftainship of Their Clans.

"Who are the "The's?" This is the question asked by the editor of Burke's Landed Gentry, and no one should be better qualified to answer it than is he.

The elusive title of "The," of course, is used to indicate the headship or chieftainship of a tribe or clan. In England the title has never existed. In Wales it has died, but in Scotland and Ireland, says the editor of Burke's, the craving for this old designation is an obsession.

There is an old Scottish saying that in Scotland there are but three "The's," The Chisholm, The Mackintosh, and The Devil. To-day there is much dispute as to who the Chisholm is, while the claimants to the chieftainship of Clan Chattan are legion.

In Ireland the position is clearer, for the right to chiefship was not hereditary, but elective, though the expert admits that "his legal principle of the Irish was much tempered by informality of election, assassination, warfare, and self-assertion." When Henry VIII. established English law the right of election ceased to exist.

Most of the chiefs, one by one, were made peers, and except possibly in one or two cases the tribal title of "The" was discontinued. Little was heard of it again until the latter half of the eighteenth century. With the exception of The McDermot and The O'Conor Don, both of which have been recognized constantly by the crown, nothing, says the editor of Burke's, in the nature of real proof of right can be offered in substantiation of any of them. Still, in Ireland he admits the following list, which he regards as practically complete:

The Knight of Glyn.
The Knight of Kerry.
The MacDermot, prince of Coolavin.
The MacDermot-Roe.
The MacGillicuddy of the Reeks.
The O'Conor Don.
The O'Donoghue.
The O'Donovan.
The O'Gorman.
The O'Grady.
The O'Kelly.
The O'Morchoe.
The O'Neill.
The O'Tool.
The Fox.
The O'Shea.
The O'Brien (Lord Inchiquin).
The O'Molloy.
The Reilly.
The O'Clery.

But in Scotland the appointment of a commission to inquire into the "Who's Who" of the "The's" is declared to be necessary.

While waiting for a badly wanted authoritative pronouncement the editor of Burke's puts forward the following list of tribal titles for Scotland:

The MacCallein Mor, chief of Clan Campbell (Duke of Argyll).
The Chisholm
The Mackintosh
Chief of Clan Ranald.
The Macpherson.
The McNab
Chief of Clan Gillean (Maclean, Bt.).
Chief of Clan Gregor.
Chief of Clan Cameron.
Chief of Clan Mackenzie.
Chief of the Clan Mackinnon.
Chief of Clan Chattan.
Chief of MacLeod.
Chief of Glengarry.
Captain of Dunstaffnage.

To the Manor Born.

Lord Charles Beresford and the Duke of Argyll were travelling together on the Great Western Railway, in England. The only other occupant of their compartment was a prosperous drummer, whose success had been due to natural talent for business rather than to sound education. The noblemen found their companion entertaining, so they listened to his talk until a small station in Gloucestershire was reached. Here Lord Charles Beresford alighted, and was met by a servant of the people with whom he was going to stay. The drummer, leaned out of the window, open-mouthed and wide-eyed. He saw his lordship bowed into a splendid carriage and driven off down a country lane. Drawing his head within the carriage again he turned to the duke, and said:

"Oos 'im?"

"He is Lord Charles Beresford," the duke replied.

"Well, now!" said the drummer. "Fancy the likes of 'im 'obnobbin' with two cads like you and me!"

Puns on People's Names.

Some years ago a popular form of social amusement was found in punning on people's names: "Why did So-and-so?" "Because Such-and-such." The originator of the fashion was no less notable a person than the Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. On a lecturer named Mary Grew, visiting Boston in 1871, Whittier wrote a poem, "How Mary Grew," each stanza ending on a variation of the pun—

The world were safe if but a few
Could grow in grace as Mary Grew.

A Lord's Hobby.

Lord Iveagh has just given a sum of $50,000 to Trinity College, Dublin, to be expended in the department of geology and mineralogy. Seeing that ten years ago he gave $200,000 to his alma mater for scientific purposes he has handsomely discharged his indebtedness to her.

Lord Iveagh has an amiable weakness for giving away thousands of dollars at a time. In 1908 he gave $1,250,000 for the erection of model working-class dwellings in Dublin, and he has handed over large sums for a similar purpose in London. A few years ago the Dublin Corporation presented their munificent patron with an address in recognition of his many acts of generosity to the city.

Lord Iveagh's wealth is derived from the famous Guinness brewery. He keeps a town house in Dublin, and one in London, but his great residence is Elveden, near Thetford. This is perhaps the finest sporting estate in England.

Children's Books In Olden Times.

The earliest books for children were schoolbooks pure and simple. The titles of some of them suggest entertainment and refreshment, but the arid pages belie the promise. For instance, an old Latin grammar, published in 1570, had for sub-title, "A delycious Syrupe newly Clarified for Yonge Scholars yt thurste for the Swete Lycore of Latin Speche," but the "Lycore" is a very turgid, confused flow of pedantry. A different style is suggested by the name of another schoolbook written by one Elisha Coles in 1675, "Nolens Volens, or you shall learn Latin whether you will or no," a title which suggest a vigorous application of the birch.

Placing His Kick.

On one occasion the professors at a Scotch theological college were made to feel the bitter irony and reckless sarcasm of one of their students. The students residing within the college dined together in the common hall. The fare was mean, consisting generally of rabbits. The students had often grumbled, but as a professor presided at the table none ventured openly to complain. Each student asked the blessing by turns. One rose reverently and said.

For rabbits young and for rabbits old,
For rabbits hot and for rabbits cold,
For rabbits tender and for rabbits tough,
Our thanks we render, for we've had enough!

Church Built of Bulrushes.

The first place of worship in Western Australia was unique in two respects—the materials of which it was built and also the several purposes to which it was devoted. This remarkable building was made at Perth by soldiers shortly after their first arrival in 1829 and was composed almost entirely of bulrushes. In addition to its use on Sundays for divine worship, it occasionally served as an amateur theatre during the week and during the whole time as a barracks.

THE PAWKY SCOT.

Scottish Wit and Humor By No Means a Myth.

Dean Swift said that it required a surgical operation upon a Scotsman to see the point of a joke. No doubt the celebrated wit referred to an English joke. Certainly a recent writer gives several examples of Scottish wit and humor. A young Englishman at a party mostly composed of Scotsmen made several attempts to crack a joke, and, failing to evoke a smile from his companions, he became angry, and exclaimed, "Why, it would take a gimlet to put a joke into the heads of you Scotchmen!" One of them replied, "Aye; but the gimlet wud need tae be mair pointed than thae jokes." A clergyman in the North of Scotland was reproving a parishioner for his habits of intemperance. He represented to him that whisky was his greatest enemy. "Are not we told in Scripture to love our enemies?" said the irreverent bacchanalian. "Yes, John," responded the minister; "but it is not said we are to swallow them."

A well-known idiot, named Jamie Frazer, surprised people sometimes by his replies. The congregation of his parish had for some time distressed the minister by the habit of sleeping in church. He had often endeavored to impress them with a sense of impropriety of such conduct, and one day when Jamie was sitting in the front gallery wide awake, when many were slumbering round him, the clergyman endeavored to awaken the attention of his hearers by stating the fact, saying, "You see even Jamie Frazer, the idiot, does not fall asleep as so many of you are doing." Jamie coolly replied, "An' I hadna been an idiot I wad ha' been sleeping, too." Two irreverent young fellows once determined to confound the minister. Coming up to him in the High street of Dumfries, they accosted him with much solemnity, "Maister Dunlop, hae ye heard the news?" "What news?" "Oh, the deil's dead." "Is he?" said Dunlop. "Then I maun pray for two faitherless bairns."

A clergyman was preaching in a church where there was a choir that monopolized the psalmody. He listened patiently to a complex piece of music. When it was finished he rose and solemnly said, "Now that the choir have praised themselves, let the congregation unite with me in praising the Lord."

Hugo Arnot, the historian of Edinburgh, was one day waited upon by a woman who requested him to advise her how she might best get rid of an admirer, whose importunities caused her annoyance. The woman was the reverse of fascinating, and Arnot, being indisposed to flatter her vanity, replied, "Oh, you had better marry the fellow." "Marry him" replied the astonished woman. "I would see him hanged first." "Marry him then," persisted the humorist, "and I'll bet he'll soon hang himself."

Dr. McLeod and Dr. Watson were in the West Highlands together on a tour, before leaving for India. When they were crossing a loch in a boat, in company with a number of passengers, a storm came on. One of the passengers was heard to say, "The twa ministers should begin to pray, or we'll a' be doomed." "Ah, na," said a boatman. "The little ane can pray, if he likes; but the big ane must ta' an oar."

John Erskine was at the age of 20 a teacher of Latin in Edinburgh University. On one occasion, after his elevation to the Bench, a young lawyer in arguing a case before him used a false Latin quantity, whereupon his lordship said, with a good-natured smile, "Are you sure, sir, you are correct in your quantity there?" The young counsel, nettled at the query, retorted petulantly, "My lord, I never was a schoolmaster." "No," answered the judge, "nor, I think, a scholar either."

MERELY COINCIDENCE?

CURIOUS EXAMPLES OF THINGS THAT CAME TRUE.

Flamsteed Was an Astronomer, But His Astrology Worked Out All Right—Mr. Williams' Dream of the Murder of Mr. Perceval in British Commons Was Fulfilled—Story of Lord Lyttleton's Ghost.

Most of us have had more or less striking coincidences happen within our own personal experience. Some of the most memorable instances published are to be found in these remarkable series of circumstances which form chains of evidence, on the strength of which many innocent men have been convicted.

Humor is to be found in coincidence, too. In the days of Flamsteed, a former Astronomer-Royal, astrologers were much in request by the public, who looked upon the Astronomer-Royal as the most potent of them all, and often consulted him in time of trouble. One day an old lady called on Flamsteed and asked him to exercise his art by discovering the whereabouts of a basket of linen she had lost. Flamsteed pretended to consult the stars, and then told his visitor that if she went to a certain field she would find her belongings. The woman went to the place indicated, and, much to the astronomer's astonishment found her basket of linen intact.

One of the most remarkable instances of this kind—a vision prior to or simultaneous with an historical occurrence represented in the vision—was Mr. Williams' dream of the murder of Mr. Perceval in the lobby of the House of Commons on May 11th, 1812. Mr. Williams was a native of Redruth in Cornwall. On the night of the 2nd or 3rd of May he dreamt that he saw a little man whom he afterwards learned was Mr. Perceval, the Prime Minister, shot by another man whose dress he described, and who took a pistol from under his coat. The tragedy took place in the lobby of the House of Commons, and the murderer was laid hold of by several gentlemen present. Such in brief, was Mr. Williams' dream, and he dreamt it no fewer than three times that same night. This made such an impression on him that he wished to journey up to London, to warn Mr. Perceval. But his friends dissuaded him, pointing out that he would probably be laughed at for his pains. Williams yielded, but watched the newspapers. He wrote afterwards:

"On the evening of the 13th of May . . . . my second son, returning from Truro, came in a hurried way into the room where I was sitting and exclaimed 'Oh, father, your dream has come true! Mr. Perceval has been shot in the lobby of the House of Commons; there is an account come from London to Truro written after the newspapers were printed.'" Mr. Perceval, as we know, was assassinated on the 11th. Another very curious circumstance in connection with this affair was that a rumor or report of the assassination of Mr. Perceval reached Bude Kirk, a village near Annan, in Scotland, on the night of Sunday, May 10th, the day before the crime was committed! This was mentioned in The Times of May 25th, 1812, and was confirmed by Rev. Mr. Yorstoun, of Hoddam, who visited Bude Kirk a short time afterwards.

A somewhat similar affair which was generally known as Lord Lyttleton's ghost — although nobody knew what the ghost was or whether there was any spectre at all—was said by Dr. Johnson to have been "the most extraordinary thing that has happened in my day." Thomas Lord Lyttleton was born in 1774. As a young man he played the prodigal at home and abroad, until at the age of 30 he took his seat in the House of Lords. In November, 1804, his party went into Opposition. On Thursday, November 25, he denounced the Government in a notable speech. Referring to a sinecure which he held, he said, "Perhaps I shall not keep it long!"

On the previous night Lyttleton had seen the ghost, or apparition, or whatever it was, and had been told that he would die in three days. He mentioned it to Rowan Hamilton on the 26th, and also to a Captain Ascough, through whom it reached Mrs Thrale, who chronicled it. On the same day he went to Epsom with some friends and mentioned the visitation to them. About midnight on the 29th November Lord Lyttleton died suddenly in bed, his valet having left him for a moment. The cause of death was not stated and there was no inquest. Most of the narrators, including Mrs. Thrale, who recorded the warning before news of his lordship's death reached her, called the affair a dream, but the coincidence of its fulfilment is the mysterious and significant part of it.

Still another example of the long arm of coincidence is given by Dr. Ebera, the head of a great lunatic asylum. He had been waiting at the station for a friend who had not arrived when an old Scotchwoman rushed up to him, "Oh, sir!" she cried, "Thank God you've come. Now take me to him."

The doctor was naturally astonished, and the woman explained that she had not heard of her sailor son for months. She had been warned in a dream to go to London and wait at the station, where an old gentleman would meet her and take her to where her son was. "And you are the old gentleman," she concluded.

Still Dr. Ebara was no wiser. He took her story to his wife. Suddenly he recollected that some months previously a man was sent to the asylum. He had fallen from aloft, cracked his skull and was then only recovering from an operation. Next day a meeting was arranged, and sure enough the injured man was the old lady's sailor son. In a very short time they both returned to Scotland, both convinced that their reunion was a special dispensation of Providence.

LOOKING AHEAD.

Writer Depicts England Three Hundred Years Hence.

The last century or so has been a sort of world-drunk—the world's one magnificent drunk. Man has gone on a "burst," and been drinking up a planet all at once. The human race has been really proud of its deed. Science has helped the work all along. Humanitarianism has lent it all possible assistance. The church has blessed it, and laid down the theory that any stoppage or even diminution of the proceedings is unscriptural, says a writer in The National Review. The two outstanding features of the period have been an incredible increase of the old food demand accompanied by an actual diminuation of the possible area of supply through the turning of corn fields or possible corn fields into cities, and the invention of all sorts of new demands to meet the necessities of an increasingly complex civilization. Another two centuries or so of expansion at the present rate is calculated to make the old countries of the world a herd of dreary regions. They will contain no quiet spot in which two lovers may get out of sight of their prying fellow-creatures—no place where a man may propose to a maid save in the presence of six listeners—no leafy retreat where a bard may compose a scrap or verse without a dozen onlookers pointing over his shoulders at a dubious rhyme.

Even the homicide will have to leave the body of his victim on the roof unless he is prepared to bury it in the full glare of publicity. In the England of some three centuries hence, with its two thousand million people—assuming the much-valued birthrate to continue — mankind will probably sleep eight in a bed, and seclusion will be the luxury of the very rich. Possibly even they will not always be able to buy the article. The present variety of civilization—the civilization of coal and iron, and dust, and hurry, and an unprecedented growth of population—will probably begin to die out where it commenced. England gained its commercial and manufacturing supremacy through being the first modern state to set about the wholesale destruction of its forests and the utterly reckless using up of its irreplaceable coal and iron supplies.

How long the coal and iron will last is a question on which no two authorities appear to agree. All that is really known is that the supply is not unlimited, and that the demand grows larger daily. England, in its haste to be rich, also became the first country to depend almost wholly for its food and timber on foreign suppliers. And when the present suppliers reach, as previous ones have done, the point at which they want their own loaf and their own tree for local consumption, then the heaviest blow is likely to fall on the country which thereby has its resources most completely cut off. There will be first an era of high prices, which will be good for the countries with food to sell and bad for the buyers of food just in proportion to their degree of dependence. Then there will be the era of absolute scarcity. And, finally in all probability, will come the time of complete stoppage of supplies. And after that —when the loaf wars are over and done with—there will perhaps be a new civilization, with far less population, less commerce, less hurry, less motor-cars, less luxury, less pounding of machinery, and much more hard agriculture.

PARENTS' STRANGE IDEAS.

Goose Grease Used for Lung Trouble—Beads to Prevent Colds.

Four years' medical examination of some thousands of children attending the Acton Council schools by Dr. D. J. Thomas and Dr. Lilian E. Wilson has brought to light an astonishing number of curious beliefs on the part of mothers. The medical officers, in their annual report, just issued, say there are still parents who hold that whooping cough may be cured by taking a child near gasworks or through a railroad tunnel. For lung complaints there would appear to be a special value in goose grease, "which is considered far superior to other oils and medical remedies." Possibly, it is pointed out, the efficacy of the goose grease is due to the energy and faith with which it is applied.

A squint is often considered a hereditary distinction, and "sties" are sometimes treated by friction applied with a wedding ring, which must be of gold.

Bead neckties are exceedingly common among young children, and in the case of boys an amulet is often worn. This is partly for ornament and partly as a prophylactic against disease, the mothers thinking that blue beads have a special merit in "keeping away colds or quinsy." Coral brings luck. Both are probably a relic of the times when people feared the evil eye. Even now these beads are worn next to the skin and are never removed by night or day lest some dire illness should result.

About discharges of the ear there is great ignorance among these people. A popular remedy difficult to understand is the insertion in the ear of a plug of tobacco.

Perhaps the most deep-seated of all superstitions centres about the mystic age of seven. Numbers of parents of a fairly-educated type have explained a delay in obtaining treatment of some childish ailment, saying, "He will grow out of it when he is seven." At that age enlarged tonsils and adenoids are supposed miraculously to vanish, and ear discharges or squints are thought certain to become things of the past.

Children burdened with an excess of clothing were very common. It was not unusual to find seven thick layers of clothing, three or four of them consisting of heavy cloth or flannel tightly wrapped over the child's chest, while the innermost layer of brown soaked in goose grease.

ARABIAN NIGHTS CITY

BAGDAD IS A REALLY ANCIENT ORIENTAL TOWN.

Home of the Caliphs Has Not Yet Succumbed to the Innovations of the West — Robbers and Fleas Abound and the Foreign Section Is After All the Most Inviting Part of the Community.

To the readers of the Arabian Nights—and who has not read them?—Bagdad, the city of Haroun-al-Raschid, conjures up an incomparable and delightful vision of stately palaces, lovely women, shady courts and cool fountains, such as exist in no other city of the world. Many a lover of the beautiful has laid down his book with a sense of weariness of Occidental luxury, oblivious of the fact that the East seen through the magic spectacles of fairy romance is not the East of reality.

Bagdad has a charm all of its own. For it is not only the largest and best-known city of Mesopotamia—the cradle of the world—but it is one of the few remaining cities still unspoilt by Western innovations.

Moreover, the advent of the Bagdad Railway and Sir William Wilcock's irrigation scheme have given the city of the Caliphs so much prominence of late, and England has so large a stake in that portion of the Turkish Empire, that a brief description of what is to be seen and done in the city of a Thousand-and-One Nights may not prove uninteresting to that large circle of readers who can spare neither the time nor the money to undertake a journey necessitating several weeks of travel.

One can reach Bagdad either via the Persian Gulf or via Beyrout-Aleppo, the latter being the most picturesque route. From Aleppo southwards one must either proceed all the way by native carriage or go to Meskeneh and travel down the Euphrates to Feluja on a "shaktoor"—a vessel somewhat like a child's Noah's Ark borne downstream by the river current.

The traveler who hankers after Pullman cars or upholstered seats had better return home once he reaches Aleppo, for nothing more uncomfortable can be imagined than a journey through the desert in a native carriage. Forced to lie full length for twelve or fourteen hours at a stretch daily, jolted from one side to the other whilst the burning rays of the sun beat down upon one's head, one gives a sigh of relief upon reaching a "khan" just before sundown in order to snatch a few hours' sleep—fleas permitting! Moreover, the roads are infested with robbers, so that it is necessary to travel with an escort of soldiers.

After some twenty days of travel one at last approaches Bagdad, glad at heart to know that in a space of a few hours the sound of English, French and German will again greet one's ears. Hence when the driver shouts "Inshallah (please God), Bagdad in three hours!" one cranes one's neck in order to get an early view of the mosques and minarets of story and legend.

Within half an hour of Bagdad the holy city of Kazimain, famous for its mosque with domes of solid gold, and the fanaticism of its inhabitants, stands out against the clear blue sky. Annually thousands of Shia pilgrims make their way from Persia to pray at this shrine, and the Ottoman Government reaps quite a rich harvest from the duty it levies on corpses imported for burial amongst the saints of Shia Mohammedanism.

No unbeliever is allowed within the precincts of this place of worship, and only a glance can be obtained on one's way through the bazaar, of the splendid mosaics which cover the facade of this mosque.

The natives look askance at every stranger entering the city, and so fanatic are they that the writer of this article was unable to purchase a drink of water lest his lips should defile the bowl. From Kazimain to Bagdad there is a very old-fashioned system of tramways, which passes near the tomb of Zobedieh, Haroun-al-Raschid's devoted wife.

Bagdad at last! and a finer sight eye never looked upon—from a distance. The stately palm-trees swaying to and fro in the gentle breeze, the strange goofas plying upon the river, the minarets, the bridge of boats with its crowd of passengers, made me wonder whether my senses were enchanted. Ichabod—when I reached the city I discovered that it was distance that lent enchantment to the view, and that the glories of Bagdad had indeed departed!

If little can be said in favor of the sights to be seen, the social life in Bagdad amongst Europeans has much to recommend itself. Everyone seems good-tempered, notwithstanding that the mean temperature in summer is 118 degrees Fahr. There is plenty of sport — tennis, badminton, polo — whilst an occasional dance or garden-party does a great deal to dispel that feeling of homesickness that overcomes the best and worst of us.

Bagdad boasts three clubs — the British, German and French. Hospitality is written with a capital H over each, and anyone pitching his tent in this city will find a warm welcome extended him by his compatriots.

Each of these clubs sets a day apart every week or month for the reception of guests. One then hears such a babel of tongues that one might imagine one's self in a Berlitz school. Modesty precludes my saying anything about the British Club. I cannot conclude this article, however, without paying a tribute to the German colony in Bagdad. Not to have been to the German club on Wednesday afternoons is to have missed a social treat. Many a non-German will carry away with him pleasant memories of our charming hosts and hostesses, so indefatigable in their efforts to make their guests as happy as possible "im deutschen Kreis."—E. Schaap.

HOMES OF THE NORTH.

All Sorts of Nationalities Represented In New Ontario.

Have you ever realized that if you place a compass on Toronto and describe an arc embracing Cochrane to the north and complete the circle to the south the line will pass through the Alleghenies in Virginia? asks Ben Hughes in Toronto Globe. And for the one hundred and fifty miles north of Haileybury there are settlers from the big barns and wide clearings at New Liskeard to the logs shacks and the holes in the forest at Cochrane?

Where do the people come from that pioneer in the wilderness of spruce and jackpine.

As the north reckons, Englehart is an old settlement, and therefore it is to be expected that there will be some trim homes in the vicinity. Nor will you be disappointed. Some years ago an English couple, the husband a gardener in an English country house, settled on one of the concession lines between Englehart and Charlton. The individuality of the man is reflected very closely in the character of the house, the trim, well-kept lawn in front, without which to a certain type of Midlander no house is a home. Opposite him lives a German family with a quiverful of children, raising prodigious amounts of onion and cabbage, and in a roomy, go-as-you-please domicile.

Nearly eighty miles north the Pullman cars attached to the T. & N. O. trains four times a day pass within view of the log shack of yet another German settler. A year or two ago he came here from Brazil, where a great number of Teutons are seeking "a place in the sun." However, this particular family found that it was quite possible to get even too much sun, particularly when it is combined with malaria, and they jumped clear across a continent to northern Ontario. The good wife in the middle of winter sometimes sighs for the langorous heat of South America, but the husband last year raised the champion crop of oats along the T. & N. O. and will certainly stay with the country for some time to come.

In the little settlement of Homer there lives a German-Canadian, Sigismund Freiburger. He built the log house and has lived in it; he has cleared the land around it and raised crops on it; yet on the books of the Ontario Government his name cannot be found, and legally he has no right to either the clearing or the home. It is part of the burden of the settlers in Homer, this uncertainty of tenure of land.

It is work for a man, this settlement of the north in the Arctic cold of the midwinter day, when the settler earns his bread cutting out spruce for pulpwood waist-deep in snow; in the forcing-house heat of the spring, when the winter roads have gone and the cattle must be fed with grain brought in, on the settler's back, over a swamp trail where a horse would founder; in the early summer, when the blackfly and the mosquito make life a burden; in the late summer, when the bush fires flame in the sky; in the fall, the best time of all the year, when man and nature are preparing for the long hibernation.

And why all this travail and heavy labor? For the landless, dollarless man, a home and a stretch of land that he acknowledges no man's right to walk on but himself; for a place where his children can run abroad without inhaling the dust of the streets. Little it may seem to those reasonably well to do, but, oh, how infinitely to be desired by the thousands of town dwellers in the bye-streets where the weekly salary is regularly eaten up by the weekly expenditure, and where the future holds out no hope of protection for a rainy day.

How Exclamations Originate.

"Halloo" and "hurrah," which are among the exclamations in common use, can be traced to curious origins. The author of "The Queen's English" tells us that the people of Carnwood forest, Leicestershire, when they wish to hail anyone at a distance call out not "halloo," but "halloup." This, he takes it, is a survival of the times when one cried to another "A loup! A loup!" or, as we should say, "A wolf! A wolf!" "Hurrah," according to high authority, is derived from the Slavonic "hurraj," "to paradise," a battlecry which voiced the prevailing belief that all soldiers who fell in the fight went straight up to paradise.

Paternal Confidence.

The Young Man (with some embarrassment)—There is one question you haven't asked me yet Mr Ennpep. You haven't wanted to know whether or not I think I can make a living for your daughter.

The Other Man—That isn't necessary, Henry. She'll see that you make the living, all right, if she's at all like her mother, and I think she is.

War In the Air.

A strange drama of bird life was witnessed recently by some Portland fishermen on the south coast of England. A homing pigeon was attacked by a large hawk, when two rooks and a seagull joined forces and attempted to deprive the hawk of its prey. The fight lasted some five minutes when the hawk, tearing the pigeon's head from its body, let the latter fall and flew away.

Blooms Under Swiss Snow.

The soldanellas of the high Alpine meadows of Switzerland bore their way up through the coating of ice and snow by means of heat generated by the growing stem. Quite commonly, if the layer of snow is very thick, the flower will open without ever reaching the surface at all. The blossom is in no way affected by the strange surroundings. The space round the stem is, of course, thawed by the growing stem, which gives out heat.

A Man's Own Horn.

"I should think some of these speechmakers would get tired of hearing themselves," said the proprietor of the village store.

"Human nature's the same in politics as 'tis anywheres else," replied old Joe Struthers. "A man don't mind listenin' to the worst noise a cornet kin make, provided he's the feller that's doin' the practicin'."

Married in Toronto.

Toronto Star: A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. E. R. Cummer, Spruce street, Aurora, when his niece, Lena Cummer, was united in marriage to Mr. W. H. [illegible] of Peterborough, Ont. The [illegible] was prettily decorated for the [illegible]. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. W. H. Learoyd, during [illegible] Wedding March was rendered by Professor Cummer. The bride, attended only by her little cousin, Margaret Todd, of Port Credit, who was a pretty flower girl, wore a dainty gown of white Swiss embroidery, carrying a sheaf of white sweet peas, and was given away by her uncle, Mr E. Cummer. After the ceremony, the guests, who included only near relatives, sat down to a dainty luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left on the two o'clock train, the bride travelling in a light grey tailored suit and hat to match.

Wanted Rope and Belting.

Yesterday forenoon two sons of the late Edward Hayes, whose tragic death took place on Monday in the Peterborough Lumber Company's mill, went over to the mill and gathered up the rope which happened to be the innocent cause of their father's untimely death and also a piece of the belting which drew the unfortunate man into the wheel. Mr. John Thompson, the superintendent of the company, who happened to enter a few minutes after, ordered the young man not to take the articles away. The older brother had made a coil of the rope, and gave it to the younger, who ran away with it. Mr. Thompson at once phoned the police and followed in their buggy, finally securing both the rope and the belt. They did not state what their object was in taking the articles. In view of the inquest Mr. Thompson desired to have nothing molested.

A Wonderful Picture.

"The Shadow of the Cross" was painted by Henry Hammond Ahl, who studied painting in the art centres of the old world for many years. He returned to America in 1896, and established a studio in a New England city, where for some time he painted principally portraits and landscapes. The story of how he came to paint the picture, and of its strange powers, which even the artist cannot explain, is most interesting. The cross which appears to the eyes of the beholder, but which may not be seen at first glance, but gradually appears, and is not luminous, as though the reflection of a real light, is the inexplicable part of the wonderful painting. The artist was so impressed with the phenomenon of the cross when he first beheld it, that he refused to finish the painting. The cross is not visible to any two persons at a time but appears at odd intervals. The picture will be on exhibition in the city shortly.

EFFECTIVE, ECONOMICAL COMPLEXION BEAUTIFIER

(Julia Orff in The Clubwoman.)

One reason I so strongly recommend mercolized wax is that it really takes the place of several different cosmetics, saving time, patience and expense. It is better than any cleansing cream, better than any massage cream, and better than any rouge, for accomplishing the results for which such articles are used. As the wax actually absorbs an old, faded or discolored cuticle, a little each day, the underlying skin which gradually appears, is clearer, softer, healthier-hued and more youthful than any cosmetic-made complexion. Spreading on a thin coat of this wax at night, washing it off mornings, in a week or so produces a marvelous transformation. Just one ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will do the work. There's nothing better to remove freckles, tan, sallowness, blotches, pimples or blackheads.

For wrinkles and loose, saggy skin, I invariably recommend a face bath made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties.

ROSE'S GAMBLING REVELATIONS WORSE THAN ANY SAFFRON-HUED DIME NOVEL

He Held the Grand Jury Spellbound for Two Hours as He Told in an Oratorical Flow the Part He Played in Rosenthal Murder--Says That Becker Was Paymaster of Murder Crew

New York, Aug. 14.—Following grand jury revelations that Police Lieut. Chas. Becker, indicted for the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal, on a yearly salary of $2,200 deposited more than $58,000 in four banks during eight months, intense interest to-day was shown in the mass meeting called for to-night at Cooper Union by the Volunteer Citizens' Committee. It was a matter of significant comment that neither Mayor Gaynor nor Police Commissioner Waldo was invited to attend.

How Money Was Paid.

In the search for evidence to convict the murderers of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, the State's Attorney and the grand jury have unearthed a wealth of information showing that gamblers and keepers of disorderly houses paid sums aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly for police protection. Evidence now before the grand jury shows that every form of gaming and vice paid a prescribed toll, and that these tariffs varied according to the location in the city

The monthly tariffs paid to the Po- re vary: First-class up town gaming houses paid $1,000, a middle- gambling house paid $500, st Side gaming houses paid from 00 to $400, high-class poolrooms 00, while poker dice games paid 00, uptown disorderly houses paid 00, while East Side resorts paid 00.

Rose Made Revelations.

ack Rose held the jury spellbound two hours yesterday when he re- ted in an oratorical flow of ex- ent English the confession of his t in the murder plot and his al- d graft relations with Lieut. ker, which he has already made District Attorney Whitman in ting. One of the jurors is repor- to have remarked that he had heard the equal of the story por- yed in any melodrama or saffron d dime novel. The one addition- fact of importance which the lit- bald-headed gambler added to his vious accusations against the po- lieutenant was, it was learned . Becker himself was in effect paymaster of the murder crew. n Becker, "Bridgie" Webber and e met in front of the Murray on the morning of the murder, rding to the testimony of the , Becker borrowed from idgie" Webber the $1,000 "blood ey" in large bills handed it to e, who handed it to Scheppe, then passed it on to "Gip the d" and his three thug compan-

e also told the jury the specific which he charges that Jack van, the former "King of the boys," played in the murder

Gangsters Arrested?

Montreal, Aug. 14.—That the police suspect they have "Lefty" Louis and "Gyp the Blood," two of the gangsters wanted in New York for the Rosenthal murder, was conceded by officials around the courts this morning.

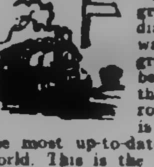
Last evening a gang of young men were arrested in a raid on a cocaine den and two of the prisoners are said to be the gangsters. They answere the description sent out by the New York police.

It is said that the New York police have been notified.

THE GREATEST IN THE WORLD

The Canadian Pacific Now Easily Takes The Rank

The Canadian Pacific Now Easily Takes This Rank.



FOR years the progress of the Canadian Pacific Railway has been so great that it has been regarded as the greatest of all roads. In Europe it is now regarded as the most up-to-date railway in the world. This is the statement of Mr. Johann Pappe, the director in charge of rolling stock, motive power and shops for the Hungarian State railways, who is now on a visit to Canada. "For that reason," said Mr. Pappe, "I consider it my duty as a railway man, as well as a great pleasure, to go over the system and make myself acquainted with it. That explains my presence in Canada."

Primarily Mr. Pappe's visit to this continent is to attend the annual congress of the International Association for Testing Railway Materials, to be held in New York on September 3, but he has come a month earlier than necessary in order to tour the C.P.R. Mr. Pappe said the ponderous locomotives and huge coaches on the railway systems of this continent were very impressive for the European railwayman. The difference in size could be imagined when he said that while the load per axle here was 25 tons, that in Hungary was 16½ tons, and in Germany 18. He states that the accommodation for the travelling public here is more luxurious than in Hungary, the corridor system of coaches, with the plentiful supply of fresh air, and all the other conveniences, making railway travelling far less tiring.

"Here," he said, "we see the benefits of competition. All the companies are vieing with each other to give the public the benefit of new inventions and betterment in service. In Hungary, where all the railways belong to the state, we have no such spur to betterment in service. Consequently we are much less ready to adopt luxurious innovations."

The Hungarian State Railways, he said, comprise from 13,000 to 14,000 miles of lines, and the net earnings are $36,000,000 a year, giving a return of four and a half per cent. on the invested capital. Railway travel has been about 50 per cent. cheaper than here, but owing to increased naval and military expenditure, the charges had been increased 30 per cent., starting on August 1. Mr. Pappe said he and his fellow directors had been greatly interested in the experiment of the C.P.R. in starting a service of observation coaches on the Austrian railways, and if it were successful they hoped to see this system extended to the Hungarian State Railways.

"I have been talking to Mr. G. M. Bosworth on the subject since I came here," he said, "and I have extended an invitation to him to come and see Budapest when he visits Vienna next October, and talk over the subject further with our Minister of Commerce and Communications, Mr. L. Beothy."

SHOULD NOT BE PARTY ISSUE

Canada's Attitude on Navy Question Encouraging Say's F. E. Smith M.P.

London, Aug. 14.—Mr. F. E. Smith, the renowned lawyer and Unionist M.P., who is now on the ocean sailing towards Canada, writes that the maintenance of an adequate navy ought to be outside the scope of party controversy. The nation is enormously rich, he says, and if appealed to with impressive truth will find any amount of money which the Minister in whom it has confidence thinks right to ask. The one bright spot is found in the apparent intention of Canada to step into the field and help redress the maritime balance of the old world.

A STUPID CONTENTION

A Liberal newspaper still maintains that the Irish Home Rule bill now before Parliament is a step towards self-government all round for England, Wales and Scotland. Nothing could be farther from the facts. The Asquith measure authorizes Ireland to erect customs barriers against the larger British Island. England, Scotland and Wales would hardly accept local legislatures without equal fiscal powers. Imagine the situation that would arise if England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland each placed customs duties on its purchases from all the others! The present Irish bill is a mad measure which would spell confusion in the British Isles and so make for the disruption of the Empire in which we take so much pride.

AUSTRALIA JOINS PROTEST AGAINST PANAMA MEASURE

Melbourne, Australia, Aug. 14.—Alfred Deakin, leader of the Federal Opposition, asked Premier Fisher, in the House of Representatives yesterday, whether he intended to communicate with the Imperial Government respecting the American Senate's decision to exempt from Panama Canal tolls American coastwise shipping, as it was a matter of vital importance to Australia.

Premier Fisher replied that he regretted the United States decision, which appeared to be clearly against the terms of the Anglo-American treaty. He already had communicated with the Imperial Government, he said, and hoped that the matter would be satisfactorily settled.

ALLANS SAYS CORSICAN IS SAFE, NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

The Press Receives Direct Assurance From the Company That All Is Well With Big Liner

The Star this morning wired direct to the Allan Line offices at Montreal for a definite statement concerning the Corsican. This reply was received at 2.10 this afternoon:

Montreal, Que., Aug 14.

The Star, Toronto.

Replying to your telegram, Corsican proceeded at ten a.m. to-day. Had been delayed since 4 p.m. Monday in dense fog. She waited only for weather to clear. Steamer is due to reach Liverpool Tuesday morning. Captain telegraphs absolutely no cause for anxiety.

H. and A. Allan.

Heavenly Fireworks

A grand display of heavenly fireworks took place last night, and was visible in Canada. The passing of the earth through the stream of meteors in the region of the sun shot forth a series of falling stars in all directions and the shower of light resulting well repaid in brilliance to any who postponed their repose for a few hours.

At this period every year the phenomenon of the "Perseus showers" is noticed. Sometimes the display is gorgeous, but on occasions merely faint light flashes may be detected.

The cause lies in the passing of the earth through the tail of an old comet long since shattered into fragments, and the passage this year was unusually interesting because the denser portion of the cluster was encountered. The absence of the moon also aided in the brilliancy of the vision.

SMITH COUNCIL MEETS

The members of the Municipal Council of the Township of Smith met in the County Council chamber, Peterborough, on August 5th, summoned by the call of the Reeve. All the members were present, with Reeve Garbutt in the chair.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

A by-law was passed making provision for the laying of certain sums of money on all the rateable property situated in the several school sections in the Township of Smith for the year 1912, and for collecting the same.

A by-law was also passed to provide for levying and collecting the rates and assessments of the Township of Smith for the year 1912.

Moved by Mr. Davis and Mr. Cann, that a letter be sent to the City Council stating that, as a number of complaints had come from the residents of Smith, on the north side of Worsley street, about the bad condition of the road, that some steps be taken to repair the road as soon as possible.—Carried.

PANAMA BILL WILL NOT BE PASSED AT THIS SESSION

Deadlock Was Reported To-day to the Washington Senate and House--Divided Over The Railroad Ownership of Steamship Lines, and House Is Insistent

Washington, Aug. 14.—A deadlock over the Panama bill was reported to-day to the Senate and House. Leaders assert the passage at this session of Congress of any general bill for administration of the waterway will likely be prevented.

Railroad ownership of steamship lines is the question over which the Senate and House referees are divided. The Senate managers insist upon acceptance of the Senate's amendment giving authority to the inter-state Commerce Commission to divorce steamship and railway companies.

The House is equally insistent upon its clause in the bill forbidding railroads to own water lines.

Chairman Adamson of the House Inter-State Commerce Commission, fearing a hopeless deadlock over the bill, to-day declared he is preparing a resolution to give the President authority for general management of the canal. Such a measure would be a temporary substitute for the provisions of the present bill.

FOUR POLICE INSPECTORS ARE ROLLING IN WEALTH

Their Bank Accounts Run Into the Hundreds of Thousands --Sullivan May Be Indicated Also

New York, Aug. 14.—In the relentless search for evidence to convict the murderers of the gambler Herman Rosenthal, the States Attorney and the Grand Jury have unearthed a wealth of information, showiln that gamblers and keepers of disorderly houses paid sums aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly for police protection.

With the co-operation of all the banks in the city District Attorney Whitman, has been able to secure the names of four police inspectors whose bank accounts run into several hundred thousands. One inspector is said to have accumulated a million dollars. The indictments of these officials are not being pressed at this time as the State's Attorney is devoting his chief attention to entrapping the murderers of Rosenthal.

"Bald Jack" Rose in his story before the Grand Jury is reported to have involved Jack Sullivan, the "Newsboy King" and close friend of Lieut. Becker in the murder plot. Rose is said to have declared that Sullivan, after riding around the city the night of the murder with Lieut. Becker, went to "Bridgie" Webber's gambling place and seeing that the gun men were there went to the Hotel Metropole to locate Rosenthal. Rose, it is further said, told the Grand Jury that Sullivan then returned to Webber's and told the gun men where Rosenthal could be found.

For several days it has been reported that Sullivan was on the point of confessing. His indictment form order is anticipated.

OCEAN SHOAL SUNK TITANIC?

Scientist Says That It Was a Sunken Rock

It Is Claimed That Iceberg Which Destroyed the World's Greatest Ship Rested on Rock.

London, Aug. 14.—An article published in this week's issue of the Nautical Gazette under the caption, "Many Rocks Reported in the Atlantic," calls the attention of "those who ridicule the idea of the existence of a submerged rock in the North Atlantic at the position where the Titanic struck something and sank, to the fact that many rocks have been reported by careful navigators where the charts to-day report deep water, and that several of the rocks are "strangely near" the Titanic position.

More than 250 such rocks and shoals are reported in "Imray's Atlantic Ocean Pilot," edition of 1883, and a revised edition of John Purdy's "Memoir of the North Atlantic" mentions many more, declares the writer in the Gazette, and goes on to say:

With so many reports utterly ignored by existing charts, the Nautical Gazette ventures to suggest again that a careful survey of the Titanic position be once more authoritatively made. If there exists a shoal with only eleven or twelve fathoms upon which icebergs would ground, to say nothing of rocks level with the surface, they should certainly not be ignored, and if there really is deep water the fact should be settled once and for all, although the Seinthill Bank, some 600 miles to the eastward in eighty to a hundred fathoms, is said to be of volcanic origin.

This seeming neglect of the proper charting of the ocean during the last few years has been caused, the writer in the Gazette believes, by the virtual abandonment of deep sea sailing and by the interest of navigators of steamers in getting to their several destinations regardless of consequences.

In demonstrating the accuracy of the soundings made by navigators of sailing ships and reported in the two nautical handbooks mentioned, the writer says:

When a man in a sailing ship takes repeated soundings in fine weather within a few hours of each other and not only sees rocks, but gets samples of the bottom when casting his lead, it stands to reason that he is not telling any fairy tale when he reports a shoal in that position.

The rocks and shoals which as reported are "strangely near" the Titanic position, latitude 41.50, longitude 50.14, according to the Gazette writer, are the Nile rocks, latitude 44.04, longitude 49.00; the Hervagault's Breakers, latitude 41.20, longitude 49.23; the Watson Rock, latitude 40.16, longitude 52.28; the Rydes shoal, latitude 46.30, longitude 49.35, and a vigia in latitude 40.53, longitude 52.

The Nile Rocks were sighted by Capt. Marvin of the sailing ship Nile hailing from Windsor, N. S., and bound from Antwerp to Philadelphia. On the morning of August 7, 1879, according to the writer in the Gazette, the Nile sighted "two rocks about thirty-three yards apart, three to five feet above the water and about a half a mile to the leeward of the ship."

The Hervagault's Breakers were first sighted in 1813 by Captain Hervagault of the French ship Le Conquerant. In May, 1727, Capt. Maxwell of the ship Home, voyaging from Liverpool to New York, saw the breakers and described them as breaking over three sunken rocks, the last tailing off to the southwest with a long ledge.

In regard to the Watson Rock, the editors of "Imray's Atlantic Ocean Pilot," have this to say, according to the writer in the Gazette:

It is probable a rock or bank exists somewhere about this locality, for in the month of October, 1875, the above danger was reported to have been again sighted by Capt. Lopez of the Spanish ship Santissima Trinidad on a passage from New York to Cadiz. The rock is described as circular, black, about twenty-six feet in diameter, having two small peaks on the southern part. Capt. Lopez examined the rock from a boat, approaching within sixty yards on the northeastern and southeastern sides, and finding no bottom there in 82 fathoms, but on the northwestern and southwestern sides he approached within 30 yards and made soundings at depths of 23 and 32 fathoms respectively. Farther off there was no bottom at 82 fathoms. On sighting the rock it was about three feet above water and the falling tide left about as much more visible. The position ascertained by a good observation was latitude 40.16.37 north longtitude 53.22.10 west.

If the existence of rocks and shoals in the position of the Titanic as claimed to be possible by the Nautical Gazette should not be demonstrated, the writer of the article still hopes to show, he says, that "charts of to-day are not as accurate for the ocean as they are for the shores and as they should be after several centuries of observation."

WILL SPEND SIX MILLION

On Montreal Harbor in Next Three Years

Montreal, Aug. 14.—Direct rail and highway communication by a new bridge to the south shore, the establishment of extensive railway terminal facilities on Mackay Pier, the creation of an anchorage pier for vessels between the Old Guard pier and the Alexandra pier and the construction of five new piers for ocean liners between the Victoria and Laurier piers and better ferry connection form part of an immense program of improvements which the Montreal Harbor Commission propose to carry out within the next three years at an approximate cost of $6,000,000.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth. The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address AM. Law, Ontario, Manager, 42 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 to J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives briskness to movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 350 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $150 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

A PROBLEM IN PICTURES.

And the Peculiar Coincidence by Which It Was Solved.

Some years ago a publishing house was preparing to issue a new edition of the writings of Thoreau, writes Charles S. Olcott in Art and Progress. The head of the house and a member of his staff were in consultation about the method of illustration. It was agreed that the pictures must be true to nature, but how to get them was the problem. Artists who do book illustrating could not be expected to go into the woods and make pictures which would in any way assist the text to reveal nature as Thoreau saw it. Photographs would be admirable, but where was the professional photographer to be found who would undertake to go into Thoreau's country in sunshine and rain, in summer and winter, to catch all the phases of nature which Thoreau recorded in his "Journal?"

While the two men pondered a caller sat in the outer office with a large portfolio under his arm. Five years before he had read Thoreau's "Journal" and had taken up his residence in Concord that he might visit the scenes there described. In all seasons and all kinds of weather he had wandered through the woods and over the fields with his camera. Passionately fond of nature, he was no less devoted to art. To him photography was a pastime. It was not his profession. For the pure love of nature and of art and with no thought of pecuniary gain he had accomplished the very feat which the two business men had thought so difficult, and by a curious coincidence he appeared at the office to exhibit the result of his work at the precise moment when its desirability was being discussed.

Motherly Advice.

"My dear, you mustn't be so sharp with strange young men. You know you may give them a wrong impression."

"What's the matter now, mother?"

"You scarcely spoke a word to that young man you were introduced to last evening."

"I didn't like his way, mother."

"Did you know him?"

"No; I'd never met him before."

"Do you know anything about him?"

"Nothing, except that he seemed to me to be very impertinent."

"Still, you shouldn't have snubbed him, at least until you had learned more about him. Once I snubbed a young man that way without knowing who he was, and I regretted it ever after, because I found out later that he was very rich. I might have married him if I had been more careful."—Detroit Free Press.

Why Bruises Become Black and Blue.

The color of blood is due chiefly to iron in the little blood cells. When the iron is kept in these little blood cells, which are living and traveling around in the blood vessels, the color is red. Hit the skin hard enough to break some of the little blood vessels beneath the surface and the little red cells escape from the injured blood vessels, wander about for awhile in the tissues and die. When they die the iron that made them red before then changes to black and blue coloring. After awhile this iron is taken up by the glands called the lymphatics and made over again into nice red cells. The iron is taken up very much more quickly by the lymphatics if the black and blue spot is rubbed and massaged.—St. Nicholas.

Old Time Personally Conducted Tours.

The campanile looked down upon the first agencies for conducted tours of which we have record. Five hundred years ago Venice controlled the pilgrim traffic to the Holy Land, and quite a number of firms made a good thing of it. They had their offices in St. Mark's square, with all the apparatus of advertisement hoardings, flags and commissionaires. The contract stipulated how much space aboard a ship and what food each pilgrim was to get, and the agents undertook not merely to carry the pilgrim across the sea, but to conduct him personally to Jerusalem and to take over all negotiations with the officials. For the whole journey the charge was 25 to 30 ducats, a third to be paid before starting, a third in Palestine and a third after returning home.—Manchester Guardian.

Written In Slang.

Matthew Henry's commentary on the Bible was written for the common people and in the slang of the day. In commenting on Judges ix he says: "We are here told by what acts Abimelech got into the saddle. He hired for his service all the scum and scoundrels of the country. Jotham was really a fine gentleman. The Sechemites were the first to kick him off. They said all the ill they could of him in their table talk. They drank health to his confusion."

A Bold, Bad Man.

The phrase "A bold, bad man," now worn threadbare and comic, belongs to Spenser, who applied it to the Archimago of "The Faerie Queene" (I. 1, 37):

A bold, bad man that dared to call by name
Great Gorgon, prince of darkness and dead night.

Unreasonable.

"I suppose your chief creditor is very rich."

"Well, I should say so. But even at that he acts as though I were living above his means."—Fliegende Blatter.

THE PEOPLE EATING LESS MEAT

According to the statistics of the Chicago packing houses, the demand of this country for meat fell off 25 per cent. during the month of June, as compared with that month of last year. While there is no organized boycott, it is obvious that many people have dropped eating meat. Total shipments of meat products from Chicago were 58,000,000 pounds less than for the same time a year ago, and the first six months of this year, as a whole, showed a considerable decrease, while export trade is also decreasing.

The number of head of food live stock exported during the month of June showed a reduction of over 50 per cent. in the annual comparison, and the figures for all meat products were 30 per cent. less. But, in contrast to these figures, it is shown that, while receipts of live stock at Chicago showed a decrease for the month of June as compared with last year's figures, the full six months showed an increase, with the result that the marked falling off in consumption has produced much larger stocks on hand than were reported a year ago.

All things considered, it looks as if the supply were catching up with the demand, and if the natural law of supply and demand is allowed to work in the meat market, it ought to mean a reduction of the present range of prices. Furthermore, if the public's restraint of its appetite for meat should become a matter of habit, rather than of necessity, it will be better for the health of the nation, as well as for the state of its pocketbook.

The officers of the Ottawa Militia corps are co-operating with the City Council of the Capital in extending an elaborate reception to the Second Company of the Governor's Foot Guards of New Haven, comprising 175 men, which will visit Montreal and Ottawa towards the end of August. MR. BURNHAM IN WINNIPEG Interesting Letter From Our M.P., Who is Visiting in the West.

Sir, As I would like to hear from our eastern tenderfoot en route, I am taking it for granted that some of your readers may do likewise. Travelling in the west is easy and not unduly expensive. First of all, I might say that from Sudbury to Winnipeg is by no means as bad as painted. Vast quantities of pulpwood cover the entire distance. Lakes and rivers or streams are frequent, and I am told, full of fish. When you approach Lake Superior the scenery is picturesque. The houses of the inhabitants are very poor. Foreigners predominate. It was very pleasant to find how delighted the railway gangs and population generally were to return the greetings of the tourists, waved to them from the observation car. The country around and near Winnipeg is a common. The chief crop is daisies.

Winnipeg is by no means the seething mass of energy I supposed. It is quite composed. One lawyer (an old timer) told me that real estate business consisted largely in betting on prices with eastern money. Hence the prices! I spent the day very pleasantly with our old friend, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, at the Country Club. Mr. McWilliams is away at the Rockies with the Alpine Club. Both gentlemen are doing well, and during terms find life pretty strenuous. I breakfasted with the Minister of Railways and Canals at the Alexandra this morning. He is waiting for papers and then goes north to the Bay. He will visit us at Peterborough immediately on his return, and will hear all complaints and suggestions.

Hon. R. Rogers is beaming as usual. The falling off in the total majority in favor of reciprocity in the West is considered significant. The decrease was 30 per cent. It is generally considered that reciprocity was the chief issue. This means, as the Labor member for B. C. says, that reciprocity is unlikely to come up again. But this question has been buried four times, and the Yankees always contrive to resurrect it.

BURIED LIVING PERSONS.

Horrible Custom of Japanese Prior to Year 646 A. D.

Prior to the year 646 A. D. the Japanese had one of the most horrible burial customs that can be imagined—that of burying all the immediate friends and retainers of a prince or other person of note in a standing position around the potentate's grave and leaving them in the earth up to their necks to perish of thirst and hunger.

The custom cannot be said to have been general as late as the date given, for the Japanese records prove that in the time of the Emperor Suinin (97-30 B. C.) the burial rites of royal personages were so modified as to partially abolish former cruelties. Speaking of a young brother of Suinin, who died and had his retinue buried standing around his grave, the old record says: "For many days they died not, but wept and cried aloud. At last they died. Dogs and crows assembled and ate off their heads. The emperor's compassion was aroused, and he desired to change the manner of burial. When the empress died, soon after, the mikado inquired of his officers if something in the way of a change could not be suggested, and one proposed to make clay figures of men and bury them as substitutes."

That this did not entirely do away with the former custom is proved by an edict issued in the year 646 A. D., the date given first above, which forbade the burial of living persons and provided a penalty for further adherence to the awful rite.—St. Louis Republic.

THE OPEN MOUTH.

Causes That Induce It When We Are Intently Listening.

Why do we open our mouths when intently listening?

There are three causes, entirely independent of one another, but acting in unison, for this action. There is a passageway called the eustachian tube, connecting the back of the throat and the middle ear, the part behind the drum. When intently listening we hold our breath, and this permits sound waves to enter the mouth and reach the eustachian tube, and in this way they reach the drum and re-enforce the sound waves that come through the natural channel, the outer ear.

In concentrated attention the mind is fully engrossed in the one subject, and it loses control over voluntary muscles that are not directly affected by the subject or the process involved in the motor activity that accompanies mental activity. The muscles are relaxed, the lower jaw drops, and this opens the mouth.

The third cause is referable to atavism, or the tendency to return in form or action to an early type. Early man, like the animals, was urged to action by the fundamental instincts, self preservation and race preservation. His two aims were to secure food and avoid or destroy enemies. Like the animals, when his attention was attracted by a sound he placed himself in the attitude for instant defense, attack or securing food. In this attitude his mouth was open to grasp instantly what came in his way. The tendency to open the mouth when intently listening still remains.—New York American.

DIG THEIR OWN GRAVES.

English Army Methods in the Execution of Condemned Spies.

The ceremony of disposing of a condemned spy in the English army always follows a definite precedent.

The unfortunate man is surrounded by a detachment of infantry, and after he is provided with a pick and shovel he is marched off to a selected spot and ordered to dig his own grave. This done, the tools are taken from him and his eyes are bandaged. The attending chaplain reads portions selected from the burial service, and from the ranks of the escort twelve men are selected at random by the officer in charge.

These men, having stacked their own rifles, are led to where twelve other rifles are awaiting them, six of which are loaded with blank cartridges. One of these is handed to each man, so that no one knows whether the rifle he holds contains a bullet or not, and none can say for certain that the shot fired by him killed the prisoner. The firing party then marches to an appointed position. The commands "Present!" "Fire!" are given, and almost before the last word rings out the volley is fired and the spy falls into the grave he has dug.

Nearly every man is more or less affected on being selected to form one of the firing party, and many men have been known to faint away on being singled out, while others are so overcome as to be scarcely able to pull the triggers of their rifles.

Carlyle's Bluntness.

Thomas Carlyle once took Lord Houghton (Richard Milnes) to task in regard to the proposed pension for Lord Tennyson. "Richard Milnes," said Carlyle, taking his pipe out of his mouth, "when are ye gaun to get that pension for Alfred Tennyson?" Milnes tried to explain that there were difficulties in the way and that possibly his constituents who knew nothing about Tennyson would accuse him of being concerned in a job were he to succeed in getting the desired pension for the poet. "Richard Milnes," replied the sage, "on the day of judgment, when the Lord asks ye why ye didna get that pension for Alfred Tennyson, it'll no do to lay the blame on your constituents. It's you that'll be damned."

Vulcan.

Vulcan, the god of ancient blacksmiths and metal workers, was lame in consequence of a pretty hard fall he had in his early days. Jupiter and Juno had a row, and Vulcan sided with his mother against the old gentleman, who promptly kicked him out of heaven. He fell for a whole day and lighted on the island of Lemnos, broke his leg and received as severe a shaking up as though he had tumbled down an elevator shaft. Aesculapius set his leg, but, having only just received a diploma, did a poor job, and for a long time Vulcan went on a crutch.

FIFTY THOUSAND MEN

Farm Laborers' Excursions — This Year's Wheat Crop Will be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1912 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in harvesting the World's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that fifty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

TIGER PROOF HOMES.

Malay Houses, Frail and Flimsy, Sometimes Perch in Tree Tops.

The ordinary Malay house is built on posts from five to seven feet high, but one which I came across was perched high up in a tree. It was the house of a man, his wife and family, and they informed me that it was placed in this unusual situation so as to be out of the way of the numerous tigers which then infested the neighborhood.

As tigers have been known to jump eighteen feet in vertical height somewhere about twenty feet is considered to be the limit of safety. The Malayan house is a frail and flimsy structure of sticks tied together with rattan thatched with palm leaves and walled with plaited bamboo or, as in this case, with the bark of trees.

It is therefore an easy matter for a tiger with its great strength to break into a house and attack the inhabitants. Many instances of this have been recorded in Malaya. In one well known case a whole family were killed except one man, who, climbing up into the roof and thus escaping the notice of the tiger, was a horrified observer of the cruel mauling and ultimate slaughter and devouring of his relatives.—London Strand Magazine.

Looking For Him.

COLORS OF BUOYS

Spell the Same Words of Warning In All Our Waters.

DAY GUIDES FOR MARINERS.

The Simple Code That Governs These Valuable Aids to Navigation—How the Whistling Buoy and Bell Buoy Fog Signals Are Operated.

As everybody knows, there are black buoys and red buoys, buoys with horizontal black and red stripes, buoys with black and white vertical stripes, not to speak of bell buoys and the much larger buoys that lie well out at sea and are called "mammoth buoys."

Each of these aids to navigation has, of course, its own particular meaning. The place that each occupies is carefully chosen for it, and its arrangement is governed by a careful system.

Buoys are called "day marks," in contradistinction to the "night marks" —the lights and beacons.

For the purposes of the lighthouse board the coasts of the United States, including the lakes and navigable rivers, are divided into various districts, each district being under the charge of an officer who sees that all buoys in his district are properly cared for.

For obvious reasons similar buoys in all districts mean the same thing. In other words, a buoy of a particular distinguishing color off the coast of Maine carries the same significance that a buoy of that same color has off the coast of Florida. So the mariner who enters the New England port is guided and directed in precisely the same way as the mariner who enters a southern port, and the same is true of all other parts of the country.

The government publishes coast charts showing the colors and positions of the buoys. The lighthouse board publishes, in addition, a yearly list, distributed gratis for the benefit of navigation, in which each one of the thousands of buoys is located and described.

The passenger standing at the rail of the liner coming in from sea will probably first notice a "mammoth buoy." These buoys are used only in special cases—as, for example, to mark the approaches to channels over bars or shoals that lie some distance from the coast.

Red and black buoys designate the channel. They lie on either side. The red buoys, which have even numbers, must be left on the starboard or right hand in passing in from sea. The black buoys, always with odd numbers, must be left on the port hand.

When there are two or more channels these are distinguished by a difference either in the size or in the shape of the buoys.

An isolated rock, wreck or any obstruction that has a channel on either side of it is shown by a buoy with red and black horizontal stripes.

Buoys showing white and black perpendicular stripes and lying in midchannel indicate that they must be passed close to avoid danger.

As an indication that there is a turning point in the channel we see buoys surmounted by triangles, cages, etc.

There are buoys which are also fog signals, such as the bell buoy and the whistling buoy. The latter is used off the coast to show dangerous outlying shoals or other obstructions. It is surmounted by a locomotive whistle made to sound by the rushing through it of air admitted and compressed by the rising and falling motion of the buoy itself. It has been found that these buoys are particularly adapted to turbulent waters, inasmuch as the more violent the sea is the louder the sound given out by the buoy. The whistling buoy, a most unpleasant neighbor, may be heard a at distance of about ten miles. Under very favorable conditions it has been heard fifteen miles.

The bell buoy consists of the bottom section of a buoy floating in the water on which is mounted a framework bearing a bell which, instead of the ordinary tongue and clapper, shows a small cannon ball supported on a platform just beneath the bell's mouth. This ball rolls to and fro with every motion of the sea.

Bell buoys are employed in harbors and rivers where the water is smoother than in the roadsteads and where it is not necessary that their sound shall be heard a great distance.

The ordinary buoy, not of the whistling or the bell variety, is made either of wood or of iron. Those of iron are hollow with air tight compartments and are of three shapes, called respectively nun, can and ice buoys. The nun buoy is almost conical in shape, the can buoy approaches the cylindrical form, and the ice buoy is very long and narrow, somewhat resembling the spar buoy in form.

The wooden or spar buoys are sticks ranging in length from twelve to sixty feet and painted according to the uses to which they are to be put. The lower end is fitted for a mooring chain.

Buoys have many vicissitudes and are exposed to many dangers. Passing steamers run down the iron buoys and rip them open or cut off big pieces of spar buoys with their sharp propeller blades. As the iron buoys are made in compartments, they are seldom sunk by such collisions, but their line of flotation is often so lowered that they have to be replaced.—Harper's Weekly.

Maybe It Was Accidental.

Pastor Goodsole had just preached a sermon on "Gossiping." It may have been, therefore, wholly unintentional that he gave out the first stanza of the closing hymn in this wise:

Blow ye the trumpet, blow
The gladly solemn sound!
Let all the neighbors know
To earth's remotest bound.

He looked preternaturally solemn, and there wasn't the slightest flicker of an eyelash.—Chicago Tribune.

PERRY SCOTT'S TURKEY.

This Wonderful Bird Was Well Fixed With Legs and Wings.

The story of Perry Scott's turkey has come down from Revolutionary days in Carolina. Colonel Gordon was accustomed to tell of the hasty march which he made before Rudolph's legion. He was just sitting down to dinner when orders were given to cross the Ashley river. It was nearly nightfall when he bivouacked in a valley in which the cavalry under Wayne had just encamped and, with his officers, began to sup on dry bread and potatoes. The infantry which he commanded were in a starving condition, and the commissary was without money, but raiding upon the farmers was sternly made punishable by death.

Reports of the hungry condition of the newcomers had circulated among Wayne's men. Just as the colonel began to eat his musty bread a private from Wayne's cavalry appeared and said respectfully: "Perry Scott had some money, colonel, and bought a turkey. We have unfortunately eaten all but one leg. I took the liberty of bringing that to you." The colonel took the leg gratefully and had scarcely finished it when another of Wayne's men appeared with the same story of Perry Scott's turkey and another leg.

The colonel congratulated himself on his luck and, handing the drumstick over to a fellow officer, went out of the tent. It was growing dark. Another cavalryman came up, whispered the story of Perry Scott and cautiously handed over a third leg. The colonel continued his walk through the camp and before his return had been secretly offered twenty legs and fourteen wings of Perry Scott's turkey.

Wayne's men had raided a poultry yard the previous night and concocted the story of Perry Scott's purchase to protect themselves in case any turkey bones should be discovered. The hunger bitten faces of their new comrades were more than they could bear, however, and each man, unknown to the others, carried his share into Gordon's camp at the risk of detection and death. It was not until the war was over and the troops disbanded that Colonel Gordon told the story of Perry Scott and his many legged fowl.—Argonaut.

A CHANCERY ROMANCE.

Helping a Friend, He Unearthed a Fortune For Himself.

Perhaps there is no more curious chapter in the history of the chancery courts than that of two Pittsburgh men. The first had a claim to a small estate abroad, but he did not have the money to pay the claim agency to make a search, so he got a friend to back him.

This friend's name was Peterman, and the money he advanced was like a grub stake—he was gambling on his friend's claim proving up.

One day when Peterman was at the claim agency office he came upon this advertisement in the agency files: "Peterman (Albertus), musician, born in Amsterdam in 1820, son of Charles Frederick and Henrietta Susanna Gasman. Left for Liverpool in 1854. He is sought for inheritance by M. Coutot, avocat, 21 Boulevard St. Germain, Paris."

That was the inception of the famous "Kinsey docks" case, the name coming from the fact that the original Peterman was last seen at Kinsey docks, in Liverpool. The claim agency took the matter in hand, traced Peterman's lineage back and enabled him to establish a good claim to an inheritance of $200,000.

That was a case of fortune being thrust upon a man. — Lewis Edwin Theiss in Harper's Weekly.

JOBS FOR THE INDIGENT.

Swiss Method of Solving the Problem of the Unemployed.

In Switzerland the people act upon the theory that a man who is unemployed is, if left to himself, liable to become a waste by being a subject of charity and a tax upon the community. Therefore the problem is considered as an economic question.

The purpose is to assist the unfortunate unemployed to secure work, not only for the sake of his family, but in the interests of the state. There is no toleration for the loafer. Begging is prohibited by the law, and vagrancy is classified as a crime.

If an unemployed person does not make a serious effort to find work the authorities will find it for him, and he is compelled to perform it. If he refuses he is placed in the workhouse, where strict discipline is maintained and every inmate is required to work to his full capacity, receiving therefor his board and lodging and from 5 to 10 cents a day in wages.

There are also institutions where temporary employment is furnished to persons out of work, through no fault of their own, and comfortable accommodations and some money compensation given until they can find more remunerative wages.—Chicago Tribune.

Life Without Microbes.

Microbes are not indispensable to all life if they are indispensable to any. The question has been definitely settled. A cage completely sterilized at 90 degrees was made and the openings of the cage closely stopped with cotton and protected from the outside by a hermetically closed metallic chamber. Such manipulations as were necessary in opening the cage were made by hands guarded by aseptic rubber cloth. Into such a sterilized cage three hens' eggs were placed after having been externally sterilized. The cage was fitted with a glass pavilion or chicken run, where the chickens could develop during their six weeks' sojourn in the cage. In the cage were sterilized air, pure water, sterilized sand and sterilized food. The experiment showed that life does not depend upon microbes, but that the vital work of the organism is easy and natural when everything is sterilized.—Harper's.

STORIES OF THE STAGE.

A Splendid Accident Averted and an Actor Who Dined Too Well.

Here is an incident that was related by the late Bram Stoker, for many years manager to Irving of the production of "Hamlet" at the Lyceum in London.

On the second night of the performance the Chinese ambassador and Sir Halliday Macartney came to see Irving in his dressing room, and presently the ambassador, who was wearing magnificent robes of mandarin yellow, wandered off in the direction of the stage. The ambassador was close to the edge of the arch at the back of the scene, where Ophelia had made her entrance and would make her exit. Mr Stoker "jumped for him and just succeeded in catching him before he had passed into the blaze of the limelight. I could fancy the sudden amazement of the audience and the wild roar of laughter that would follow when in the midst of this most sad and pathetic of scenes would enter unheralded this gorgeous anachronism."

Mr. Stoker confessed that he was tempted to let the splendid accident occur. "Its unique grotesqueness would have insured a widespread publicity not to be acquired by ordinary forms of advertisement."

On another occasion a very different and very painful contretemps did occur. The actor who took the part of Polonius on entering gave his first line with so strange an intonation that Irving at once signed to the prompter to let fall the act drop, came forward and apologized to the audience and restarted the play with a new Polonius!—London Graphic.

WOMEN AND CARD GAMES.

In Chile Such a Combination Would Create a Sensation.

A woman who is a native of Chile was talking recently about the difficulty she had in accustoming herself to card playing among women when she came to this country. She said:

"In Chile card playing among women is undreamed of. Perhaps it is not too much to say that a Chilean woman would no more play cards than a New York woman would enter a Broadway saloon. It isn't that it is exactly or wholly a matter of morals with us. It just isn't the thing to do. It is not conventional.

"When I came to New York I brought my daughter-in-law with me, a Chilean girl. She and I were both horribly shocked to receive an invitation to a bridge party in the daytime. It was too much for us, and we declined. Other similar invitations came and kept coming. Finally our curiosity got the best of us, and we went to one of these affairs. Even after we got over our sense of outraged convention the whole thing seemed curious to us.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Wharf and Approach at Parry Sound, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4 p.m., Monday, August 26, 1912, for the construction of a Wharf and Approach at Parry Sound, District of Parry Sound, Ont.

Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont.; H. J. Lamb, Esq., District Engineer, Windsor, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Parry Sound, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

"The funniest sight of all was the women with little tags on them, as if marked 'by fast express,' or running up to another woman with a little card to be 'punched.' Finally we got sufficiently accustomed to 'take a hand,' but even yet I never do it without a covert feeling that I am putting myself beyond the pale."—New York Post.

Cracks in the Floor.

There are several ways of stopping the cracks in a floor between boards that have shrunken apart. One is to tear newspapers into small bits and soak them in flour paste, having the paste warm. Stir this until thick and fill the crack with it, using a broad knife to smooth the paste down into the cracks. Or sawdust and glue may be used with the same result. To a pound of glue allow a gallon of water, and when melted stir into it fine sawdust until it is stiff paste. Fill the cracks with this, packing it as solidly as possible, smoothing even with a broad knife.

A Crusher.

Cleveland once made a joke. An effusive politician burst in upon him and exclaimed loudly, "Mr. President, I owe you an apology."

"What for?" said Cleveland.

"For not having called upon you earlier, sir."

"Well," said Cleveland, curtly, "I haven't been lonesome."

FORCIBLE FEEDING.

English Suffragette Tell How the Treatment Feels.

An interesting account of a suffragettes' "hunger strike" in an English prison appears in a London magazine. The article is purported to be written by one of the participants, and she tells of the methods employed to feed her:

I was arrested for window-smashing, together with about twenty other suffragettes, and sentenced to one month's imprisonment in the third division.

This meant that we were classed as ordinary prisoners. We resented this, and determined to protest.

At first our resistance was merely passive. We refused to dress ourselves in the prison clothes, or to occupy ourselves with the usual prison tasks which prisoners are supposed to perform. For acting in this manner we were punished by solitary confinement on bread and water.

We next determined to smash the windows of our cells. This was done by all of us simultaneously one day in the dinner hour, the signal being the words "No sur-ren-der!"—the words being set to the chimes of big Ben.

As soon as this signal was given by our leader, from every cell where one of our comrades was imprisoned there came the answering chimes, "No sur-ren-der!" followed immediately by the sound of breaking glass.

For this we were given longer terms of solitary confinement in the punishment cells. The only further protest then left us was the hunger strike, and this was started on the following morning, I, of course, joining in.

For four days no food of any kind passed my lips, although, directly the prison authorities saw that I was in earnest, every effort was made to tempt me to break my resolution. In place of the dry, coarse brown bread and plain cold water, custard pudding and hot milk were placed in my cell, filling it with fragrance.

I used to warm my hands on the outside of the pudding basin and the mug until the contents grew cold, and once or twice I allowed myself the luxury of sniffing up the hot, delicious steam that rose from them when they were first brought in by the wardens.

On the morning of the fifth day while the wardresses were dressing me—I refused all along to put on the prison clothes of my own accord—I fainted dead away, remaining unconscious, I was told, for over half an hour. On my recovery the doctor ordered me to be forcibly fed.

I at once said that I intended to resist to the best of my ability, so four wardresses were told off to hold my hands and feet.

First they stretched my limbs to their full length. Next a steel wedge-shaped gag was forced between my teeth prising them open, then a tube was thrust down my throat, and a whole quart of liquid food was poured through it, almost without stopping. I felt like a bottle filled up to the neck.

Other days, the proceeding was varied by forcing a stiff mess of brown bread and milk and minced beef down my throat. When I tried not to swallow it they held my nose so that I could not breathe.

[illegible]

tered terribly from indigestion, and the most frightful depression of spirits.

This forcible feeding went on for nearly three weeks, during the whole of which time I can truthfully say I was never free from pain.

During the last week, indeed, the inside of my mouth became badly ulcerated from the constant friction of the metal gag, and they had in consequence to use the nasal tube. This did not hurt quite as much, but as the food they were able to pass through it was of a less substantial and nourishing nature I grew terribly weak.

At length the welcome day of my release came round. Before going out I was taken to be weighed. Wardresses and doctors gasped when they saw the result, and one of the latter started to shake and rattle the machine to see if there were anything wrong with it.

I had lost twenty-eight pounds—practically one pound for each day of my imprisonment.

She Gathered the "Lions."

In former years, when she was Lady Jeune and her second husband, Sir Francis Jeune, was alive, Lady St. Helier was one of the most popular hostesses in London. Her salon was the recognised meeting place for "lions" of every description.

Indeed, so varied were the guests made welcome there that a famous wit who had been invited to attend a notorious murder trial replied:

"No, I don't think I'll go, thanks. If the poor wretch is condemned it will be too painful. If he's released, why, I expect I'll meet him at Lady Jeune's."

Relics of Pillories.

Though the pillory has been abolished, there are still to be found in various parts of rural England relics of this old time method of punishment. One of the most complete examples may be seen within a few miles of the metropolitan border. In the picturesque village of Roydon, Essex, not only are the old stocks and whipping post still preserved, but close beside them stands also the wooden "cage" in which the roysterer of bygone days was incarcerated. Is there another such interesting trio of punitive relics to be found elsewhere in England?—London Graphic.

Drop in Price of Sugar.

Vigorous Health Restored To Run-Down Woman

Seemed to Have Lost All Ambition, Was Pale and Anaemic.

Made Wonderful Recovery When Dr. Hamilton's Pills Were Used.

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. Norman La Pierre, wife of a well-known resident of Labenlene, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow rich and red blood I could never make. When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well—she told me her health had been made up by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels — made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

No medicine invigorates and renews health and spirits like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

A Frightened Horse.

Yesterday afternoon while waiting for the 5.30 train from Port Hope, a Canadian Express horse became frightened through some unknown cause and proceeded to take a "constitutional" around the station and tripped and fell in doing so. Bystanders rushed to the rescue and helped it onto its feet and into its harness.

Celebrated Anniversary of Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Armour celebrated the 20th anniversary of their wedding on Saturday, August 10th, in a pleasant gathering on the lawn of their home, 145 Rubidge street. Quite a number of friends and relatives were there and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Armour received many presents.

Excursion in Town.

The Holloway street Methodist Church Sunday school, of Belleville, was in town all day yesterday. The party arrived at 9.30 in the morning and spent the day visiting the Lift Lock as well as the Canadian League Baseball game, and viewing the sights of the city until they left for home at 5 o'clock.

All Saints' Lawn Social.

Yesterday afternoon and evening All Saints Lawn Social under the auspices of the Talent Club took place on Miss Davis' lawn, Belmont avenue. The 57th Band was in attendance in the evening and greatly enlivened the proceedings. Quite a number were present and altogether it was quite an enjoyable affair

Building Operations Increasing.

Peterborough increased $19,882 in the amount of building permits issued in July this year over the same month in 1911. Taking the Dominion as a whole, the July permits are almost 50 per cent ahead of last year. Winnipeg issued the largest amount in permits in July; Toronto came next, and Vancouver leads in percentage increase.

Fishing Never Better.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, who just returned from a fishing jaunt to upper Stoney Lake and the lakes further north, says that fishing never was better than it is this season. His party had no trouble in catching all they could use of black bass. They spent a week enjoying the pastime of angling, which is most enervating especially at this delightful season of the year.

A Manse Wedding.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's Manse yesterday morning, when Miss Margaret Scott, of Peterborough and Mr. Daniel McCurdy of Campbellford, were united in marriage by Rev. Jas. Rollins. The bridesmaid was Miss Effie Kennedy of Campbellford, and the best man Mr. Everard Tripp of Campbellford. Mr. and Mrs. McCurdy will take up residence in Campbellford.

Will Be O.K. To-morrow.

The handicap which The Times has been labouring under for about a week with our big newspaper press out of commission, will probably end to-morrow as the new parts are expected to reach here this morning. We appreciate the indulgence extended to us on account of the poor appearance of the paper during the interval. Commencing with to-morrow morning the paper will appear in its old form, properly printed and folded.

Laid at Rest.

Yesterday morning the funeral took place of the late Edward Hayes, from his late home, 826 Water street to St. Peter's Cathedral, where mass was sung by Rev. Fr. Cote, and from thence to St. Peter's cemetery. Rev. Fr. Fergus O'Brien officiated at the grave. There were many people present including a representation of the St. Peter's T.A.S. The pallbearers were Messrs. Edward, George Alex. and Frank Hayes, Edward Fredenburg and Dan. Holland.

They Like Peterborough.

A party from Windsor and Detroit, consisting of Mr. Michael Hurley, his daughter and son-in-law, Miss Hartnett and her sister and Miss Hurley are on a motor trip through Ontario. They spent a day or two in Peterborough, the guests of Mrs. John Hurley. The party while here visited the cemeteries, the parks and the Lift Lock and were unanimous in proclaiming Peterborough the handsomest little city they had ever visited. They left yesterday for Cobourg where they will take in the horse show before returning home

Opening Office Here.

Port Hope Times: Our old friend Capt. Charles H. A. Williams, who has boarded at the Royal Hotel for the past ten years, left on Monday to reside in Peterborough. His departure removes a prominent figure from our streets and his many friends here wish him health and comfort in his new sphere. Capt. Williams was a member of the 3rd Dragoons, and was well known in Peterborough twenty or thirty years ago. He is opening a real estate office here which is located temporarily at 167 Brock street.

A Successful Operation.

Mr. Thomas Eastwood, "Mayor" of Buckhorn, was obliged to submit to a painful operation on Tuesday last, which took place in the Nicholls Hospital. Mr. Eastwood had the misfortune to cut his foot about forty years ago. It gave him no trouble until quite recently when the bone began to decay, and an operation became necessary. Although painful it is not at all dangerous. Yesterday his brother, Mr. Isaac Eastwood, called at the hospital to see the patient and found him sitting up in bed smoking his pipe. Tom's many friends in Peterborough and district will be pleased to learn that he is progressing nicely

An Unusual Accident.

Lindsay Post: Mr. Hartland, Clerk, had an unusual accident while locking through at Burleigh Falls on his Stoney Lake trip. Hartland was operating a gate valve that had several teeth broken from the gear, which caused a sudden movement of the crank lever, with the result that it flew from his hand and struck him a terrible blow just beneath the knee, almost hurling him into the canal. As there were several people nearby, assistance was instant and the wound carefully attended to. The limb was not broken, but it will likely be extremely sore for some time.

QUAKER OATS COMPANY BUILDING IN WEST

Will Erect Big Factory in Saskatoon —Peterborough Will Benefit by Being Well Advertised.

The Quaker Oats Company have completed arrangements with the city of Saskatoon to erect a large mill and elevator in that city. The agreement made by the city officials with the Quaker Oats Company was ratified by a vote of 710 to 34, while the by-law providing for a site was carried 704 to 40. Throughout the city and entire province of Saskatchewan there is a feeling of deep satisfaction over the result.

Mr. John Stuart, second vice-president of the Quaker Oats Company, who looked after the installation of the branch in Peterborough is now in Saskatoon. He has announced that work on the branch in that city will be commenced within a week.

"We are going to start work," said Mr. Stuart, "just as soon as the contractors can get the completed plans and I expect that the engineers will start with them from Chicago very soon and be there in about a week's time.

"Our plans have been augmented fifty per cent, within the last month after we have made a second careful survey of the territory we are to serve. At first it was our intention to put both our oatmeal mill and our flour mill into the old building for the present but we forsee a great deman for flour and will erect a special mill to house the machinery for making our oatmeal products. Our buildings for the present will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 and we will start on our elevator as soon as possible. From the very first we will employ in the neighborhood of 100 hands, but there will be quite a number of girls in this total who will look after the casing of our package goods."

The opening of a branch in Western Canada will be the means of advertising Peterborough, as the name of this city will appear on every package turned out by the Western mill. It is proposed to supply the Australian trade from Saskatoon.

Just before the vote was taken on the Saskatoon by-law, Mayor Bradbury received a telegram from the Industrial League of that city, making enquiries regarding the Quaker Oats Company, to which the Mayor replied, setting forth the fact that the company was a great and growing industry, employing a large number of hands.

CONFERANCE COMMITTEE ADVISES AGAINST CANAL DISCRIMINATION

As Reported the Bill Calls for Free Passage of American Ships Engaged in Coastwise Trade Only

Washington, Aug. 15.—It is said to be reasonably certain that no further protest will be made by Great Britain on behalf of the British mercantile interests against the Panama Canal bill if it finally takes the form reported yesterday from the conference committee. The British objection was laid against discrimination against British shipping As such shipping is not now privileged to enter into the American coastwise trade, which alone is to receive favored treatment in the canal, that objection is overcome.

It is regarded as possible, however, that in deference to Canada, the British Government may be led to object to the prohibition against the passage of railroad owned ships, but State Department officials are confident that objection would not hold under the treaty as the prohibition is to apply to American vessels as well as others and there could be no charge of discrimination there.

Free Passage for Coasters.

The committee's recommendations are briefly as follows:

Free passage for American ships engaged in coastwise trade.

American registry for American owned foreign built ships engaged exclusively in foreign trade.

No tariff on foreign shipbuilding materials for use in this country.

Trust owned ships prohibited from the canal.

Railroads prohibited from owning competing water way lines operating "through the canal or elsewhere," when such ownership is detrimental to the public welfare.

Interstate Commerce Commission authorized to investigate control of water lines by railroads and sanction it where it is beneficial.

One man government for Panama Canal and zone.

The conference agreement will be reported to the House and Senate, and it is believed that it will be subject to some opposition before it is agreed to. In dropping out the Senate amendment giving free passage to American ships engaged in foreign trade, the conference committee met the opposition of those who considered this a direct violation of the treaty with Great Britain.

HONOR AT STAKE

There is still time for the United States to act squarely in the Panama Canal affair, and the whole world persists in hoping that something will yet deter the Senate from finally disgracing itself. The President could veto the bill, or, better still, Congress could reverse its decision and thus implement the pledged word of the nation. Christendom will be humiliated if so great a commonwealth as the United States tears up a treaty and vilotes its solemn undertaking in this fashion. What firmness have the foundations of civilization if a first-class power is to break faith with the rest of mankind without show of reasonable excuse!

DEAD NUMBER 119

Fourteen Fishing Boats Go Down During Terrible Storm On Spanish Coast—An Appalling Record of Life and Property Loss

Bilbao, Spain, Aug. 15.—One hundred and nineteen Spanish fishermen belonging to this port lost their lives by the sinking of fourteen fishing boats during a terrible storm which has raged along the Spanish coast during the past two days. The hurricane which has now abated, caused immense havoc in the coast towns.

WHY ONTARIO FARM HELP IS RUSHING TO THE WEST

Wages Are Reduced After Harvest Time and Not Raised Again Until Spring—Cheap Rates Attract

A large number of farm hands in Ontario have given notice to their employers of their intention to take advantage of the cheap harvesters' excursion rates to go West. According to local immigration officials, Ontario farmers have been in the habit of reducing wages soon after harvest time and not increasing them again until spring. The help have "got wise," and rather than accept the lower wage, many prefer to try their fortune in the West.

As a result there is always a scarcity of farm laborers in Ontario during harvest time, and this year promises to be no exception. It is further pointed out that the $10 fare to Winnipeg is a big attraction.

Demand for Farm Hands.

So urgent is the demand for farm hands, in view of the approaching harvest, that already a large number of farmers from the territory immediately around Toronto have called at the Dominion Immigration Offices in quest of help, while numerous applications from all parts of the Province have been made by letter.

Wednesday morning 284 immigrants arrived in Toronto, being passengers on the Ausoma, Saturnia and Lake Manitoba. All three boats were delayed in the St. Lawrence by ice and fog. Of the new arrivals, 115 had tickets for points in Western Ontario, while the remainder either remained in Ontario or were placed by the local agents on Ontario farms.

Not Home Rulers.

Among the passengers off the S.S. Lake Manitoba was a party of forty Irish men, women and children. The majority are from Belfast and give a most emphatic denial to the suggestion that they favor Home Rule for Ireland.

SOUTH BEACH RESORT

The South Beach summer resort is having a record season, the hotel being well filled with tourists and guests. Mr. Brooks, the genial proprietor, by his obliging manner and courteous conduct has built up a large and lucrative business. A Times representative who visited this charming spot yesterday found everything spick and span, and everybody happy and having a good time.

Amongst the guests just now is Mr. Justice, City Controller of Buffalo, and wife, who are spending their twelfth summer on the Kawartha Lakes. Mr Justice thinks South Beach the prettiest spot by far on the chain comprising the Kawartha Lakes. There is also Mr. J. W. Charlton and family, and Mr. George Jennie, of Rochester, who has been an annual visitor for 20 years to these waters.

While enjoying the pure ozone only to be found at South Beach, our representative was informed that Mr. Jennie who is an enthusiastic follower of Izaak Walton, yesterday morning embarked on a fishing trip. After his guide had rowed him to a point adout four miles from home he found that his fishing tackle had been forgotten. It was too far to return and get it, so he decided to go on, and did not get back until late in the afternoon, when he produced a half a bag of speckled beauties as the result of his skill. What Mr. Jennie don't know about fishing would not amount to much. Mr. Jennie has not yet disclosed to his fellow tourists just how he did the trick. In the meantime, Mr. Brooks will, no doubt, lose some sleep figuring the problem out.

REGULARS ON REMARKABLE HIKE TO SCENE OF WAR MANOEUVRES

BATTERY AT REST

(TOP ROW) CAPTAIN NEWBILL, LIEUTENANT MYERS, LIEUTENANT SHEPHERD, (BOTTOM ROW) MAJOR SUMMERALL, CAPTAIN GALLUP

March from Fort Myer, Va., in Seventeen Days and Are In Fine Condition.

To take part in the invasion of New York in the army's big war game, two batteries of field artillery, with full war equipment, marched from Fort Myer, Virginia, to New York, three hundred miles, in seventeen days. Major C. P. Summerall, commanding Batteries D and F, said his men were ready for the most trying field service. They went into camp at New Rochelle en route to New Haven.

BRITISH OR FRENCH?

Is this a British or French country? That is a question that sometimes, it would appear, seems difficult to answer. A few months ago the Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Postmaster-General, proceeded to apply French names to the Post offices in the Province of Ontario, and thereby aroused a storm of protests from all parts of the Province, which apparently put a stop to it so far as this province is concerned. Lately Mr. Pelletier's activity in this connection has been removed to places further east. In the county of Rimouski was an office which was known by the plain appellation of Cedar Hall. In future it must be known by the more euphonious name, Val Brillant. Those who, in future, look for Park Laval in the county of the latter name, will fail to find it, for the place which bore that name will, in future, be called Laval des Rapides. The homely name of Rorny, applied to an office in the county of Prince, has been changed to Caessie, while in the county of Jolliette there is no longer a Radstock: it is now Petit Moulin.

The Postmaster-General should be given to understand that Canada is a British country, in which the English language must forever predominate, Quebec included. Therefore French names are objectionable to a vast majority of the people, who will certainly protest against changing the names of post offices from English to French.

GENERAL BOOTH'S CONDITION

Head of Salvation Army is Reported to be Slowly Sinking

New York, Aug. 15. A London cable says:

Grave anxiety was felt to-day for General Booth, head of the Salvation Army, who has been sinking slowly for several hours. His doctors admit that his condition is critical. Inquiries concerning him and expressions of sympathy have been received from men and women of the highest position throughout the world. The aged General is unconscious much of the time.

The Canadian Associated Press cable from London this morning says there is no improvement in the condition of Gen. Booth, which is causing grave anxiety.

A cablegram received in Toronto last night by Commissioner Rees, said the General was considerably worse.

Complete Case Against The Alleged New York Murderers

Men Held Responsible for the Murder of Gambler Rosenthal Arraigned Before Jury of Prominent New Yorkers

New York, Aug. 15.—Before a representative jury of prominent men, with Daniel Frohman as foreman, all the prisoners with the exception of Lieutenant Becker involved in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, were arraigned to-day before Coroner Feinberg for the formal inquest into the murder. At the request of Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss, who said that "a practically complete case has been made out against all the defendants by the Grand Jury now in session," the hearing was postponed until August 22nd.

An eager crowd assembled in court to catch a glimpse of the prisoners, all of whom were there. Rose was dressed in a nobby grey suit and wore a gay-striped necktie. Whitey Lewis had his face swathed in bandages, but attendants explained that he was suffering from a boil and had not been involved in any fighting of late.

Indictments Coming.

Mr. Moss' reference to "a practically complete case," referred to the deliberations of the Rosenthal grand jury, which is expected to hand up indictments against all the prisoners including a re-indictment against Becker, before Judge Mulqueen some time this afternoon.

Rose's Confession.

In the confession of Bald Jack Rose as prepared by the gambler for District Attorney Whitman and printed this morning with Rose's own spelling and punctuation, Rose declares that Becker decided to kill Rosenthal himself if others had not done the work. After the murder Rose says he met Becker by appointment near the scene of the killing In his written confession Rose says:

"I opened the conversation by saying 'My God Charlie this is horrible. There will be ---- to play.' He said 'What is the matter, don't worry, leave all to me.' I asked, have you seen him, and he said 'yes, I saw the squealing —— ——. I would have liked to take my knife out and cut a piece of his tongue and hang it on the building as a warning to possible future squealers. He said, well, I was saved the trouble of doing it myself, he said, I became tired of waiting for you fellows to get the gang to do it so decided to-night to do it myself."

LIBERAL LEADERS BEGIN TO FEAR WAR IN ULSTER

And So Issue a Warning That They Will Hold Those to Blame as Criminally Accountable

London, Aug. 15.—England gasped to-day at Sir William Byle's statement, through the Liberal newspapers, that Bonar Law, the Conservative leader, probably knows the treason-felony indictments are being drawn against prominent men accused of inciting Ulster to violent resistance of Irish Home Rule.

Threats of actual revolt by the Orangemen, if the Home Rule bill passed, have never been taken very seriously by the British. Sir Byles, however, is one of the leading Liberal members of Parliament, and it is taken for granted by everyone that he knows what he is talking about. His utterance is strengthened, too, by the announcement in the Dundee Advertiser, which is generally considered Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill's personal organ, "that the Government is watching very closely the sayings and doings of Mr. Bonar Law, Sir Edward Carson, F. E. Smith and others," and that "in the event of disturbances," it "will act with the utmost rigor and stern judicial indifference to the position of the offenders."

In short the popular interpretation of to-day's outburst is that the Liberal leaders' belief that the threat of warfare in Ulster is sincere, that they consider fighting a possibility, perhaps, a probability, and that they are warning the men who have suggested it that they will be held criminally accountable for it if it comes.

The Conservative leader's retort is awaited with eagerness and anxiety.

NEW SUPT. OF WATERWORKS

Hotel Men Want Their Water Rates Reduced—Water Commissioners in Business Session.

The Water Commissioners in business session passed a resolution confirming the appointment of Mr. A. G. Fawcett as superintendent of the Waterworks.

A letter was read from the Chief Medical Health Officer with reference to the pollution of Stoney Lake.

Mr. G. C. Wainwright wrote the Commissioners regarding a dead end on the east end of Brock street. The matter was referred to the superintendent.

Mrs. A. R. Pearson and Mr. H. L. Stenton wrote the Commissioners, asking for a rebate of the amount of the discount. No action was taken.

A circular was read from the American Waterworks Association regarding questions which there was not sufficient time to discuss at the convention. The Acting Superintendent was instructed to give information to the secretary of the association.

It was moved that no action be taken in the matter of a certain hotelkeeper for a reduction in the water rates, until there is a general revision of the rates, and that attention be called to the waste caused by leaks.

It was decided to fix the water rates for Murray street Baptist church at $24.

It was resolved that an offer of George Mitchell to plough and grade the waterworks land on the east side of the river for $30 be accepted and that his offer to pay $7 for the old railway ties be also accepted.

A report was read from the Acting Superintendent on a petition for a main on Maria street from Engleburn avenue to Birdwall street, estimating the cost at $361.90 and the revenue at $16.81. No action was taken in the petition.

The Acting Superintendent reported verbally that the expenditure on construction this year had amounted to $6,523.30.

A number of accounts were ordered to be paid

BREWSTER'S MILLIONS AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE

The attraction at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday, Aug. 21st, will be "Brewster's Millions," a dramatization by Winchell Smith and Byron Ongley of George Barr McCutcheon's best and brightest story of the same name, with which the majority of book-lovers are familiar. The play comes here with Clyde Bates and a number of the original cast that assisted in winning fame and success during its run in New York.

The plot is a decidedly novel one and the play should prove an interesting comedy. The story is of Montgomery Brewster, a young New Yorker, who is left one million dollars by his grandfather. Just as he is starting to enjoy his fortune he fearns that an uncle has died in California, leaving him many millions of dollars, but under decidedly startling conditions. It appears that his uncle has cordially hated the boy's grandfather, and in order to show this, leaves his money to his nephew under the proviso that he shall spend every cent left by his grandfather within a year.

He cannot gamble the million away, he cannot give it away, he must not do anything with it except spend it purely for pleasure, and if at the end of the year he has one cent left or any personal property or real estate, he forfeits all right to his uncle's fortune, and, of course, has already lost the fortune he squandered.

The troubles of the youth to "blow" $1,000,000 in a year are humorous indeed, and at times, rather pathetic. He is allowed to take a flyer in the stock-market and given the right to lose $30,000 this way, but he makes a like amount instead, and so gets a setback. Then he is given a like amount to lose at Monte Carlo, but he breaks the bank and nearly breaks his heart. Appendicitis and the doctors finally help him to get rid of all he has left, and the end of the year finds him waiting in bed to welcome the friends who have gone out to throw away his last wornout suit of clothes.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WANTED IN SOUTH CITY.

Riverdale Church Proposed as Suitable Building—Dr. Marsh Named as Minister.

People who pass up and down the the Otonabee River oft notice and remark on the little white church about half a mile from the street railway wharf, known as Riverdale. For some time the residents of that section have wished to have the church renovated, and to conduct services there regularly, purely undenominational in character.

The trustees of the Riverdale Sunday School met recently and discussed the momentous question of establishing another Presbyterian church in south city. It was pointed out that Dr. Marsh, at the order of the Presbytery, had discontinued services at Bethany, and for that reason they desired to have him conduct services at Riverdale. If such is carried out the residents will be perfectly satisfied.

But it is generally understood that the Presbytery of Peterborough have a proposition up their sleeve, which so far has not been publicly given out. The Presbytery feel that there should be another church of their denomination in the southern part of the city, on a site which would be both convenient to people living in the extreme southern limits and yet not too far removed from the city. They feel also that the Riverdale church if organized, would not prove successful fearing that it would not get the required support which is always necessary to make a successful church. The people down around there feel otherwise, and, as previously intimated earnestly desire the little church to be again occupied. It has been standing empty for over a year and is in a rather dilapidated condition.

The Presbytery are on the lookout for a suitable location for a church and manse. The question so far has not been decided and the Riverdale people are given an opportunity to use their church. The site will be put at once for sale.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND results. The question is asked me repeatedly, Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address All. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 30c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 380 George St. directly opposite Creemann's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

NOT A FAMILY QUARREL.

It Was Simply a Clever Ruse of a Daring Parisian Thief.

A traveler remarks that the Parisian swindler is the subtlest and the most indomitable one in the world. He was one day strolling through a fashionable French shop.

A woman entered and proceeded to purchase a costly set of silver dishes, and meanwhile a well dressed man lingered at the doorway as though waiting for her.

The woman, her purchase concluded, counted a number of bank notes and advanced to the cashier's desk holding them in her hand. Then of a sudden the man rushed upon her.

"You wretch!" he exclaimed. "Didn't I tell you that you shouldn't have those dishes?" And he slapped her upon the cheek, tore the bank notes from her hand and stalked indignantly out of the shop.

The woman fainted. It was ten minutes before she was brought to, and meanwhile those in the shop, believing that a family quarrel was in progress, did nothing. On her recovery the manager of the place said regretfully:

"We are sorry, madam, for this occurrence. Your husband"—

"My husband! That was not my husband!" the woman cried. "He is a thief!"

She had never seen the man before.—Exchange.

Violet For Mourning.

It was not by accident that violet was chosen by many nations as the exclusive color for mourning and by us also for half mourning. Painters suffering from hysteria and neurasthenia will be inclined to cover their pictures uniformly with the color most in accordance with their condition of lassitude and exhaustion. Thus originate the violet pictures of Manet and his school, which spring from no actually observable aspect of nature, but from a subjective view due to conditions of the nerves. When the entire surface of walls in salons and art exhibitions of the day appears veiled in uniform half mourning this predilection for violet is simply an expression of the nervous debility of the painter.—Nordau's "Degeneration."

Sewing Room Sayings.

Dressmakers' superstitions are as numerous in the sewing room as the pins and needles about which they circulate. Some of them sound as if they might have originated out of the need of placating the powers that be in case of accident. For instance, if a new gown slips out of the operator's hands and falls to the floor "it is a sign" that the gown will be sold quickly. Still another saw that carries placation on the face of it is the one that promises that if you spill a box of pins "it is a sign" that customers are coming.

The Mental Railroad.

Assyrian Healing.

Some of the medical treatises of ancient Assyria are models of simplicity, and we cannot doubt the effectiveness of their prescriptions. Thus we are told that if a man has colic we should "make him crouch down on his heels and pour cold water over his head." That ought to cure colic if only the water is cold enough. Again, "When a man is bilious rub him with an onion and let him drink nothing but water and abstain from food altogether." The onion part is probably decorative. At least it can do no harm, while the abstention from food is salutary in the extreme, even for those who are not very bilious. But if a man is in "a weak state" why should it benefit him to "strike him on the head fourteen times with your thumb?" This is suggestive of faith healing.

Primrose Day.

Primrose day in England, the anniversary of the death of Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, had its origin in the tribute, a modest wreath of primroses, sent by Queen Victoria for the funeral of Beaconsfield. The general impression that the primrose was Beaconsfield's favorite flower came from a misunderstanding of the words attached to the queen's tribute—"F. Victoria. His favorite flower." The public thought the queen meant that the primrose was Beaconsfield's favorite flower when in truth she meant that it was the favorite flower of the prince consort.—New York American.

"Swallowed a Word."

Little Mary was telling what she thought was an exciting story about a dream. She stuttered in her effort, gulped and paused hopelessly without completing the sentence.

"Why, child, what is the matter?" her mother asked.

The little girl smiled ruefully and replied, "I swallowed a word."—Indianapolis News.

WILL CONSULT SIR WILFRID.

The idea of making Canada's contribution to the imperial navy a non-political one in the Dominion, just as it is non-political in Great Britain, is a very happy thought on the part of Mr. Borden. In England, Mr. Asquith, the British Liberal Premier, spoke so enthusiastically of Mr. Borden's advocacy of empire unity and preparedness in case of emergency, as did Mr. A. J. Balfour himself, or, for that matter, as Lord Charles Beresford himself, and there should be no reason to believe that the leader of the Liberal party in this country will be one whit behind his British confrere in the warmth of his support of Mr. Borden's scheme.

The Liberal Government when in power had its naval policy, and although it may not have satisfied the aspirations of the Canadian nation, Sir Wilfrid was at least committed to a policy of the protection of Canadian commerce and fisheries. Since Mr. Borden's accession to power, circumstances have altered very considerably. The German menace has become more acute—an acuteness that has probably worked a change in Sir Wilfrid's views on naval matters, which may bring him into greater agreement with Mr. Borden than even his most ardent followers are aware of.

Editorial Notes

The Globe printed a statement a few days ago to the effect that it cost about half a million dollars to oust Sir Wilfrid from office. To which The Mail and Empire will doubtless respond by saying that it was worth the money.

Near Elkhart, Ind., the other day a red bull hurled an automobile containing four people into a ditch. Doubtless that was a stirring spectacle, but for real exciting effect we must wait until the Bull Moose crashes into the Taft bandwagon.

The cutting of telephone wires by the suffragettes of Edinburgh is a reminder that there are still two or three crimes and misdemeanors which those playful propagandists of sweetness and light have not yet committed.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL

Reeve Howden and Councillors Morrow, May and Forster being present, the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Mr. M. Sucee, asking the council to grant $25 towards the cleaning out of the creek which runs through his property. This matter was left over till the next meeting.

Mr. H. J. McCamon applied to the council to have Grandview avenue and Kenneth avenue graded. The council decided to authorize the clerk to notify Mr. McCannon to remove the stumps from the streets if he wished to have them graded.

Mr. Forster moved a resolution that the clerk shall send Mr. Little a copy of the township solicitor's letter regarding Mr. Little's notice re culvert near his property, which was removed by the consent of the property owners some years ago.

Mr. May moved an amendment to Mr. Forster's resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Morrow, that the township solicitor's letter re culvert, applied for by Jno. Little, be published with the minutes. The letter is as follows:

Peterborough, Aug. 7th, 1912.

Township Clerk:

Dear Sir,— Replying to your letter asking advice in respect of the communication from T. J. Little, we beg to state that the council is not under any obligation to provide an outlet for surface water forming on lands adjoining highways unless it flows to the highway by a well-defined channel. It is not right for the council to block the flow of water which is carried down by a well-defined bank. The question then for the council to determine in the present case is whether there is a defined bank or not. If there is not, they can build the road without a culvert.

Yours truly,
Rick, Kerr & McElderry.

The following accounts were presented for payment

Geo. Ward, re culvert on Bd.	$12.00
Geo. Ward, culvert and repairing	15.25
Robert Sanderson, culvert, repairs, etc.	8.20
The Peterborough Lumber Co., Edison avenue bridge	19.01
Geo. H. May, material and labor re Edison avenue bridge	62.67
Geo. Ward, repairs Cavan Bd.	3.50
Jno. Scott, removing stones from Harper's hill	1.50
Municipality South Monaghan, Bd. work, 1910	20.00
	$142.13

Moved by Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Morrow, that the above accounts be paid.

The council appointed Mr. James C. Morrow to look after the cleaning of the ditch at Springville.

Moved by Mr. Morrow, seconded by Mr. Forster, that Mr. May be appointed to oversee the building of the culverts at the corner of Park and Lansdowne streets, and at the corner of High street and Lundy's Lane.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. May, that the following committee be appointed to meet a committee from South Monaghan: Mr. Robson, Mr. Morrow and Mr. May. The object of the meeting is to inspect the boundary road leading down to the river and to the new wharf at Whitfield's landing and to have the same put in proper condition. The time set for the meeting being Aug. 19th, 1912, at 6 o'clock p.m. sharp at the Orange Hall corner, Fraserville.

Moved by Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. May, that the assessor's salary be paid, $50.

The meeting then adjourned until the second Monday in September.

BOOZE FOR A PRINCE

College Boys Put Stein in Bismarck's Bronze Hands — Other News.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—A party of college youths got into the hands of the Dresden police recently as the result of a frolic. Returning from a festive meeting with some kindred spirits, they came to the celebrated bronze statue of Prince Bismarck. The pose of the figure suggested an idea to one of the merry collegians. He called a halt and directed one of his companions to go to a neighboring rathskeller and secure steins of beer for all, including the bronze reproduction of the prince. Just as the youths were inducing the thirstless bronze image to do justice to the brew of Dresden, policemen came on the scene and escorted them to the nearest police station.

Can't Get Headsman.

The lack of an executioner is the sole cause for delay in the decapitation of two Germans, now under confinement in German Southwest Africa. Under peculiarly callous circumstances they killed a police sergeant and were duly condemned to death. The law in German Southwest Africa provides that all white men convicted of murder shall be beheaded. There is, however, no official headsman and no one can be found who is willing to undertake the office of executioner.

A curious story is being told in connection with a recent banquet given by Kaiser Wilhelm. One invited guest failed to arrive at the last moment and the Emperor directed that, contrary to custom, the vacant chair should not be removed. Towards the end of the dinner the Emperor was observed to grow suddenly excited. He half rose from his chair and resumed it only to grow ashen pale. Quietly the guests withdrew one by one. His Imperial Majesty said later in explanation of the incident that he could have sworn the old Duke of Cumberland was sitting in the vacant seat, grinning at him. It is the first known occasion where Emperor William has betrayed a weakness towards superstition. The old duke once laughingly declared that he would haunt the Hohenzollern as long as the latter held possession of his sequestered estates.

POWER OF THE OCTOPUS.

The Force Exerted by Its Formidable Sucker Lined Arms.

Both the octopus and the cuttlefish have arms that are clothed with a formidable array of suckers, which are wonderful pieces of mechanism. When the sucker comes into contact with an object the central piston, having previously been raised so as to completely fill the cavity of the sucker, is at once withdrawn and a perfect vacuum produced, explaining the great tenacity with which the suckers cling. They number upward of 100 pairs to each arm of the octopus, and once they obtain a grip on the victim, unless the arm is actually torn away from the body of the octopus, it is practically impossible for its prey to disentangle itself.

In addition to these suckers the octopus has a powerful pair of jaws, shaped like the beak of a parrot, behind which is a formidable armor plated tongue used as a rasping organ. The octopus will attack and kill crabs and lobsters of considerable size, ripping open the body by means of its powerful jaws and devouring the contents. In spite of being a creature of such awe inspiring looks the octopus has several enemies in various species of whales, sharks and conger eels. In fact, the latter are particularly fond of devouring the smaller octopuses.

Conger eels hunt for the octopus and when found proceed to browse on its limbs. The octopus tries to hug the slippery, slimy conger tight, but in vain, and, finding its limbs growing less, discharges its ink in the face of the foe and under cover of the turbid water beats a hasty retreat. It is to escape the too pressing attention of its foes that the octopus possesses the power of changing its color to correspond with that of its surroundings.

A BULL RING BEGGAR.

The Intruder Wanted Bread, but He Got "Thumbs Down."

Sometimes the bullfight in Spain is used to compel the attention of the authorities to grievances that would otherwise go unnoticed, as is seen in the following incident described by Harry A. Franck in "Four Months Afoot In Spain:"

"The newcomer will long remember his first bull—certainly if, as in my own case, the first banderillero slips at the moment of thrusting his barbed darts and is booted like a soccer football half around the ring by the snorting animal. Still less shall I forget the chill that shot through me when, with the fifth bull at the height of his fury, a gaunt and awkward boy of fifteen sprang suddenly over the barriers and shook his ragged blouse a dozen times in the animal's face. As many times he escaped a goring by the closest margin.

"The toreros did not for a moment lose their heads. Calmly and dexterously they maneuvered until one of them drew the bull off, when another caught the intruder by the arm and marched him across the ring to the shade of the mayor's box. There the youth, who had taken this means of gaining an audience, lifted up a mournful voice and asked for food, asserting that he was starving—a statement that seemed by no means improbable. The response was thumbs down. But he gained his point, in a way, for he was given a fortnight in prison.

"Incidents of the sort had grown so frequent of late in Seville as to make necessary a new law, promulgated in large letters on that day's program. Printed words in all probability meant nothing to this neglected son of Seville."

The Uncertain Apple Tree.

An apple tree is the result of a graft from the tree that is known to be a producer of a certain kind and flavor of apples. If the seed were planted and one relied on it to produce a select grade of fruit the result would be disappointing, for the reason that from the seed the most remarkable varieties will be shown. Perhaps they will be miserable little crabapples or pippins, bitter fruit or a useless conglomeration. The seed somehow or other harks back to its origin, notwithstanding years of cultivation. The varieties of apples known today are a result of careful selection and constant grafting of the better kind from year to year until the present development has been attained.—Harper's.

Handsome Goethe.

Goethe was pronounced "the handsomest man of Europe." He was a little over six feet in height, but so well proportioned that he did not seem tall. His features were of the Roman type, his hair rather light than dark, his whole appearance commanding. Even to extreme old age he retained a large share of the personal good looks that earlier in life had made him so attractive.

The Unexpected.

Prizefighter (entering school with his son)—You give this boy o' mine a thrashing yesterday, didn't yer? Schoolmaster (very nervous)—Well—I—er—perhaps— Prizefighter—Well, give us your 'and. You're a champion. I can't do nothin' with 'im myself.—London Punch.

Its Characteristics.

"The principal characters in that play are a baby and a horse."

"That dramatist is evidently doing things with mite and mane."—Baltimore American.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.—Cables for Manitoba wheat came a little stronger to-day, and, with the decline in the Winnipeg market, local exporters were able to work some business. There was another active enquiry for oats, with a fair trade reported for export. The local spot situation remains strong. There is no change in the flour trade. Business continues on restricted lines, with little or no export trade and only a fair demand for district account. Butter and cheese are unchanged. Receipts are moderate, and the trend of the market remains the same. Butter continues easy, while cheese is firm and in fair demand for export.

Bold Thieves In This Town.

Sutton, Que., Aug. 15—An anti-sneak thieves society was formed Tuesday night to attempt to stamp out an epidemic of petty thefts which have been sweeping over the vicinity. While most of the honest and able-bodied farmers were busy organizing and electing officers the thieves broke into the hen house of M. E. Baker, in the rear of whose residence the meeting was being held, getting away with his entire flock, consisting of some forty valuable birds.

Brightest prospects are held out for this year's apple crop, and it is said that the fruit will not only be in abundance, but the quality will be excellent. It is likely that there will be a greater supply of the smaller varieties, but the larger fruits will come later, and will be choice.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

TALK IN CONGRESS

Where Freedom of Speech Is a Right Jealously Guarded.

MIGHT OF THE LOWER HOUSE

The Enormous Power It Wields by Reason of Its Grip Upon the Purse of the Nation—Absolute Democracy of the Committee of the Whole.

The house of representatives of the people of the United States, the great demos, the source of all power, the basis upon which the great superstructure of the government rests, dates back to the Magna Charta, and its immediate ancestor was the first parliament of Henry IV., in the fifteenth century. In Henry's parliament the representatives of the people established finally and forever that all revenue bills must originate in the lower house, which should hold the purse of the people and without which not a wheel in the legislative, the executive or the judicial branch of the government could turn.

It is because of this parliament that there is no ways and means committee in the senate and that when any treaty or commercial arrangement or anything involving the payment of money is introduced, any appointment or legislation is proposed, the house of representatives raises its mighty hand and settles the matter according to the will of the people through their representatives, for it can defeat any measure or any person by merely declining to appropriate the money necessary to pay for that measure or person.

When this great committee on ways and means presents its business to the house of representatives and the house goes into committee of the whole house on the state of the Union the assemblage at once resolves itself into a body as absolutely democratic as the Saxon Witenagemot or the New England town meeting. Every symbol of a popular assemblage is religiously observed. The speaker leaves the chair, and a chairman is elected who is not the speaker. Not even so much as the prestige of the regular presiding officer is allowed to hamper the freedom of debate. The speaker goes down to the floor and has no more privileges than the most obscure member of the house.

The mace, the emblem of authority, is put under the speaker's table to show that the house deliberates without interference from anybody. The mace is really a weapon, a stout wooden stick with a metal head, and used to be the favorite weapon of fighting priests of the middle ages. They were forbidden by ecclesiastical law to use swords, but got around the law by using the mace, a terrible weapon, against the armored men of the time. In the choice of the mace as the type of authority the idea of democracy was rigidly carried out. In the early days only a few men out of the whole were authorized to wear swords, but any and all of the people could use a good stout stick, and so the weapon of their majesties the people was chosen. When the speaker presides and any members show signs of indulging in fisticuffs and will not obey the speaker's gavel the sergeant-at-arms or his deputy is directed to "show the mace." That functionary seizes the mace and marches up to the offending members, who are supposed to be awed into good behavior at sight of this big stick.

Not long ago, when two members got into a row and it seemed as if blows were about to be exchanged, the speaker promptly ordered the sergeant-at-arms to show them the mace. The sergeant took the mace, marched up to the two belligerents and stood, mace in hand, majestically, before them. This, however, had not the slightest effect, and the sergeant-at-arms anxiously inquired of a member sitting next, "What am I to do with the mace now?"

To which the member responded in a stage whisper, "Puck 'em on the head with it!"

This suggestion brought down the house, and a roar of laughter and applause followed, in which even the belligerents were obliged to join.

In general, however, before the mace can be shown, the members rush in and separate men whose tempers have got the better of them, who have exchanged the lie or the blow that always follows. Members engaging in these rows are always called before the bar of the house and sternly reprimanded by the speaker, who talks like a Dutch uncle to them and calls them by name. This "naming" is the only time a member's name is used in debate. He is at other times "the member from So and so" or "the gentleman from So-and-so."

These collisions rarely, if ever, occur between members anywhere except on the floor of the house. Everything is permitted in the freedom of debate, nor is a member held accountable outside for anything he may say on the floor. Through this freedom of speech members say things they would not dare to utter elsewhere. In the old days duels followed the exchange of the lie, and the Graves-Cilley duel, the John Randolph and Henry Clay duel and many historical encounters took place. But in the evolution of government the principle became firmly fixed that there must be absolute freedom of debate and that no man could be held responsible outside for anything said on the floor of either house. And so the dueling practice was dropped in congress long before public sentiment abolished it elsewhere. No libel suit holds for anything said in open debate, and in every way the freedom of speech is jealously guarded and maintained.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors, who are equally interested in its management. Home Office, Toronto.

Sifted Pearls.

Some years ago the sultan of Sulu learned that the pearl fishermen were reaping big profits. He supplied his revenue collectors with sieves and ordered that all pearls found near Sulu must be tested in these sieves. Those that dropped through were to be retained by the fishermen; those that remained in the sieves were to belong to the sultan for taxes. It nearly ruined the pearl fisheries.

The Title "Colonel."

The title colonel comes from the word almost the same in several languages, signifying a column. The colonel was so called because he led or commanded the column.

Wool Varieties.

There are a great many varieties of wool, due to the crossbreeding of the sheep, the climate in which they are reared in different parts of the world, the natural surroundings and the soil. Thus each kind of wool has its individual name, which it takes from the breed of sheep or the locality where they are raised.

The First Typewriter.

Italians claim that it was one of their countrymen, named Ravizza, who constructed the first typewriter, as long ago as 1855.

Padded Coachmen.

In Russia it is a mark of distinction for a coachman to have a very rotund figure. The drivers of fashionable carriages appear at first to be abnormally stout. As a matter of fact, this appearance is due to the skillful padding of the coachman's livery. The padding is done with cotton, and some remarkable results are obtained.

Brazil Nuts.

The Brazil nut is a rich food, 60 per cent of it being oil.

A Hungarian Fire Eater.

A famous Hungarian duelist celebrated in 1886 his thirty-fifth encounter. He gave a banquet to which only those were bidden who could prove six duels. An exception was made in favor of a woman who had met and killed her man.

Dogcarts in Belgium.

Dogs have been trained in Belgium for centuries to be beasts of burden. Throughout the country thousands of dogs constantly work, singly or in teams, before small carts, giving perfect satisfaction. Hundreds of small wagons, as well as other light vehicles, are drawn by dogs throughout the country.

First Piano.

It was a harpsichord maker, Cristofori, in the employ of the Duke of Tuscany, who in 1711 made the first successful piano. It was a crude affair, but was the parent of the modern instrument.

Engines.

An internal combustion engine is engine where combustion occurs wi in the cylinder, in gas. An exter combustion engine is where coal gas is consumed outside, as under boiler.

The Word "Cigar."

The word cigar occurs in a Germ dictionary for the first time in 18 and in the Dictionnaire of the Fren Academie in 1835. Kant used the wo "ziggaro" in 1798. In Spain at t present day the word "cigarro" mea a cigarette, for which they likewi have the word "pitillo." Their na for a cigar is "un puro."

A Monster Iceberg.

Explorer Peary found an icebe grounded in Baffin bay, twenty mil from land, which was 4,169 yards lon 3,869 yards wide and 51 yards hig It weighed 1,292,397,673 tons!

Improving Americans.

"Nothing is fixed but the certain of change," said Goethe, and we ma that the future American will rep sent a change. He may be taller shorter or thinner or fatter than t American of today, but there is no ing in the existing state of society and we use society in its broad sens to indicate that he will not be bet in many ways. Confidence in this based largely on the evident determ nation of the American of today have our institutions and our idea better than he found them. Eve American, native or foreign bor wants his children to have a better e ucation than it was possible for h to secure. KEEP CUTS CLEAN.

Then There Isn't Anything For Them to Do but Heal.

The cut made by the surgeon should always be kept absolutely free from germs. If infection occurs we know that some one has blundered. Accidental cuts, on the other hand, are almost invariably infected.

The germs of disease are everywhere. No matter how small the cut may be or how brief its exposure to the air, germs are almost certain to enter. If an accidental cut is to heal quickly and well all germs must be carefully removed at the first dressing.

When we consider how many are the ways in which a cut may become infected we can understand why such precautions are necessary. Infection is often introduced by the very implement that makes the wound. Only surgeons use sterilized instruments. A knife or a pair of scissors or a piece of glass or crockery is almost certain to plant germs in the furrow it plows. Germs may also enter from the clothing, from the hands of whoever rushes to help, from the first piece of cloth or handkerchief used to stanch the flow of blood or from the water used for the first washing.

Since the avenues of danger are so numerous, it is safest to assume that infection has occurred. It follows that every family should understand some of the simplest methods of sterilization. Heat is the simplest of all. The mother of a family should keep a supply of soft linen rags that have been thoroughly boiled. She should keep them not on an open shelf with towels or other cloths, but done up in a carefully closed oiled paper bag or protected from the air in some other equally effective way. For washing the wound she should use only water that has been boiled. When the doctor comes he will add some kind of chemical antisepsis, and it will be proved once more that a clean cut can do nothing but heal.—Youth's Companion.

CHANGEABLE CHICAGO.

Has Eight Counties and Many Varied Spellings to Its Credit.

"Few people know that Chicago has been in eight different counties of Illinois," said an old Chicago man. "It was first placed within the limits of Madison county, Illinois then being a territory, Sept. 14, 1812.

"Subsequently it was included in the following counties seriatim: Edwards in 1814; Crawford, 1816; Clark, after the territory was admitted as a state, 1819; Pike, 1821; Fulton, 1823; Peoria, 1825, under the jurisdiction of which it remained until the creation of the county of Cook, Jan. 15, 1831.

"The name of the city, too, has been spelled more than a dozen ways. Father Hennepin called it Che-cau-gou; La Salle, Shecagou; on an old French map of 1682, Chekagou; on another old map (1673) in the Historical society library at Madison, Wis., it is Chicaugua; Father Gravier (1690) wrote it Chicagoua, and in 1700 St. Cosme wrote it variously Chikagu, Chicagou, Chicagu and Chicago, he being the first to give the letters the arrangement which finally was settled upon as the authorized spelling. Charlevoix gave the same spelling in 1721. In the Greenville treaty (as revised) it is Chikagu.

"In an old deed filed away among the archives of the Chicago Historical society, as applied to the river or creek (1774), it is plainly written Chicagou. The word was the Indian word for garlic or wild onion and signified to the red men strong, mighty, powerful, courageous.

"In 1725 a chief bore the name Chicago (under some one of its many spellings), who went to Paris and was made much of by kings and princes."

"Watches" on Board Ship.

On board all ships a series of "watches" are established, so that work is shared equally among the sailors. To aid this object also the crews are divided into two divisions, starboard and port. A ship's day commences at noon, and there are seven watches. The watch which is on duty in the forenoon one day has the afternoon next day, and the men who have four hours' rest one night have eight hours the next. This is the reason for having "dog watches," which are made by dividing the hours between 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. into two watches.

Living on Rubber.

The rubber slug is one of the many pests of rubber plantations. It attacks the young trees and feeds on the juice oozing from the cuts. Doubt having been cast on the suggestion that any animal could subsist on rubber, a saucerful of juice was placed before some rubber slugs, which lapped it up like a cat lapping up milk. Scientists have come to the conclusion that this slug contains some rubber digesting ferment as a gastric juice.

Wouldn't Have Missed.

As a battalion was returning from rifle practice at the ranges a shot was discharged from the leading company, apparently by accident, but the bullet passed uncomfortably close to the colonel. "Look here," he roared to the captain of the company, "who fired that shot?" "Sir," replied the officer proudly, "it can't be a man of my company, for they are all first class shots."—London Globe.

Refined Rooting.

The English root very politely. When a cricketer lands a fly the bleacherites yell: "Oh, jolly well caught! Oh, very well caught indeed!" Sometimes when a player plays unusually well they write him a note the next day.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Well Satisfied.

First Negro—I heah that Andrew Jackson Jones am run over by an automobile. Did he get any satisfaction? Second Negro—He suttinly did. He took de machine's number, played policy wif it an' won $10!—Satire.

WOMEN IN PORTUGAL.

They Do All the Hard Work While Lazy Men Loll and Smoke.

The lot of women in Portugal is not an enviable one, according to Mr. Aubrey F. G. Bell, who in his book, "In Portugal," thus describes the labor that falls to their share:

"Portuguese men are so notoriously indolent that it is no exaggeration to say that two-thirds of the work of Portugal is done by women. To them the Portuguese word mourejar is really applicable, since, in fact, they work like Moors or slaves. They work in the fields and appear to bear the brunt of the labor.

"In one field the woman in the heat of the day draws up bucket after bucket of water while the man sits perched in a shady olive tree. In the neighboring field a man watches six women at work among the maize. In a third a group of women stand working in the summer sun while a group of men sit at the same work under a vine trellis.

"Everywhere are to be seen women with huge loads of immense weight, while the men accompany them empty handed. The man lies in his ox cart and must have a cigarro and a copo of wine or brandy after his hard day's work, or he sits at his counter and bids his wife go out into the cruel sunshine to fetch a heavy bilha of water or other provisions. Women work in the quarries. Women row heavy barges. Wherever there is hard work women are to be found."

THE RISE OF NEW YORK.

It Dates From the Time That the Erie Canal Was Opened.

If we seek the original creator of landed wealth in New York we must look over the heads of Astor and the Goelets to De Witt Clinton, the man who in 1825 pushed to completion the Erie canal.

Up to that time New York was not inevitably marked out for the American metropolis. In 1800 Philadelphia was actually a larger city, and Baltimore, with its splendid harbor and its inland river communication, confidently expected to grasp the nation's commercial leadership.

But the Erie canal changed the situation in a twinkling. It placed the city in communication with inland New York—an agricultural empire in itself, whose wealth had previously flowed by way of the Susquehanna river to Baltimore—and New York became the seaport for the agricultural states bordering on the great lakes.

Until the Erie canal was opened it had cost $88 a ton to transport wheat from Buffalo to Albany. With this new waterway the cost fell to something more than $5. A string of cities, several of which became large ones, sprang up along its course, all tributary to New York.—Burton J. Hendrick in McClure's Magazine.

Unconscious Bravery.

At a place called Anghin, about forty miles south of Bangkok, a Chinaman and his wife cultivated a small sugar cane plantation. The man had been greatly annoyed by having his cane eaten by his neighbors' buffalo calves. Coming home one evening just at dark, he saw what he thought was one of the marauders at work on the cane. Stealing silently up behind it, he struck it a mighty blow with a heavy club. The animal dropped without a sound. The Chinaman told his wife what he had done and added, "That calf will steal no more of my cane." In the morning he found that the "calf" was a full grown tiger. He had killed it by breaking its neck, just as the woman of Nam had done. And John was so much impressed with his own narrow escape that he took to his bed and was sick for a week.—Youth's Companion.

A Glass Needle Stiletto.

As diabolical a specimen of murderous ingenuity as ever was discovered by the police was found one day in the possession of a Chinaman who had been working in a laundry in New Orleans and who was believed to have intended using it upon his employer. It was a tiny stiletto, with a handle about as thick as a carpenter's pencil and a blade four inches long of glass, pointed as keenly as a needle. A tiny groove had been filed around the blade close to the hilt. Suppose it was driven into a man's body. It would be certain to break off at the groove and leave three inches of glass deep in his flesh. What is more, the puncture would be so tiny that it would probably close at once and show no mark, not even a single drop of blood.

Pay For Their Fun.

The punishment for drunkenness in St. Petersburg is to make the offender, no matter what his social position, sweep the streets. Well attired gentlemen, some of them in dress suits, are occasionally seen sweeping the streets after a night's carouse.

Piano Keys.

A soft rag moistened with lemon juice and then dipped in silver whiting will be found excellent for cleaning piano keys.

Yew Trees.

The yew tree, almost destitute of branches or bark, grows in the Caucasus to a height of from fifty to sixty feet and a diameter of a little over two feet. It is considered superior to mahogany and is almost indestructible except by fire.

Measles.

The word measles formerly meant leprosy.

Jack and Jill in Norway.

A writer on Norway says, "Our familiar nursery friends Jack and Jill are descendants of Hjuki and Bil, the ebbing and flowing tides, the tumbling crests of which, breaking one over another as the waves wash the shore, are rather aptly described in the nursery rhyme."

FORCIBLE FEEDING.

English Suffragette Tell How the Treatment Feels.

An interesting account of a suffragettes' "hunger strike" in an English prison appears in a London magazine. The article is purported to be written by one of the participants, and she tells of the methods employed to feed her:

I was arrested for window-smashing, together with about twenty other suffragettes, and sentenced to one month's imprisonment in the third division.

This meant that we were classed as ordinary prisoners. We resented this, and determined to protest.

At first our resistance was merely passive. We refused to dress ourselves in the prison clothes, or to occupy ourselves with the usual prison tasks which prisoners are supposed to perform. For acting in this manner we were punished by solitary confinement on bread and water.

We next determined to smash the windows of our cells. This was done by all of us simultaneously one day in the dinner hour, the signal being the words "No sur-ren-der!"—the words being set to the chimes of big Ben.

As soon as this signal was given by our leader, from every cell where one of our comrades was imprisoned there came the answering chimes, "No sur-ren-der!" followed immediately by the sound of breaking glass.

For this we were given longer terms of solitary confinement in the punishment cells. The only further protest then left us was the hunger strike.

[illegible] terribly from indigestion, and the most frightful depression of spirits.

This forcible feeding went on for nearly three weeks, during the whole of which time I can truthfully say I was never free from pain.

During the last week, indeed, the inside of my mouth became badly ulcerated from the constant friction of the metal gag, and they had in consequence to use the nasal tube. This did not hurt quite as much, but as the food they were able to pass through it was of a less substantial and nourishing nature I grew terribly weak.

At length the welcome day of my release came round. Before going out I was taken to be weighed. Wardresses and doctors gasped when they saw the result, and one of the latter started to shake and rattle the machine to see if there were anything wrong with it.

I had lost twenty-eight pounds—practically one pound for each day of my imprisonment.

She Gathered the "Lions."

In former years, when she was Lady Jeune and her second husband, Sir Francis Jeune, was alive, Lady St. Helier was one of the most popular hostesses in London. Her salon was the recognised meeting place for "lions" of every description.

Indeed, so varied were the guests made welcome there that a famous wit who had been invited to attend a notorious murder trial replied:

"No, I don't think I'll go, Madam. If the poor wretch is condemned it will be too painful. If he's released, why, I expect I'll meet him at Lady

WOMEN AND CARD GAMES.

In Chile Such a Combination Would Create a Sensation.

A woman who is a native of Chile was talking recently about the difficulty she had in accustoming herself to card playing among women when she came to this country. She said:

"In Chile card playing among women is undreamed of. Perhaps it is not too much to say that a Chilean woman would no more play cards than a New York woman would enter a Broadway saloon. It isn't that it is exactly or wholly a matter of morals with us. It just isn't the thing to do. It is not conventional.

"When I came to New York I brought my daughter-in-law with me, a Chilean girl. She and I were both horribly shocked to receive an invitation to a bridge party in the daytime. It was too much for us, and we declined. Other similar invitations came and kept coming. Finally our curiosity got the best of us, and we went to one of these affairs. Even after we got over our sense of outraged convention the whole thing seemed [illegible] to us.

A Sample.

"Why did you cover that board with paint and lean it against your gate post?"

"That," replied Mr. Growcher, "is a sample for the benefit of the people who won't believe paint is fresh until they have rubbed their fingers across it."—Washington Star.

STANDING UPRIGHT.

Easy Only Because of Our Complex Muscular Mechanism.

We are so accustomed to standing upright as a natural attitude that few of us think what a special complex mechanism is required for this purpose. A moment's consideration will show that the ordinary explanation of the erect position (the center of gravity to be directly above the feet) is insufficient. When a man is suddenly shot, whether from the front or behind, he drops on his face, for the truth is that there is much more weight in the front of the spinal column than behind it.

The fact is that when we are standing a large number of powerful muscles (both front and back) are simultaneously at work, the effects of their action being to neutralise each other. Thus the legs would fall forward were it not that they are kept vertical on the feet by the strong tendon (the Achilles) at the back of the heel. At the same time the muscles of the thigh are tightened so as to prevent us taking a sitting position, and the muscles of the back are pulled tense so that the trunk does not stoop forward. The head is prevented from dropping on the chest by the ligaments in the nape of the neck.

That the upright is not its normal position is easily shown by the fact that a man nods as he is falling asleep, for as soon as the controlling nervous force is deadened the head drops forward by its own weight, only to be pulled back into position again with a jerk when the brain becomes suddenly aware of an unusual attitude.

Rivers and a Mountain Range.

The range of the Blue Ridge mountains in Pennsylvania is divided by a river every twenty seven miles, as follows: From Susquehanna to the Swatara, twenty-seven miles; from the Swatara to the Schuylkill, twenty seven miles; from the Schuylkill to the Lehigh, twenty-seven miles; from the Lehigh to the Delaware, twenty-seven miles. At the next twenty-seven miles is a hollow of New Jersey, in which nestles a lake known as Culvers pond ar I this was started on the following morning, I, of course, joining in.

For four days no food of any kind passed my lips, although, directly the prison authorities saw that I was in earnest, every effort was made to tempt me to break my resolution. In place of the dry, coarse brown bread and plain cold water, custard pudding and hot milk were placed in my cell, filling it with fragrance.

I used to warm my hands on the outside of the pudding basin and the mug until the contents grew cold, and once or twice I allowed myself the luxury of sniffing up the hot, delicious steam that rose from them when they were first brought in by the wardens.

On the morning of the fifth day while the wardresses were dressing me

W. H. HEARST,
Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines
Toronto, July 17th, 1912.

[illegible] to put on the prison clothes of my own accord—I fainted dead away, remaining unconscious, I was told, for over half an hour. On my recovery the doctor ordered me to be forcibly fed.

I at once said that I intended to resist to the best of my ability, so four wardresses were told off to hold my hands and feet.

First they stretched my limbs to their full length. Next a steel wedge-shaped gag was forced between my teeth prising them open, then a tube was thrust down my throat, and a whole quart of liquid food was poured through it, almost without stopping. I felt like a bottle filled up to the neck.

Other days, the proceeding was varied by forcing a stiff mess of brown bread and milk and minced beef down my throat. When I tried not to swallow it they held my nose so that I could not breathe.

MURKY GREEN PETROLEUM.

Processes by Which It Is Converted Into Refined Oil.

In its original state petroleum is of a murky green color. It is distilled in pans with great furnaces blazing beneath them, and as the vapors arise from the boiling liquid they are conveyed into pipes surrounded by cold water in which they are condensed.

The first vapors condense into naphtha and those produced by further heating give the burning oil. A very small percentage of the crude oil put into the pans or stills remains in the form of tar, which by another process is converted into paraffin and coke.

After distillation the refined oil is no longer green, but is as transparent as spring water and beautifully tinged with purples and blues. It is not yet ready for use, however, since it must be "washed." The fluid is emptied into a large circular tank in which it is treated with acids, these being poured in and mixed with it by means of powerful pressure from beneath.

When it has been well shaken it is allowed to settle, and the acids then separate from it and sink to the bottom of the tank, taking with them some of the tar that remained in the oil.

The acids are then removed and the oil is washed with salt water. Finally it is bleached, and it is then ready for the market.—Harper's Weekly.

STORIES OF THE STAGE.

A Splendid Accident Averted and an Actor Who Dined Too Well.

Here is an incident that was related by the late Bram Stoker, for many years manager to Irving of the production of "Hamlet" at the Lyceum in London.

On the second night of the performance the Chinese ambassador and Sir Halliday Macartney came to see Irving in his dressing room, and presently the ambassador, who was wearing magnificent robes of mandarin yellow, wandered off in the direction of the stage. The ambassador was close to the edge of the arch at the back of the scene, where Ophelia had made her entrance and would make her exit. Mr. Stoker "jumped for him and just succeeded in catching him before he had passed into the blaze of the limelight. I could fancy the sudden amazement of the audience and the wild roar of laughter that would follow when in the midst of this [illegible] and [illegible] of orange [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]."

Mr. Stoker confessed that he was tempted to let the splendid accident occur. "Its unique grotesqueness would have insured a widespread publicity not to be acquired by ordinary forms of advertisement."

On another occasion a very different and very painful contretemps did occur. The actor who took the part of Polonius on entering gave his first line with so strange an intonation that Irving at once signed to the prompter to let fall the act drop, came forward and apologized to the audience and restarted the play with a new Polonius!—London Graphic.

Fairy Stories.

Mr. Bacon—When a woman tells a fairy story she always begins like this: "Once upon a time." Mrs. Bacon—Yes, and when a man tells a fairy story he always begins like this: "There now, dear, don't be angry with me. You see, it was like this."—Yonkers Statesman.

Didn't Have to Make Her.

"Well, I saw my wife off for the West Indies this morning."

"Jamaica?"

"No; she went of her own accord."—Princeton Tiger.

Is Your Back Full of Aches All Day Long?

That Stab-Like Pain in the Back is Sure Indication of Kidney Trouble

Mrs Anna Rodriguez writes as follows from her home in Valencia: "For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse, my limbs became bloated and shaky, I was sallow and thin, felt rheumatic pains dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me.

Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut."

No greater medicine exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver, bladder and kidney trouble. Refuse substitutes 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Automobile By-law Withdrawn.

The by-law to aid the Canadian McIntyre Automobile Company to locate here will not be presented to the electoral vote on September 5th, as previously announced. The Council came to the conclusion that it would not be wise to have it on that date. (The Canadian McIntyre Automobile Company must guarantee to commence operations on or before December 31st, 1912.

Dickson Co's Last Drive.

The last end of the drive of the Dickson Co. was moved from Lock No. 4 to the Little Lake yesterday, and the drivers entertained a number of visitors, Chef Peter Willis, assisted by Tom LaVoyz, looked after their wants in good style. The camp, which they expect will be wound up in a week or ten days, is in charge of Foreman Bill (Hemlock) Dwyer.

Preparing For Labor Day.

At the monthly meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, held in the Labor Hall, the principal business was the consideration of the report of the committees which have charge of the sports at Riverside Park on Labor Day. Mr. J. J. Thompson, physical director of the Y.M.C.A. will again be in charge, and has consented to arrange the various events and secure the special features.

A Successful Lawn Social.

A very successful lawn social, under the auspices of St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Young's Point, took place at Reed's grove yesterday afternoon. Quite a number were present from the surrounding district as well as the city. A number of addresses were delivered by some of those present, and altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent. A detachment of the 57th Band was present and generally enlivened the proceedings with choice music.

A Near Drowning.

Two young men of a party of tourists from Buffalo, decided to take a canoe trip down the river on Wednesday. All went well until Jas. Licher, who was in the stern shifted his position and in doing so capsized the canoe. Licher clung to the bottom of the canoe and his companion swam ashore. Two campers from Rice Lake, in a motor boat, presently appeared and put to the rescue. On reaching the shore, Licher's companion was found in an exhausted state and it was some time before they could proceed back to Peterborough.

Objects to the Smoke.

A citizen called on The Times and put up a vigorous kick against the black smoke which emanates from the road roller now working on George street. The smoke is certainly objectionable, as it is black and dirty. It frequently fills the stores and naturally injures the goods. The Times would suggest to Engineer Hay, who is the responsible head of the street department, that the evil could easily be remedied by using hard coal instead of soft. The latter would not only be cleaner, but, we are informed, would cost less money.

Prospective Brides Going West.

Eighteen prospective brides left the Union Station, Toronto, last week for Western Canada, travelling over the Grand Trunk. Mr. A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, states that this is only the first of a large number of Ontario girls who will go west for a similar purpose. Already he has received letters from the various G. T. R. agents throughout the Province stating that there were many girls in the country desirous of taking a chance in the matrimonial market and that he expected to have fully fifty in the next party.

The Times Misinformed.

A few days ago The Times published an item in regard to the large hydraulic lift lock, which, we were informed, was being erected at Lockport, N.Y., on the Erie Canal. Mr. Easton, of the engineering staff of the Trent Canal, informed The Times yesterday that it was the old style lock that was being built at Lockport and not the hydraulic system. The Erie Canal Commission investigated the two systems, and, it seems, decided to stick to the old. The information regarding the hydraulic lock was given us by Mr. Round, who is an electrician from Niagara Falls, and who is in Peterborough on a visit.

CHANGE IN S.O.E. SOCIETY NOT FAVORED.

Do Not Wish the Society to Be Mixed Up in the Marriage and Language Questions.

At the biennial meeting of the S.O.E. at Niagara Falls, a despatch says that a decided change in the attitude of the order from a benevolent to a patriotic organization. An effort will be made to induce the S.O.E. to co-operate with the Orange Associations in holding the English Language Congress in Toronto next St. George's Day, in opposition to the extension of the bilingual schools.

The proposal to abolish the offices of treasurer and secretary will meet with strong opposition from the Toronto contingent. F. N. Miller, Aylmer, will be elected to the office of Supreme President and Wm. Randall will likely be Supreme vice-president.

The reports of the secretary will show a substantial increase over the returns made to the Grand Lodge meeting two years ago; 3,823 new members have been added, $91,000 has been paid out in sick benefits and $112,000 in death claims.

A Strong Protest.

We baseball fans of Hamilton and Peterborough, after the decisions given by our worthy Umpire Pearson during the last two days, myself a Hamilton man, feel sore over the results. Evidently his eyesight is astray, when he called a ball a "strike" that struck ground outside of base against the Hamilton team. To overcome his decision he did likewise with Peterborough. To all baseball fans: Do not patronize any game where Mr. Pearson is umpire, which will result in benefit to the league in general.

WILL SELL THE CHURCH

The Sunday School at Riverdale Church, situated near Crawford's Grove, is likely to be disposed of by the trustees unless steps are taken to prevent it. Yesterday Mr. Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan, informed The Times that the trustees met on Wednesday evening and decided to sell the building unless something is done by the churches to have religious services resumed.

The building was erected about fifteen years ago and is undenominational in its character, service and Sunday school being held in it up to last fall, when it fell into disuse. The windows have been broken and the church presents a very delapidated appearance. It is thought that the Ministerial Association might take steps to preserve the building and continue public worship. The trustees are Messrs. Geo. H. May, Alfred Saunders, James Anderson, Geo. C. Smith, Wm. Bell and Bruce Johnston, all residing in the neighborhood.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BORDEN ROYALLY ENTERTAINED In Britain's Second Greatest Metropolis | DENOUNCES PANAMA CANAL Bill in United States Senate | THE DOCK RIOTS

BORDEN IS ENTERTAINED IN BRITAIN'S SECOND CITY

Freedom of Glasgow Conferred on the Canadian Premier —Canadians Are Ready to Assume Responsibilities, He Tells Scottish Audience

Glasgow, Aug. 16.—Premier Borden is having a heavy day here. The greatest Scottish industrial centre to honor him and give him an entertainment. The most notable incident naturally was the conferment of the freedom of the city ceremony. It was witnessed by a large company comprising civic and university heads and industrial magnates, the whole gathering being most representative of the teeming life of Glasgow.

On Sight-Seeing Tour.

Mr. Borden arrived overnight at Central Station Hotel. Lord Provost Stevenson called on him this morning and together they toured many places of interest, notably the Kelvingrove Art Galleries, the university, and the Cathedral. At mid day the city chambers were reached where the magistrates were introduced. The party then drove to St. Andrew's Hall, where several more presentations followed. Here the ceremony of presenting the freedom of the city lasted about half an hour. Lord Provost Stevenson was loudly applauded in referring to the great mission which Mr. Borden and his colleagues had undertaken in visiting Great Britain.

Hearty Reception.

Mr. Borden was tendered a most enthusiastic reception for which he expressed his most heartfelt thanks.

His most notable remark was concerned with the status of the dominions in view of the growth and responsibilities of the Empire.

"We must realize," he said, "as the great dominions grow in power and influence, and attain a population greater than those within the boundaries of these islands, there will be need for further modification of the constitutional relations and that certain responsibilities now assumed absolutely by the people of these islands and the parliament, must be shared by the great overseas dominions. We are convinced that the way across the sea must be kept secure. In no other way can the great British Empire be kept together. The security of the seas is as essential to the Empire as the breath of life to an individual. Great as has been the Empire's work in the past a greater work lies in future."

LIBERALS WILL ASSIST TORIES IN NAVAL BILL

Says Ottawa Free Press, Which Claims to Have Inside Information—What the Paper Says.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—The Free Press says to-day: "On the authority and in the words of one of its most prominent leaders, the Free Press is able to state that the attitude of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal party to the navy question is as follows.

"We have a policy on this question We adopted it after mature consideration. The opposition of that day could not resist the temptation of making capital out of it, and aroused all the passions of Quebec and all the passions of Ontario against it. These passions they cannot now reconcile. Hence there call for assistance. We will assist them if they frankly adopt our policy or have a better one to offer. But until they have shown their hand we stand on our platform and adhere to our policy."

MUST PAY GARBAGE TAX IF WITHIN BY-LAW'S LIMITS

The City Fathers met last night in special session to put through a by-law to authorize the construction of a cement sidewalk on Frederick avenue, east side, from King to Charlotte street, under the provisions of the local improvement act The measure passed its several readings and the work will be proceeded with at once.

There were present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Duncan, Johnston, Graham, and Buller.

Must Pay Garbage Tax.

The Property Committee subsequently met, with Chairman Alderman Duncan presiding.

No action was taken in regard to Mr. Donohue's complaint that he should not be assessed under the garbage by-law as the scavenger will not remove his refuse. Mr. Donohue keeps a blacksmith shop, the refuse from which, consisting of manure and sweepings. The by-law does not permit of the removal of manure and building material by the city scavenger. Complainant unfortunately conducts business within the garbage by-law limits, hence, is liable for the monthly tax. Committee cannot see their way clear to make any exceptions regarding the application of the garbage tax, no matter what the circumstances; were they to do so, there would be continual friction in enforcing the by-law.

Caretaker Wilson was granted two weeks holidays.

RUSSIA BOASTS SUICIDE CLUB

Latest Sensation in Which Lots Are Drawn For Test

DISCUSS LATEST FORM

All Members are Sworn to Secrecy—Count Took "Poison" Publicly and Reappeared to Expose the Members.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 16.—During the past few months Russia clubland is able to boast of a suicide club as its latest sensation. It has headquarters here and branches in Moscow, Odessa, Kieff and other large towns. Called the Suicides' League, it has no fixed abode, no charter and few rules. All members are sworn to secrecy, but one or two, who took fright, left it and told friends a thing or two. The club has a large and aristocratic membership, including titled people and society belles, mothers of families, old men, middle-aged rakes, and many young people. Social gatherings are held weekly in members' houses. The theme of conversation must be suicide, and prizes are given for the best suggestions for self-murder.

The police who have made several vain tries to catch the club at sittings, say that a dozen suicides a day are the average for St. Petersburg, and think the league has something to do with it. But the league has just published a denial, saying: "We are not responsible for these vulgar suicides. Our members are forbidden to take their lives for reasons of jealousy, love, hunger, poverty, or life's ordinary failures. None of our members are poor, and we aim at getting together cultivated people who will simply kill themselves for the science of the thing. We forbid hanging, drowning and common poisons."

Ballot is Held.

Once a month a ballot is held. All tickets are blanks but one, which has a skull and cross-bones. The member who fishes this out is supposed to commit suicide within a week; if he, or she, has no new plan, one of the others gives suggestions. This sounds farcical, but Count Souvoroff, who was a member, thought it too much like a tragedy to be taken seriously. He drew the fatal lot.

His fellow-members decided that he must go to his estate in Bessarabia, hold a magnificent feast, and put poison into his glass as the last toast was drunk. He obeyed, drank the champagne, and apparently fell dead. But next day a near neighbor was startled to see him drive up to the house. The count explained to his startled host that he had only taken a little powdered sugar, and meant to leave the league for ever.

Appeared as Ghost.

The members had gone off after the feast very pleased with themselves. But they reckoned without Souvoroff, who appeared at their next meeting attired as his own ghost, and gave them such a fright that many resigned then and there. Though bound to silence, the count says he would like somehow to show up the league, as it works a lot of influence on weak people. He tells one good story about a meeting, where the president, "a very well-known man," drew the fatal skull and cross-bones. Consternation reigned for some time, as the president is of world-wide reputation, and his death would raise scandal. But suiciders are nothing if not resourceful. They passed a resolution begging him not to kill himself. He graciously consented. "And jolly glad he was, too," remarked the count.

This president is supposed to be no less a personage than Arcybaseff, whose books are as degenerate as they are clever. His last one, "At the Last Limit," actually preaches suicide as one of the few experiences worth having. Those who have tried it say that the experience of pulling out the lots at monthly meetings is more thrilling than anything they have ever known. These, anyway, are the declarations of sober Russian papers.

WITNESSES IN ROSENTHAL CASE AND CHIEF COUNSEL FOR BECKER.

HARRY POLLOK

INSPECTOR EDWARD P HUGHES

LIEUTENANT DOMINICK RILEY

JOHN F McINTYRE.

Sensational testimony is piling up rapidly in the New York Grand Jury's investigation into the murder of Herman Rosenthal. One day the Grand Jury examined sixteen witnesses. That number included two servants in the home of "Jack" Rose, a member of Rose's household, Harry Pollok and his wife, Mrs. Carri Pollok, Giovanni Stanish, witness of the murder of Rosenthal, who has been kept under cover for more than two weeks by the District Attorney; Max Margolles, a police hanger-on, and Lieutenant Dominick Riley, of the "Strong Arm" squad. That more indictments will be handed down next week as a result of this testimony practically has been admitted by District Attorney Whitman.

Only second in importance to the revelations before the Grand Jury is the news that Lieutenant Becker is breaking down and is ready to make terms with the District Attorney. Becker, the dogged, defiant, overbearing policeman, who while in power swept every obstacle from his path with a relentless hand, seems to have come to a realization of his predicament. After a long conference with his lawyer, John F. McIntyre, he collapsed utterly, falling over on the cot in his cell and weeping bitterly.

Police Inspector Edward P. Hughes, chief of the Manhattan Detective Bureau, is seriously ill of pleuro-pneumonia.

Accompanied by a squad of detectives Inspector Hughes made a flying trip to the Catskills in search of "Lefty Louis" and "Gyp the Blood" and returned in a serious condition.

C. G. E. EXPANSION

New Office Building to be Erected by the Canadian General Electric Company.

The steel for the new Lamp Department building of the C.G.E. has arrived, and work on the building will proceed rapidly, although it will not be finished as soon as the contract provides on account of the late arrival of the steel. The foundations have been laid and the framework completed ready for the crossbeams, which work will shortly be executed.

New Office Building.

Plans for a new seven storey office building are underway which is to accommodate the ever increasing office staff. Nothing is known of the location of the new building, but it is thought to be in the vacant lot in front of the present office building. The building will not be commenced this year as the season for building is pretty nearly over.

THE HAYES INQUEST

Evidence Taken Last Night Bearing on the Death of Edward Hayes—Inquest Adjourned.

The adjourned inquest, of the late Edward Hayes, took place in the Council Chamber last night. Mr G. N. Gordon appeared for the Peterborough Lumber Company and Mr. R. E. Wood, for the Crown.

The foreman of the jury brought a model of the belt and pulley.

A number of witnesses were examined in some length.

The inquest was then adjourned until September 8th.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE READY

Peterborough Popular Play House Looks For Big Season

EVERYTHING IN ORDER

THE Grand Opera House has been put in first-class shape for the coming season, which promises to be the best in its history. Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, with their characteristic enterprise, have spent a considerable sum of money in making Peterborough's popular theatre second to none in the country.

The wooden trusses across the stage have been removed and two new steel ones 60 feet long substituted. These trusses were manufactured by the Dickson Bridge Company, of Campbellford, the work being done under direction of Mr. J. E. Belcher, C. E., who recently supervised the erection of the two additional storeys on the building adjoining, owned and occupied by the firm. Mr. R. Jones, of this city, was the contractor in charge.

The theatre is now being repainted and redecorated, and when the work is finished, the building will present a very beautiful and attractive appearance. The work is being done under the personal supervision of Mr. Reg. Turner, whose ability as a decorative artist is well known.

The prospects for a good season's business were never brighter than at present. With the advantage which we possess in the way of a first-class opera house, and the splendid connection which has been secured by the capable management, Peterborough is sure to be visited with some of the best theatrical attractions on the road during the coming fall and summer.

A RAILWAY MISHAP ON CANADIAN PACIFIC

Accident Near Bethany By Which Several Were Slightly Injured and a Number of Cars Ditched.

C.P.R. Havelock train No. 608, from Toronto was derailed at Bethany Junction yesterday morning and toppled from the line carrying the baggage, mail and some passenger cars with it.

None of the passengers were seriously injured, although Engineer T. Bennett and trainmen Brown and Vodden were badly bruised. The mail clerk was also cut about the head and severely shaken. No one was killed.

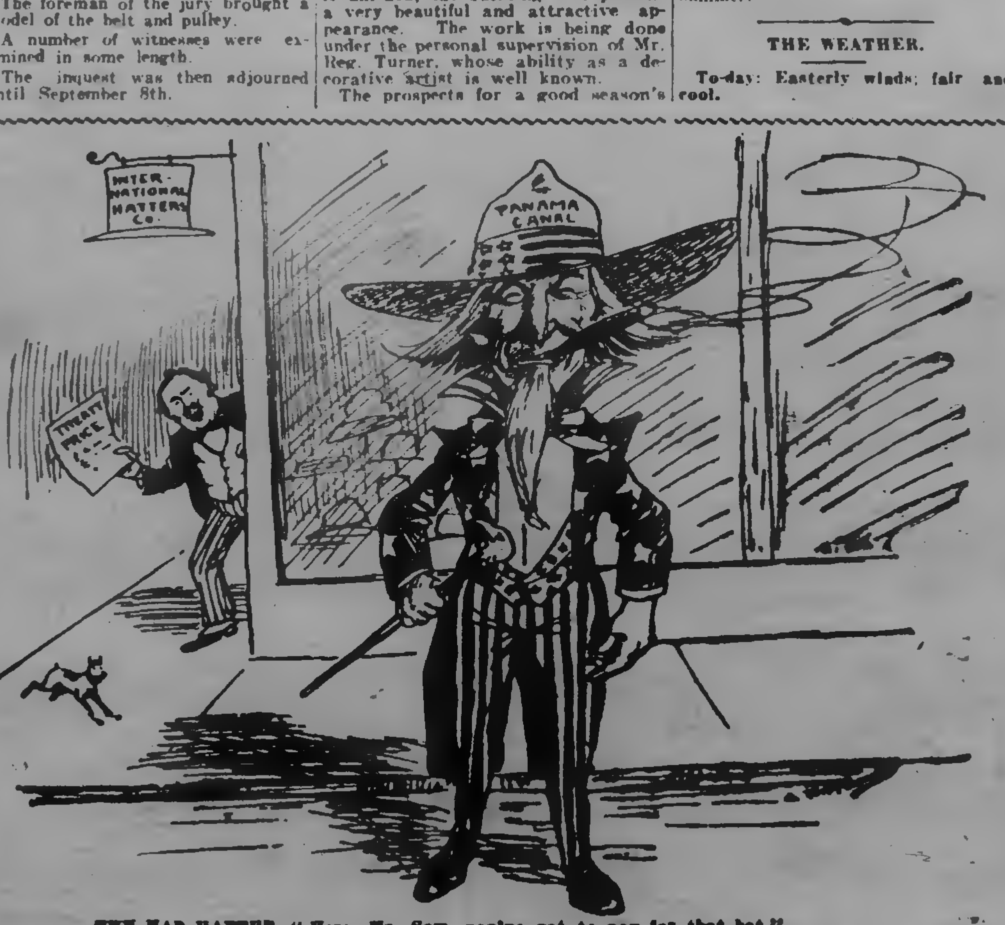
General Superintendent Arundel with several officials left on a special train for the scene of the accident as well as wrecking trains from several points.

Local officials report the wires down and lack of communication.

The train ran into the ditch just east of Manvers, and was taking the curve at the time and went right into the ditch, four cars following the engine off the rails. The passengers were badly shaken up but none were injured.

THE WEATHER.

To-day: Easterly winds; fair and cool.



THE MAD HATTER—"Here, Mr. Sam, you've got to pay for that hat."

PUSHING FRENCH LANGUAGE

(From the Sentinel).

It may appear a small matter to those who are content to deal with such questions on surface indications, but the efforts that have been made, and are still being made, to compel the use of French in the Province of Ontario should be resisted. It is not sufficient argument to say that some particular aggression is trivial. The trivial thing of to-day is enlarged to a serious menace tomorrow.

Mr. H. C. Jones, of the Vankleek Hill Review, gives an account of one of these attempts to extend the use of French. It is his experience that in all the communications he receives from postmasters in the county of Prescott, where his paper circulates, these are printed in French. He says there is a deliberate endeavor to substitute French notification cards wherever possible. There is no doubt of the truth of Mr. Jones' statement While it may appear to be a small matter, it is one of those little things which by continued use grow into a right, and the principle involved is extended step by step.

It is an offensive thing for the Postmaster-General of Canada to permit the use of French cards in the Province of Ontario. The French have no right to that consideration. In the Province of Ontario English is the language of public business. It is immaterial that the Post Office is a federal institution. That department has no right to force the French language upon the people of this Province.

Hon. Mr. Pelletier is now in the Old Country, but upon his return the matter should be taken up, and this minor, but not unimportant, aggression of the French language dealt with.

DENOUNCES PANAMA BILL IN UNITED STATES SENATE

Washington, Aug. 16.—The conference report on the Panama Canal bill, containing the provisions against "trust-owned" ships and granting free tolls to certain American vessels, was adopted by the Senate to-day 48 to 18, after a futile fight against it led by Senator Brandegee, chairman of the Panama Canal Committee.

An attempt to prevent Panama Canal legislation at this session of Congress was made to-day by Senator Brandegee, when he presented the conference report on the bill.

Senator Brandegee urged that the report be rejected, the measure allowed to go over for the session, and a committee of the House and Senate appointed to thresh aut the problems involved. He attacked the bill as finally framed.

"I believe the bill now is a violation of our treaty obligations with Great Britain, and I cannot vote for it," he said. "I ask the Senate to reject this report and let the bill go over until next session, when we can give it careful, mature deliberation."

ROITING AMONG DOCK STRIKERS

Many Longshoremen Injured at Tilbury Docks During Clash Between Opposing Factions

London, Aug. 16.—A severe fight between unionist and non-unionist longshoremen at Tilbury Docks today resulted in eleven men being injured. The disturbance arose out of the determination of the unionist laborers to prevent the employment of "blacklegs." The unionists were victorious, succeeding in routing the "blacklegs," who fled toward London.

As the extra police and soldiers who had been on duty during the recent dock strike were withdrawn some days ago and the local police force was not strong enough to disperse the rioters, the fighting continued without interruption until the non-unionists were put to flight. Fortunately the men were entirely without weapons and had to rely on their fists, so that the injuries inflicted were not very severe.

BASE BALL

Riverside Park was again illuminated yesterday by the presence of a large number of ladies. It being ladies' day, many of the fair fans were on the grounds early and from the very start of the game their cheering could be heard above the rest. The Petes went out after the scalps of Hamilton in earnest and in the first innings the local boys stole a lead on the visitors of three runs. The crowd fairly going frantic. Again in the second they came back for five more and then the derrick was brought into commission for Hamilton's special benefit. The balance of the game was a little free and easy. Welch, the back stop for the vistors made many attempts to get the fly fouls but could not make connections. Poor old Joe Joe had two errors tallied against him in the beginning of the game, and Welch opened the gates to a couple of passed balls.

Tracey seems to be a favorite with the ladies, and it has been suggested that the management have ladies' day every day, as the boys seem to work a little harder. Jimmy Beard thinned out the long ones in the centre garden and had a good many put outs to his credit.

Hamilton tried hard to save themselves from a shut out, but Davie's Colts were air tight all the way. The game finished with a score of 14 to nil in favor of the Petes.

Hamilton plays here again to-day and a another good game is booked.

DEATH OF W. H. SIMPSON

Prominent Hotelkeeper of Lindsay Passes Away in Cobourg—Was Well Known in Peterborough.

Word was received here yesterday that Mr. W. H. Simpson, proprietor of the Simpson House, Lindsay, had passed away in Cobourg, where he had gone to attend the horse races, the result of a paralytic stroke, which he received early in the day.

Mr. Simpson was about 60 years of age, and was one of the most widely known hotelmen in Midland district. He was apparently in good health up to the time of his death. On Monday last, Mr. Simpson, in company with Mr. John Carew and others, attended the races and aviation meet here, returning home by motor car in the evening. The same party motored to Cobourg on Thursday to attend the horse show when he was stricken. The death of Mr. Simpson will come as a great shock to his many friends in Peterborough, who will extend their heart sympathy to the bereaved family in their irreparable loss.

BRUTAL BURGLAR TORTURES MOTHER

New York, Aug. 16.—The haunts of ruffians and criminals, were searched to-day for a robber, whom the police say is one of the most brutal crooks they have known. In an apartment building on Eight avenue the robber made two brutal attacks on a woman.

The burglar in one case picked up an infant and dashed it against the wall to torture the mother into revealing where her money was hidden The mother, Mrs. Paul Standerton, had no money in the house. The second victim was a young bride whom the ruffian choked into insensibility and then robbed her of her jewelry and money.

AUNT SALLY'S ADVICE TO BEAUTY SEEKERS.

W. C. D. says: "My elbows are so thick-skinned, goosepimply and muddy, I can't wear short sleeves. How can this condition be overcome?" Don't use elbows as props. The treatment recommended to Minnie L. will make your elbows quite presentable.

Ellen B. asks: "What should I do for deep lines under my eyes and across my forehead?" Such lines and all wrinkles, are best obliterated by bathing affected portions in a good astringent and tonic lotion, which strengthens and draws in the relaxed tissue. Here's a reliable formula: 1 ounce powdered saxolite, ½ pint witch hazel; mix and use daily until entirely relieved.

Minnie L.: The undue redness, as well as the pimples, may easily be removed by using ordinary mercolized wax. Apply nightly like cold cream and erase mornings with warm water. Soon you'll have a beautifully white, clear, soft and velvety complexion. Mercolized wax, sold by all druggists, is better than cosmetics for any complexion trouble. One ounce suffices for most conditions.—Woman's Realm.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager. 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 380 George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

England's Coal Trade.

England produces in a normal year 230 million tons of coal; it exported 84 million tons last year and imported only the trifle of 20,000 tons. Therefore its whole manufacturing industry, and its foreign trade to the extent of 183 1-3 million dollars a year, are dependent on the coal trade.

LANDED A BIG FISH.

Then He Hooked Bigger Game and Had an Exciting Time.

A singular fish story is told in the East Indian papers. A fisherman started for the river, accompanied by a shikari, carrying a rifle for use in case of an encounter with big game. The fisherman in a short time landed a large fish and then moved up stream to another pool. On his way he passed a ravine and caught sight of an enormous tiger.

In a panic the fisherman concealed himself behind a pile of rocks and was flattering himself that he had escaped observation when the fish fell from his hands in full view of the tiger.

The fish was floundering in the road, and the tiger instantly pounced on it and carried it off. But the hook still held, and as soon as the tiger felt the resistance of the line he gave his head an impatient shake, which resulted in the harpooning of his upper lip.

At this critical moment the enraged animal saw the crouching fisherman, who was totally unnerved by his dangerous position, and actually began to play the tiger as he would a fish.

The tiger stopped for a moment in apparent amazement at such audacity, and in that instant the shikari came on the scene with his rifle and sent a bullet through the brute's brain.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Then He Faded Away.

MIMIC VOLCANOES.

Reproducing a Vesuvius In Action Upon the Stage.

The sequence of phenomena characterizing a volcanic eruption is usually subterranean grumblings followed by smoke, which at first seems to hesitate at the edge of the crater and then rises in the air. The smoke is succeeded by streams of lava, the projection of rocks and ashes and often vast outpourings of flame.

To reproduce such a scene on the stage of a theatre would seem a rather difficult, complicated and dangerous undertaking, but it has been accomplished in a particularly vivid manner in a French theatre.

Concealed behind the scenery representing the crater of the volcano is a stand, from the centre of which rises a funnel of wire screen about thirteen feet in diameter, connected with a compressed air supply by three tubes. Below the funnel is a circular metal tube provided for about half of its circumference with a steam ejector, which rises above the wire screen funnel. Attached to the circular tube is a hose or tube connecting it with a source of steam supply behind the scenes.

The portion of the crater seen from the body of the theatre is formed of transparent material, and behind this an endless belt is set in motion, lighted from behind by a cluster of twenty-four red lamps. This belt is also transparent and is so decorated that as it is revolved above the red lights it imitates the flow of lava. Sponges, painted red or gray, to represent glowing or dark rocks, and pieces of paper, to represent ashes, are thrown into the funnel-like receptacle by men concealed in the scenery and are then thrown as high as eighteen or twenty feet by the compressed air.

Bengal fires lighted in pans on each side of the crater serve to give the effect of leaping flames, smoke producing tablets placed just back of the funnel serve to add smoke to the steam. Subterranean thunder is supplied by men beating drums, and the operation of other noise producing apparatus and illumination is thrown down into the crater from reflectors arranged above the stage.

His Name In the Directory.

"One funny thing I have learned about human nature," said the drug store cashier, "is the habit many people have of marking their own names in the city directory. They do that because the directory is the only place where their names ever get into print, and it has such a fascination for them that they can't resist calling attention to it. A funny old man who likes to talk tells me that he has made special trips to different parts of the city just to mark his name in the directories of the neighborhood. He puts a little cross in red ink before it. I asked him what good it did. He said none possibly, although he is a teacher of languages and may get a few calls on account of that queer advertisement. But his is an exceptional case. Not many persons spend time and money hunting city directories, but every time they happen to see a new one they can't help looking up their names and putting some kind of a mark around them."—New York Sun.

A STRANGE POLITICAL EQUIPMENT.

The following refers to a British suffragette recently arrested: "When the prisoner was searched the police found concealed on her person, a bag of gunpowder, a carpet soaked in coal oil—ready to set a building on fire—a basket of lighters intended to set many places on fire in rapid succession, and three bottles of benzine." Apparently all these things were but proper and fit instruments for use in securing "votes for women." But what should be done with such women? The Dublin court has answered the question by sending the one upon whose person these things were found, and who was found guilty of setting fire to the Royal Theatre, to prison for a five-year term, while the energetic lady who threw a hatchet at Premier Asquith's carriage and wounded John E. Redmond, was also sentenced to prison for five years. But in spite of these things the cause of woman suffrage is advancing. The latest convert to the cause in America somewhat suddenly converted is the redoubtable Colonel Roosevelt himself, and the leader of the Progressive Republicans will go into the presidential battle pledged to this reform. And it needed no hatchet throwing or theatre-burning to swing him into line. Possibly our sisters on this side of the Atlantic are stronger because they are wiser.

Editorial Notes

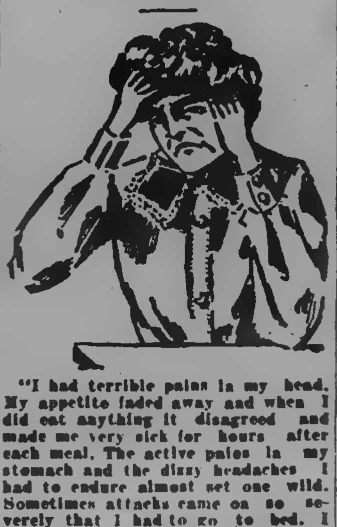
New York averaged a murder a day during July, while London showed a record of only eight murders for the whole year. But London is such a bloody dull town, doncher know, old top.

In Centralia, Mo., a Mr. Hy. Toder has had a telephone placed in his house. But Mr. Toder is a Mennonite, and a committee of the Church has interviewed Henry and advised him that he had better have the telephone removed. If he fails to do so, he is to be excommunicated. The Church contends that the telephone belongs to the world, and no Christian has any right to use it. What Henry will do is yet to be seen, but the poor committee reminds us much of Mrs. Partington and her broom sweeping back the tide.

The following from a British preacher is worth considering. He says: "I am quite sure, however, it is a bad policy, and worse religion, to speak out often, even in defence of yourself. I have given up defending myself. It is not worth while; also I have ceased to correct myself; if I do not give the right shade, and discover the falseness afterwards, I leave it there. Solemnly to recall and relate that you were mistaken is a small matter, and in another detail, is to assume too much to put yourself forward as one whose lightest words need to be weighed, balanced and remembered." Some of us will not, perhaps, agree with him, but there is much wisdom in what he says. "It is a mistake to take ourselves too seriously. We are no bigger than we think we are."

DIZZY HEADACHES CURED IN ONE NIGHT

IF TROUBLED WITH HEAD-FULLNESS, RINGING NOISES, AND SPECKS BEFORE THE EYES THE STOMACH IS AT FAULT.



"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The active pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes, and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made as strong ruddy and healthy looking as one could wish, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

BECOMING TOO CROWDED

(Editor Morning Times).

Sir,—I would like to ask through The Times why it is necessary to keep so many men on the new dredge. Do our local M.P.'s know that there is a high-priced man who is not required in any shape or form, "marking time" in this way all summer? It is an open secret that this person has little or no duties to perform, and is regarded as a joke by those who are acquainted with the "inner workin'" of the masheen. Mr. McClellan or Mr. Grant, whichever of the two it is who are responsible for this wilful waste, should open their eyes to what is going on.

—One Who Knows.

WORTH STAYING HOME FOR.

(Editor Morning Times).

Dear Sir,—The gentlemen in charge of the attractions at the Driving Park on Monday have earned the fullest measure of congratulation on the success of their venture. The programme was one that left no room for complaint, and a few more such attractions on holidays will widely advertise Peterborough as a desirable city in which to spend a holiday, to say nothing of the pleasure afforded our own citizens. The aeroplane flight was one of the best exhibitions of the kind ever seen in Canada; the horse races were clean and admirably conducted, and let us hope that Monday's home attractions will prove the precedent of a revival of equestrian sport in Peterborough, featured by latest modern novelties.

—Citizen.

THE NON-RINGING OF THE CHIMES.

(Editor Morning Times).

Dear Sir,—We think of the "People's Chimes," and then are asked to say to some of our fellow-citizens: "Ye Orangemen—ye are no people, and for you the chimes will not ring. So on your 'Glorious Twelfth' ask not for the ringing of the "People's (?) Chimes," for ye are no people. Though your money was taken to secure these bells, yet for you they shall not ring. They will sound forth on days sacred to our Roman Catholic citizens, but for Orangemen they shall not ring."

Now, Mr. Editor, every true citizen recognizes the lack of sincerity and the insignificance of the manhood that accorded such discourtesy to a section of our fellow-citizens on the 12th of July last. It is on a par with the impertinent way in which Rev. Mr. Pogue and the Presbyterian church were treated on the occasion of the soldiers' services when the Anglican ritual was slipped in unknown to Mr. Pogue and his people. And I, for one, was astonished at this when I learned that Mr. Pogue a few months before had been denied the privilege of taking a service in St. John's Church on a week night during the "week of prayer." Those who think understand the whole matter. But by relating an incident I may keep some from being too easily led in the future. A few years ago I attended a public meeting where two Anglican clergymen were speakers. One of them stated with indignation there were some Roman Catholics in the Anglican ministry in disguise. All will see the purpose. They could thus keep in touch with the inner movements of the church, and report to the one from which they came. Also, little by little, they would disseminate their own views and weaken down Protestantism.

Now, Mr. Editor, would such characters hesitate to slip their form of service into another church, even with the "Confession" and "Absolution," as was done at St. Paul's? Or would they hesitate to prevent on certain occasions the ringing of chimes, even though they belonged to the people, and were paid for by the people?

May God save our Protestantism and save our country.

ALGONQUIN NATIONAL PARK.

The month of September in the Algonquin National Park of Ontario is one of the most beautiful of the whole year, and splendid accommodation at the "Highland Inn" is offered for that month at reasonable rates for all those who desire to forget the over-refinements of civilization and seek the solace of nature. The "Highland Inn" is capable of satisfying even the critical visitor, but there is no attempt to develop competitive style of dress. It is a region where comfort of apparel and peace of mind are the watchwords. People go to Algonquin Park because they love nature, fresh air, high altitude, simple living and fellowship with kindred spirits. The Inn is excellently kept in the good old-fashioned way, which puts a personal relationship between the inn-keeper and guests. BAD TRAGEDY AND ITS END

Woman's Flight To Canada From Texas

AN ELOPMENT TRAGEDY

Millionaire Gunman, of Texas, Goes Back to Erring Spouse—Ends Sordid Story of Mrs. Sneed's Flight to Canada With Young Boyce and Shooting Sequel.

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 16.—John Beal Sneed, the rich Amarillo banker who shot and killed Albert G. Boyce, sr., father of the man who ran away with his wife, has become reconciled with Mrs. Sneed. Mr. and Mrs. Sneed have left Fort Worth and friends say they have gone to Georgetown, Texas, where Sneed formerly lived, to reside.

This puts an end, at least temporarily, to the story of a broken home which led to the spectacular cross-country chase after the runaway and which is held directly responsible for four deaths. Sneed was tried for murder, but the jury failed to agree and they let him go. Young Boyce, with whom Mrs. Sneed ran away, is reported to be in hiding in Manitoba, Canada.

Early last winter Mrs. Lena Sneed escaped from the Arlington Heights Sanatorium here and ran away with Albert G. Boyce, jr., son of a wealthy ranch owner. They took with them $100,000 in cash and easily negotiable securities.

Cross Country Chase.

Sneed chased the pair across the country, bribing bellboys to get track of the runaways. He finally traced the couple to Winnipeg, Canada, where he overtook Mrs. Sneed and brought her back with him.

The matter created a furore in Texas, as all the principals were persons of wealth and of high standing in society. The elder Boyce sided with his son openly. Sneed was sitting in the Metropolitan Hotel on January 13, 1912, when the elder Boyce came in. A quarrel followed in which Sneed killed Boyce.

Sneed was indicted for murder and the trial set for February 14. Rumors were rife that both sides were trying to intimidate the witnesses for the opposite side.

E. C. Throckmorton, who was to have been the chief witness against Sneed, died February 2. Before he died he said he thought he had been "doped."

Thought Wife Insane.

At the trial Sneed took the stand and swore he believed his wife insane. He said that she had told him that she was infatuated with young Boyce and that she wished to go to South America with him. He said that he drew a revolver at the time and would have killed her, but she screamed and their little daughter came in.

About a month later, March 6, Sneed's father, John T. Sneed, was shot and killed by R. O. Hilliard, a tenant of his, who shot himself immediately afterward. This killing was believed to have been the outgrowth of the trial and inspired by a desire for revenge.

Since that time Sneed has not been in the public eye until the reconciliation with his wife was discovered to-day.

LATEST FROM APSLEY.

Mr. Tucker lost no time in building a new barn on the site of the one destroyed by fire some few weeks ago. The timber for the frame was growing in the woods on Tuesday, July 20th, and on Wednesday, Aug. 7th, the barn was raised, and on Friday evening, 9th, was completed, ready for the harvest. It would have been finished sooner but rain delayed the work. The new barn is 30 x 50, 16 ft. wall, with commodious stables underneath.

There are no complaints now about the lack of rain. Crops never looked or promised better in the country.

The Loyal True Blues celebrated the 12th of August by a picnic in the pine grove at the White House, on the banks of Eel's river. Early in the morning rigs loaded with pleasure-seekers began to arrive. The village was gay with flags and bunting. At 10 o'clock the lodge formed in procession and, headed by the fife and drum band, marched to the grounds. The weatherman kindly gave us a fine day and everyone enjoyed themselves.

Mr. Thomas and Miss Mahon, of Tory Hill, were the guests of Miss Millie McIlvena Sunday and Monday. Good boy, Tuck, come again.

The auction sale of farm stock and implements of the Messrs. Philips on Tuesday, 13th, was a great success. About two hundred anxious buyers fell over one another bidding that day. Fred knows how to draw the dollars out of the people. A few more sales and that Toronto syndicate can have the whole north country!

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—There was a fair enquiry over the cable to-day for Manitoba new crop wheat for October-November shipment, but offers were about ⅛c under sellers' views here, and little business was done. Oats were in good demand, and some business was reported. Flour is quiet with prices unchanged. Export business continues very dull, and there is not likely to be much change in this respect for another ten days, when the new crop outlook will become clearer. The weather in the west at present is on the whole favorable, but the situation still contains many elements of uncertainty. Local and district trade in flour keeps up about as usual. There is a good demand for millfeed and prices rule firm.

Butter and cheese are quiet. Prices have eased off small fractions in cheese at the country boards this week, but quoted prices remain the same. Butter is easy and slow.

KEEP CUTS CLEAN.

When There Isn't Anything For Them to Do but Heal.

The cut made by the surgeon should always be kept absolutely free from germs. If infection occurs we know that some one has blundered. Accidental cuts, on the other hand, are almost invariably infected.

The germs of disease are everywhere. No matter how small the cut may be or how brief its exposure to the air, germs are almost certain to enter. If an accidental cut is to heal quickly and well all germs must be carefully removed at the first dressing.

When we consider how many are the ways in which a cut may become infected we can understand why such precautions are necessary. Infection is often introduced by the very implement that makes the wound. Only surgeons use sterilized instruments. A knife or a pair of scissors or a piece of glass or crockery is almost certain to plant germs in the furrow it plows. Germs may also enter from the clothing, from the hands of whoever rushes to help, from the first piece of cloth or handkerchief used to stanch the flow of blood or from the water used for the first washing.

Since the avenues of danger are so numerous, it is safest to assume that infection has occurred. It follows that every family should understand some of the simplest methods of sterilization. Heat is the simplest of all. The mother of a family should keep a supply of soft linen rags that have been thoroughly boiled. She should keep them not on an open shelf with towels or other cloths, but done up in a carefully closed oiled paper bag or protected from the air in some other equally effective way. For washing the wound she should use only water that has been boiled. When the doctor comes he will add some kind of chemical antisepsis, and it will be proved once more that a clean cut can do nothing but heal.—Youth's Companion.

CHANGEABLE CHICAGO.

Has Eight Counties and Many Varied Spellings to Its Credit.

"Few people know that Chicago has been in eight different counties of Illinois," said an old Chicago man. "It was first placed within the limits of Madison county, Illinois then being a territory, Sept. 14, 1812.

"Subsequently it was included in the following counties seriatim: Edwards in 1814; Crawford, 1816; Clark, after the territory was admitted as a state, 1819; Pike, 1821; Fulton, 1823; Peoria, 1825, under the jurisdiction of which it remained until the creation of the county of Cook, Jan. 15, 1831.

"The name of the city, too, has been spelled more than a dozen ways. Father Hennepin called it Che-cau-gou; La Salle, Shecagou; on an old French map of 1682, Chekagou; on another old map (1673) in the Historical society library at Madison, Wis., it is Chicaugua; Father Gravier (1690) wrote it Chicagoua, and in 1700 St. Scome wrote it variously Chikagu, Chicagou, Chicaqu and Chicago, he being the first to give the letters the arrangement which finally was settled upon as the authorized spelling. Charlevoix gave the same spelling in 1721. In the Greenville treaty (as revised) it is Chikagu.

"In an old deed filed away among the archives of the Chicago Historical society, as applied to the river or creek (1774), it is plainly written Chicagou. The word was the Indian word for garlic or wild onion and signified to the red men strong, mighty, powerful, courageous.

"In 1725 a chief bore the name Chicago (under some one of its many spellings), who went to Paris and was made much of by kings and princes."

"Watches" on Board Ship.

On board all ships a series of "watches" are established, so that work is shared equally among the sailors. To aid this object also the crews are divided into two divisions, starboard and port. A ship's day commences at noon, and there are seven watches. The watch which is on duty in the forenoon one day has the afternoon next day, and the men who have four hours' rest one night have eight hours the next. This is the reason for having "dog watches," which are made by dividing the hours between 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. into two watches.

Living on Rubber.

The rubber slug is one of the many pests of rubber plantations. It attacks the young trees and feeds on the juice oozing from the cuts. Doubt having been cast on the suggestion that any animal could subsist on rubber, a saucerful of juice was placed before some rubber slugs, which lapped it up like a cat lapping up milk. Scientists have come to the conclusion that this slug contains some rubber digesting ferment as a gastric juice.

A Lasting Example to Him.

A North Carolina negro was brought out on the gallows to be hanged for murder.

"Henry," said the sheriff, "have you anything to say?"

"Yas, suh," said the condemned man. "I'se got a few words to say. I merely wishes to state dat dis suttingly is goin' to be a lesson to me."—Saturday Evening Post.

What He Meant.

Baker—I was out in Blakesley's motor last week. He has everything in it, even a pedometer. Barker—You mean a speedometer, old man. A pedometer is an instrument for measuring how far you walk. Baker—All right. I'll stick to pedometer.—Harper's Bazar.

JILTED CELEBRITIES

GENIUS HAS OFTEN BEEN SCORNED BY BEAUTY.

Parnell and His Heiress Were a Subject of Gossip Some Years Ago and Everybody Has Heard of How Lady Florence Paget Jilted Henry Chaplin—Dickens Was Rejected by the Original Dora of David Copperfield.

"Oh, why did I not marry dear Charley? How happy we should have been!"

In this burst of confidence to a friend a beautiful heiress regretted her jilting years ago of Charles Stewart Parnell; but there are not wanting admirers of the great Irish leader who affirm that the jilting was the best thing that could have happened to him. A happy married life would probably have prevented him entering the political arena altogether.

As a young man—his brother, Mr. John H. Parnell, tells us, in T. P.'s Magazine—the Irish politician fell in love with a pretty Wicklow girl of good family, with whom he hunted a great deal; but the affair came to nothing, and Parnell remained heart-free until he visited Paris in 1870, and there met a young heiress, to whom he became engaged.

They parted for a time, she to go to Rome and he to return to Ireland, and ultimately the girl wrote saying she was returning home, without mentioning anything about an engagement. Parnell followed her, and the engagement seemed to be renewed, when Miss W—— suddenly told him she was not going to marry him, "making the excuse that he was only an Irish gentleman, without sufficient means to marry, with no name in public, and that she could not marry anyone without a great public name."

This dumbfounded "Charley," who, after trying his best to persuade her to marry him, gave up the heartbreaking job. To distract his thoughts Parnell plunged into politics, with what result the world knows. He never met the lady again, but, according to the authority mentioned, another heiress in later years proposed to "Charley," who left Paris to escape her.

This romantic episode of political life calls to mind the jilting of the well-known Unionist politician, Mr. Henry Chaplin, who years ago was engaged to Lady Florence Paget, one of the loveliest women in English society, in fact, she was known as the "Pocket Venus."

The engagement had been publicly announced and the day of the marriage fixed, when the startling news leaked out that Lady Paget had eloped with the late Marquess of Hastings, one of the most daring turf-plungers the racing world has ever known. Under the pretext of shopping at a certain well-known emporium in the West-end, Lady Paget walked in at one door and out of another, where she met the marquess, with whom she immediately drove away. They were at once married.

Only a year or two later fate gave Mr. Chaplin his revenge. His horse, Hermit, won the Derby at enormous odds—something like 66 to 1 — and Lord Hastings was ruined. He died only four years after his romantic marriage, and his widow, who afterwards married Sir George Chetwynd, also died a few years ago. It was something like twelve years before Mr. Chaplin recovered from the blow, and then he married Lady Florence Leveson-Gower, sister of the present Duke of Sutherland.

The story of how Charles Dickens was jilted is particularly interesting. When he was eighteen Dickens became acquainted with the three daughters of George Beadnell, a Lombard street banker. With one of them, Maria (the original of Dora in David Copperfield), who was a year his senior, he immediately fell in love, and Maria flirted with him very desperately. But the love-making of the future novelist was not treated very seriously, for he was not considered by any means an eligible party, and even Maria herself adopted an attitude of amused tolerance.

For three years the affair went on, and then Dickens realized that his case was hopeless. He pleaded in vain with the girl whose caprice maddened and gladdened him alternately; for, as a matter of fact, Maria Beadnell was a wilful coquette. The end of it all was a reply that held out no hope, and so the parting came. For twenty years they saw no more of one another. Ultimately Maria Beadnell was married to Henry Louis Winter, and when Dickens met her again time had wrought sad havoc on his youthful ideal.

A curious fact regarding the jilting of famous men is that through pique they have occasionally been led into marriages which have resulted in the utmost misery for both husband and wife. There was John Ruskin, for instance, who fell in love as a boy with the beautiful Rose de la Touche, whom he wooed with poems, romances and dramas, and mute worship, receiving nothing in return but chilly indifference and lively ridicule. The result was that, at the age of twenty-nine, he married a lady of great beauty, Miss Grey, of a family long intimate with the Ruskins. The marriage, we are told, was a somewhat hurried act, and brought no happiness to either, and six years afterwards it was dissolved.

Then there is the case of Lord Byron, who was led into his unhappy matrimonial alliance with Miss Milbanke, only daughter and heiress of Sir Ralph Milbanke, through being rejected by another lady. He had proposed to the latter, and, as he held her letter of refusal in his hand, he said to a friend: "It seems that it is to be Miss Milbanke, after all." He sat down and wrote the fatal letter, handing it to his friend for perusal. "A very pretty letter," his friend remarked, after reading it; "it is a pity that it should not go." "And it shall go!" exclaimed Byron, and thus opened one of the most tragic chapters of his chequered life-story.

QUEER SLEEPING CAGES.

How Would You Like a Berth on the "Ship of the Desert?"

Camel cradles are not designed for rocking young camels to sleep, but they are a contrivance by which travelers in the desert may journey by night and yet not lose all sleep. Mr. Lansdell in his book of travels describes them in an entertaining way in telling how he journeyed by camel train from Khiva to the Caspian:

"About 7 o'clock all was in readiness, and we were to get into our queer sleeping cages. Let the reader imagine two narrow wooden crates, such as earthenware is packed in, each sufficiently large for a man to lie in when twisted to the shape of the letter S, and let him further imagine them suspended on either side of the huge hump of a kneeling camel.

"This, I am given to understand, is to be my sleeping place for the night, and I accordingly choose my berth on the port side of the 'ship of the desert,' first putting into the cradle for a lining a piece of felt and then two pillows. Then I put on over my ordinary suit my jackal lined coat enveloping me from head to foot, over that my ulster, and on my head a sheepskin hat, to say nothing of fur-lined boots, and then, getting into the cradle, I cover my feet with my sheepskin rug.

"And now comes the tug of war. Nazar asks are we ready, bids us hold on and says to the camel 'Chu!' whereupon the animal gets up leisurely, first by its hind legs, and in so doing raises our feet to the angle of 60 degrees, thereby threatening to pitch us out bodily.

"We hold on, however, for dear life, and then comes a lurch from the fore, lifting our heads once more to the horizontal. The fear of danger is now past, but it is not easy at first to get accustomed to the strange motion caused by the long strides of the camel.

"When the creature was urged to go quickly the nearest simile for the cradle I can think of is that of a bottle of medicine in the process of being 'well shaken before taken,' but when the camel walked leisurely then one lay as in a boat idly tossed by the billows and sleep became possibe, just as it is in a Russian tarantass, when one is dead tired, cramped and 'used to it'."

Europe's Oldest Actor.

Herr Bernhard Baumeister recently celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of his joining the Imperial Court theatre of Vienna. This is believed to be a record for any player, and as Baumeister is now eighty-four years old and still plays regularly on the same stage he is believed to hold the double distinction of being the oldest actor in Europe and the one who has played the longest at one and the same theatre. He appeared in the evening of his anniversary as Falstaff, in "Henry IV.," one of his most famous parts, and received a tremendous ovation, in return for which he delivered a speech of thanks. The Emperor, who is two years Baumeister's junior, sent him a special message of congratulation and promised a pension for life to his wife, a comparatively young woman, whom the aged actor married only two years ago.

The Mysterious Handful.

A troup of wandering musicians were playing before a Swiss hotel. At the end of the performance one of the members left the group, approached the leader of the band and pulled out a little paper box which he emp-

Chateaubriand's Tragedy.

Writing on M. Chateaubriand in the Paris Temps, Jules Claretie recalls the story of the first performance of the great author's tragedy "Moise." Unable to secure its production in Paris, he had it staged at Versailles. Too nervous to be present in the house on the occasion, he sent his valet with orders to return and report as to the reception of the piece. The servant duly arrived.

"Well?" asked Chateaubriand.

"Ah, M. le Vicomte, I amused myself I spent a most delightful evening."

"It was a success, then?"

"A success, M. le Vicomte? Of course it was a success. It was an immense success. The audience never stopped laughing from the beginning to the end of it."

Enigma of Gravitation.

Gravitation is one of nature's enigmas. The great Newton himself did not pretend to know what gravitation is. He only knew that it existed, and he was able to prove how it acted, but what it was in and of itself he never knew. Gravitation is a law of nature or a force acting in accordance with a law of nature, and that is all that the wisest man is able to say about it—unless he is prepared to talk nonsense. It is like electricity. We know perfectly well what electricity does, but what electricity itself is baffles the profoundest of scientists and philosophers.—New York American.

An Occasion When Abell Made Up His Mind in a Hurry.

It is probable that on no occasion has any other musician had to practice his art under more disagreeable circumstances than that in which Abell, a singer of the seventeenth century, once found himself.

It appears that while Abell was rambling through Poland he was sent for to go to court, and after evading the request by excuses for a short time he was commanded to attend. At the palace Abell was placed in a chair in the center of a spacious hall and suddenly drawn up to a great height. The king, with his attendants, appeared in a gallery opposite him as he sat thunderstruck in his suspended chair. At the same instant several bears entered the hall with their keepers.

As the singer gazed in horror at these ferocious creatures the king calmly inquired whether he preferred to sing or be let down among the bears. The singer's choice, of course, was quickly made, and he afterward declared that in spite of his terror he never sang better in his life, although he admitted he might have introduced a few more "shakes" than usual in his songs.—New York Press.

PERRY SCOTT'S TURKEY.

This Wonderful Bird Was Well Fixed With Legs and Wings.

The story of Perry Scott's turkey has come down from Revolutionary days in Carolina. Colonel Gordon was accustomed to tell of the hasty march which he made before Rudolph's legion. He was just sitting down to dinner when orders were given to cross the Ashley river. It was nearly nightfall when he bivouacked in a valley in which the cavalry under Wayne had just encamped and, with his officers, began to sup on dry bread and potatoes. The infantry which he commanded were in a starving condition, and the commissary was without money, but raiding upon the farmers was sternly made punishable by death.

Reports of the hungry condition of the newcomers had circulated among Wayne's men. Just as the colonel began to eat his musty bread a private from Wayne's cavalry appeared and said respectfully: "Perry Scott had some money, colonel, and bought a turkey. We have unfortunately eaten all but one leg. I took the liberty of bringing that to you." The colonel took the leg gratefully and had scarcely finished it when another of Wayne's men appeared with the same story of Perry Scott's turkey and another leg.

The colonel congratulated himself on his luck and, handing the drumstick over to a fellow officer, went out of the tent. It was growing dark. Another cavalryman came up, whispered the story of Perry Scott and cautiously handed over a third leg. The colonel continued his walk through the camp and before his return had been secretly offered twenty legs and fourteen wings of Perry Scott's turkey.

Wayne's men had raided a poultry yard the previous night and concocted the story of Perry Scott's purchase to protect themselves in case any turkey bones should be discovered. The hunger bitten faces of their new comrades were more than they could bear, however, and each man, unknown to the others, carried his share into Gordon's camp at the risk of detection and death. It was not until the war was over and the troops disbanded that Colonel Gordon told the story of Perry Scott and his many legged fowl.—Argonaut.

The Truth.

"Mr. Hardup must have used a great deal of flattery to win the heiress."

"No; he simply told her the truth."

"Indeed?"

"Yes; he said he couldn't live without her."

Cutlery.

"I call 'em the cutlery family."

"Why so?"

"Well, the daughter spoons, the father forks out the money and the mother knifes the other guests."

His Profession.

"There goes a man whose life is nothing but one long regret."

"Mercy! How sad! What is he?"

"An editor."

A Gilbert Mot.

The following is said to be about the choicest mot in the long W. S. Gilbert list of mots:

After several days' absence from London, Gilbert walked into the Savage Club one day, and somebody shouted a greeting.

"Hello, Gilbert! Where have you been?"

"I've been up to Birmingham to see Wilson Barrett as Hamlet," Gilbert cried.

"The deuce you say! How was it?" asked his friend.

"Oh, very funny—and not at all vulgar," was the answer.

Smoking and Eyesight.

Giving evidence in a High Court case, Mr. William Long, an ophthalmic surgeon of Cavendish square, London, told the court that if he smoked half an ounce of tobacco daily for forty years—which meant that he would have to smoke about four hundredweight—his sight would probably be affected.

Though the pillory has been abolished, there are still to be found in various parts of rural England relics of this old time method of punishment. One of the most complete examples may be seen within a few miles of the metropolitan border. In the picturesque village of Roydon, Essex, not only are the old stocks and whipping post still preserved, but close beside them stands also the wooden "cage" in which the roysterer of bygone days was incarcerated. Is there another such interesting trio of punitive relics to be found elsewhere in England?—London Graphic.

NEVER CROSSED THE OCEAN.

But That Didn't Keep Him From Giving His Novel a Salt Sea Flavor.

The story is told by the Bookman of how a certain novel which was popular three or four years ago got its setting:

"When the story was being planned the author, who has since achieved a literary position of considerable importance, though not as a novelist, could not hit upon just the right background. He needed a setting that would hold his three principal characters, a woman and two men, together for a period of ten or twelve days, despite the fact that the complications of the tale itself would inevitably have moved one or the other of the men to immediate departure.

"He told a friend of his dilemma. 'Why,' said the mentor, 'put them on board a slow going transatlantic liner, one of the new boats.' 'But,' retorted the novelist, 'I have never crossed the ocean and know nothing about transatlantic liners.' 'That,' said the other, 'is a matter of easy remedy. The —— sails at 10 tomorrow morning. Let us go down at 9 and put an end to your troubles.'

"The next day the two visited the ship in question, the author asking questions of his friend and making observations and notes. The smoking room was studied carefully as being just the place for the fight and certain remote corners of the decks as suitable scenes for discreet and fervent courtship. Before the clanging of the gong, with its 'All ashore who are going ashore' message, the novelist closed his notebook with the manner of a man whose task is finished.

"'A year or so later,' said the friend who had directed the search for local color, 'I was crossing the ocean and gave my friend's book to the captain of the boat to read. He did not care so much for the love passage, but what did please him was to find at last a novelist writing of the sea who really knew his subject. He had not read half a dozen pages before he knew that here was the real thing.'"

BRUSHED THE LAW ASIDE.

The Way Witches Were Tried in Massachusetts in 1692.

When the witchcraft delusion of 1692 seized the province of Massachusetts the people would not wait for the workings of the established tribunal of justice. It was too slow to suit them. So they cried out for a special court to hustle along the trial of witches, and Governor Phipps meekly yielded to the clamor and named seven judges to conduct the trials.

It was distinctly a popular court and was controlled absolutely by the popular will. Not a single one of the seven judges was a lawyer. Two of the judges were clergymen, two were physicians, and three were merchants.

The common law was thrown aside, rules of evidence were ignored, and the judges and juries were left untrammeled by any "quibbles of the law" to follow their own feelings and the popular will.

Says Washburn in his "Judicial History of Massachusetts:" "The trials were but a form of executing popular vengeance. Juries were intimidated by the frowns and persuasions of the court and by the outbreakings of the multitude that crowded the place of trial to render verdicts against their own consciences and judgment." He cites one case, that of Rebecca Nurse, in which the jury actually had the courage to bring in a verdict of not guilty, whereupon "the accusers raised a great outcry and the judges were overcome by the clamor." The jury was sent back, returned with a verdict of guilty, and the woman was accordingly executed.—Boston Herald.

A Modest Judge.

Alvo Yusuph, chief judge of Bagdad, was remarkable for the modesty which accompanies wisdom. Once, after a long investigation of the facts of a case, he publicly confessed that his knowledge was not sufficient to enable him to decide it. "Pray," said a pert courtier, "do you expect the caliph to pay you for your ignorance?" "I do not," meekly answered the judge. "The caliph pays me well for what I know. If he were to attempt to pay me for what I do not know the treasures of his empire would not suffice."

A Definition.

The teacher was explaining the meaning of the words "ex-president" to the little folks and told them that it was a man who was formerly president, but had retired to private life. The next day the class was asked the meaning of the word "expert." A little hand went up. "Well," said the teacher, "what is the meaning of the word expert?" "It's a feller that used to be a sport," replied the young American.—Kansas City Star.

Fighting Seasickness.

There is one place in a ship where the voyager may be at rest. This writer discovered it during a mid-Atlantic storm when he went down to the bathroom, tumbled into a warm sea bath and floated. The vessel was performing the most amazing antics, but the water in the bath kept its usual gravity, and the bather floated with a smile upon its bosom.—London Tatler.

Such Is Life.

"It's a hard struggle to conduct one's business without plenty of capital," observed the man with the ingrowing chin.

"You're right," agreed the man with the mange nose. "If a fellow hasn't got plenty of backing he has to do a lot of sidestepping."

All One Race.

Prof. Keith in a London lecture on the evolution of man said that the resemblance of the prehistoric monkeys found in the Fayum, in upper Egypt, to South American monkeys indicated the common origin of the anthropoids of the old and new world.

The Putrid Sea.

There is a body of water called Sivash or Putrid Sea. It is really a lagoon on the east coast of the Crimea, separated from the sea of Azov by a narrow sand bar called the tongue of Arabat. The lagoon is sixty-eight miles long, varying in width from two to fourteen miles. The water is very shallow, stagnant and exceedingly salt.

Result of His Joy.

"I have here a reprieve for you from the home secretary," said the governor of the prison to the callous murderer.

"Ah!" replied the latter. "No noose is good news, as the proverb says."—London Answers.

Power of the Eye.

An eye can threaten like a loaded and leveled gun or can insult like hissing or kicking, or, in its altered mood, by beams of kindness it can make the heart dance with joy.—Emerson's "Conduct of Life."

Wonder If This Is So?

If you put two persons in the same bedroom, one of whom has the toothache and the other is in love, you will find that the person who has the toothache will go to sleep first. Isn't it curious?

Leap Year's Names.

Leap year, it has been complained by some one, seems to have been named on the same principle as the "Meeting of the Waters" at Killarney, which is a place where two streams do not meet, but part. A leap year ought to be a year in which we jump over a day, a 364 day year. One explanation is that all the days after Feb. 29 jump forward one day in the week more than usual. The Romans used to call it a bissextile year, and the French still do so.

Drunkards In Holland.

In Holland special provision is made by law for the protection of intoxicated persons found wandering at large. A regular tariff has been drawn up, according to which a roisterer who can manage to walk is escorted home—within any reasonable distance—for 15 cents. Should a portable chair be required 36 cents extra is charged.

Threat Becomes Diseased From Neglecting Colds

Then Catarrh Sets in, Mucous Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow

That the best method of curing Catarrhal disease consists in using Catarrhozone is now freely admitted. Catarrhozone is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough medicines contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhozone you take no drugs — you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhozone's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhozone seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhozone inhaler — it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savary, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhozone, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchial or catarrhal attack. The dollar size of Catarrhozone contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Norwood Man Hurt in Toronto.

Cecil W. Tucker, second son of Mr. W. H. Tucker, of Norwood, had one leg taken off beneath the wheels of a shunting engine in West Toronto. It was raining when the accident happened and Tucker, who was riding on the front of the engine, slipped and was drawn under the engine, and narrowly escaped being killed. An ambulance was called and he was conveyed to the Western Hospital. Mr. Tucker went up to Toronto to see his son and on returning said, that although seriously injured, the doctors had hopes of his recovery.

Killed by a Horse.

A telegram was received yesterday from Lindsay, to the effect that Mr. R. H. Lapp, a farmer, well known in Peterborough, had been killed by a kick from a horse. It appears that Mr. Lapp left the house before breakfast to harness the animal, and had the harness partly on. It is surmised that he was passing around the horse in order to put the crupper in place, when the animal kicked viciously, striking Mr. Lapp a terrific blow square on the temple. He was knocked back against the stone wall, and when found was in an unconscious condition, from which he never recovered.

Boy's Escapades Cause Amusement.

Those who happened to be near the Oriental Hotel on Hunter street, yesterday morning, were afforded considerable amusement by the antics of a small boy with an adventurous spirit. The boy who was walking down Hunter street with a lawn mower, suddenly took a fancy to Lewis' pony and rig which was standing by the curb, and jumped in and whipped up the pony. Bystanders gave chase and finding himself being caught up to, he jumped out and mounted a bicycle. He was soon caught, however, and walked off with the mower, which later in the day was found waiting in the Police station for its owner.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

TALK IN CONGRESS

Where Freedom of Speech Is a Right Jealously Guarded.

MIGHT OF THE LOWER HOUSE

The Enormous Power It Wields by Reason of Its Grip Upon the Purse of the Nation—Absolute Democracy of the Committee of the Whole.

The house of representatives of the people of the United States, the great demos, the source of all power, the basis upon which the great superstructure of the government rests, dates back to the Magna Charta, and its immediate ancestor was the first parliament of Henry IV., in the fifteenth century. In Henry's parliament the representatives of the people established finally and forever that all revenue bills must originate in the lower house, which should hold the purse of the people and without which not a wheel in the legislative, the executive or the judicial branch of the government could turn.

It is because of this parliament that there is no ways and means committee in the senate and that when any treaty or commercial arrangement or anything involving the payment of money is introduced, any appointment or legislation is proposed, the house of representatives raises its mighty hand and settles the matter according to the will of the people through their representatives, for it can defeat any measure or any person by merely declining to appropriate the money necessary to pay for that measure or person.

When this great committee on ways and means presents its business to the house of representatives and the house goes into committee of the whole house on the state of the Union the assemblage at once resolves itself into a body as absolutely democratic as the Saxon Witenagemot or the New England town meeting. Every symbol of a popular assemblage is religiously observed. The speaker leaves the chair, and a chairman is elected who is not the speaker. Not even so much as the prestige of the regular presiding officer is allowed to hamper the freedom of debate. The speaker goes down to the floor and has no more privileges than the most obscure member of the house.

The mace, the emblem of authority, is put under the speaker's table to show that the house deliberates without interference from anybody. The mace is really a weapon, a stout wooden stick with a metal head, and used to be the favorite weapon of fighting priests of the middle ages. They were forbidden by ecclesiastical law to use swords, but got around the law by using the mace, a terrible weapon, against the armored men of the time. In the choice of the mace as the type of authority the idea of democracy was rigidly carried out. In the early days only a few men out of the whole were authorized to wear swords, but any and all of the people could use a good stout stick, and so the weapon of their majesties the people was chosen. When the speaker presides and any members show signs of indulging in fisticuffs and will not obey the speaker's gavel the sergeant-at-arms or his deputy is directed to "show the mace." That functionary seizes the mace and marches up to the offending members, who are supposed to be awed into good behavior at sight of this big stick.

Not long ago, when two members got into a row and it seemed as if blows were about to be exchanged, the speaker promptly ordered the sergeant-at-arms to show them the mace. The sergeant took the mace, marched up to the two belligerents and stood, mace in hand, majestically, before them. This, however, had not the slightest effect, and the sergeant-at-arms anxiously inquired of a member sitting next, "What am I to do with the mace now?"

To which the member responded in a stage whisper, "Peck 'em on the head with it!"

This suggestion brought down the house, and a roar of laughter and applause followed, in which even the belligerents were obliged to join.

In general, however, before the mace can be shown, the members rush in and separate men whose tempers have got the better of them, who have exchanged the lie or the blow that always follows. Members engaging in these rows are always called before the bar of the house and sternly reprimanded by the speaker, who talks like a Dutch uncle to them and calls them by name. This "naming" is the only time a member's name is used in debate. He is at other times "the member from So-and-so" or "the gentleman from So-and-so."

These collisions rarely, if ever, occur between members anywhere except on the floor of the house. Everything is permitted in the freedom of debate, nor is a member held accountable outside for anything he may say on the floor. Through this freedom of speech members say things they would not dare to utter elsewhere. In the old days duels followed the exchange of the lie, and the Graves-Cilley duel, the John Randolph and Henry Clay duel and many historical encounters took place. But in the evolution of government the principle became firmly fixed that there must be absolute freedom of debate and that no man could be held responsible outside for anything said on the floor of either house. And so the dueling practice was dropped in congress long before public sentiment abolished it elsewhere. No libel suit holds for anything said in open debate, and in every way the freedom of speech is jealously guarded and maintained.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Ran the Hole Out of Town.

A lecturer once told of a Russian he saw some years ago in Manchuria whose methods of achieving results were not according to the usual code. The Russian had a well in his front yard which he concluded to fill up. He began digging a hole by the side of the well, throwing the dirt from the new excavation into the well. "In the course of time," said the speaker, "the old well was filled, but there was a hole alongside as big as the first. The Russian went farther away and dug another hole to fill the second. He continued this process of digging one hole to fill the other until he literally ran the hole out of town."

Terrible Earthquake in Sea of Marmora in Far East

Relief Ship at Constantinople With Appaling Story

All That Remains of Many Villages Are Heaps of Charred Debris

Constantinople, Aug. 18.—An appalling story of suffering and damage caused by the recent earthquake in the Sea of Marmora was told by the members of the expedition despatched on Aug. 14 to the stricken district on board the United States gunboat Scorpion, Guardship at Constantinople, which returned here to-day.

J. Cornell Tarler, second secretary of the United States embassy, and the special mission of four doctors on board, report that conditions along the shores of the Sea of Marmora were found to be much worse than anticipated. They estimate the number of killed in the various towns and villages at 3000, while the total of those injured reaches 6000.

Cannot Reach Villages.

It was found impossible to approach several villages on account of the odors arising from the human bodies buried among the ruins. Other villages were simply heaps of charred debris.

The plight of the survivors had been rendered worse on account of the difficulty of obtaining building material.

Earthquakes continue almost daily at many places along the coast. Six shocks were felt yesterday and many damaged houses collapsed.

In several villages visited by the expedition some of the houses which were apparently undamaged were found to consist of empty shells, the whole of the interior having collapsed.

At Myriophito the first appearance of the town was very deceptive, because a number of the houses standing on the sea front, surrounded by gardens, were intact, but immediately in the rear scarcely a stick or stone was left upright. Numerous fissures were observed in the ground, but none of great size, although the villagers reported that a cleft nearly 200 feet deep had opened in a hillside eight miles inland.

People Stunned.

The people throughout the district seemed utterly stunned by the catastrophe and made no attempt to help themselves, sitting about in groups, brooding over their misfortunes and awaiting the arrival of relief.

The Red Crescent Society and the Greek philanthropic societies are doing good work in the districts, the Red Crescent having despatched missions to the interior to assist the sufferers.

GEN. BOOTH'S LAST MESSAGE

The last message of General Booth, head of the Salvation Army, is dated July 27, and printed in the English War Cry. It was the 47th anniversary of the Army. The message reads:

My Dear Comrades,—I hoped to have been with you and joined in your songs of praise to-day, but the doctors do not think it would be wise for me to run the risk which would be involved. They prefer that in this matter of my health I should put into practice the old adabe, "Make haste slowly."

Most of you are aware that I have been called upon to pass through a dark and trying and painful experience during the last eight or nine weeks. Disappointment and suffering hat been my lot to a degree I have never knowe before. Not only have clouds covered my sky, but storms have burst over me, and sometimes the dashing waves have threatened to overpower my strength. But in every storm my Heavenly Father has intervened and His blessed voice has spoken, stilling the tossing waves and comforting my soul/

An although I have been laid so low the tide, thank God, has already turned and my bark is sailing, I believe, towards the shore that I have loved so well and so long—the Salvation Battle-field.

Yes, I am once more on the upgrade, counting the weeks, or at any rate, the days that must yet elapse before I am again at the Battle's front

This is our anniversary! Forty-seven years ago I took my stand for God alone in London. What the result would be I could not foresee. I only knew that I was acting in abedience to His voice. But, to-day you know and see something of the outcome; it is before your eyes, it is before the eyes of the world.

This Alexandra Palace is almost historic ground for us Salvationists

It is just thirty years since we first held an anniversary demonstration here. On that occasion the late Queen Xictoria sent to my darling wife an assurance of her satisfaction that so many thousands had been won to the ways of temperance, virtue and religion. But think of the tens of thousands who have been won since then. Think of the thousands of homes made happy, the thousands of wanderers reclaimed, the thousands of souls saved, the thousands of soldiers taught to fight, the thousands of officers commissioned to roll the old chariot along in almost every part of the inhabited globe.

What a mighty force the Army has become, but how small and insignificant the results compared with what is before us!

My comrades on every hand, the nations are calling to us; on every hand new doors are open to us; on every hand the need is seen to be greater than ever.

And from this my chamber of darkness I call upon every officer and soldier to take fresh courage to step out more quickly and to fight more bravely and persistently for the accomplishment of those great purposes for which God forty-seven years ago, brought the Army into existence—the saving of men and women and children of every class from the power and curse of sin, and the setting of Jesus Christ on His Throne in this world.

My comrades, I send you my blessing, and I hope to meet you again before many weeks have passed by. Until then and always, believe me to be,

Your affectionate General,

WILLIAM BOOTH.

TRIP THROUGH THE WEST

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Writes Interesting Letter of His Western Journey

Editor Morning Times:

Sir,—Since sending you my last few lines we have crossed the prairie. I missed the luxuriance of our eastern growth. Eighteen bushels of wheat to the acre is this year's average, and the highest for several years. The sttaw is short—I would say very short. It is the quantity, that is, the immense acreage, that gives to the west its weight—certainly not the luxuriance of any of its vegetation, so far as I have seen. If it were not for the cheapness of much of the land, immigration from Ontario would cease tomorrow, I am very credably informed. The climate of Manitoba and Saskatchewan is admitted, even there, to be too severe in winter. Alberta and B. C. are like the Elysian fields in comparison. Banff is all that our fancy painted it. Globe-trotters never tire of retailing the exquisite beauty of our Rockies. The comparatively flat though abundantly watered and wooded Province of Ontario is and will remain unrivalled for the man of luxuries and the tiller of the soil. People are now going east to Toronto and Montreal, whose speculative records of late have reached the ears of the "investor" and it is a new sensation for the Westerner to be beaten at his own game by the "effete east." The rail-path from Winnipeg to Banff is strewn with sickly villages, while here and there such places as Regina, Swift Current, the Hat, Calgary etc., give every evidence o prosperity. The houses of the farmers on the 3,000 square miles of country observed are the worst I have ever seen and those in most of the innumerable villages are so absurd as to be quite laughable. Why men leave Ontario who are doing even fairly well and have any prospects, I fail to see.

I continue to meet large numbers of old acquaintances.

J. H. BURNHAM.

DARROW IS NOT GUILTY ONLY ONE BALLOT TAKEN

Los Angeles, Aug. 17.—Clarence S. Darrow, the noted Chicago lawyer was found not guilty to-day of the charge o bribing a juror in the McNamara case. The jury was out just 34 minutes.

Only one ballot was taken and each juror voted not guilty.

Although warned against any demonstration by the bailiffs, there was a spontaneous outburst of applause when the foreman, in response to the court's query, stated that the jury had found a verdict of not guilty.

There was a rush to the side of Darrow which was stopped by the bailiffs, but it was renewed a few minutes later, when Judge Hutton thanked and discharged the jury.

Darrow approached the jurors still in the box to thank them and two of them threw their arms about him and patted him on the back.

THE GRAVE OF THE TITANIC

Interesting Data Regarding The Bottom Of The Ocean

There have been so many disputes (says the World Magazine) as to whether the Titanic sank to the bottom of the ocean or only to a depth of a few hundred feet, that the Scientific American deems it necessary to settle the question with the assertion, "The Titanic is on the bottom" and an explanation of why this is certain.

There is, it says, a commonly erroneous supposition that the density of the water is far greater at the bottom than at the surface. "Density," it continues, "is here confused with pressure. The pressure increases enormously, over 6000 pounds to the square foot at a depth of 100 feet. Divers sometimes work at a depth of 150 feet, where the pressure is half again as much, 9363.15 pounds, to be exact. When provided with special armoured diving suits, divers have operated at considerably greater depth, but nothing approaching the depth at which the Titanic now lies. This depth is given at 2000 fathoms, which is considerably over two miles, and the pressure amounts to three quarters of a million pounds per square foot.

"It is only natural to suppose that under such pressures the density of the water would be increased but the laboratory experiments have shown that it is almost impossible to compress water. At a depth of a mile the density of sea water is only 1,130 greater than at the surface.

"With this clearly in mind it is very evident that an object that would not float at the surface of the sea could not float at any intermediate point, but must surely sink to the bottom; for it could not displace a greater weight of water at the bottom than at the top, even though the water in the first case was under much higher pressure. As a matter of fact any air filled chamber or compressible matter in the vessel would be crushed in by the enormous pressure of the water, so that the displacement of the wreck would be growing less as it went down and it would be falling through the water at a corresponding acceleration. We must also remember that steel is much more compressible than water.

MISS LILY SMITH AND HER SISTERS.
MISS SMITH IN THE CENTRE

England's women swimmers will not remain idle while one of the best young women swimmers of the United States undertakes to swim across the Channel Of course, it is not probable that Miss Lily Smith, a wonderful swimmer, of London, who is barely out of her teens and has many excellent records to her credit, decided to try to cross the Channel because she had been made acquainted with Miss Rose Pitonoff's intention, for Miss Smith announced last year that she would make the trial this season.

It is interesting to note, however, that Miss Smith has decided to make her trial about the same time that Miss Pitonoff, of Boston, will attempt her swim The date for Miss Smith's effort has not been decided definitely, but it will be some morning in the latter part of this month.

In company with her sisters, she is taking long swims at the ocean resorts in England. Recently at Brighton she was in the water for several hours and she intends to try to swim to Dover from Ramsgate. These are preliminary trials Miss Smith has a magnificent physique, and her endurance powers are rated high by physicians

OPENS TO-MORROW.

The Roller Rink opens to-morrow night under new management. The building has been completely overhauled and decorated and everything possible done for the comfort of the lovers of this popular pastime. The skates have been fixed up in good shape and a large crowd is expected at the opening of the rink to-morrow

SHOT BY RIVAL SUITOR WEDS HER TRUE LOVER

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—David Airth, a Renfrew young man, was yesterday wedded at Portage du Fort, Que., to Miss Teresa Dolan of that place, the young woman who a few months ago was the victim of a murderous attack by a rival suiter, Gordon Hodgins, who shot the girl and then suicided by jumping into the Ottawa river, after she had refused a proposal of marriage.

Three shots were fired by Hodgins but only one shot took effect, in her head. The wound fortunately did not prove fatal and Miss Dolan completely recovered. Hodgins attack was due to jealousy of Miss Dolan's preference of Airth and the culmination of the affair was the marriage of the girl and her lover yesterday. Airth is a Protestant and Miss Dolan's family Roman Catholics. The girl has, however, embraced the Protestant faith. They left for the west immediately after the ceremony and will reside in Renfrew after the honeymoon.

"ULSTER DAY" IN SEPTEMBER IS AWAITED WITH GREAT ANXIETY

An Enormous Demonstration Is Being Prepared, and It May Be Followed by the "Something Startling," Which Mr. F. E. Smith, M.P., Has Predicted

London, Aug. 18.—The Government regards with growing alarm the results of Sir Edward Carson's systematic advocacy of violence in Ulster, and Bonar Law's support. It is now known that Ulster Orangemen are seriously preparing for trouble Arms are being largely imported, and many so-called "miniature rifle clubs" have sprung up throughout the Province during the past six months. It was significantly announced in Belfast early in the week that the Government had decided to adopt a new policy towards these clubs insisting that before any one is started that a full list of the members should be submitted to Dublin Castle. This rumor was promptly officially denied.

Winston Churchill, in his passage of arms with Fonar Law this week over the Unionist encouragement of lawlessness in Ireland, declares "there has been a large importation of arms into the Orange counties of Ireland. There is widespread drilling and training in the use of lethal weapons." The Government is contemplating counter moves. It has caused the Unionist leaders to be unofficially warned that inflammatory speeches may be followed by arrest and that arrests for treason-felony can be made against Unionists as well as they were once made against the Nationalists' leaders.

Ulster Day, September 28, is regarded as the danger point, and an enormous demonstration is being prepared by the Ulster Unionist Council for then. It may be followed by the "something startling," which Mr. F. E. Smith has predicted.

GENERAL BOOTH PASSES AWAY?

New York, Aug. 18.—An unconfirmed report has been received here that Gen. Booth, head of the Salvation Army, has passed away early this morning. It was known that he was gradually sinking for several days, having become unconscious on Friday.

Provision has been made by the General for his successor as head of the Salvation Army, so that the great work will go on without interruption.

TAFT MAY VETO PANAMA CANAL BILL AFTER ALL

Thinks That Free Tolls Provision May Prove Serious Embarrassment to United States, and Favors Reference to Courts to Test the Measure

Washington, Aug. 19.—President Taft has not decided whether he will approve the Panama Canal bill, as agreed by the Senate and House conferences.

The President told friends that the free tolls provision of the bill might prove a serious embarrassment to the United States and that he was not sure he could sign the bill that way. He favors an amendment which in effect would permit other nations to test the free tolls provision by suits in United States courts This eventually means a decision by the supreme court.

Mr. Taft was told by Senatoe Simmons that it was probably too late to attach such an amendment to the bill. The president expects to read the measure more carefully and decide upon his course early next week. He does not expect to send a special message on the subject.

The house rules committee made a special rule which prohibits the raising of any point of order against the measure. The bill will be considered and probably passed by the house before adjournment. This drastic action was taken because of the opposition last night, when representa-tive Olmstead and Moore of Pennsylvania contended that the conferees had gone beyond their jurisdiction in accepting several senate amendments.

PANAMA AND RECIPROCITY

Our contemporary, The News, is right when it says the glaring bad faith of the United States in the Panama Canal affair is another nail in the coffin of Reciprocity. Canadians will be more than ever set against basing their business ventures on any agreement with a country that will break a treaty without notice when it sees any material advantage in so doing. The Western Canadian press is bitter in its condemnation of American legislators. Under Reciprocity the whole Dominion would experience a universal business unsettlement in changing its main channels of trade from east and west to north and south.

Then after the costly adjustment had been completed, a conscienceless Congress could suddenly upset all our arrangements and subject our people to another period of commercial distress such as that which followed Washington's revocation of a former reciprocity treaty in 1966. Or worse still, Congress might coerce us into nationally disastrous concessions by merely threatening the resumption of high tariff legislation against us.

Canadians are too wise to fall into such a trap. We shall go on our way rejoicing, making our own tariffs to suit our own needs, building up a prosperous and self-reliant population, and drawing into even closer relations with the other self-governing people which compose the British Empire. At least we may be sure that they will not violate their pledged word when it has once been given to us. That is not the British way.

HEROIC ENGINE DRIVER IN SENSATIONAL RESCUE

Climbed From Storey to Storey, Pulled Short Ladder After Him, and Carried Heavy Man Down

New York, Aug. 17.—Albert Signer fire-engine driver, rescued John Robinson, a 187 pound tailor, by carrying him down from the fifth floor of a burning tenement house early today. He brought him down a ladder that was so short it would reach only from floor to floor.

The little driver mounted to the fifth storey by hooking the ladder to the lowest window, to which he climbed, and then pulled the ladder up after him. In this way he scaled to the burning apartment, and then he carried down the unconscious Robinson in the same manner.

The fire in East Twenty-first street completely destroyed the tenement, and many families narrowly escaped death.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 65 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 60c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 60c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 380 George St. directly opposite Croesman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit? If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

"THE LOST CHORD."

Sullivan Wrote the Music at His Dying Brother's Bedside.

Perhaps the most successful song of modern times is "The Lost Chord," whose sale in Great Britain has exceeded 250,000 copies. The story of its composition, as told by Mr. Willeby in his "Masters of English Music," illustrates that in art, as in statesmanship, success came to those—

> Who knew the seasons when to take
> Occasion by the hand.

For nearly three weeks Arthur Seymour Sullivan had watched by the bedside of a dying brother. One night when the end was not far off and his brother was sleeping he chanced to come across some verse of Adelaide Procter's which five years before he had tried in vain to set to music.

In the silence of that night watch he read them over again, and almost instantly their musical expression was conceived. A stray sheet of music paper was at hand, and he began to write. The music grew, and he worked on, delighted to be helped while away the hours of watching. As he progressed he felt sure the music was what he had sought for and failed to find on the occasion of his first attempt to set the words. In a short time it was complete and not long after in the publisher's hands.

A Book and a War.

Copyright questions are grave enough nowadays, but they no longer threaten to end in war, as in the case of St. Columba, the Irishman who settled in Iona, converted north Britain and is commemorated on June 9. He had a passion for fine manuscripts and copies of them and among others copied a certain Latin psalter belonging to an Irish abbot, whereupon King Diarmaid condemned Columba at Tara, ruling that "to every book belongs its copy, as to every cow its calf." Columba appealed against the verdict in the practical form of inciting his kinsmen to revolt, and they defeated Diarmaid in the battle of the Psalter. The book is claimed to be the one which in a silver cover was carried into battle by the O'Donnells during more than a thousand years.

Aluminium Powder.

To make aluminium powder very thin foil is first cut up into small spangles. These are ground in a mill, and the powder is then sifted through bolting cloth. The powder is used as a basis for metallic paint and is especially valuable for metallic surfaces that are exposed a great deal. The powder is very soft and adhesive, like graphite.

When Kipling Was Hungry.

Had Mr. Kipling turned his attention to commerce instead of literature perhaps he might now be retained by some merchant millionaire as a writer of advertisements, at a colossal salary. After the siege of Kimberley he was staying with Mr. Rhodes at a charming little fruit farm near the town. One morning it occurred to Mr. Rhodes to take a stroll round the orchards for a little while before breakfast. As Mr. Kipling did not feel like walking he stayed behind. Time went on and the idea came to the author that breakfast would be desirable. But there was no sign of his host. As a matter of fact, Mr. Rhodes, as was usual with him, had become so interested in the matter in hand that he had quite forgotten the passing hours, and it was nearly ten o'clock before he remembered his starving guest, and hurried homewards.

"What's this, sir?" said the manager, suddenly pausing before a tree. Upon it was pinned a sheet of paper, bearing in large black letters "Famine!" The next tree was also decorated: "We are starving; feed us." Nearer the house they came upon a large sheet with these words in huge type: "For the human race. Breakfast. Purifies the mind; invigorates the system. It has sustained thousands; it will sustain you. See that you get it." Finally upon the front door was an enormous placard: "Why die when a little breakfast prolongs life?"

Up to Date.

"They're very up to date."

"That so?"

"Yes. Her daughter is to be married soon, and she has sent out invitations that read this way: 'Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wattersby Brown request your presence at the first wedding of their daughter Jane.'"—Detroit Free Press.

WHAT WILL TAFT DO?

The absolutely inexplicable stand adopted by the U. S. Senate in refusing to delete the clause in the Panama regulations bill which allows American ships free entry through the Panama Canal, a clause which is in direct violation of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, is far from arousing an enthusiastic response in the American press, and several papers have openly refused to accord their support to this breach of honor or to those who are responsible for it. It is evident that the American nation does not altogether approve of the fashion in which its Senate is juggling with the honor of the country. Both Senator Root and Senator Smith were absolutely outspoken and repeated the warnings several times during the course of the debate. Will Mr Taft exercise the power of his veto? It might be wise for him, before he sanctions such an iniquitous outrage, to consult the Supreme Court of Canada. From his decision might result international complications of the greatest nature. England, conscious of being in the right, has uttered a protest to which America has paid no heed. It is quite clear that the matter is bound to go further.

CHILDREN'S TEETH.

A bulletin of much importance to parents has been issued by the Women's Institute branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and deals with the care of children's teeth. The pamphlet is prepared under the direction of the educational committee of the Ontario Dental Society, and constitutes one of the best, because the plainest booklets on this important matter recently sent out.

It is the duty of parents to watch the teeth of their children just as carefully as they do their general health, and during the first ten or twelve years children should be taken to a dentist every few months and his advice acted upon faithfully. This practice, while it will prove of greatest value to the general health of the child, will also cause the natural fear of the dentist which exists to a more or less degree in every youngster to vanish, with the result that good dental habits, which mean better nutrition and a more robust individual, will be acquired.

Too many people leave the care of their teeth entirely in the hands of the dentist and do not follow closely any of his instructions or advice. Others, and by far the greater number, take absolutely no care of their own teeth, or their children's, with the natural result that inevitably these important factors in mastication and digestion are lost, after, in many cases, having sown the seeds of general ill health for years.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Chicago man gave away $687,500 to celebrate his birthday, and recipients in wishing him many happy returns no doubt meant exactly what they said.

A railroad company has forbidden shop hands to wear neckties because of possible entanglement in machinery.

Some neckties would wreck the machines.

Of all men the politician may well pray to be saved from his friends. The extravagant prominence which the Globe has given to the visit to Northern Ontario of the Leader of the Opposition, Mr. Rowell, has come dangerously near to making ridiculous the otherwise quite sensible and matter-of-fact performance of a man who was never intended for the show business. Mr. Rowell will get on all right if some of his over-zealous friends will only give him a chance.

Anaemic Mothers
Here Is Relief

You can Enrich Your Worn-out Blood and Quickly Renew Your Health With Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills Are a Real Cure

"I can't remember any time during the past 20 years when my head was not aching. If I bent over, dark specks would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to my head". Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putman P. O., and continuing her interesting statement she says: "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going upstairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. My doctor told me that if that was the cause, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest blood renewer on earth. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going upstairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as well as any person ought and as for dizziness, which used to frighten me so much before, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. They helped me in other ways, too, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health. Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c per box. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Lord's Hobby.

Lord Iveagh has just given a sum of $50,000 to Trinity College, Dublin, to be expended in the department of geology and mineralogy. Seeing that ten years ago he gave $200,000 to his alma mater for scientific purposes he has handsomely discharged his indebtedness to her.

Lord Iveagh has an amiable weakness for giving away thousands of dollars at a time. In 1908 he gave $1,250,000 for the erection of model working-class dwellings in Dublin, and he has handed over large sums for a similar purpose in London. A few years ago the Dublin Corporation presented their munificent patron with an address in recognition of his many acts of generosity to the city.

Lord Iveagh's wealth is derived from the famous Guinness brewery. He keeps a town house in Dublin, and one in London, but his great residence is Elveden, near Thetford. This is perhaps the finest sporting estate in England.

Children's Books In Olden Times.

The earliest books for children were schoolbooks pure and simple. The titles of some of them suggest entertainment and refreshment, but the arid pages belie the promise. For instance, an old Latin grammar, published in 1570, had for sub-title, "A delysious Syrupe newly Clarified for Yonge Scholars yt thurste for the Swete Lycore of Latin Speche," but the "Lycore" is a very turgid, confused flow of pedantry. A different style is suggested by the name of another schoolbook written by one Elisha Coles in 1675, "Nolens Volens, or you shall learn Latin whether you will or no," a title which suggest a vigorous application of the birch.

Couldn't Do It.

The pianist engaged to play at a "smoker" which was held recently played by ear and was famed for his accompaniments to songs of all kinds. He maintained his reputation until a young fellow was called upon to favor the company with a comic song. The would-be comedian had a very tuneless voice and, being nervous, forgot some of the words.

The result was he gave the first verse in three different keys, and when he broke down at the chorus he had the cheek to blame the pianist, saying: "You're putting me off. If you can't play better than that I'll sing without the piano."

"You'll have to," replied the pianist sarcastically. "I can't accompany a stump speech."

WHO ARE THE "THE'S"?

Celts Who Are Entitled to the Chieftainship of Their Clans.

"Who are the "The's?" This is the question asked by the editor of Burke's Landed Gentry, and no one should be better qualified to answer it than is he.

The elusive title of "The," of course, is used to indicate the headship or chieftainship of a tribe or clan. In England the title has never existed. In Wales it has died, but in Scotland and Ireland, says the editor of Burke's, the craving for this old designation is an obsession.

There is an old Scottish saying that in Scotland there are but three "The's," The Chisholm, The Mackintosh, and The Devil. To-day there is much dispute as to who the Chisholm is, while the claimants to the chieftainship of Clan Chattan are legion.

In Ireland the position is clearer, for the right to chiefship was not hereditary, but elective, though the expert admits that "his legal principle of the Irish was much tempered by informality of election, assassination, warfare, and self-assertion." When Henry VIII. established English law the right of election ceased to exist.

Most of the chiefs, one by one, were made peers, and except possibly in one or two cases the tribal title of "The" was discontinued. Little was heard of it again until the latter half of the eighteenth century. With the exception of The McDermot and The O'Conor Don, both of which have been recognized constantly by the crown, nothing, says the editor of Burke's, in the nature of real proof of right can be offered in substantiation of any of them. Still, in Ireland he admits the following list, which he regards as practically complete:

The Knight of Glyn.
The Knight of Kerry.
The MacDermot, prince of Coolavin.
The MacDermot-Roe.
The MacGillicuddy of the Reeks.
The O'Conor Don.
The O'Donoghue.
The O'Donovan.
The O'Gorman.
The O'Grady.
The O'Kelly.
The O'Morchoe.
The O'Neill.
The O'Tool.
The Fox.
The O'Shee.
The O'Brien (Lord Inchiquin).
The O'Molloy.
The Reilly.
The O'Clery.

But in Scotland the appointment of a commission to inquire into the "Who's Who" of the "The's" is declared to be necessary.

While waiting for a badly wanted authoritative pronouncement the editor of Burke's puts forward the following list of tribal titles for Scotland:

The MacCallein Mor, chief of Clan Campbell (Duke of Argyll).
The Chisholm.
The Mackintosh.
Chief of Clan Ranald.
The Macpherson.
The McNab.
Chief of Clan Gillean (Maclean, Bt.).
Chief of Clan Gregor.
Chief of Clan Cameron.
Chief of Clan Mackenzie.
Chief of the Clan Mackinnon.
Chief of Clan Chattan.
Chief of MacLeod.
Chief of Glengarry.
Captain of Dunstaffnage.

To the Manor Born.

Lord Charles Beresford and the Duke of Argyll were traveling together on the Great Western Railway, in England. The only other occupant of their compartment was a prosperous drummer, whose success had been due to natural talent for business rather than to sound education. The noblemen found their companion entertaining, so they listened to his talk until a small station in Gloucestershire was reached. Here Lord Charles Beresford alighted, and was met by a servant of the people with whom he was going to stay. The drummer, leaned out of the window, open-mouthed and wide-eyed. He saw his lordship bowed into a splendid carriage and driven off down a country lane. Drawing his head within the carriage again he turned to the duke, and said:

"Oos 'im?"

"He is Lord Charles Beresford," the duke replied.

"Well, now!" said the drummer. "Fancy the likes of 'im 'obnobbin' with two cads like you and me!"

Puns on People's Names.

Some years ago a popular form of social amusement was found in punning on people's names: "Why did So-and-so?" "Because Such-and-such." The originator of the fashion was no less notable a person than the Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. On a lecturer named Mary Grew, visiting Boston in 1871, Whittier wrote a poem, "How Mary Grew," each stanza ending on a variation of the pun—

The world were safe if but a few
Could grow in grace as Mary Grew.

Walking Companions.

A lady was seen promenading the streets of Bournemouth, England, the other week carry a monkey under her arm. Less disturbing to one's equanimity is the practice of another lady in Bournemouth, who never goes abroad on her cycle without being accompanied by her household cat, which reposes on her left shoulder undisturbed by the clatter of passing trains and motor-cars.

A Dry District.

According to a statement made at the meeting of the North Wales Calvinistic Methodists in Anglesea, there are forty-two parishes in the county of Anglesea without a public house.

Placing His Kick.

On one occasion the professors at a Scotch theological college were made to feel the bitter irony and reckless sarcasm of one of their students. The students residing within the college dined together in the common hall. The fare was mean, consisting generally of rabbits. The students had often grumbled, but as a professor presided at the table none ventured openly to complain. Each student asked the blessing by turns. One rose reverently and said:

For rabbits young and for rabbits old,
For rabbits hot and for rabbits cold,
For rabbits tender and for rabbits tough,
Our thanks we render, for we've had enough!

TALK IN CONGRESS

Where Freedom of Speech is a Right Jealously Guarded.

MIGHT OF THE LOWER HOUSE

The Enormous Power It Wields by Reason of Its Grip Upon the Purse of the Nation—Absolute Democracy of the Committee of the Whole.

The house of representatives of the people of the United States, the great demos, the source of all power, the basis upon which the great superstructure of the government rests, dates back to the Magna Charta, and its immediate ancestor was the first parliament of Henry IV., in the fifteenth century. In Henry's parliament the representatives of the people established finally and forever that all revenue bills must originate in the lower house, which should hold the purse of the people and without which not a wheel in the legislative, the executive or the judicial branch of the government could turn.

It is because of this parliament that there is no ways and means committee in the senate and that when any treaty or commercial arrangement or anything involving the payment of money is introduced, any appointment or legislation is proposed, the house of representatives raises its mighty hand and settles the matter according to the will of the people through their representatives, for it can defeat any measure or any person by merely declining to appropriate the money necessary to pay for that measure or person.

When this great committee on ways and means presents its business to the house of representatives and the house goes into committee of the whole house on the state of the Union the assemblage at once resolves itself into a body as absolutely democratic as the Saxon Witenagemot or the New England town meeting. Every symbol of a popular assemblage is religiously observed. The speaker leaves the chair, and a chairman is elected who is not the speaker. Not even so much as the prestige of the regular presiding officer is allowed to hamper the freedom of debate. The speaker goes down to the floor and has no more privileges than the most obscure member of the house.

The mace, the emblem of authority, is put under the speaker's table to show that the house deliberates without interference from anybody. The mace is really a weapon, a stout wooden stick with a metal head, and used to be the favorite weapon of fighting priests of the middle ages. They were forbidden by ecclesiastical law to use swords, but got around the law by using the mace, a terrible weapon, against the armored men of the time. In the choice of the mace as the type of authority the idea of democracy was rigidly carried out. In the early days only a few men out of the whole were authorized to wear swords, but any and all of the people could use a good stout stick, and so the weapon of their majesties the people was chosen. When the speaker presides and any members show signs of indulging in fisticuffs and will not obey the speaker's gavel the sergeant-at-arms or his deputy is directed to "show the mace." That functionary seizes the mace and marches up to the offending members, who are supposed to be awed into good behavior at sight of this big stick.

Not long ago, when two members got into a row and it seemed as if blows were about to be exchanged, the speaker promptly ordered the sergeant-at-arms to show them the mace. The sergeant took the mace, marched up to the two belligerents and stood, mace in hand, majestically, before them. This, however, had not the slightest effect, and the sergeant-at-arms anxiously inquired of a member sitting next, "What am I to do with the mace now?"

To which the member responded in a stage whisper, "Pack 'em on the head with it!"

This suggestion brought down the house, and a roar of laughter and applause followed, in which even the belligerents were obliged to join.

In general, however, before the mace can be shown, the members rush in and separate men whose tempers have got the better of them, who have exchanged the lie or the blow that always follows. Members engaging in these rows are always called before the bar of the house and sternly reprimanded by the speaker, who talks like a Dutch uncle to them and calls them by name. This "naming" is the only time a member's name is used in debate. He is at other times "the member from So-and-so" or "the gentleman from So-and-so."

These collisions rarely, if ever, occur between members anywhere except on the floor of the house. Everything is permitted in the freedom of debate, nor is a member held accountable outside for anything he may say on the floor. Through this freedom of speech members say things they would not dare to utter elsewhere. In the old days duels followed the exchange of the lie, and the Graves-Cilley duel, the John Randolph and Henry Clay duel and many historical encounters took place. But in the evolution of government the principle became firmly fixed that there must be absolute freedom of debate and that no man could be held responsible outside for anything said on the floor of either house. And so the dueling practice was dropped in congress long before public sentiment abolished it elsewhere. No libel suit holds for anything said in open debate, and in every way the freedom of speech is jealously guarded and maintained.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Tip to Tired Wives.

"Mrs. Brown never sits up to wait for her husband."

"No?"

"No. When she expects him to be out late she retires early, sets the alarm clock at 3 o'clock, and when it goes off she gets up and dresses and is ready, refreshed and reproachful."

THE JAPAN OF TO-DAY

IT HAS GONE AHEAD MARVELLOUSLY SAYS A TRAVELER.

A Sort of Paternal Socialism Has Grown Up Because the Government Simply Needed the Money to Be Made Out of Public Utilities—People Have a High Respect For the Government.

No Government in the world commands more genuine respect from the people than that of Japan. The Government consists of the Emperor, the unofficial body known as the Elder Statesmen, the Privy Council, the Cabinet and the Diet.

The Emperor is supreme. Between him and his subjects the line has been drawn for approximately twenty centuries. But the rulers have almost without exception shown the greatest consideration for the people. The people on their part have shown loyalty even unto death for their sovereign.

The relations of Emperor and people may be likened to those of parent and child. The people worship the Emperor and the Emperor his own ancestors. The transcendentalism of the present Emperor is very difficult for a westerner to understand. But the reverence shown him is entirely sincere, and certainly no living ruler has done more to deserve it than the present Emperor.

The leadership of the Japanese Government is nowhere better exemplified than in the progressive steps it has taken along the lines of State Socialism. It owns and operates the postoffices, telephones, telegraphs, wireless, gas, electricity, water, railroads and the tobacco, salt and camphor monopolies. It subsidizes many businesses, such as shipping, banking, etc.

Indeed, the ramifications of the Government are to be seen everywhere. Japan has gone into these Socialistic measures, however, not from any conversion to the tenets of Socialism, but because she has wanted to make money. A good part of the national income comes from the operation of public utilities and monopolies.

The educational system is modelled on western methods. Two generations ago only twenty-eight per cent. of the children of school age attended school. In 1893 the percentage rose to fifty-nine. To-day it is ninety-eight. Universal education has been in existence for about sixty years, and now every child must go to school for at least six years. To-day there is less illiteracy in Tokio than in many European cities.

I shall never forget the visits I made to some of the schools. Every classroom had a sunny southern exposure. The buildings were all one-story affairs, so that there would be no danger of death in case of fire. Every hour the pupils leave their rooms to go out of doors, where they practice athletics and calisthenics for a quarter of an hour under a professional instructor. You will always see, therefore, one-quarter of any school playing in the school yard.

In science, pure and applied, Japan is doing her share of the world's work. In sanitation—at least as far as the army is concerned—she leads

PARENTS' STRANGE IDEAS.

Goose Grease Used for Lung Trouble —Beads to Prevent Colds.

Four years' medical examination of some thousands of children attending the Acton Council schools by Dr. D. J. Thomas and Dr. Lilian E. Wilson has brought to light an astonishing number of curious beliefs on the part of mothers. The medical officers, in their annual report, just issued, say there are still parents who hold that whooping cough may be cured by taking a child near gasworks or through a railroad tunnel. For lung complaints there would appear to be a special value in goose grease, "which is considered far superior to other oils and medical remedies." Possibly, it is pointed out, the efficacy of the goose grease is due to the energy and faith with which it is applied.

A squint is often considered a hereditary distinction, and "sties" are sometimes treated by friction applied with a wedding ring, which must be of gold.

Bead necklets are exceedingly common among young children, and in the case of boys an amulet is often worn. This is partly for ornament and partly as a prophylactic against disease, the mothers thinking that blue beads have a special merit in "keeping away colds or quinsy." Coral brings luck. Both are probably a relic of the times when people feared the evil eye. Even now these beads are worn next to the skin and are never removed by night or day lest some dire illness should result.

About discharges of the ear there is great ignorance among these people. A popular remedy difficult to understand is the insertion in the ear of a plug of tobacco.

Perhaps the most deep-seated of all superstitions centres about the mystic age of seven. Numbers of parents of a fairly-educated type have explained a delay in obtaining treatment of some childish ailment, saying, "He will grow out of it when he is seven." At that age enlarged tonsils and adenoids are supposed miraculously to vanish, and ear discharges or squints are thought certain to become things of the past.

Children burdened with an excess of clothing were very common. It was not unusual to find seven thick layers of clothing, three or four of them consisting of heavy cloth or flannel tightly wrapped over the child's chest, while the innermost layer of brown soaked in goose grease.

"Mr. Hardup must have used a great deal of flattery to win the heiress."

"No; he simply told her the truth."

"Indeed?"

"Yes; he said he couldn't live without her."

Relief for Rupture Without Operation

No Hospital or Doctors' Bills; No Loss of Time from Work

Sent on 60 Days' Trial

No longer any need to drag through life in the clutches of rupture.

No earthly excuse for letting yourself keep on getting worse.

No big expense to stand in your way. And you won't have to take a single cent's worth of risk.

Think of that! you who have spent dollar after dollar without finding a thing that has done any good.

Think of that!—you who have been afraid that some day you'd have to risk the dangers of operation—you who dread the surgeon's knife because you know it results in permanent weakness or death about as often as in recovery.

* * * * * * * * *

In the last 24 years probably more ruptured people have been cured WITHOUT operation than by all the operations ever performed.

Cured without leaving home—without being in bed a single day—without losing a single hour from work.

Cured by the wonder-working Cluthe Truss (Cluthe Automatic Massager) something so remarkably beneficial that nearly all feel better and stronger—get immediate relief—after trying this truss.

For this is far MORE than a truss—far more than merely a device for holding the rupture in place.

Test It On 60 Days' Trial.

We have so much faith in the Cluthe Truss that we are willing to let you prove at our risk just what it will do for you.

We'll make a Cluthe Truss especially for your case and allow you 60 days' trial to prove that it will hold your rupture securely in place when working and at all other times—that it will put an end to the trouble you've heretofore had and do you a world of good. If the trial we allow you doesn't prove it, then the truss won't cost you a single cent.

For your protection, we guarantee all this in writing.

Healing Takes Place While You Work.

We guarantee that with the Cluthe Truss on you can do any kind of work, exercise, take a bath or swim (this truss is waterproof), etc., with absolutely no danger of the rupture coming out.

You see this truss — unlike all others—is self-regulating, self-adjusting; can't slip or shift away from the rupture opening; automatically and instantly counteracts every one of the strains or sudden movements which, with ordinary trusses are almost certain to throw the rupture out.

And, in addition, something no other truss or appliance in the world does—

It is made to overcome the WEAKNESS which is the real CAUSE OF RUPTURE—

All day long, without any attention whatever on your part, it AUTOMATICALLY MASSAGES the weak ruptured parts—

And this massage STRENGTHENS just as EXERCISE strengthens a weak ARM—in many cases makes the ruptured parts so strong and sound that the rupture opening is entirely closed and no sign of the affliction left.

That is how the Cluthe Truss has cured some of the worst cases of rupture on record—

Among them men and women 20 to 70 years old, who had been ruptured 20 to 50 years—cured many of them after everything else, including operation, had proved utterly useless.

Get World's Greatest Rupture Book.

So that you can judge for yourself, we want to send you a free book we have written—a cloth-bound book of advice. Even physicians who have read it say it is the best book ever written on rupture.

It sums up all we have learned in 40 years of day-after-day experience—in the successful treatment of over 200,000 cases. It deals—in simple language and photographic illustrations—with rupture in all its forms and stages; explains the dangers of operations; puts you on guard against throwing money away on things that can't stand a fair test.

And it tells all about the Cluthe Truss—how little it costs—how it ends constant expense—how it frees you forever from the torturing harness which makes other trusses so uncomfortable (no springs, belt or elastic around your waist, no leg straps—how you can try a Cluthe Truss 60 days at OUR risk, thus giving you plenty of time to make sure of its wonderful holding and healing powers.

Also—in their own words—it tells the experiences of many former sufferers—gives their names and addresses—perhaps you know some of them.

Book sent in plain, sealed envelope. Write for it to-day—don't put it off.

After reading this book, you'll know more about your condition than if you had gone to a dozen doctors. You'll know how to get immediate relief without risking a penny.

BIRTH OF A WING.

Evolution of the Dragon Fly From its Ugly Aquatic Pupa.

A wonderful spectacle is presented by the sudden apparition of an insect's wing at the completion of its metamorphosis. The transformation of the grub into the butterfly, though familiar, is none the less amazing, but the evolution of the active and gossamer winged dragon fly from its ugly and sluggish aquatic pupa is still more impressive.

Early on a May morning the pupa emerges from its cocoon at the bottom of a ditch, swims on its back by paddling with its long haired paws to the stem of an aquatic plant and climbs up out of the water. Then, after a momentary pause, the skin suddenly bursts open, and the perfect insect appears with closely folded wings, which soon unfold and assume their final form.

The older naturalists believed that the insect "swallowed air," with which the wings were inflated. In reality the air is absorbed in the digestive organs, causing an increased blood pressure, which mechanically expands the wings. The presence of dew is also necessary; hence the first flight is always made at dawn.

This spectacle of the birth of a wing may be observed in dragon flies reared in an aquarium, the atmosphere of which should be moistened with an atomizer when the pupa rises to the surface.—Scientific American.

Fishes and Memory.

The fact that fishes will return time after time to bite at the hook by which they have been caught is often cited as proof that fish have no memories. But Yves Delage, the great French biologist, has been making some experiments which seem to prove the contrary. He says that fish return to the hook because their greediness is greater than the influence of their memory. If you place a bright red disk upon a hook the fishes will cease to take it after being caught seven or eight times. If you change the color of the disk the fish will return indefinitely. The red disk made an impression on the fish's memory—slowly, it is true—and when it recognized the danger signal it avoided it.—New York World.

Repartee.

At a dinner party at which several distinguished medical men, including Sir William Gull, were present the conversation happened to turn upon the subject of quackery, and Sir William expressed his conviction that a certain amount of it was essential to success in practice, adding, "It is an example of the old saying, 'Populus vult decipi'—'people like to be deceived.'" "Quite so," said the host. "Now, can any one present give an English equivalent to that?" "Nothing easier," remarked a well known Manchester physician. "The public likes to be gulled."—London Mail.

Momus, the God of Mockery.

Momus in Greek fable was the god of mockery and censure, who delighted in finding fault with gods and men. He was chosen to act as judge when there was a strife between Neptune, Minerva and Vulcan for supremacy in artistic power. Neptune made a bull, Minerva a house and Vulcan a man. Momus declared that Neptune should have set his bull's horn's farther forward for fighting purposes. He said that Minerva should have so constructed her house that it could be moved away from troublesome neighbors and that Vulcan should have made a window in the man's breast through which his thoughts could be seen. All were so annoyed at his criticisms that they turned him out of heaven, and soon after this he died of vexation because he could find no fault in Venus, the goddess of love and beauty.

Heroic Breakfasts.

In the Elizabethan era heroic breakfasts were the order of the day. An early sixteeth century manuscript at Alnwick Castle gives the breakfast menus of the Percy family: "For my lord and lady during Lent, a loaf of bread in trenchers, two manchets, a quart of beer, a quart of wine, two pieces of salt fish, six baconn'd herring, four white herring or a dish of sprats. * * * Breakfast for the nursery, for my Lady Margaret and Master Ingeram Percy, a manchet, a quart of beer, a dish of sprats and three white herring." At ordinary times my lord and lady breakfasted at 7 a.m. on half a chine of mutton or a chine of boiled beef, with the same amount of bread and liquids as in Lent; and the nursery consummed a manchet, a quart of beer and three mutton bones boiled.—London Standard.

Scotty and English Jokes.

Dean Swift said that it required a surgical operation upon a Scotsman to see the point of a joke. No doubt the celebrated wit referred to an English joke. A young Englishman at a party mostly composed of Scotsmen made several attempts to crack a joke, and, failing to evoke a smile from his companions, he became angry and exclaimed, "Why, it would take a a gimlet to put a joke into the heads of you Scotchmen!"

One of them replied, "Aye, but the gimlet wud need tae be mair pointed than thae jokes."

To Please Him.

Mrs. Ascum—But why do you buy such expensive things when you know your husband can't afford them?

Mrs. Wise—I just do it to please him.

Mrs. Ascum—To please him?

Mrs. Wise—Yes; there's nothing he likes better than a chance to have something to complain about to his own people and pose as a martyr.

Miles of Films.

On the average of about 150,000 feet of film are placed on the British market every week, and this quantity is steadily increasing. It is computed that there are same 50,000 picture theatres scattered throughout the world, and as the number thereof is increasing daily, the supply of films has by no means yet reached the limits of the demand.

THE FOURTH DIMENSION.

This Tells What It Is, Though You May Not Quite Grasp It.

The fourth dimension is a property of space quite beyond the sense perception of men, an abstraction derived from the results obtained by well comprehended processes in the higher mathematics. Certain things happen in these computations which are in no way susceptible of explanation in a space restricted to the three tea chest dimensions of length, breadth and thickness. From a sufficiently considerable number of such phenomena the theory has been evolved that space has a fourth dimension.

In the common progress of mathematical study the need of such transcendental dimension first arises in the specific case of that plane section of the cone designated the hyperbola. At an infinite as well as in all intermediate distances of that curve from the point of origin the line is continuous in a given direction; if now to infinity a single unit be added the curve comes into view in the diametrically opposite direction.

In this elementary demonstration the fourth spatial dimension appears to suggest sphericity, but this is only the beginning. It is still under careful examination by mathematicians. Sciolists at one time seized upon the idea in explanation of thought transference, psychic phenomena and the whole hoodoo range in general.—New York Sun.

The Banshee.

The banshee is the domestic ghost or spirit attached to certain Irish or highland Scottish households and is supposed to take an interest in the welfare of the family generally and especially to wail at the death of any one of its members. The banshee is pictured in Irish folklore under the form of a little old woman with long hair, which she continually combs, at the same time keeping up an incessant weeping and wailing. The incident of the comb is exactly similar to the legend of the German lorelei, a spirit which sings, while the banshee weeps, as an accompaniment. The proud distinction of possessing a private banshee is allowed only to families of pure Milesian stock. The word is derived from the Gaelic ban-sith, a woman fairy.

FLAX WEAVING IS ANCIENT.

And the Process Has Improved but Little in Forty Centuries.

Flax weaving, according to a recent authority, is 4,000 years old as an industry. Egypt was the first country to raise flax. All fine table linen is made from water spun flax, as water is essential to its manufacture. Vapor has been tried, but unsuccessfully. The process of manufacture has improved but little in 4,000 years, the linen made by the Egyptians being often found in an excellent state of preservation, wrapped about the bodies of mummies.

There is no grass bleached linen today, as grass bleaching is too slow a process. Chemicals are used to shorten the work.

Very little flax is raised in the United States because the air contains too little moisture. The finest lawns and handkerchiefs are made in Ireland, and the Scotch linens wear perhaps better than any. Straight line patterns do not wear as well as figures with rounded edges.

In single thread damask the same number of threads run each way. In double thread damask there is double the number of threads in the weft, which doubles the wear.—New York Post.

Dining in Luxembourg.

Though "town patriotism" exists all over the world, nowhere, perhaps, is it fiercer than in the little grand duchy of Luxembourg. The tourist can turn it to excellent advantage. When he arrives at the inn of any little town he should get into conversation with the master or, better still, with the mistress of the house and mention that at the last town at which he stayed the best and cheapest meals he ever had in his life were served. Madame will depart to the kitchen determined to demonstrate to the tourist that he has never before really had a decently cooked meal. And by the time for coffee and cigars he will come near to believing it. The finest cooks in Europe are women of Luxembourg.

Pepys and the Cook Maid.

There was a servant problem in the seventeenth century, but it was solved in a rough and ready fashion. Pepys records on April 12, 1667, that be came home, "saw my door and hatch open, left so by Luce, our cook maid, which so vexed me that I did give her a kick in our entry and offered a blow at her."

Two days afterward (Lord's day) Pepys writes this: "Took out my wife and the two Mercers and two of our maids, Barker and Jane, and over the water to the Jamaica house, where I never was before, and there the girls did run for wagers over the bowling green, and there with much pleasure spent little and so home." Luce was not there, but the other maids were treated as members of the family.

Sartorial Discord.

Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood was greatly attached to a regiment of highlanders when the latter were stationed at Portsmouth. Sir Evelyn, then a captain, one day returned from London and with great hurry proceeded to array himself for parade. When he at last emerged he observed that his men were evidently at great pains to conceal their laughter, and he quietly questioned his subaltern as to the probable reason. "Well, sir," replied the letter, "you are dressed correctly as to kilt, sporran and all the rest of it, but you have forgotten to remove your tall hat!"

Unreasonable.

"What is your objection to Dr. Foodlam?"

"His unreasonableness. He told me I should have to take more nourishment and then charged me so much that I couldn't afford to take any."—Satire.

THE PRINCE AT OXFORD.

What His Life Will Be Like as an Undergrad at Magdalen.

The Prince of Wales will shortly be going "up" to Magdalen. In the case of the ordinary youth of the upper classes, this marks the transition from the schoolboy to the "young man" stage of his existence. At the 'Varsity he finds a sudden new liberty unknown at school. But at the same time there are many restrictions which are rigidly enforced by the authorities.

The first rule that will be impressed on the youthful prince will be that of "keeping chapel," for which he will have to be fully dressed at eight o'clock in the morning—if not every day, at least four days a week.

The number of lectures he will attend will depend on the course laid down by his tutors, which will be of a special nature, as he will not be at Oxford for the full period.

But he will have to attend each lecture in "academical dress" — which consists of a gown no longer than an ordinary lounge coat, but with two streamers, and a mortar-board.

This dress must also be worn when calling on his official tutor (who, by the way, does not as a rule teach, but acts as a sort of moral adviser and special pleader when the undergraduate falls foul of the authorities). It must be worn to every "Hall"—that is, dinner—and outside the college after dusk and on every formal occasion.

"Hall" is the great social event of the day. The dons sit on a dais at the bottom of the hall and are in evening dress. In the body of the hall are arranged tables, at which the men sit by their "years." That is to say, there will be one long table for "freshers," or first-year men, another for men in their second year, and so on. It is in "Hall," too, that the undergraduate who has had the temerity to break one of the minor college rules is "sconced."

"Sconcing" is inflicted for different offences in different colleges. The most usual is "talking shop," or laughing in a loud voice during dinner, or for some eccentricity in dress. The head of the table motions to the butler to pass the offender the "sconce cup." This is a loving cup of varying size, and is filled with college beer. And the man who is "sconced" has to drink the contents "no heeler" —that is, at a single draught. If he fails in this he has to stand drinks for his table.

It has not yet been decided what sports the young prince will take up, but the 'Varsity abounds with sporting clubs of all kinds, from dominoes to foxhunting. Whatever else he does, it is highly probable that he will become a member of the Bullingdon, which is one of the smartest and most exclusive clubs in the world, and whose principal pursuits are hunting and card-playing.

At nine o'clock at night "Tom Tower"—the tower of Christ Church, so called after Thomas a Becket—tolls for about ten minutes, at the end of which time the prince will have to be inside his own college. If he "knocks in" between nine and eleven he will have to pay a fine of 6 cents, between eleven and twelve the fine will be increased to 24 cents and after midnight the minimum fine will be $4.80. But this is a very serious offence, and in the case of an ordinary undergraduate, might very probably mean "rustication—that is, being suspended —for one term.

HOW TO BEAUTIFY A PORCH.

A List of Good Climbers For Your Selection.

Nature uses vines to hide her defects. Man has borrowed the practice, which is to his credit. Nature hides tree stumps and rock heaps under festoons of shimmering green. Outbuildings, unpainted fences and rubbish heaps may be hidden in the same way. Many climbing vines are beautiful in leaf and flower. Grown over trellises, porches and arbors, they provide shelter and shade.

The list of really good climbers is not overlong. For permanent locations perennials are preferable, and among the most common is the Virginia creeper, or woodbine, which grows very rapidly and will cling to walls of any kind. In the fall the leaves turn a brilliant scarlet or crimson. The plants are cheap. Fifteen cents will buy one.

The trumpet creeper and the wistaria are also good vines to grow over buildings. The former has splendid dark red, trumpet-like blossoms, which last a long time. This plant is not a very rapid grower, but is well worth planting. The grandiflora variety is the one to order. The wistaria makes the finest show of any of the vines. The vines grow to an immense height, but the plant needs a little petting. Give it a sunny location, strong soil and an occasional enrichment of manure, and it will delight your heart.

For a dense screen there is nothing better than Dutchman's pipe, which has leaves almost as large as elephants' ears. The curious little flowers, which really amount to little, give it its name. The leaves come early and stay late, a fact which recommends it for many situations. It must be grown on a trellis or given a support of some kind.

Placing Himself.

A man who was much in need of sleep rolled out of bed during the night. The jar did not awake him thoroughly, and his hand wandered in exploration. It encountered the mesh of some protruding springs and a sturdy iron corner post. "In jail at last," he murmured as he went off into another deep sleep.

The Baseball Courtship.

"How do I stand with you, little girl?" inquired the ardent fan.

"You have a percentage of about .720 just now," answered the lady fan, "and lead the league."

"I'm glad to hear that. I was afraid I was in the second division."—Kansas City Journal.

THE AGILE TIGER.

He Is "Shod With Silence" and Is as Quick as Lightning.

Most wild animals are specialists —that is to say, they are highly developed in one particular direction. The tiger is great as a stalker. His feet seem to be "shod with silence." R. H. Elliott, for many years a resident of India, cited an experience of one of his neighbors illustrative of this point.

He had been much annoyed by tigers and at last tied a bullock out in a clearing and took up his own position in a tree to wait till the tiger should come after the bait. The ground was covered with dried leaves, which in hot weather are so brittle that even the walking of a bird over them can be heard for a good distance.

In no very long time a large tiger slipped out of the forest and slowly edged toward the bullock. His method was so elaborate and careful that the man who saw it used to declare that it would have been worth 1,000 rupees to any young sportsman to have witnessed it.

So carefully did he put down each paw and so gradually did he crush the leaves under it that not a sound was to be heard. Between him and the bullock was a stump about four feet high, with long projecting surface roots. This, plainly, the tiger looked upon as a godsend.

He got upon one of the roots, balanced himself carefully and so was able to walk quickly and silently as far as the stump. He approached so gradually and noiselessly and his color against the brown leaves was so invisible that he was close upon the bullock before he was perceived.

Then instantly the bullock charged. The tiger eluded him and in a moment more had his paws on the bullock's neck ready to drag him down. Then, like a flash, he caught sight of the rope by which the bullock was tied and turned and sprang into the forest, all so quickly that the man in the tree had no opportunity to fire.

A Great Territory.

The 1,000 mile survey across the great Australian desert for the proposed railway between western and southern Australia gives a hint of the amount of unexplored territory in this island empire.

The Cabinet.

Technically the Cabinet as a Cabinet can do nothing. It cannot even write a letter or issue a signed order. It has not, indeed, the means of doing so, for it does not keep a clerk or a typewriter, it has no office, nor has it any money wherewith to buy a sheet of notepayer. The most powerful and important committee in the world is without a staff, a secretary, a seal, a minute book, or a fixed location. When it assembles it has to depend on the hospitality of the Treasury or the Foreign Office, or it may meet at the private residence of one of the members. Mr. Gladstone occasionally held his Cabinets in the suburban mansions near London lent to him by his friends during the Parliamentary session. When a Cabinet Council sits it has no agenda before it, nor has it any record of what was done at the last meeting. No one keeps the minutes: and it is still deemed a little contrary to etiquette for any Minister to take a note of the proceedings, or, indeed, to write anything at the meetings at all.

His Police Experience.

"This isn't the first time that you have come into contact with the police?" said he lawyer sternly to the witness.

"No, sir," was the reply.

"What, may I ask, was the result of your former encounter?"

"I awoke him. He had gone to sleep on his beat."

The Wedding Cake.

The custom of having a special cake at weddings was introduced into England by the Romans. This cake, or, rather, biscuit, signified fruitfulness, hospitality and prosperity. The rice that was showered upon a bride had a similar meaning. For many centuries after the Romans left the custom was to break the biscuit over the bride's head, and then the fragments were picked up and piled before her for distribution to her friends. At the restoration Charles II. returned with a small army of French cooks, who speedily converted the ancient biscuit into a delicious piece of confectionery, iced it with sugar and gradually adorned it with emblematical devices till it towered into the amazing structure which the luxury of later times has developed.—London Chronicle.

The Greek Stadium.

Stadium is from the Greek word meaning standard of length. It was the name given to the race course within which other athletic contests also took place. The length of the course was always 600 Greek feet straightaway. Though the length of the foot varied in different localities you may say that about nine of the course's lengths equalled one mile.

Burglars Got Away With $35.

Some time Friday night burglars broke into the office of the Walter Green Company and helped themselves to $30 in cash and about $5 in stamps. No trace of them has been found yet.

A Walking Party.

On Saturday morning nearly all the young ladies of Chemong Park, walked into town regardless of shoe leather and dust, which was very plentiful.

Injured Between Cars.

Mr. Fred Haward, C.P.R. Brakeman, was severely crushed while coupling cars at Tweed a few days ago. He was badly injured in the abdomen, and narrowly escaped death, but is now on the road to recovery.

Took in the City.

On Saturday considerable number of tourists returned from Stoney Lake points and spent a few hours in the city en route. While here they visited the lift lock and other points of interest by automobiles, leaving for home on the afternoon trains.

A Fine Catch.

One of the tourists who was passing through the city homewards on Saturday, was noticed taking back with him, the head of an enormous 32 pound lunge. This is probably only one instance of the fine fishing to be had this year, and doubtless others have been almost, if not as lucky as this one.

Shovel Makers Beat Browntown.

In a closely contested game on Saturday afternoon, the Lundy Shovel ball team, defeated the boys from Browntown. The score at the close of the play being the somewhat unsual one of 27 to 21. Although only a new team recently organized, the Shovel makers showed good form and show great promise of becoming a really first-class team. They were frequently applauded by the spectators present.

A Jolly Party.

Lakefield News: A jolly party of Peterborough young people spent ten days at "Merricanna" the guests of Mrs. Wm. Shaw of Peterborough. The party were as follows: Mrs. S. Stewart, Mr. J. Fitzpatrick, Misses Edith and Maggie Fitzpatrick, Miss O. Crawford, Miss Maud Libby, Miss K. Hamilton, Mr. Chas. Barrie, Misses Alice and Marie Hopkins, Master Sidney Shaw, Master Evans Stewart and Mr. Louis Gerdon.

The Exodus Starts.

On Saturday morning in the neighborhood of one hundred persons who had been rusticating at the various Stoney Lake summer resorts passed through Peterborough on their way to their homes, nearly all of them coming from New York state. The local people who have cottages will remain for a short time longer, the exodus just now being confined to the tourists. The season has not been the most favorable for those who are engaged in the summer resort business, on account of the wet weather.

Oak Orchard Resort.

Mr. A. C. Bliss, of Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Bliss, returned on Saturday from Oak Orchard, Pigeon Lake, where they have been spending a few days enjoying the fine outing which that popular resort affords. Mr. Bliss, who has been in the habit of visiting Kawartha Lakes for many years, says that fishing never has been better than this year, some very fine catches having been made by the guests. It was not an unusual thing to catch two and even three maskilonge in an hour's trawling while bass were almost as plentiful as flies.

OBITUARY.

Mr. John Ambrose.

At six o'clock on Friday evening, Mr. John Ambrose, of 504 Aylmer street, passed away at the age of 69 years. The funeral will take place at the Little Lake cemetery at 2.30 this afternoon.

WHY SNIFFLE AND SNEEZE WITH CATARRHAL COLD?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone You Get Relief in Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhozone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold; sneezing and catarrhal cough cease; bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1908," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910, "I contracted a very severe cold, which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit, and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhozone and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

Signed: George Pulos."

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment (the large size), costs $1.00, medium sizes 50c, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., of Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

John Hooper, Kirby and Ethel Jobe, who were charged with the the abduction of Ida Goodwin, of this city, have been run to earth by the Brantford Police Force and brought back to Peterborough by Detective Newhall. The party arrived on the 1.01 a.m. express on Saturday morning and spent the remainder of the night in the police station.

Cursory.

A huntsman called on Hodge to settle for damage done by a run to hounds and found only Mrs. Hodge at home.

"Has your husband," he inquired, "made an examination yet?"

"That he have, sir," replied Mrs. Hodge, with a curtsey.

"Rather a cursory examination, I suspect?"

"Oh, dreadful, sir. Such langwidge I never heerd—never!" And the good woman held up her hands at the bare recollection.

MAN WHO PAID MURDERERS CONFIRMS STORY OF ROSE

Sam Schepps Caught and Rushed to New York, Where He Is Now In The Cells—Is Nervous, But Shook Hands With Whitman, and Promises to Talk

New York, Aug. 19.—Sam Schepps, alleged paymaster of the murderers of Herman Rosenthal, arrived in New York from Albany at 10.20 o'clock this morning and was taken immediately to the West Side prison, where he will be placed in a cell. Although held only as a material witness, District Attorney Whitman, came down from Albany with Schepps, and said he would be arraigned in court as a matter of form.

"I have obtained from Sam. Schepps the corroborative evidence I expected." District Attorney Whitman made this statement on a train to-day after a brief conference with a gambler who was captured at Hot Springs as a material witness in the case.

Mr. Whitman joined the party at Albany early to-day and greeted Schepps for the first time in a stateroom of a Pullman. They shook hands cordially, and although Schepps was a bit nervous, he told the district attorney that he would talk freely of all that he knew of the events which led up to Rosenthal's death.

Assured of this, Mr. Whitman did noe prolong the conference, but after "sizing his man up," left him with the detectives and then breakfasted with Assistant District Attorney Rubin, who has had charge of Schepps since his capture at Hot Springs.

Mr. Whitman said: "Schepps' testimony was of importance, and that it will tend to confirm the story of "Bald Jack" Rose. Schepps was not in the murder car at the time of the shooting, but he was in it earlier in the evening, and, according to Rose, subsequently was the paymaster of the murder crew."

TAFT WOULD AVOID TROUBLE OVER THE PANAMA CANAL

Washington, Aug. 19.—President Taft has decided to take the initiative in an effort to bring about Panama Canal legislation at this session without entailing international complications.

The President called Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who has been handling the Panama bill in the Senate for the Democrats, to the White House and asked for his support on a plan which the President believes will relieve the United States of the embarrassment that may arise through the free tolls section in the bill.

The President proposes that legislation de put through Congress in some form or other providing that the Panama Canal bill now pending shall not supersede any of the treaty rights of the Haye-Pauncefote convention and conferring upon the United States courts jurisdiction to entertain suits for damages filed by aliens on account of the free tolls provision of the bill. The President believes such legislation would go far toward removing objections that have been raised to the present Panama Canal bill.

LABOR DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED IN PETERBOROUGH

City Council Asked to Aid Another Stay-at-Home Holiday —Heartiest Sympathy With Such Events Expressed —Will Make a Grant

The City Fathers met in special session last night. There were present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Anderson, Duncan, Gordon, Graham, Johnston, Brown Dufut and Buller.

Mr. C. R. Banks asked permission to construct a gasoline tank in front of his store on George street for the convenience of automobiles. The tank itself to be constructed beneath the walk from which a pipe apparatus would emerge by means of which gasoline could be readily supplied to autos.

The Council was divided on this motion, Mr. Bank's request was granted, providing the tank itself is laid beneath the ground at the edge of the walk, same to be constructed under the city engineer's supervision, and Mr. Banks to sign a written a written agreement to remove the apparatus at any time requested by Council.

Improvements at G.T.R. Yards.

Mr. T. J. Lynch, superintendent of this division of the G.T.R. wrote asking Council's approval of the company's proposed rearrangement of the tracks on Bethune street. The blue print shows another siding along Bethune street south of the station, running across King street into a new freight shed to be erected on Aylmer street. This, it is offered by the Mayor, would improve conditions along Bethune street by relieving a considerable amount of shunting done at present. The company is anxious to get to work on constructing the new siding and freight shed at an early date to assure completion before winter sets in. But, his worship had informed Mr. Lynch that the city did not favor endorsing the G.T.R.'s proposed improvements until the railway board has rendered its decision as to who is to be responsible for the maintenance of the gates ordered by the board last May to be erected at King and Sherbrooke streets.

The Council referred Mr. Lynch's letter to the City Solicitor for advice thereon.

Building Must Comply With Permit.

Moved by Ald. Duffus, seconded by Ald. Anderson,—That the City Engineer be instructed to notify Mr. Isaac Eastwood that his building over the creek on Hunter street must be erected either according to the special permit granted or as provided by the building by-law.—Carried.

Improved Roadway Needed.

Moved by Ald. Duffus, seconded by Ald. Johnston,—That the Chairman of the Board of Works be requested to interview Reeve Porter of North Monaghan with a view to improving the condition of the road leading from Downer's Corners.—Carried.

This is a boundary road and the city has agreed to spend dollar for dollar with adjacent townships for maintenance of such roadways.

Ald. Duffus protested that the road recently covered with broken stone should be rolled.

Celebrate Labor Day at Home.

A deputation from the Trades and Labor Council waited upon the Council and asked for a grant towards Labor Day celebration in Peterborough this year.

The Mayor heartily approved of the proposition. He hoped that the precedent established this year of celebrating holidays at home will be followed up in future.

Moved by Ald. Duffus, seconded by Ald. Brown,—That the matter of a donation to the Trades and Labor Council towards celebrating Labor Day in town this year in a fitting manner was referred to the finance committee with power to act.—Carried.

The grant will probably be a liberal one, as every alderman expressed his pleasure at the unqualified success of Dominion Day and Civic Holiday celebration, and the Council is united in a commendable desire to foster any project calculated to encourage citizens to spend public holidays at home, to say nothing of attracting to our city out of town visitors. The citizens who composed the delegation were: Messrs. Hugh Robinson, John Galbraith, George Ahearn and J. Alex Sharpe.

CANADA MUST HELP

"We must realise as the great dominions grow in power and influence, and attain a population greater than that within the boundaries of these islands, there will be need for further modification of the constitutional relations and that certain responsibilities now assumed absolutely by the people of these islands and their Parliament, must be shared by the greater overseas dominions. We are convinced that the way across the sea must be kept secure. In no other way can the great British Empire be kept together. The security of the seas is as essential to the Empire as the breath of life to the individual. Great has been the Empire's work in the a greater work lies in future."—The Right Hon. R. L. NEW YORK WORLD'S VIEW OF THE PANAMA CANAL BILL.

TO HELL WITH TREATIES.

GENERAL BOOTH FAST SINKING

New York, Aug. 19.—The report received yesterday and published in many morning papers, announcing the demise of General Booth, was premature. Salvation Army headquarters here announced to-day that Miss Evangeline Booth, daughter of Willia Booth, had received several private cable messages, saying that her father was sinking. The text of the messages was not given out, but word of the General's death was expected at any time.

SHALL AMERICANS BE SHAMED?

New York, Aug. 17.—The respectable press of the United States are up in arms over the action of the U. S. Senate in regard to the Panama Canal matter. The World, in a recent article says:

It is said in Washington that President Taft will sign the Panama Tolls bill if it is presented to him.

We find this almost incredible.

Both Senate and House have passed a bill which breaks a formal treaty of the United States. They simply have not yet agreed upon all the provisions in conference. So near are we to an indelible disgrace!

We are not, as some apologists of dishonor say, outwitted in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. We secured on favorable terms the abandonment by Great Britain of prior treaty claims upon a canal. It was a good and sensible bargain for both nations, for its basis was mutual good-feeling and growing friendship.

The excuse that the annexation of Panama territory ends our treaty obligations is worthy the ethics of a police court shyster. The present treaty, negotiated by Mr. Taft's predecessor and ratified by the Senate which voted on a black Friday to break its faith, provides that "no change of territorial sovereignty or of the international relations of the country or countries" traversed by the canal shall affect "the obligations of the high contracting powers."

Supposing this outrageous measure passed and signed—what next?

Great Britain would have an excellent case to carry to The Hague International Court. Our jingo legislators have looked as far ahead as that. We will not arbitrate, they say, a question so vitally affecting the nation's honor. Strip off the lofty words! They mean: "The only way we could 'beat' so bad a case would be to stay out of court." Shyster practice again; advising the defendant to run away!

To break this treaty at the call of private greed must eventually mean turning our backs upon the noble record of the United States as a leader in the cause of international arbitration and the peace of the peoples. The World has gladly praised President Taft's services to this cause. Has not Washington report slandered him in assuming that he will sign a bill so infamous that it is incapable even of plausuble defence in the peace court of the nations?

GENERAL ELECTION BEFORE HOME RULE CAN BE ENFORCED

House of Lords Will Reject it, and Government May Not be Strong Enough to Re-introduce the Bill With Any Hope of Success

New York, Aug. 19.—A cable to the Tribune this morning from London says:

"The Irish Executive is closely watching developments in Ulster. Conferences have been held regularly between the heads of the military, the Royal Irish Constabulary, and Dublin Castle officials. Plans are completed to cope with any emergency, and Belfast has been carefully mapped out by the military in case of a rising.

"The Home Office here is being consulted through cypher messages almost daily with regard to the situation. A scheme for the Provisional Government of Ulster by the Ulster Unionist Council, in the event of the passage of the Home Rule bill, has been explained to the delegates who will attend a meeting of the Council on September 28, but they are pledged not to divulge the plan of campaign. Unionists are confident that, whatever happens, Ulster holds the winning card in the fight.

"Leading Nationalists admit that if the House of Commons passes the bill through all its remaining stages, the House of Lords will assuredly reject it. The Government, it is said, is not strong enough to re-introduce the bill with any hope of success, as the Lords will again exercise their suspensory veto.

"The best-informed opinion is that there must be another general election before Ireland can have Home Rule, and unless all political prophets are false, the next appeal to the country will result in the Unionists being returned to power."

PROSPECTORS IN HUNDREDS INVADE NEW GILLIES LIMIT

Open for Staking At Midnight, and Scenes Recall Days of Larder Lake and Gowganda Rushes

Cobalt, Ont., Aug. 19.—This morning saw a big exodus from here into that part of the Gillies Limit that is to be thrown open to prospecting at midnight to-night.

At least two hundred prospectors left here, and nearly as many from Haileybury, while a large number of the men from the Cobalt mines have gone, and several of the biggest mining operators of the district have parties of men out. Although the limit is not open for staking until midnight many parties have been in, looking over the ground, and the law that prohibits camping in the limit has been observed by a large number of prospectors pitching their tents right on the boundary, waiting for the word to go.

The scene recalls the days of the Larder Lake and Gowganda rushes, and to-morrow morning at the recording office considerable excitement is anticipated.

The office is not open until 8.30 o'clock and several prospectors are taking the course of having men take up places for them at the doors to hold the positions for them until they get back from doing their staking.

SIR EDWARD GREY'S HOT TILT WITH THE SUFFRAGETTES

Embleton, Northumberland, Aug. 19.—A party of enterprising suffragettes waylaid and held up Sir Edward Grey, the British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, while he was leaving church yesterday and engaged him in a warm argument on the question of woman suffrage.

Sir Edward at first said: "I refuse to discuss the question with you here," but the women declared that the opportunity for discussion had been denied them elsewhere

Sir Edward refused to receive a delegation of the women, whereupon one of them demanded, "How dare you betray the women's cause by allowing the Reform Bill to be drafted to include men only?"

Sir Edward Grey responded that he had put down an amendment to the bill giving women also the suffrage.

"You know that amendment was of no use" a woman shouted.

Sir Edward Grey replied, "You know nothing about Parliamentary procedure or you would not say that."

After further argument, Sir Edward Grey succeeded in escaping to his motor in which he dashed away from the scene.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 380 George St. directly opposite Creasman's store.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

No Ladies, No Stead.

Mr. Stead, the London editor, who went down with the Titanic, was a great peace man, a woman suffragist and was an active agent in most great reforms. There was one peculiarity told of him. He didn't believe in any classification among people. He did not believe in meetings for men. He wouldn't attend such meetings. One time when he was invited to attend a big public function for men only, in Toronto, he wired the committee: "No ladies, no Stead." While attending a great peace congress in this country he was invited to a newspaper men's banquet, but wouldn't go because no women had been invited.

It was not gallantry that moved him to this course, but antipathy to social distinction of any kind. The women were to be included in every effort toward the promotion of good in the world. They were not to be proscribed. He regarded their encouragement and assistance as necessary in all progress.

Won't Join Harriman Strike.

Brainard, Minn., Aug. 15.—An authoritative statement was issued here yesterday regarding the secret vote taken by the federation of the railway shop employes of the roads west of Chicago. There will be no strike called in sympathy with the Harriman line employes, now out on strike.

The vote for a general strike of the federation was lost by 451 votes. Forty per cent. of the members did not vote.

Origin of English Royal Academy.

The yearly "show" of works by living artists which is held at the English Royal academy from the first Monday in May to the first Monday in August owes its existence to a meeting of painters which was held at the Turk's Head, Soho, on Nov. 12, 1759. The knights of the brush and palette resolved that "once a year, on a day in the second week in April, at a place that should be appointed by a committee for carrying the design into execution, to be chosen annually, every painter, sculptor, engraver, chaser, seal cutter and medalist may exhibit their several performances." It was also resolved that "the sum of 1 shilling be taken daily of each person who may come to visit the said performances."—Oscar Frichet in National Magazine.

A Difference in Numerals.

Great Britain clings to its own numerical system and regards a billion as a million times a million. But America differs, a billion in the United States being only a thousand million. This is perhaps the only instance in which a thing is bigger in the old country than in the new. One has to go only a little way from England—to Calais—to find the billion lessened, for France dignifies a thousand million with the name of billion. They are wasting a word in France in this connection, however, inasmuch as there is already a word, milliard, to designate this number.—Detroit Free Press.

Cutting a Hailstorm.

During a severe hailstorm in the Himalayas our native gardener brought out a hatchet and placed it edge upward in the garden to "cut the storm," as he said. Catlin in his "North American Indians" describes a ceremony of the Mandan Indians in which hatchets and edged tools are sacrificed to the "spirits of the waters" to avert a recurrence of the great deluge, of which the tribe has the tradition.—London Notes and Queries.

A Partnership.

"My father and I know everything in the world," said a small boy to his companion.

"All right," said the latter. "Where's Asia?"

It was a stiff question, but the little fellow answered coolly. "That is one of the questions my father knows."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Converted Uses.

Assistant—As we've given up our music department, I may as well throw away this sign reading, "Take This Home and Try It on Your Piano." Manager—Throw it away? Certainly not! Stick it up on the furniture polish counter.—Boston Transcript.

Made a Noise.

"No, but he hollered like he had it, and some people died envyin' of him."—Atlanta Constitution.

Haste to Reimburse.

While carrying a ladder through the crowded streets of a big city the other day a big Irishman was so unfortunate as to break a plate glass window in a shop. Immediately dropping his ladder, the Celt broke into a run. But he had been seen by the shopkeeper, who dashed after him and caught him by the collar.

"See here!" angrily exclaimed the shopkeeper when he had regained his breath, "you have broken my window!"

"Sure I have," assented the Celt, "and didn't you see me running home to get the money to pay for it?"

NO TRADE TREATY

According to a Washington dispatch Mr. Taft wants the American Reciprocity Act "left upon the statute books for some time in the hope that Canada may reverse its decision and sanction the agreement." The President may as well turn his optimism in some other direction. The majority of the Canadian people who rejected the proposal last September are to day more opposed to it than ever. Mr. Taft's "adjunct" letter in which he stated that the Washington compact would draw off Canada's bank reserves and its trade interests to New York and Chicago has sunk home into every Canadian's mind, and the curious action of Congress in refusing to observe the Panama Canal treaty has completed our education. Thousands who voted for Reciprocity in 1911 would not now think of trusting the prosperity of their business to the mercies of the Washington Legislature.

KING AND QUEEN WILL STAY HOME

Will Not Make Continental Tour This Year—Prince Albert's Schooling

A ROYAL MATCHMAKER

Ex-King Figures in Broken Romance With United States Belle —— Interesting Cable News from the Old World.

London, Aug. 19.—After the Cowes regatta finishes with the races scheduled for this week the King will go north for the grouse shooting, which he enjoys so much, and the Queen will take the Royal children to Windsor. Despite reports to the contrary, there will be no continental tour this year. Both the King and Queen have numerous engagements to keep of a more or less imperative character, and they are both anxious to enjoy a month or two with the Royal children.

Prince Albert's Education.

Prince Albert is to be sent to a German university to finish his schooling. The choice seems to lie between Bonn and Heidelberg, and there are some grounds for anticipating that the former will be chosen. The Prince of Wales having become an alumnus of the Sorbonne, it was just in accordance with the fitness of things that his brother should be sent to school in the Fatherland—in this instance a doubly appropriate term. In all probability the Prince's entrance in the German university will be arranged for next year in order to hasten his graduation at Oxford. Later he will serve his apprenticeship at sea, following the custom of the Royal Princes.

Dowager Queen's Matchmaking.

Queen Alexandra is now the Royal matchmaker. Her latest design is said to be upon Prince George of Greece, her great-nephew, and the young Duchess of Fife. Prince George is a good-looking lad, but he seems to prefer to make the most of his opportunities in London to thinking of matrimony. His mother, too, has no particular wish that he should marry into the English Royal family, her sympathies being largely German—so largely that she has never been popular in the country of her adoption.

Ex-King Gets Notoriety.

London society is greatly interested in the movements of an ex-king who figured largely in the world's news a year or so ago. His name is linked with that of a charming and wealthy young lady who is a particular favorite of the American set here. It was understood that an engagement was imminent, and the next thing heard was the sudden and utterly unexplained flight of the former monarch. It is thought that he may have gone to Paris, and color is given to this suggestion by the fact that a former flame of the vanished swain is now in that gay city, willing, it is understood, to be wooed again. The young lady is inconsolable, and her relatives are indignant. Altogether, it is quite a deplorable affair.

At first it was thought that international politics might furnish an explanation. But investigation showed that there was little ground for believing that unrest in the dominions of the ex-monarch had anything to do with a desire for his further presence. It is just possible that there may be court proceedings in the affair, but the fiancee of the Royal personage is averse to any such step, believing that already she has suffered more than sufficient indignity through the ex-king's remarkable behavior.

Lord Declares for Earldom.

Owing to the continued illness of Lady Aberdeen, it is almost certain that there will be a change in the Irish Vice-Royalty within the near future. Many names are mentioned as likely aspirants for this coveted post, which carries all the glamor of a real and very important court. Conspicuous among the number is that of a peer who is not yet among the Earls, and therefore supposedly ineligible—Lord Decies—but who is exceedingly popular in Ireland as a resident and liberal-minded landlord. It would not be surprising if His Lordship secured the necessary step within the next few weeks and the office of Lord-Lieutenant immediately afterwards. Lord Decies is not very much interested in politics, but that fact would not disqualify him. As a matter of fact, the Premier is known to desire a man of broad and dispassionate views as successor to Lord Aberdeen. Also Lady Decies, with her quick, tactful talent, would greatly help smoothing over the troubled situations among Ireland's social and political leaders, just now. She is a great favorite in Dublin society, and highly popular among the county families who decline to take part in the festivities at Cork Hill.

Fashionable Dames Sore

If Lloyd George insists upon enforcing his horrid insurance act we are likely to have upon our hands the most distinguished body of strikers on record. Titled ladies are dismissing their maids and household help and "boarding out" just because they will not hold themselves responsible for the premiums of girls who are here to-day and gone tomorrow. The law, as it is written, is denounced by very many who subscribe to the principles of domestic help insurance. The rage eating at the hearts of some of our fashionable dames would be grotesque were it not really justified under the circumstances.

LOVE A MYTH? SAYS SCIENTIST

Ven. Dean of Lynn Claims Parents Should Pick Mates For Children

THEY ASK PROTECTION

Lord Devonport Defies Ben Tillot's Hirelings——Other News From London.

London, Eng., Aug. 19.—"Women should be compelled to marry husbands chosen for them by their parents or guardians. No woman is a competent judge of the husband most suited to her needs. Love is a myth upon which humanity has been fed and poisoned for centuries. It is a survival of paganism and should be abolished by law." The Venerable Dean of Lynn avowed these doctrines in a sermon preached a few days ago over the grave of a young woman who killed herself because, she said, "she feared to go through life unmarried, and no man for whom she cared desired to marry her."

The dean, who is one of the most noted divines in England, conducted services for the young suicide when the clergyman of her own denomination refused to take part in the funeral or admit her body to a place in the cemetery. "This girl," said the dean, "has been sacrificed by a folly which is corrupting the whole world. Personal love is an abomination and most marriages are sheer hypocrisy."

His views are being hotly contested, but he declines to answer his critics by amplifying them.

Protection for Cabinet.

At last Parliament has sickened at, and revolted against the continued attempts to cow ministers of the crown by an Amazonian reign of terror. A bill is to be introduced in the House of Commons making any assault or intimidation of a member of the Cabinet punishable by life imprisonment and outlawing any organization which countenances such outrages.

An investigation has been proceeding quietly into the activities of certain militant members of the suffrage organizations, and it is hinted that evidence has been secured which justifies the authorities in moving for the prosecution of a number of women for criminal conspiracy. The Cabinet is averse to extreme action, but members of all parties seem to be agreed that the fire-eating women leaders have gone beyond all limits and should be forced to work within the limits of law and order. Here is a list of offences which proves the seriousness of the situation menacing those who hold office in the Government: Winston Churchill, struck in the face and pelted with stones in Stranraer, Scotland; Premier Asquith attacked in the India office while receiving guests; Lloyd George knocked down at Kennington theatre; attempt to burn the house of Mr. Pease, Minister of Education; attempt to burn the house of Mr. Hobhouse; attempt to burn the house of Lewis Harcourt; attempt to burn the Dublin theatre where Asquith spoke on Home Rule; attack upon Asquith in the streets of Dublin; bomb left at the home of Reginald McKenna. There were other minor offences, but these give an idea of the general menace to ministers which Parliament is about to discourage by its special act.

Defies Agitators.

Lord Devonport, chairman of the London Port Authority, says "humanity will soon demand the obliteration of so-called labor leaders who defy the laws of God and man in a mad attempt to restore the despotism of feudalism." He says he will walk alone through the streets of the east end and dare Ben. Tillett's hirelings to stop him. This is his reply to threats made this week that his life will pay the forfeit for the part he took in breaking the dockers' strike.

Lord Devonport has been the storm centre of labor abuse for several months past. He is a plain, rugged business man who started life without even the proverbial penny, managed to get some schooling while working as a farm laborer, worked for several years on a salary of less than $300 and saved money; founded a tea firm of his own without capital or clerks, made millions as the head of a huge chain of English tea stores, got into the Cabinet and was created a peer. Trade in Peterboro

Anything and Everything in Every Line of Trade

Everything from a Needle to a House and Lot

Dry Goods, Ladies' Wear, Furs, Clothing, Men's Furnishings, Boots and Shoes, Trunks and Valises, Furniture, Stoves, Tinware, House-Furnishings, Hardware, Woodenware, Chinaware, Groceries, Confectionery, Meats, Machinery, Tobacco, Smokers' Goods, Toys, Books, Magazines, Stationery, School Books, School Supplies, Music, Musical Goods, Fancy Goods, Millinery, Drugs, Drug Sundries, Medicines, Harness, Photographic Supplies, Farm Machinery, Printing, Insurance, Banking, Legal Help, Medical Help, Veterinary Help, Money to Loan, Undertaking, Property, Business College, Collegiate Institute, and other lines too numerous to mention.

The combined stores of Peterborough can easily outrival any two city departmental stores in the stocks carried, the prices offered, and the quality of goods sold.

Investigation will prove this point beyond dispute.

When you have ALL the big store stocks here to choose from you have more variety than any city departmental can give you in any one line.

By trading here you have the opportunity of inspecting the goods and comparing values on the spot.

You save the time, trouble, postage, express, and disappointment.

You have immense stocks of new goods to choose from.

You have the reputation of business men who are here all the time to back up the quality of what you buy.

You are not trading sight unseen. You see the goods you buy, and buy the goods you see.

It Will Pay You to Trade in Peterboro

Just make that comparison once or twice and convince yourself. In the meantime, read the advertisements in this issue; there are some great bargains offered. See the goods, get the prices, examine the stocks, and the rest may safely be left to your good judgment.

Read The Times each day and week. It contains the fresh, bright store news of all the leading advertisers in Peterborough. You will get up-to-date news about stocks, goods and prices. In addition you will get all the news of the district, a summary of the world's doings, special pages for the farm and the home. The Times costs only $3.00 a year daily and $1.00 weekly. THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY

Will Appear in Grand Opera House Saturday, Matinee and Evening.

This ever-green comedy success, now in its seventh consecutive season of prosperity, is the offering at the Grand Opera House, Saturday, Aug. 24th, matinee and night, and will be presented here with the same great and original cast, together with all the costumes and effects that have characterized its success. The ingenuity and treatment of the plot has compelled the theatre-going public to sit up and take notice—in fact no comedy in recent years has attained greater popularity and is destined to live forever as long as the public relishes wholesome, clean and pure amusement.

"The Arrival of Kitty" contains an abundance of genuine wit and humor that is irresistable, and has more hearty laughs, funny situations, delightful surprises, pleasing specialties, song hits and captivating music, as well as a singing, acting and dancing company of stageland favorites than is usually found in a comedy offering.

The cast comprises Hal. Johnson, Florence Forrest, Fred. R. Wren, Margaret Reis, Ned Woodley, Marie Carlton and others. The song hits include "Wedding Bells," "I've Got You Guessing," "Another Bag," "I Want a Little Lovin'," "All the World Loves a Lover," "Tum, Tum Tiddle," "Personality," and others.

LOVE A MYTH?

he was a useful member of Parliament. As head of the London Port Authority he has cracked his fingers at the labor unions. "Labor leadership," he says, "is purely a matter of business. We must settle it in a businesslike way. The right kind of workers will want to be led by business men—successful business men—and not by duffers and demogogues. I am encouraging labor to see its own follies." He has no fear and is not unpopular with the more far-seeing labor element.

Return of Lance.

An order has just been issued restoring the lance in the war equipment of all lancer regiments. Germany and France have both abandoned the lance as a worthless weapon. The wags in London insist that the new order is the result of a recent knightly tournament at Earl's Court in which some distinguished members of society used the lance to right good purpose.

Revival of Flogging.

Flogging is to be revived as a punishment for man under the new criminal law amendment act. It is to be imposed for certain offences showing a degenerate or demoralized disposition. The amendment authorizing this punishment was not accepted without violent opposition, and a clause extending the use of the whip to women was withdrawn after it was denounced as barbarous. In the course of the debate Major D'Alton a former Indian campaigner, said civilization had made prisoners so attractive to a certain class of criminals that they couldn't be happy at liberty.

LITTLE TRICKS.

Politicians Are Notorious For Mannerisms While Speaking.

Perhaps one of the most curious characteristics of human nature is that everyone, when the mind is engrossed, unconsciously performs some little trick with his hands, feet, legs, or head. There is the rustic who scratches his head, the horseman who whips his riding-boot, the thinker who finds inspiration in fingering his beard, stroking his nose, or tearing paper to pieces, the soldier who tugs at his moustache, the bored listener who draws sketches on blotting-paper, the swaggerer who, in Castlereigh's immortal phrase, "comes down to the House like a crocodile with his hand in his breeches-pocket."

Science, says The British Medical Journal, has given the name of 'manias" to these unconsious tricks, and among Parliamentary manias might be mentioned that of the late Lord Salisbury, whose intention of taking part in a debate was manifested by a peculiar jerking of one foot as he sat, with one knee over the other, listening to the speech to which he was to reply.

Innumerable "manias" which remain unclassified may be seen in Parliament. Mr. Balfour, in speaking, seems to be striving to pull himself up by the lapels of his coat. The only sign of emotion shown by Disraeli was a rapid look at the clock when the attack of his opponent was hottest. Others make much play with an eye-glass, with a bundle of papers, with their hands, and with various parts of their attire.

It is stated that at a recent congress a paper on neurology was read in which the movement by which the growing lad caresses the first shoots of "valour's excrement" on his upper lip was labelled "moustachio-strepsomania"; the habit of twirling the cane seen in old drum-majors, "sterpsorhabdomania"; that of putting the little finger in the ear, "otodactylomania." Then we have "stomatodactylomaniacs," who puts the finger in the mouth; "onychophagomaniacs," who bite their nails; "harmoniomaniacs," who drum with their fingers on window-panes or tables; and "trepodomaniacs," who nervously move their legs.

From an Actor's Postbag.

Sir Herbert Tree receives many curious epistles in the course of the year, and he has selected the following three as being more than usually entertaining.

The first runs: "Dear Sir Herbert,—I don't know you, but I have four girls from Switzerland home for the holidays. It would be a great treat if they could see your play. But that would be rather expensive. Will you please send us five stalls? I hope you won't think this is very barefaced."

The second lady wrote: "Although I am a stranger to you it would be so helpful if you would send me £2 12s. 6d."

The third lady asked for a couple of stalls, and on being invited to say why she made the claim sent what she evidently believed to be an all-sufficient reason. "My father," she wrote, "knew Charles Dickens."

"LATEST" FROM APSLEY

Grist of Interesting News from the North Country.

The True Blues of Apsley held their picnic on Aug. 12th in the grove behind Mr. Prosser's house. It was a decided success, as the weather was favorable and a large crowd was on hand. Games and sports were indulged in in the afternoon and everybody reported a good time.

Miss Ethel Bullied and Miss Violet Boothby, who were visiting friends in and around Apsley for a week past, have returned to Coe Hill.

Mrs. Wm. Hales and daughter, Mildred, who were visiting the former's sister at Campbellford, have returned home.

We noticed in a recent issue of The Times that the "Little Secretary" was going to publish a book on "How to Build Cement Walks." We have been waiting patiently for the book, but as we have not seen it yet, we conclude that he and the overseer must be learning to build a cement walk, as we notice the one they did build is gravel. If they had taken the advice of the 137 people who gave it gratis, they might have had a cement walk instead of a gravel one. I'm afraid if the book don't make a better showing than the walk there won't be much sale, and the widows' and orphans' share of the proceeds will be small. We would advise them to leave the boards on the sides and put them on the top also, and so preserve it as a curiosity.

Miss Edna McIlmoyle, who has been visiting friends in Peterborough and Campbellford, returned home on Thursday.

The Ladies' Aid held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Esau Tucker on Thursday last.

Rossini's Memory.

Rossini's memory was lacking in retentiveness, especially in respect to the names of persons who had been introduced to him. This forgetfulness was frequently a cause of amusement whenever Rossini was among company. One day he met Bishop, the English composer. Rossini knew the face well enough and at once greeted him. "Ah, my dear Mr.—" but the name escaped his memory, and to convince him that he had not forgotten him Rossini began whistling Bishop's glee, "When the Wind Blows," a compliment which "the English Mozat," as Bishop had been dubbed, recognized quite as readily as if his ecclesiastical surname had been mentioned.

Where the King Sat.

English vergers no longer turn an honest shilling by admitting spectators to see royalty at church. But some years ago one in a certain country church thought of something even better. King Edward had been occupying one of the pews, and after seeing His Majesty depart the clergyman return to find a brisk business going on. The verger had seen a way to assist the church restoration fund by charging loyal parishioners a few pence each for the privilege of sitting for a moment in the place still warmed with the royal presence, and he was astonished when the vicar summarily stopped the traffic.

GOLD PLATED MUMMIES.

Recent Mysterious Discoveries From Egypt Thrill Old London.

Two exhibitions of antiquities unearthed in the course of excavations in Egypt were opened in London recently. They contain many items which serve to illuminate in a peculiarly vivid manner the life and customs of races whose memorials lie buried in the sands of the regions about the Nile.

At King's College, in the Strand, the relics discovered at Abydos by the party working under Prof. Edouard Naville are shown. The professor's principal object was the uncovering of the building known as the Osireion, which will occupy another couple of years; but in seeking a spot suitable for throwing the deposits removed from the ruins he stumbled upon an ancient settlement of the pre-dynastic era.

Perhaps the most curious feature of this village is two parallel lines of kilns, in rows of 11 and 12, the purpose of which it has baffled the exploring party definitely to unravel. Various prehistoric implements, including fish hooks, were found, and other articles of flint. Hitherto, the flint and other weapons have been obtained from graves, and were objects specially prepared; here we have the actual objects in use by the primitive villagers, just as they left them on the destruction of their huts.

A number of diminutive carved figures, each carrying a hoe with a basket slung over the shoulder, were retrieved. Mr. T. Eric Peet, a member of the expedition, informed a representative of The Daily Chronicle, that it was the custom to put a box full of these quaint figures at the foot of the coffin. "They were supposed to be servants who would save the dead person manual labor in the next world," he said.

Relics obtained by Prof. Garstang and his assistants at Meroe in the Sudan are on view at Burlington House. The Bishop of London visited the camp during his tour in Egypt, and recently accompanied by Sir Charles Hercules Read, the president of the Society of Antiquaries, his lordship inaugurated the exhibition. Sir Reginald Wingate, the Sirdar, was a visitor in the afternoon.

Prof. Garstang was mainly occupied with the excavation of a finely-appointed Roman bath. A series of carvings have been brought home; but the materials in sandstone; and is very friable. Mr. Horst Schliepack, the professor's colleague, has ingeniously stuck a head on the shoulders of a statue weighing some cwts.—the largest statue of those on view. Some beautiful examples of mosaic are exhibited.

"No," was the reply.

"Well," says Boswell, "suppose a man has been guilty of a fraud he was certain would be found out."

Mansfield's Coaching.

"Richard Mansfield," said an actress who played in his company, "was a great teacher, but terribly relentless. I shall never forget a time when I was playing with him in 'The First Violin.' I could not, strive frantically as I would, do the thing he wanted. He was gentle at first, and then, persisting in my failure, he began to lash and whip and sting me with his words until I thought I should have to run away. In agony of impotent desperation I cried out:

"'I cannot! Oh, I cannot!'

"Mr. Mansfield threw up his hands in a gesture of relief, and a smile played about his lips.

"'Why,' he said sweetly, 'you're doing the very thing right now. No one on earth could do it better.' And then I knew what he meant, and those lines were a triumph to me all that season."

MEN WHO DON'T EXERCISE

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS

Nothing so Sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigorous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork are the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock

In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says —

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of every getting well. I

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort, and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Fingers Lacerated.

Adam Smith had several of his fingers lacerated, while working at the Canadian General Electric yesterday morning. He was removed to the Nicholls Hospital where his wounds were dressed. His injuries were only slight and he left afterwards for his home.

Mrs. Addison Fairchild met a tragic death at the home of her husband at Mount Pleasant, on Sunday. She was struck by a pitchfork while harvesting and succumbed in twenty minutes, before medical aid could be summoned. The deceased had only been married two weeks and had formerly resided in Bowmanville.

57th Band Resume Practice.

Last night the 57th band resumed practice in the band room. There have not been practices during the summer on account of the hot weather and the absence of some of the bandsmen, who have been on their holidays. The band was there in its full strength and we may be sure that it will keep up its reputation of being one of the best bands in the Dominion.

Given Another Week.

Messrs. W. E. Jones and G. N. Graham were each given a week at the Police Court yesterday, in which to comply with the provisions of the Medical Health Act in regard to manure from their stables. Mr. McClellan's Disclaimer.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent Trent Canal, informed The Times yesterday that the letter which appeared in our issue of Saturday, signed "One Who Knows," in reference to the number of men employed on the new dredge, does not concern him, as this vessel belongs to the engineering department of the Canal, under Mr. Grant, over which he has no control. Mr. Grant, no doubt, will look into the matter, now that his attention has been publicly called to it.

Two Bad Accidents.

Two Ennismore boys are in St. Joseph's Hospital as the result of serious accidents. On Saturday night the 15 year old son of Mr. W. K. Crough was painfully injured, when his arm became caught in the knotter of a binder and was severely fractured. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital where his injuries are being attended to by Drs. McNulty and Morgan. On Sunday afternoon Cornelius O'Reilly, the adopted son of Mr. Maurice Twomey, fell and sustained a fracture of the jaw and a painful gash in the cheek. Dr. McNulty attended to his injuries.

A Fine Catch.

Mrs. Thomas Frost caught a monster 'lunge yesterday morning at Hale's Bridge, which weighed 25 pounds, 14 ounces. She hooked it in the vicinity of the bridge, and it is understood that she had but little trouble in landing the monster. A few days ago an American passed through the city with the head of a lunge which he said weighed 32 lbs. The head didn't look any larger than the one caught by Mrs. Frost and possibly not quite as large. It is presumed that there was something the matter with his scales. The great family journal is not referring to the scales on the fish, but the other kind.

RACE TRACK FEVER CAUSED THE TELLER'S DOWNFALL

Roland Harris, of Standard Bank, Placed Under Arrest This Afternoon on Charge Of $7,000 Theft

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Hard on the heels of the sensational arrest yesterday of Arthur Richmond, the defaulting paying teller of the Elm street branch of the Bank of Toronto, who sought to evade the clutches of the law by turning on the gas and swallowing poison, came another this afternoon, when Roland Harris, a former clearing house teller of the Standard Bank, was arrested by Detective Taylor at the head offices, King and Jordan streets.

He was taken to headquarters where the charge of embezzling the sum of $7,000 from the Standard Bank was preferreh against him. He will appear in the police court to-morrow morning.

Going On for Two Years.

According to the police, Harris' defalcations have been going on for the best part of two years, though apparently the bank officials do not hold this view.

Unlike Richmond's arrest, that of Harris was not marked by any untoward proceeding. The lad when approached by the officer rame forward without any hesitation, and thereafter walked quietly with him to the City Hall.

Had Confidence of Fank.

Harris, who is only a young fellow about 23 years of age, considered one of the most promising employees of the Standard Bank. His promotion had been rapid during the past two years and when early this month the position of clearing-house teller fell vacant he was appointed to the post. In this capacity he had charge of the clearings of the Standard Bank made through the Toronto Clearing House.

Scarcely, however, had he assumed his new office than he yielded to temptation. As in Richmond's case, playing the horses proved his downfall.

ÇALL ON MONTENEGRO TO WAR WITH TURKEY

Protesting Over the Atrocities Committeed By The Mohammedans

Cettinje, Montenegro, Aug. 20.—A mass meeting of Montenegrins was held here to-day to protest against the atrocities committed by the Turks in the Albanian district of Berana on the Montenegro frontier, where a large number of Christians have been massacred by Mohammedan Arnauts.

A resolution was passed calling on the Government to declare war against Turkey.

The war fever is rapidly growing in intensity throughout the country.

Albanians Agree.

Constantinople, Aug. 20.—A telegram received here this morning from Uskup states that an agreement has been reached between the representatives of the Turkish Government and the Albanian insurgents, who were marching toward Saloniki in considerable force. The Albanians are said to have begun to return to their homes.

Rumors of further changes in the Turkish cabinet are declared in official circles to be entirely unfounded. It was reported that several other Ministers had decided to follow the example of Hammad Sherif, Minister of the Interior, and resign.

May Massacre Turks.

Vienna, Aug. 20.—Several thousand Turks who have massacred the inhabitants of whole villages in northern Albania are themselves threatened with extermination to-day. Supported by a strong force of Montenegrins, the Albanian rebels have them penned in the town of Berana, and are attacking them on all sides. Reinforcements cannot reach there and they must speedily surrender or be overwhelmed.

Enraged by recent Turkish brutality, the rebels swear they will kill the last man.

WILL GOVERNMENT TAKE OVER G. T. P. AS GOVERNMENT LINE?

Company Has Only Ten Days More to Make Up Its Mind Over Lake Superior-Winnipeg Section—No Word Received Yet

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—There is still considerable speculation in Ottawa as to whether the G.T.P. intends to take over the section of the Transcontinental Railway from Winnipeg to Lake Superior. The Government in notifying the G.T.P. the section was completed gave the company a month or until August 31st to exercise its right under the agreement to lease the section. The month is two thirds up and the G.T.P. so far has given no notice of its intentions. While members of the Government seem to be of the opinion the G.T.P. will lease the section, there are rumors that the company will not do so and will jump at this chance of slipping from under Laurier "White Elephant" in that contingency it is thought likely the Government will operate the road itself and the National Transcontinental might finally become part of the Intercolonial

WEDDING BELLS.

Perry—Gibbs.

A very pretty and quiet wedding took place yesterday in All Saints' Church when Mary Ethel Gibbs, of Otonabee, and Rev. Thos. Henry Perry, of Halifax, N.S., was united in marriage by the Rev. R. J. W. Perry, of Mono Mills, brother of the groom.

TRACKED DOWN BY WISE DOG

Railway Wrecker Caught By Marvellous Animal

Odessa, Aug. 20.—What might have proved to be a serious railway disaster was narrowly averted the other day by the vigilance of an engine-driver on the South-Western system. A passenger train from Odessa to Kieff was approaching in the early dawn the small station of Sapaigorod when he very fortunately observed an obstruction about a hundred yards ahead. He immediately applied the Westinghouse brake and reversed the engine, coming to a halt only a few paces from two heavy oak logs laid squarely across the metals.

The local police, failing to trace the author of the outrage, telegraphed to Odessa for the assistance of the widely famed dog, detective Spitz, and the animal was immediately despatched in charge of a gendarme officer. On the scene of the attempted outrage Spitz made a careful sniffing examination of the oak logs, and then unhesitatingly struck a trail, led the officers through an adjacent wood, beyond which was a small hamlet. Spitz was here unleashed, and at once bounded off, nose to ground, to a two-roomed hut, occupied by a woodman named Yufoff, at the door of which he barked impatiently.

When admitted the dog rushed into the bedroom and seized the sleeping woodman by the leg, dragging him from his couch. Yukoff at first strongly protested his innocence, then suddenly paling, and pointing to Spitz, asked whose dog it was. Yukoff no sooner heard the dog's name than—such is the animal's celebrity through the province—he at once confessed. The culprit had a couple of months ago been dismissed from the railway service, and with revengeful desire of procuring the "distance chief's" dismissal, he had attempted to derail the train.

Spitz has never yet failed in tracking down any criminal quarry upon whose trail he has been put; he is incomparably the cleverest member of Odessa detective corps.

TERRIBLE CRIME COOLLY PLANNED

French Village Startled By The Brutal Murder Of Young Bride

WILL TALK TO MARTIANS

Professor Predicts He Will Do So Soon—Few Leap Year Proposals.

Paris, Aug. 20.—Dumas, with all his brilliant imagination, never sketched a more absorbing story than that told recently by the prefect of Mezeriat, near Macon, in the dement of Saena-et-Loire. Father and son murdered a young bride after coolly rehearsing the tragedy, and the elder of the two culprits then wrote out a confession, bringing the curtain down by blowing out his own brains.

Some two years ago M. Michel, who owned a brick works at Laceauville, rented from a Mlle. Guyon a second brick yard at Mezeriat. As he had a divorce suit pending, and did not desire to be near his wife, Michel, with his son, came to live at Mezeriat, near their young proprietress, with whom at first they seemed to be on the best of terms.

But six months later Mdlle. Guyon married a chemist of Macon, named M. Corre. From that time relations between the lady and the brick manufacturer were entirely changed, and the young wife, well aware that her tenants bore her a bitter grudge, took good care never to be alone with them.

One day, however, the lady was in the garden with her husband gathering vegetables. Taking advantage of a moment when M. Corre had gone to the kitchen to empty the basket, the younger Michel, who had been concealed behind a bush, lept out and fired ten revolver shots, six of which struck the lady. Madame Corre fell, mortally wounded, and died some few hours later, not, however, before she had given a complete account of the crime. Almost at the moment of her death a shot was heard in the adjoining house, occupied by her murderer and his father. The elder Michel had shot himself through the head. A letter left by him explained bluntly that his action was not a mark of remorse, but a sign of his approval of the act of his son, as Madame Corre, when still Mdlle. Guyon, had promised to marry the younger Michel, and her death was the punishment of her perfidy. He added that on the previous night they had staged the murder in the garden, using a scarecrow for madame.

Communication with Mars.

According to M. de Bressignac, who has spent a large fostune in the endowment of astronomical institutions, communication will be established with Mars within the next year or so. After thirty years spent trying to talk with the Martians and studying their planet with the aid of powerful instruments, this famous scientist explodes many former conclusions in a lengthy statement just made public. "The Martians," says de Bressignac, "are tall and fair-haired. Their eyes are not overcast by heavy lids, as has been supposed. On the contrary, it is almost certain that they have little use for lids and lashes, sleeping with their eyes open under the influence of the peculiar Martian night. Sleep comes upon them while they are at work, and they are mainly agricultural. Both their footwear and clothing are products of a vegetable growth." He explains pery lucidly how he arrives at these conclusions.

French Maids Indifferent.

Leap year is no longer recognized by the maids and men of France. Up to the present only one case of a proposal by a lady is on record, against seven for the same period of the last leap year, and thirty-five for the preceding twelvemonth when maids mat pop the question.

BOY CHARGED WITH CRIME IS OF GOOD FAMILY.

⊗ FRANK CIROFICI ALIAS "DAGO" FRANK AND HIS LAWYER CEASAR BARRA

"Dago Frank" Cirofici, held on a charge of being one of the actual slayer of Herman Rosenthal in New York, is said to be in the depths of distress. Hi mother and brother are both prosperous and respected. If he turns State evidence, as is hinted, the best that can be done for him will be life imprisonment.

A SORDID REASON

The Halifax Chronicle takes a contemptible stand on the naval question. It maintains, says the News, that the situation belongs wholly to Europe, that Canada has nothing to do with it, and that we should spend our money on ourselves. But how much money should we have if it were not for British backing? The great developments going forward all across Canada are financed from England—the world's chief banker. And she would not be the world's banker and Canada's banker for long but for the British navy. Therefore even for the most sordid reasons — those which apparently appeal to the Chronicle—the people of the Dominion cannot afford to withhold their very best in money and men at the present juncture. Let Britain be displaced as mistress of the seas and the present generations of Canada never would relover from the blow financially. Decades would be consumed in establishing a new world money centre on which Canada and other creditor nations could freely draw. Even if their pockets alone were concerned Canadians of all classes and parties should support the Borden policy of material participation in Empire defence.

BOY KILLS AND WOUNDS

Takes Hand In a Family Feud and Saves His Father's Life

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 20.—Rudolph de Waters, 10 years old, Wednesday night shot two persons dead and injured a third to save his father from possible injury or death, according to the police.

The dead: Nicola Battiliere, Marina Battiliere, his wife. The injured: Charles Battiliere, brother of the dead man.

The De Waters and Battiliere families are said to have renewed an old quarrel. During the trouble Henry de Waters, the father, was shot in the arm in his own home. According to the police, the boy then fired three shots, every one of them finding a mark. The two dead were found in the grass in front of the De Waters home with bullets through their heads.

Michael Battiliere, brother of the dead man, and his wife, asserts that they were killed by the elder De Waters and that his sister-in-law was killed by the boy.

Charles Battiliere, the wounded man, was shot in the groin and is in the hospital in an unconscious condition.

PRESIDENT TAFT DENIES INTENT TO VIOLATE TREATY

Urges Passage by Congress of Joint Resolution That Will Make it Apparent Before the World

Washington, Aug. 20.—President Taft sent to Congress yesterday afternoon a special message on the Panama Canal Bill. He urges the passage by Congress of a joint resolution which will make it apparent before the world that the United States has no intention of violating the Haye-Pauncefote treaty. This resolution in the President's opinion should take the form of a declaration that the present legislation will not supersede any treaty rights conferred by the Haye-Pauncefote convention. The President would leave it to the United States Supreme Court to constitute the treaty and determine whether or not the granting of free tolls to American ships in the coastwise trade constituted a violation of it. The free tolls provision is the only objection that the President cites to the bill as it has been laid before him.

The Democratic leader of the House will refuse to support a resolution such as the President suggests, and his efforts along this line will undoubtedly fail. There is considerable opposition to the President's proposal also in the Senate.

What the President will do when Congress turns down his joint resolution suggestion has not been definitely settled.

SALVATION ARMY LEADER'S LAST WORD TO HIS FOLLOWERS

General Booth's Dying Message Is: "His Promises Are Sure, If You Believe"—His Only Grief Is That His Son Ballington Showed No Desire For Reconcilation

London, Aug. 20.—"General Booth, my father, undoubtedly is dying," said Chief of Staff Bramwell Booth, to-day.

"He is beyond speech now, but his last message to Salvationists throughout the world was: 'His promises are sure, if you believe.'

"He spoke his final intelligible words on Sunday when he said to me, 'Don't worry; let me die. I want to go to Heaven.'

"The General's dying grief is that he has never had a reconciliation with his son, Ballington, from whom no word of sympathy or interest has been received."

POLICE MURDERERS WERE INDICTED IN NEW YORK

By Nightfall Indictments Against Seven Persons, Including The Four Acutual Murderers, Are Expected—Schepps a Go-Between For Becker and Rose

New York, Aug. 20.—Sam Schepps was again the central figure in the Rosenthal murder case to-day when he appeared before the grand jury prepared to repeat the story he told District Attorney Whitman in which he corroborated in many essential details the accusing confession of "Bald Jack" Rose, implicating Police Lieut. Chas. Becker in the killing of the East Side gambler.

It was this story of Schepps that Mr. Whitman desired the grand jury to hear before returning further indictments in the Rosenthal case.

The State's Attorney was clearly confident that before nightfall indictments would be returned against several persons. Those to be indicted are said to be:

Rosenweig (Lefty Louie).
Horrowitz (Gyp the Blood).
Cirofici (Dago Frank).
Muller (Whitey Lewis).

These four are the alleged murderers.

Jack Sullivan, Wm. Shapiro, and Lieut. Becker on a superceding indictment.

Schepps Part In It.

The State's Attorney said that Schepp's testimony was not necessary to the conviction of Becker, but it gave the case against the police lieutenant added strength. Schepps has told the State's Attorney how he talked with Lieut. Becker a few hours before Rosentha, was shot, and how he with others, went out to get an affidavit from Dora Gilbert, the divorced wife of Rosenthal. Schepps then told of the ride uptown the night of the killing, of the gathering of the gunmen, and how he and Rose waited for the news of Rosenthal's death.

It was after the murder was committed that Schepps played his most important part in the Rosenthal affair. That was as go-between for Lieut. Becker and the panic-stricken Rose, who was hiding in an uptown apartment house. Schepps said he made several visits to Becker to consult with him as to what course Rose should pursue. Becker, he said, advised Rose to remain in hiding, but Rose was thoroughly frightened and wanted to give himself up.

Bankers to Testify.

Several bank officials who have information regarding Lieut. Becker's bank accounts were under subpoena to appear before the Grand Jury today along with several other witnesses in the police graft cases

KING NARROWLY ESCAPED SERIOUS AUTO COLLISION

Man, Who Nearly Ran Into His Majesty's Car, Dumped His Auto Into a Ditch, But Was Not Injured—King Shook Hands

New York, Aug. 20.—A cable from London says: King George had a narrow escape from an accident yesterday while automobiling from Bolton Abbey, Yorkshire, where he had been staying with the Duke of Devonshire, to Abbeystead, Lancashire, where he is the guest of Lord Sefton for grouse shooting.

An automobile belonging to Mr. David Thornton, of Bradford, a merchant, turned a corner suddenly, and its chauffeur avoided a collision with the King's automobile only by running into a ditch, where the car was upset.

The King alighted and anxiously inquired whether Mr. Thornton or any of his party was injured. Receiving the assurance that no harm was done, the King shook hands with Mr. Thornton and proceeded on his journey.

One Insertion Sufficient.

Those who have houses to rent, articles for sale, or require help of any kind, should use the want page of The Times. People in search of work, including housemaids, have come to watch this page. Hence results follow. As an instance of this we might mention that Miss Bella Griffith, who resides on Antrim street, had a dwelling to rent. She placed a 25c ad. in Saturday's issue of The Times, to run for a week. On Monday Miss Griffith called and requested us to stop the ad. as the paper had secured a desirable tenant. This is only one of many similar cases and demonstrates that everybody reads The Times.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 60 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 368 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit ?
If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Haste to Reimburse.

While carrying a ladder through the crowded streets of a big city the other day a big Irishman was so unfortunate as to break a plate glass window in a shop. Immediately dropping his ladder, the Celt broke into a run. But he had been seen by the shopkeeper, who dashed after him and caught him by the collar.

"See here!" angrily exclaimed the shopkeeper when he had regained his breath, "you have broken my window!"

"Sure I have," assented the Celt, 'and didn't you see me running home to get the money to pay for it?"

QUEEN MARY'S HOME.

Opened With Money to the "Mary Fund," and Will Do a Lot of Good.

Barn House is the name painted on the wicket gate of the holiday home for working girls at Whitstable (Kent), purchased with a portion of the "Marys'" coronation gift.

"No formal ceremony, just a hearty "come right in" from the lady superintendent will welcome the first girl guests when they invade "Queen Mary's Home."

On a recent afternoon a correspondent loitered up a flower-bordered path, passed a moss-covered sundial circled with rose trees, and halted wonderingly before the restored fifteenth century barn. The walls were of red bricks interrupted with frequent black beams, the bottle glass windows where white-curtained and sash tied, while the oak entrance door, elaborate with worm-eaten carvings, led into a hall reminiscent of yule logs and boars' heads and punch bowls.

That great floor cushion and the tapestries on the wall came down this morning from Buckingham Palace, said Miss Campbell, lady superintendent, and an old campaigner in matters of organising, as we sat drinking tea from the cups of the china service chosen by the Queen herself.

"The Queen has been most kind. She has taken a personal interest in all the arrangements which have been going on for nearly twelve months. We are venturing to hope she will pay us a visit some time during the summer.

"Our girls are to have a splendid holiday. Breakfast at nine, and no rules worth mentioning. We have our own bathing hut only a hundred yards or so away from here, and there is a tennis court and croquet lawn. There will also be organized excursions for those who care to join in.

"The girls are all members of the London Girls' Club Union.

'Some are factory hands, some are shop assistants — some are vegetarians! Fourteen of them will come at a time, and each group will stay for a fortnight. The 'season' will last right on till October."

The grounds comprise an orchard, where the girl guests may pick fruit as they will, a kitchen garden, and a pool shaded with tapering rushes, and reeds. There is a poultry yard, and an old summer house, and a tank, green with rust, dated 1760.

A Lost Play.

Weedon Grossmith, the English comedian, used to tell a good story about a play by Robert Ganthony, which that gentleman asked him to read. Mr. Grossmith took the comedy, but lost it on his way home. "Night after night," he says, "I would meet Ganthony, and he would ask me how I liked his play. It was awful. The perspiration used to come out on my forehead as I'd say sometimes, 'I haven't had time to look at it yet,' or again, 'The first act was good, but I can't stop to explain, etc., must catch a train.' That play was the bane of my existence and haunted even my dreams." Some months passed, and Ganthony, a merry wag, still pursued him without mercy. At last it occurred to Mr. Grossmith that he might have left the comedy in the cab on the night it was given to him. He went down to Scotland Yard and inquired. "Oh, yes!" was the reply. "Play marked with Mr. Ganthony's name sent back to the owner four months ago, as soon as found."

Ancient Town Hall.

The little town hall of Totnes, in Devonshire, is probably the most ancient in England. It is tucked away in a corner behind the parish church, and all its furniture and fittings are almost exactly as they were 500 years ago. We do not know whether the councillors bring their own cushions with them, but they will probably need to do so, for the oaken chairs of our ancestors were not built for comfort.

Quite a number of English towns have two town halls, the old one and the new. Scarborough is one of these places. The old hall, in St. Nicholas street, is used for entertainments and other social purposes, while the new one, a magnificent building, is used for municipal work.—Tit-Bits.

English Money Slang.

Slang names for money offer a bewildering variety. Henley and Farmer in their slang dictionary give twenty terms for money in general, most of them, such as "coliander seeds," "oil of angels" and "king's pictures," being pretty well obsolete. The slang of specific sums is intersting. A sovereign has been known as a glistener, a goldfinch, a mouse trap, a remedy, a stranger and a new hat. The names for a shilling include blow, generaliser, northeaster, Manchester sovereign and peg. A sixpence, now called in slang little else than a tanner, has been a tester, a tizzy, a lord of the manor, a bender and a cripple.—London Standard.

A Sporting Record.

Lord Desborough has just created what must be rather a novel kind of record. His election for presidency of the Four-in-Hand Driving Club brought the number of governing bodies in sport of which he is president up to no fewer than ten, as follows: M.C.C., Amateur Fencing Association, British Olympic Council, Lawn Tennis Association, Croquet Association, Thames Punting Club, Four-in-Hand Driving Club, Coaching Club, Royal Life-Saving Society, and Wimbledon Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club.

HIGH OPINION OF OUR WEST.

Twenty-five members of the Western Farm Land Co., of Waterloo, Iowa, are at present visiting Edmonton and district en route for the Peace River country where they own 100,000 acres of land, in addition to 3,000 acres in the Goose Lake country. The party, which is travelling on the Grand Trunk Pacific in a special car is headed by the President of the Company, Mr. W. H. Hanna, who states that at the 3,000 acre farm southeast of the town of Brock, two big steam tractors under the direction of the farm manager and a staff of twelve are breaking up the land in preparation for a 1,500 acre crop of flax to be sown next spring. "We drove 32 miles across the prairie" stated another member of the party, "and we did not see a single section that did not give promise of an abundant harvest. The flax is all beyond danger of frost and all the other crops are looking well. Yours is certainly a wonderful climate."

ROOSEVELT IN THE SADDLE.

The Progressive Republicans met in convention in Chicago last week and, amid scenes of wild enthusiasm chose Colonel Roosevelt as their candidate for President, and Governor Johnson, of California, as candidate for Vice-President. The platform of the new party is a radical one in everything except the tariff. In addition to the reforms in which Mr. Roosevelt had previously committed himself, such as the initiative, referendum, and the recall of public officials, the platform also favors woman suffrage, a minimum wage and insurance against sickness, accident, invalidism and old age. In regard to the trusts, Mr. Roosevelt declares that neither of the old parties has adopted the right method, and he proposes the creation of a national industrial commission which would have power to regulate all the great industrial concerns engaged in interstate business. The Commission would also have the right to inspect the books of each corporation, and would have power to fix the prices of "the necessaries of life" if it was found that there was any attempt at monopoly. Mr. Roosevelt also declared himself in favor of exempting American ships from Panama Canal tolls. Evidently the Colonel's programme is extensive enough, but he does not seem very clear as to how the different reforms are to be carried into effect, whether by state action or by federal action. It is very significant that of the three Presidential candidates Governor Wilson is the only one who attempts to deal with the vexed tariff question in any adequate fashion and even he declares very plainly that there must not be too raideal or too sudden changes in the tariff, although he boldly declares his belief that "there should be immediate revision, and it should be downward, unhesitatingly and steadily downward." And so the three parties and the three men face the country, and for three months the people of the United States will be engaged in deliberating upon what policy they shall adopt for the coming quadrennium.

When Appetite Fails And Digestion is Bad

There is Danger Ahead for the Man That Neglects Nature's Warnings

Dyspepsia Tendencies are Serious, and Should be Treated Accordingly.

There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum, of Pleasant street, Dartmouth, N.S. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away; he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much longer. I was wasting away simply because no remedy I used gave tone and strength to my stomach. The vital forces of my system seemed dead, I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What hidden weakness they searched out I don't know, but in a miraculous way they have made me a new man. My stomach troubles are cured, rich blood now runs through my veins—clear skin and unmistakable evidences of health and vigor I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly enervated man and I strongly urge everyone in failing or lost health to use this grand remedy."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut are purely vegetable—25c per box, 5 boxes for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N Y., and Kingston, Ont.

The life of General Booth has been a gift of heaven to the world. It will be hard for the world to give back such a present.

"Automobiles meet all trains" is one of the inducements western farmers are offering harvest hands to come and spend the season with them.

It's a fine thing to be a farmer — you always have something to worry about. A while ago there was not enough rain; later there was too much; now when the crops are all fine and dandy there is not enough labor to help with the harvest.

It is said that quite a number of "Stratton Tories" were in evidence at the last general election. This may or may not be true. One thing is now quite certain, however, that most of them are now comfortably seated in the Conservative handwagon, close enough to Mr. Burnham to occasionally take a whack at the big drum.

Winston Churchill will visit Canada in the autumn, coming over in a warship. It is not many years since that young man was in this country; but what a difference there is between his first visit and his second one! He will come to us as "ruler of the King's navee" one of the great men of the empire. When he was here before he was "playing one-night stands," telling all who would pay to hear him, how he escaped from the Boers in South Africa.

THE NEW DREDGE.

(Editor Morning Times).

Sir,—I thought when a change of Government took place that there would be some house-cleaning, and that the evils which prevailed under the late Laurier Government would not be permitted to exist. I saw an article in one of the newspapers (I think it was The Times) a few days ago, stating that there were one or more high-priced men employed in connection with the new dredge who were not needed. This is only one department, however. I am told that, especially in the Engineering Department, this congestion is manifest all along the waterway.

What are our members, Hon. Col. Hughes, Messrs. J. H. Burnham, J. A. Sexsmith, and others thinking about? Do they not know that these things are being watched, and will count against them when the time comes?

I intend to have something to say in the near future about the waste of public money in connection with this dredge, but will leave it until a little later on.

—Veritas.

"WEIGHING THE COAL."

(Editor Morning Times).

Sir, — The story goes that two brothers were associated in the coal business. One of them joined the church, frequently urging his brother to follow his example. At last the brother said: "John, if I am converted, who will weigh the coal?" A question packed with great significance. Beyond doubt there is a widely spread impression in the business world that every successful establishment needs two partners, one who may represent its respectability and the other to "weigh the coal." Of course, these differing but harmonious functions are kept widely separate.

This is what I would like The Times to explain: Who weighs the Peterborough coal? I do not want to create the impression that the coal men are dishonest—at least some of them. But as a pure matter of business, I think all coal should be weighed on the public weigh scales of the city. I think the Council should pass a by-law compelling coal men to produce the market clerk's certificate for every load of coal delivered in the city.

—Honest Weight.

(Reply—The police are supposed occasionally to order a load of coal, which happens to be on its way to its destination, to the weigh scales, and have it weighed. If the weight does not correspond with the driver's ticket, the coal merchant is supposed to be given an opportunity to explain the discrepancy to the Police Magistrate.

—Ed. Times.

NO SPECIAL PRIVILEGES

(Editor Morning Times).

Sir,—At the recent French Language Congress at Quebec one of the captains of the Romish Church announced that "to be at peace lay in being prepared for war," and proceeded to proclaim the doctrine of a united force in championing the "paramount" rights of the French-Canadian to his language being legalized throughout the Dominion of Canada. He was supported by no less an agitator than Henri Bourassa, who positively asserted that confederation of the old Provinces had established thd French language as an official language throughout the whole Dominion.

As the gauntlet has been thrown down, and such firebrands have chosen to set race against race, and sect against sect, it only remains for the truly loyal protectors of civil and religious liberty to rise up and protest against French aggression in the Province of Ontario. We have seen and felt the horrors caused by such agitators in 1870 and 1885 under one Reil—a man of equal parts with this Bourassa.

I am not going into the merits of the case as they appeal to the mind of the Protestant only, but couple with me my Roman Catholic neighbors, of Scotch or Irish parentage, and solicit their aid in stamping out the system of bilingual schools, which, I believe, is grievous to them, and against which he would rise in open protest were it not for the powers of the priests. But I am directing to the loyal citizens of Ontario my desire of meeting those oft-repeated challenges, and to put my views in as few words as possible I would suggest the placing of separate schools in Ontario in the same position as they were at Confederation. To this end I would suggest the formation of such a Protestant Society as would compel the Legislature of Ontario to rescind the amendment of 1870, together with all subsequent legislation, and place these schools back to their constitutional rights granted by the act of 1863 and embodied in Act of Confederation. To my mind this is the only practicable manner of dealing with these matters; and since the Lower Canada vote fastened these schools on Upper Canada by a fixed law, we submit to this third act in its entirety, but now object to amendments granted, and powers enlarged, since such enactment. And we call upon the same Legislature to rescind all such amendments as have been enacted by such Parliament since Confederation, and place separate schools in their original status.

DRUG MANIA IN PARIS.

"Absinthes of the Rich" Which Menace the Future of France.

That "cocaine and opium are rotting the heart of Paris society" is the startling assertion made in a recent newspaper article by Alfred Edwards, founder of Le Matin, whose grief over the tragic death last summer of his beautiful wife, Mme. Lantelme, the actress, aroused the sympathy of even the most frivolous Parisian.

"These drugs," he states, "are now in full vogue, especially among the gilded youth of the capital, on whom they are working frightful havoc mentally, morally and physically."

The writer adds that he was induced to sound the cry of alarm in consequence of the statements of a number of medical friends, who see day by day a procession of victims, more or less irremediably injured.

Cocaine, he points out, from being of the greatest benefit to humanity in minor surgical operations, has now become one of its most frightful scourges — in Paris at all events. The facility with which it is taken has caused it to displace morphine altogether as a means of obtaining "Asiatic dreams." Young persons of both sexes, says M. Edwards, hoping to install a minor paradise of Mahomet at home, take cocaine in larger and larger quantities without any knowledge of its effects on the system. This result in fatal accidents of daily occurrence, while if those who become its slaves, are not killed at once, they become in many cases utterly demoralized or brutalized.

"To-day in Paris the opium mania also rages among society folk of the younger set. Enthusiastic young men have turned their bachelor apartments into opium dens of the latest fashion and there is hardly a night restaurant where one does not hear the question put among the diners, 'Where shall we smoke to-night?'"

The 5 o'clock tea, it is asserted, is completely supplanted and displaced by the 10 o'clock opium.

Some of these drug fiends, M. Edwards concludes, are in the habit of taking opium and cocaine alternately.

The article has caused a strong feeling that steps must be taken immediately to prevent the sale of these "absinthes of the rich," in view of the terrible menace which they form for the future of France.

They Never Go Out.

Many remarkable examples of fires kept burning for long periods of time are recorded in histories and books relating to travel. The best known instances are those of pagan people who keep up perpetual fires as a religious custom.

The oldest known fire in the world is that in a Buddhist temple near Bangkok, Siam, which has been burning without interruption for two centuries. A priest is always on guard to watch the sacred flame. Every four years a new flame is kindled, but this is always lighted in the great brazier from a brand of the old fire.

The life of a Grand Visier in Persia was once saved by a Parsee trader, who discovered and exposed a plot to kill the royal official. In spite of the fact that the Persians are Mohammedans and hold fire-worshipers in contempt, a single flame has been kept burning continuously for 70 years at Sarhad in honor of the humble trader.

A Choice of Pleas.

"Sons of the Emerald Isle," says Mr. William Harvey in "Irish Life and Humor" (Eneas Mackay), a companion volume to "Scottish Life and Character," "have much faith in the practice of proving an alibi.

"An Irish barrister, who was evidently prepared for every possible contingency, is alleged to have addressed the presiding judge as follows: 'Your honor, I shall first absolutely prove to the jury that the prisoner could not have committed the crime with which he is charged. If that does not convince the jury I shall show that he was insane when he committed it. If that fails I shall prove an alibi!' One wonders how a jury could get away from a verdict of 'not guilty' in such circumstances, and yet it is probable that if the trial had taken place in Edinburgh the verdict would have been no more than one of 'not proven'."

Was It a Hiding Place?

A secret chamber in which were the remains of an unfinished meal has been found at the Feerm Farm, near Mold, Flintshire, built in the early part of the 16th century and once the Manor House of the Hartsheath Estate. Some workmen were engaged in repairing an ancient fireplace and chimney, when they discovered a revolving stone, which, upon being moved revealed a secret chamber. The apartment contained oak furniture of antique design, including a table on which lay antiquated firearms and feeding utensils, and the remains of a meal, reduced to dust. It is surmised that the chamber was utilised as a hiding place by Royalist fugitives during the Civil War of the reign of Charles I. from which time it had remained undisturbed.

BRITAIN MUST RULE AIR AS WELL AS SEA, PROCLAIMED

London, Aug. 20.—An appeal is made to the nation for one million shillings for the encouragement of British aviation by the Aerial League of the British Empire, and is supported by many distinguished and influential public men. The avowed object is to assist in placing this country on an equality with other powers in this advancing science, and to lead to a movement which shall place England beyond the reach of her foreign rivals. In Germany, France, Italy and other countries nearly a million pounds have been raised for aeronautical development through public effort by similar means, as these countries have, mainly owing to the enthusiasm of their peoples, secured a great lead in military aviation. The reasons for this patriotic movement may be succinctly stated.

It is admitted that the British Empire, hitherto amply protected by its maritime supremacy, will in the future be largely dependent upon a strong aerial fleet for a continuance of this security.

Proficiency in aerial navigation is not only a necessity of the moment and of the future, but it will greatly assist the operations of the navy in emergency. Great Britain secured here maritime ascendancy owing to her insular position, which was responsible for the development in this country of the greatest shipbuilding industry in the world; but these islands are not so suitably situated for the development of aerial navigation as countries where the winds are more steady and where natural landing places abound.

Britain is therefore greatly handicapped in the development of a strong aeronautical manufacturing industry, and as the latter is absolutely essential, if she is to secure the same pre-eminence in the air as she has attained on the sea, it must be fostered in every possible way.

It has therefore become urgently necessary to arouse public interest in aviation and to offer prizes and awards of all kinds to manufacturers, inventors and others with a view

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 19—The demand from foreign buyers for new crop Manitoba spring wheat and old crop grades is fairly good and a fair amount of business was done in the latter, but the prices bid for the former were 1c per bushel under cost. There is also a good demand for oats, but owing to the high rates of ocean freights demanded and the difficulty to buy oats in the west little business was done. The local market is stronger at an advance of ½c, with a fair trade passing. Demand for flour fair and market steady. Millfeed active and firm. Butter quiet, but firmer. Cheese steady with a good trade doing. Exports for week [illegible] boxes, against [illegible] last year. Eggs fairly active. Demand for provisions fair. Hams have declined 1½c to 2½c per pound.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, [illegible] to [illegible]; No. 3, [illegible] to [illegible]; extra No. 1 feed, 46c to 46½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, Aug. 19.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Yards were 115 carloads, comprising 2215 cattle, 493 hogs, 794 sheep and lambs and 177 calves.

Exporters.

The Swifts of Chicago were the only buyers of export cattle, their buyer, Mr. Howard, getting, all told, 123 cattle, as follows: For the London market, 13 steers, 1310 lbs. each, at $7.10 to $7.25, and only one load at the latter figure; for Liverpool, 110 steers, 1247 lbs. each, at $6.90 to $7.10.

Butchers Cattle.

Choice picked lots, of which there were few, sold at $6.85 to $6.90; loads of good to choice, $6.50 to $6.80; good, $6 to $6.25; medium, $5.25 to $5.50, common, $4.50 to $5; choice cows, $5 to $5.25; good, $4.50 to $4.75; common and medium, $3 to $4; canners, $2 to $4.

Stockers and Feeders.

There were 30 steers of good quality, 1000 lbs. each, bought at $5.25 to $5.60; stockers, $4 to $4.75.

Milkers and Springers.

A moderate supply of milkers and springers sold at $50 to $80 each. More good cows would have sold.

Veals Claves.

The veal calves on sale sold at $3 to $8.25, and three or four choice quality at $8.50 to $8.75 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, sold at from $4.25 to $4.75 for light, with a very few selects at $5; heavy ewes and rams, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $5 to $6.40, but a few selected sold at $6.50 and $6.65.

Hogs.

Selects, fed and watered, sold at $8.60 to $8.65, and $8.35 f.o.b. cars. The bulk sold at these prices, but two or three lots were reported at $8.70 and $8.75.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Aug. 19.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ended Aug. 17, were 1300 cattle, 1800 sheep and lambs, 2000 hogs and 400 calves. The offerings on the market this morning were 950 cattle, 1000 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 300 calves.

Owing to the continued very limited supply of good to choice butchers' cattle the market for such was stronger and 25c per cwt. higher for picked lots. Owing to the scarcity of top quality, Ontario stock, some Manitoba beef met with good demand. Sales were made at $6.25 to $6.50 and picked lots at $6.75 per cwt. The gathering of local buyers was large and as the weather is now more favorable for keeping stock the demand was good, packers taking a number of car loads, consequently the trade thruout was active. There was also a good demand from canners for beef and sales of bulls were made at $3.50 to $3 and cows at $3.50 to $4 per cwt.

There was no change in the condition of the market for selected hogs; prices being firm owing to the small supplies of such coming forward, but the tone of the market for rough stock was easier as the bulk of offerings consisted of such. The demand for packers was good and an active trade was done with sales of selected lots at $9 and rough stock at $7.75 to $8.50 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

In small meats an active trade was done, there being a good demand for sheep and lambs from the butchers and packers and the tone of the market for the latter was stronger with sales of Ontario lambs at $6 to $6.25 and Quebec lambs, at $2.65 to $2.75 each. The demand for calves was good and prices ruled firm.

Butchers' cattle, choice, $7 to $7.25; cattle, medium, $6.25 to $6.75; common, $5 to $5; canners, $2.50 to $3.50; choice cows, $5 to $5.25, bulls, $4 to $5; milkers, choice, each, $40 to $70, common and medium, each, $40 to $50; springers, $30 to $35.

Sheep—Ewes, $3.75 to $4; bucks and culls, $3.75 to $3.50; lambs, $6 to $6.25.

Hogs—F.o.b., $7.75 to $9.

Calves—$3 to $10.

THEATRES IN INDIA.

The Asiatic Mind Produces Some Queer Effects.

The queerest performance I ever saw was that of Romeo and Juliet by a Parsee company in Bombay, says a dramatic writer. Romeo was extremely portly and when he departed his life in the last act he had a big struggle with himself to get back on his feet and take his call with Juliet, who was a wizened and undersized creature who kept you guessing all through as to whether she was a dwarfed grandmother or a prematurely aged school girl. Juliet had a mania for dancing. She did a breakdown with her nurse, played by a boy of twelve with a squeaky voice, and she introduced a song and dance act while waiting for Romeo on the balcony. Had she taken lessons from Bessie Clayton she would have known that it is not the height of the terpsichorean art to shuffle your feet monotonously for half an hour while submitting your body to poses, remindful of a mechanical doll in a Christmas window.

Occasionally she varied her performance by entering with a miscellaneous backing of light brown figures in short skirts that might have been girls or female impersonators for all one could judge by their symmetry or their other charms.

It is a curious thing how the Easterns in their attempts to assimilate Western ideas have got our drama muddled. Shakespeare is constantly performed now in India, but usually with musical comedy interpolations that make the deceased playwright of Avon look like a comic opera librettist. Of course, the management is sublimely ignorant of the burlesque character of these performances, and a leading native manager assured me that his productions of Shakespeare's plays are doing much to elevate the tone of the drama in the native theatres.

One of the most curious sights in the native theatres in India is the way a man of position and his family attend the show. His family probably includes a dozen wives and these are brought in a closed carriage, heavily veiled and led to a special gallery, where they are permitted to see the play through a kind of grille, seeing but unseen.

The Hindus, like most Orientals, follow instructors to the letter, and this led to a funny experience of a native stage hand. The leading man of our company got thirsty during the show, not an infrequent condition in India, and calling the native to his dressing room, sent him out for a burra peg (large whisky and soda).

"Bring it to me direct," he ordered, fearful that some other person might appropriate it.

"Yes, master," replied the native. Before he returned the actor had to take his cue, and he was in the middle of an impassioned love scene when the coolie calmly walked on to the stage.

"Burra peg, me bring you direct," he said.

On another occasion, when producing a melodrama, it was found that the theatre which was an old barnlike structure, had several large holes in the roof. One of these was directly over the stage, and it occurred to the stage manager that this would be useful for the snowstorm in which the hero was to return home in the last act. So he ordered a coolie to go on to the roof and shake the stage snow through a sieve over this hole. It was rehearsed all right, but when the night came, and the hero stood soliloquising about "The snow—the beautiful snow," there was, alas, no snow. But there was instead a terrific shriek of laughter from the gallery. The coolie had gone to the wrong hole.

Mr. Balfour as Host.

A deal of piquant interest has been aroused in social circles in England by the announcement that Mr. Arthur Balfour and his sister are to give a dance soon. This will be the first occasion upon which Mr. Balfour has given an entertainment of this kind at his residence.

Mr. Balfour is displaying a deal of energy these days, which is a welcome sign that he has regained his health. It was a delicate compliment for the Benchers of Grays Inn to invite him to unveil the statue to Francis Bacon, for Mr. Balfour is, of course, a Cecil on his mother's side, and the famous Lord Burleigh, who held the post of Lord Treasurer to Queen Elizabeth, was himself a member of Gray's Inn.

Few Roads In Congo.

Outside of Stanley's old road from Matadi to Stanley pool, now rarely used, and the lately constructed roads in the Katanga connecting the different mines, there are no roads in the Congo. Native trails, waterways and railroads furnish the only facilities of transportation. Over the trails native porters carry loads averaging sixty pounds on their heads.

Antique Styles.

Masculine fashions are often perpetuated through the gradual acquisition of a gentleman's cast off clothes by his servants. A powdered footman of to-day wears the costume of a George II. dandy, and the present lord mayor's coachman is dressed exactly like a nobleman of the time of George III. A page boy, with his three rows of buttons, wears what was known in the early years of the nineteenth century as the Dutch skeleton suit, the fashionable wear for boys of the upper classes.—London Standard.

Indian Ocean Serpents.

Among the most venomous serpents in the world are the marine snakes of the Indian Ocean. They are the dread of fishermen, and it sometimes happens that vessels are obliged to thread their cables through barrels to prevent the reptiles from swarming on board. Great numbers of them may often be seen floating on the surface of the water as if asleep. They are exceedingly fierce and will commonly attack human beings without provocation.

Ready For the General.

Sir O'Moore Creagh, V.C., who succeeded Lord Kitchener as Commander-in-Chief in India, tells a good story of an orderly whom he thought particularly stupid.

On one occasion the general got angry with the man, and shouted, "Why, you noodle, I don't believe you know what w-o-m-a-n spells!"

Promptly the man replied, "Trouble as a rule, sir," and left the general wondering whether he was not wiser than he appeared.

Combining Novelty With Realism.

Mr. James Welch, who made a nice little pile out of 'When Knights Were Bold,' is looking round for another big winner.

He is conscious of the fact that it is not easy to come across something new that will capture the public, but at any rate he once met an author who was full of confidence. Said the author:

"I've thought of a novel effect for my new melodrama."

"Hard to find anything new."

"This is new. The villain lights a cigar in the midst of the snowstorm, thus setting the snowstorm afire."

Thermometers.

In England, it is stated, is used the thermometer of Fahrenheit, a German; in Russia that of Leslie, an Englishman; in France that of Celsius, a Swede, and in Germany they use that of Reaumur, a Frenchman.

Cures Old Folk's Cough

Doesn't Disturb the Stomach, Eases at Once and Cures Thoroughly.

"CATARRHOZONE" A BOON TO MANY THOUSANDS.

Because you are old is no reason for suffering with everlasting coughing—those terrible chest troubles and difficult breathing can be thoroughly cured with Catarrhozone. You simply breath the healing vapor of Catarrhozone, and instantly its rich balsamic fumes are carried by your breath into the tiniest recesses of the nose, throat, chest, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Just think of it—a direct breathable medicine, full of soothing antiseptic pine essences that reaches every sore, congested membrane in two seconds. No drugs to take—nothing to harm or sicken the stomach, because Catarrhozone is the purest, safest cough, catarrh and cold remedy ever devised.

"For many years," writes Richard McCallum, Stirling, Ont., "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed, irritable condition.

"Doctors' medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was time wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good.

"I heard Catarrhozone favorably spoken of and tried it. Really it benefited me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so-called remedies.

"Receiving such immense benefit I continued using Catarrhozone and in a few weeks I was completely cured of Catarrh and throat trouble.

Get Catarrhozone to-day. Large size costs $1.00, and lasts two months. Smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

T.A.S. Campers Return.

The T.A.S. campers have returned after a pleasant week's outing down the river. Next year they will have a cottage. This is the first season a camping party has been organized by the T.A.S., and the success of the vacation has given rise to a general concensus of opinion that those to follow will be even better.

Transferred to Peterborough.

Mr. John Welbourne section foreman of the G.T.R. of Foxboro has been appointed to the Peterborough section. Mr. Welbourne was a former resident of this city and Mrs. Welbourne has many relatives here. They will reside at 218 Reid street. On leaving Foxboro, Mr. and Mrs. Welbourne were the recipients of a handsome address and many presents.

Blaze at McDonald's Mill.

Yesterday afternoon about six o'clock fire broke out in the top floor of McDonald's saw mill, caused by the sparks from the chimney. The alarm was rung in from the corner of Perry and George and the firemen were soon on the scene and found the employees who were just leaving the mill, with the fire well under way, and it was soon extinguished with the aid of a couple of chemicals.

Letter Carriers Won.

An interesting game of baseball was pulled off yesterday afternoon at Nicholls Oval, between the clerical staff of the local post office and the letter carriers. The game was in response to a challenge issued about a week ago by the clerks. The boys in uniform won out in a seven innings game by a score of 13 to 9. The batteries were Darrow and Reid for the carriers, with Brooks and Adams for the Clerks.

Left for Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Goodwin left yesterday afternoon for Calgary, where they intend to take up their future residence. On Monday evening Mr. Goodwin was the recipient of a handsome silver cabinet from the Epworth League of St. James church and the Cheerful Workers' Bible Class. The Treasure Seekers' Bible Class, of which Mrs. Goodwin was a member, presented her on Sunday with a bible and on Wednesday last the Quarterly official board, of which Mr. Goodwin was a member, passed a resolution recognizing his efficient and faithful services to the church, during the past three years. The hope was expressed that Mr. Goodwin and his family would be successful in their new home.

Shovel Makers Accept Challenge.

After their brilliant display last Saturday the Shovel makers team are certainly in the limelight and challenges are pouring in thick and fast. They express their regret that it is impossible to accept every challenge sent in, but in reply to the one sent in by the "Never Works," which appeared in one of the local papers on Monday. They have requested The Times to say that they are engaged for next Saturday and the following Saturday. On September 7, they are free and would be pleased to meet Mr. Cox's boys, if they will meet their manager and make arrangements with him. One member remarked to The Times that if Mr. Cox's team never worked in their lives before, they certainly will have to work and work real hard when they meet the shovel makers.

Western Crop Outlook.

Mr. H. R. Charlton, General Advertising Agent of the Grand Trunk system, is in receipt of a letter from an official of the Saskatoon Board of Trade in which the following reference to the crop situation is made: "The present month has been probably the coolest July for some years back, and up till date we have had something like 1.19 inches of moisture precipitation. This equals, roughly, about 140 tons of water per acre. Now, while some of our people are inclined to be discouraged by the present unusually mild weather, those who are most conversant with the science of agriculture entirely recognize that a cool July, after the unusual heat of June, is really a most propitious circumstance. At the present time there is every reason to be exceedingly hopeful with regard to this year's harvest."

What the League is Doing.

To-day each mayor in England, provost in Scotland, chairman of county and urban district councils, and similar bodies throughout the country will receive a letter requesting him to accept the office of hon. treasurer for the fund in his district. In their turn the civic heads are asked to appoint a local honorary secretary or a committee who will undertake to distribute the league's collecting cards among banks, hotels, clubs, prominent trades people, and individuals. These collecting cards contain detachable vouchers for all moneys subscribed. In return for the voucher a league badge will be sent to any subscriber desiring one. Subscribers of twenty-one shillings become members of the league for a year. A payment of one hundred guineas constitutes a subscriber to become an honorary vice-president. Donors of ten guineas receive life membership.

The public trustee has consented to act as trustee of the fund, and behind the Aerial League are many influential men famous in the art of military tactics, in sport, and in public affairs. Lord Robert, Lord Cheyesmore, Admiral Sir Archibald Douglas, Lieut.-General Sir Reginald Pole-Carew, and the Marquis of Salisbury are among the patrons. The council includes General T. T. Arbuthnot, chairman; the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, and F. E. Smith. The organizing secretary is S. A. Marples, and the honorary president is H. Bedford-Hemmons.

The Lord Mayor of London in a letter to General Arbuthnot, states: "I am in entire sympathy with the scheme, and shall be very glad to further it, believing as I do that the time has arrived for England to wake up and get into line with foreign countries, who are straining every nerve in the matter of special defence, and whose peoples are responding so generously to the call for the necessary funds."

TO KEEP SKIN IN FINE CONDITION IN SUMMER.

(From the Family Physician).

It would be much better for the skin if little cream, powder or rouge were used during the heated term. Mixed with perspiration, dust and grime, these things are anything but beautifying. Ordinary mercolized wax will do more for the complexion, and without giving an oily, shiny, streaked, spotted or pasty appearance. It is the ideal application for the season, as it not only keeps the pores clean, but daily removes particles of scarf skin which have been soiled by dirt or weather. By constantly keeping the complexion clear, white and satiny, it does more toward perpetuating a youthful countenance than any of the arts or artifices commonly employed. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will completely renovate the worst complexion. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

To keep the skin from sagging or wrinkling, or to overcome such condition, there's nothing better than a face bath made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel.

King George Joins Circle In Message of Sorrow

London Press Compares Gen. Booth With Wesley and Martin Luther

The Whole World Moved by Death of the Great Evangelist

London, Aug. 21.—Out of respect for the memory of the late General William Booth, Commander-in-Chief of the Salvation Army, who died last night, all the flags floating on Salvation Army Headquarters all over the country have been half-masted.

At the International headquarters in Queen Victoria street, in the centre of the city, a constant stream of messengers bringing telegrams and letters of condolence from every part of the globe, flowed all day. Among those who sent messages of sympathy were prominent personages belonging to the Government, the army, the navy and every branch of life, while despatches were also received from Kings and other Royalties. Cablegrams were received from countries as diverse as Patagonia and Lapland.

One of the first messages of sympathy received at the Salvation Army headquarters was from King George.

The King's Eulogy.

London, Aug. 21.—King George telegraphed his condolence to Bramwell Booth to-day:

"I am deeply grieved at General Booth's death," he said. "The nation has lost a great organizer and the poor a whole-hearted and sincere friend, who devoted his life to helping them in a practical way. Only in the future shall we recognize the good wrought by him. To-day there is universal mourning. I join in it."

PROMINENT CANADIANS OF BOTH PARTIES WILL URGE THAT POLITICS BE DROPPED

Remarkable Movement Starting at Winnipeg and Extending to Toronto to Secure Unanimous Support of Canadian Parliament

Toronto, Aug. 21.—In Winnipeg recently a number of leading citizens belonging to both parties, got together in the hope of removing the question of naval defence from politics. They agreed upon a series of resolutions. Since then a similar meeting has borne similar fruits in Toronto. In other words, a large by-partisan local committee has adopted the Winnipeg resolutions. The movement has now spread to other cities and promises to be nation-wide. If nothing prevents, the resolutions will take the form of a largely signed memorial to be presented to Mr. Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier at an early date, and to read as follows:

IN FORM OF MEMORIAL.

The undersigned citizens of Toronto, Winnipeg, etc., etc. belonging to both political parties, unite in urgently representing to the Premier and Cabinet of Canada and to the Leader of the Opposition:—

1. That in our judgment it is the desire of the majority of the people of Canada that the Dominion should forthwith take her part in the naval defence of the Empire.

2. That capacity for self-defence being a necessary incident of nationhood the Canadian people look forward to equipping itself with all reasonable despatch with the necessary means of defence and that the permanent policy of the Dominion should look to the establishment of a navy that will be worthy of our national aspirations.

3. That if international relations as disclosed by official information are such as to indicate the existence of an urgent situation, substantial evidence should be given forthwith of Canada's recognition of her responsibilities as part of the Empire; and that the action taken in accordance with this idea should be of such a notable character as to be adequate in the light of the responsibilities of Canada, and of the exigencies of the case, and worthy of Canada's actual material wealth and prosperity.

4. That the motive animating Canadians is not to promote the military spirit as such and, in particular, is not to render more acute the tension between Great Britain and any other power, but to show in a practical way their belief that the effective maintenance of the British navy makes for the preservation of the world's peace, and to demonstrate unmistakably the strength of the overseas' resources which are available for the defence of the Empire.

Not a Party Question.

5. That it is highly desirable that the policy of the Dominion of Canada, both for the moment and permanently, with regard to this matter should not be or become a party question.

6. That without delay an earnest effort should, therefore, be made by the Government, through friendly consultation with His Majesty's Opposition in Canada, to give to such immediate action and to the Dominion's permanent policy a fo[illegible] [illegible]securing the adhesion of both parties, may remove the whole question of Imperial defence from the domain of contentious politics.

LENOX SPRAYER COMPANY

I have invented and manufactured a lovely flower sprayer, for the purpose of reaching with a spraying insecticide underneath the leaves, both of the veranda plants and those in the flower bed. It is the most indispensable helper to flower-loving people. I get fifty cents apiece for them, and they sell very readily. I would like some intelligent lady, who is florally inclined to help me sell them to her friends who keep plants. I would make it quite an object. I generally give a small cake of tobacco soap with each sprayer. It is lovely for the house and window plants to spray the suds on them. I had one lady who sold over one hundred a day right in the flower tent at the Mineola Fair. She had a pail of water and a fern to demonstrate upon, and I tell you she did the business. It seemed as if everybody needed one. I have some circulars of it, with picture of its work, to which anybody will be welcome.

JURORS APPLAUDED THEIR INDICTMENT OF LIEUT. BECKER

Were So Pleased Dicision Against Seven Men In the Rosenthal Case Was Unanimous

New York, Aug. 21.—A John Doe police graft enquiry is to be undertaken several weeks before the calling of the trials of those indicted for the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal.

These preliminary proceedings before the Supreme Court Justice Goff are expected to strengthen the cases against Police Lieut. Becker and the six other indicted yesterday for the Rosenthal killing by unearthing new evidence of police corruption. The John Doe inquiry will cease during the murder trials, but will be resumed after they are concluded.

Police Lieut. Becker and those indicted yesterday will be called to plead in the court to-morrow. The Grand Jury will also have a brief session on Thursday, after which it will adjourn for ten days. The Grand Jury will be asked to consider the testimony of "Big Jack" Zelig, who told of his arrest by two members of Lieut. Becker's "Strong Arm" squad. These two detectives swore that they found a revolver on Zelig. Five witnesses testified before Grand Jury that Zelig did not have a revolver when arrested. The Grand Jury may indict the two detectives for oppression and perjury.

Jurors Applauded.

While the Grand Jury is taking a rest, evidence against certain police and those "higher-up" will be sought The Grand Jury was so pleased yesterday when they found that the vote to indict the seven men for the Rosenthal murder was unanimous that they applauded.

GENERAL BOOTH'S FUNERAL TO BE HELD AUGUST 29 OR 30

London, Aug. 21.—One of the first messages of sympathy received at the Salvation Army Headquarters, in connection with the death of General Booth was from King George.

The obsequies of the late general will probably extend over a week, and the funeral will take place probably on Aug. 29 or 30. The lying-in-state is to take place at the Salvation Army Congress Hall, in the northeast of London. The hall is the largest building owned by the Salvation Army and was the scene of a wonderful demonstration of sympathy when Mrs. Booth, the late general's wife, died. Her lying-in-state there was witnessed by many thousands.

On the day of the funeral, 10,000 Salvationists will participate in a massed service in a larger hall which has not yet been decided upon. The hiring of Crystal Palace is in contemplation for the purpose.

The name of the successor of General Booth as commander in chief of the Salvation Army will probably be announced in a day or two with much ceremony, according to the late general's expressed wishes. While he disliked personal publicity, he welcomed anything which kept the Army in the public eye.

BACK FROM THE WEST

Mr. W. W. Armstrong, of Regina, Tells The Times of Conditions in The Prairie Provinces—A Record Crop This Year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Armstrong, of Regina, who have been visiting relatives in Peterborough and elsewhere, returned yesterday from a business trip to Montreal, en route for the west.

Mr. Armstrong is manager of the western branch of Barrie's Limited, and reports business more than satisfactory. Furs in the west range in prices about the same as in the east. In the Regina branch, the firm handles in addition to full lines of furs, ladies' ready-to-wear and millinery.

Our readers will remembers that the premises of Barrie's Limited was in the line of the cyclone, which took place on the 30th June last, The plate glass front of the fine store having been destroyed, but fortunately without loss of life or damage to stock. Miss Guthrie, who was killed when her home was demolished was an employe of the firm.

Mr. Armstrong expressed his surprise at the criticism which appeared in The Times from the pen of Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., who, he thinks unknowingly did the country an injustice. It would be quite impossible to give an intelligent and authentic opinion regarding the West from a trip through on a railway train. Had Mr. Burnham taken the time to stop off and see the magnificent farms and farm houses, he would not have spoken so disparagingly of them. No doubt this was the way the country appealed to him as he passed through, but all the same, Mr. Armstrong thinks, that it is not correct.

The crops this year, Mr. Armstrong states, will astonish the world. They are three weeks earlier than usual, which will be of immense advantage to the farmer, as it will give him plenty of time to complete his harvesting operations when farm help is at a premium.

Mr. Armstrong, who has lived all his life in Peterborough, as also has Mrs. Armstrong, leaves for their home in the west this evening.

NEW HEAD OF THE S. A. ARMY

Bramwell Booth, Son of Late General, Appointed Head of Salvation Army

New York, Aug. 21.—William Bramwell Booth, a son of the late William Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, has been appointed head of the Army to succeed his father. This announcement was made at Salvation Army headquarters here this afternoon, after a cable message announcing the appointment had been received from London.

Bramwell Booth started in at 15 years of age scrubbing floors and doing other menial work at the London headquarters at $1.25 a week.

CORSICAN IS AT LIVERPOOL

Capt. Cook Relates Story of Collision With Iceberg

ITALIANS TOOK TO BOATS

Most Passengers Deny That There Was a Panic on Board—Purse for Captain.

Liverpool, Aug. 21.—The Allan Line steamer Corsican, which struck an iceberg east of Belle Isle near Newfoundland on the afternoon of Aug. 12, while on her voyage from Montreal for this port, arrived here this morning. The forepart of the vessel was protected with collision bulkheads. Otherwise she showed no signs of damage.

Story of the Mishap.

Capt. Cook, the commander of the Corsican, in the course of an interview when the vessel had docked, said:

"The weather was hazy when the Corsican collided with the iceberg on August 12th. She was travelling at dead slow speed when the iceberg was sighted right ahead. The engines were immediately put astern, but the Corsican touched before she could be stopped. She suffered no damaged below ten feet of the water line. The crew was at once called to stations and the boats were swung out, but were soon taken back again. All the water-tight doors were at once closed. The weather continued foggy for four days after the collision but the ship was able to proceed at moderate speed. Her bows were protected with collision bulkheads."

Contradictory Reports.

Most of the passengers of the Corsican say that there was no panic on board at the time of the collision. Two Cambridge students, named Bethel and Stevens, however, say they were almost thrown out of their bunks by the violence of the impact. They also assert that a number of passengers were panic-stricken and that one woman called on everybody to kneel and pray.

The students assert that a hundred tons of ice fell on the ship's decks and that there was 19 feet of water in the hold last Sunday.

The crew they said, were unable to stop in the forecastle after the collision. Several of the passengers had narrow escapes.

Jumped Into Boats.

Stevens continued: "Several Italians on board were seized with panic, grabbed their bags and jumped into the boats. If we had taken to the boats there would have been no chance of being picked up as the fog bank was said to be 100 miles wide. As a metter of fact we did not sight a boat for two days."

The Captain asserts that the Corsican did not ship any water.

The passengers held a meeting today shortly before their arrival and presented Capt. Cook with a gold watch and a purse of gold.

ENGLISH-FRENCH SCHOOL AT VANKLEEK HILL

Claims That The Ontario Education Department Has Not Dealt Fairly With English Speaking People

Gall and wormwood! For centuries these words have epitomized the very dregs of bitterness for mankind. But the people of this district regard this concoction of the ancients as very honey in the honeycomb compared to what they have had to submit to at the hands of the Department of Education

The cup of bitterness is filled to overflowing for the English-speaking people of this district by the appearance in the local press of a very innocent advertisement. It reads as

ENGLISH-FRENCH MODEL SCHOOL AT VANKLEEK HILL
OPENS SEPTEMBER 3RD.

Principal ... ... John Hartley.
Assistant ... ... Valenda A. Laroque.

The English-French Model School at Vankleek Hill has been established for the preparation of candidates for Third Class certificates valid in the English-French Public and Separate Schools.

Under certain conditions the Department of Education will pay the travelling expenses and $3.00 a week of the cost of the board and lodging of students in attendance.

For the circular detailing the conditions of admission, the courses of study, the examination requirements, and the payment of board and travelling expenses, applications should be made to the Deputy Minister of Education, Toronto, not later than August 21st.

A. H. U. COLQUHOUN,
Deputy Minister of Education.
Department of Education, July 31st, 1912.

That is the advertisement. On the face of it, it is innocent enough. To appreciate the feelings of the English-speaking people of this district when they read it, it is necessary to go back a few years.

Why It Galls.

Briefly expressed, the facts are these:

The public school building in Vankleek Hill was formerly the home of a prosperous and effective English Model school.

This English Model school was wiped out of existence in the general closing up of Model schools throughout the Province some five years ago. The town of Vankleek Hill at that time made a strenuous effort to retain the school.

Two years ago a renewed effort was made to secure the reopening of the school, the attention of the Department of Education being called to its record. The answer of the Department was that the Model school of this district was at Cornwall.

The English-speaking people have been unable to secure a Model school to ensure properly qualified teachers for the numerous small schools of the district.

In spite of these facts, in spite of the fact that the Department has promised to place a limit to the encroachment of French in the schools of the Province, an English-French Model school is to be opened at Vankleek Hill for the training of English-French teachers.

Not Equal Justice.

No Model school for the English-speaking residents; an assisted Model school for the French element.

Where it was a sacrifice to the families of the English-speaking teachers in training to attend at the old school, there is to be a royal road to qualification for the English-French teachers in training, as under certain conditions they are to receive travelling expenses and $3 a week for board. There was no allowance for board in the English Model school, and more than that, there were fees of $20 for the term to be met by each teacher in training.

A Bit of History.

Fifteen years ago there was a Model school located in the fine public school building here. There were at that time some thirty teachers in training in attendance. In recent years the attendance varied between 18 and 25. Then, some five years ago, in an effort to force teachers to take a course at the Normal schools, the bulk of the Model schools through the Province were closed. Among others which went out of existence was that at Vankleek Hill.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St. directly opposite Creeman's store.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6½ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit? If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Tin.

Who first found tin? There is a legend among the Cornish miners that St. Piran, an Irish hermit, was the discoverer. His ancient church in the parish of Perranzabuloe, in Cornwall, laid bare of sand by the sea many years ago, has recently been repaired. Cornish miners still keep the feast of St. Piran, who, according to the fable, first found tin, forgetting that their forefathers had long previously sold it to the Phoenicians. Possibly the legend points to the fact that this Irishman was a skillful metallurgist.

The Only One of Its Kind.

On an evening somewhere about the end of the sixteenth century a traveler from Sweden might have been observed at the door of the Rose Theatre in London. He was going to see a new piece called "Titus Andronicus," and in order to follow it in the native language he bought a copy of the play, price twelve cents, at the theatre door. When he went home to Sweden he took the book with him to show his wife and friends what strange stuff the foreigner ranted. For 300 years it was preserved and in 1904, being discovered in the home of a countrywoman, was transferred for safety to the Lund University. The book is the only one of its kind known to exist.

A Silent Land

In the rainless interior of Australia there is a silence of the grave. This deathlike silence has a peculiarly depressing effect. If two men are camped and one of them goes to a distant township to get provisions while the other remains behind to look after the camp the man who is to remain says to his mate in forcible gold fields language: "Now, Bill, don't you be long away. You know what kind of a place this is to live in by yourself." If his mate is away for two or three days the silence gets upon the man's nerves, and in the end he shouts in order to make a noise, and then he is afraid of the sound of his own voice.

Boil Penguins For Their Oil.

In the capture of penguins for their oil there is being carried on quite an industry at Macquarie Island, which is about half way between Tasmania and the Antarctic continent. This island belongs to the state of Tasmania and has an area of about 25,000 acres, being about 25 miles long and five miles wide. It is leased by the Tasmanian Government to Joseph Hatch, who has established the penguin oil industry there.

There are probably 80,000,000 penguins on the island, so that the stock to be drawn from seems almost limitless. There are also a large number of sea elephants about its shores. The oil is obtained from the penguins by boiling the carcasses in digesters capable of dealing with 800 birds at a time. It is barreled up and sold to binder twine makers in Australia and New Zealand.

Macquarie Island is about 750 miles southeast of Hobart. It is barren, being covered only with tussocky grass. Whaling ships visiting there have introduced rabbits and Maori hens, which are now quite prolific. The Mawson Antarctic expedition from Australia has established a wireless station there, and daily messages are now being received at Hobart.

Alsace-Lorraine.

Alsace-Lorraine has an area of 5,601 square miles and about 2,000,000 inhabitants. Its people are noted for their thrift and industry. It is rich in mineral resources, and its industries are many, varied and progressive.

Shocking.

"There is one class of men who, no matter how brave they are, will not handle their subject without gloves."

"Who are they?"

"Electric linemen."

Long Beards.

Howell's "Welsh Celebrities" says "Llewenn had the longest beard of which we have record. When loose and flowing it fell down over his horses shoulders almost to the animal's knees. It was of a peculiar yellow or straw color, which was all the more curious, both his parents being dark haired mountain Welsh people. Years afterward the mountain people had proverbs which referred to this freak, they often using the expression 'About as long as Howland's beard' or 'Yellow as the whiskers of Llewenn'."

George Kilingworth, whom Queen Mary sent to Russia in 1555 as one of her agents to Czar Ivan the Terrible, had a beard five feet three inches in length, and Count Ruloff of Poland, 1687, rejoiced in the possession of a moustache which was so long that he could not touch the ends of it with his fingers.

Above the Laws.

Some men think money can do anything. A certain rich man sent for the doctor, who looked him over and then pronounced judgment.

"You have been living too high."

"Maybe I have. There are many good things in the Pittsburgh markets."

"No levity. You have violated nature's laws."

"Well, I guess I have."

"And you must pay the penalty."

"Pay the penalty? Oh, come now doc. Can't you get me off on a technicality or something?"

Moody's Reply.

"How am I to know if I am a true Christian?" a lady once asked Mr. Moody at the close of a revival meeting. Mr. Moody is said to have replied: "Ask your servants, madam. They are sure to know."

A Tactful Hint.

"I hope you appreciate the fact, sir, that in marrying my daughter you marry a large hearted, generous girl?"

"I do, sir, and I hope she inherits those qualities from her father."

THE FUTURE OF CHINA.

A writer in a newspaper circulating largely among those interested in Oriental affairs deals with the outlook of affairs in China in a way which seems to indicate special knowledge and considerable insight. As he says the aspect of Chinese affairs at the present moment, to use a national idiom, "causes one furiously to think." As a rule, reaction follows a social upheaval, and that must be expected; but it is a question whether the reflex consequences of the revolutions in China are not becoming greater than was anticipated by politicians who do not take too rosy a view of political affairs.

The downfall of the Manchu was, viewed historically, too easily accomplished. The area which was the arena of conflict was too small to arouse the practical interest of China's teeming millions, for in the cen- demic interest—and millions have not tre of governments the wide spread population have little beyond an aca- even that. To the hordes of starving toilers in the interior news of the proaching millenium. Manchu rule revolution aroused hopes of an ap- and taxation being abolished, every beggar was to be set on horseback and freedom was to be spelled with a big F.

Therehas been disappointment and disillusionment, and many who rebelled and made sacrifices are wondering what they will gain by it.

Ofcourse, much of which the people complain was a very natural consequence of such a "shake-up" as China experienced. In China, as elsewhere, many with greatness suddenly thrust upon them hastened to avail themselves of the benefits of their new positions. We read of one general marching his troops to his own district, and disbanding them there miles from their homes, practically forcing on them work in his own mines as an alternative to starvation. In other cases arrears of pay have never reached the men; the country at large finds the old taxes in force, and reaction in this instance is the outcome of disillusionment fostered by disappointed men. The revolution has merely changed the letter and not the spirit of things as they were. A parvenue aristocracy has replaced the ancient nobility and their ill-judged actions, their drastic administration added to the generally bad state of affairs throughout the country, has brought about a state of instability, in which anything may happen.

The question arises, what is to be looked for in the future; what guarantees can the Republican Government at Pekin give that China will not again pass through a state of chaos? On the face of things they must be few. A president ready to relinquish office as soon as trouble manifests itself in the north, and a government in the south elected by the few and faced by a desperate opposition, cannot be looked upon as the best signs of permanent peace.

At [illegible] China has a chance such as the country never had before, and it may yet rise superior to the troubles which menace it. If a sincere effort is made to free the country from the curse of the opium traffic and female degradation and slavery, we may entertain the brightest hopes for China's future.

Liquid Cough Mixtures Can't Cure Bronchitis

But the Healing Fumes of Catarrhozone, Which are Breathed to the Furthest Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Bring Quick Relief and Sure Cure.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments need a soothing, healing, medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and the lungs, attacks the trouble at the root disperses the germs of the disease and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure medicinal essences, whereas, with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from Catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhozone, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhozone is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only give temporary relief but will always cure permanently."

Yours sincerely, (Signed)
WILLIAM RAGAN,
Brockville, Ont."

For absolute, permanent cure use Catarrhozone. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c, at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

ENGLISH--FRENCH SCHOOL

The removal of the school was felt to be a serious blow to the educational interests of the counties of Prescott and Russell. For the attendance at the school had numbered candidates from Carleton, Russell, Glengarry, and even from Ottawa. The school had a good reputation as one that was doing effective work in qualifying teachers for the great number of small schools in these counties. Mayor Paquette and a deputation went to Toronto and interviewed the authorities at the Department, but without results. All the Government had given towards the support of this school was $500 a year, and the municipality had done, and was ready to do, all the rest.

Department Not Interested.

Two years ago another strang effort was made by the English-speaking residents to secure the reopening of the school. They prepared a careful record of the history and accomplishments of the old Model school, the teachers that had been trained here, and their records.

"The only notice taken of this by the Department was a curt notification that the Model school for the district was at Cornwall" declared C. S. Northcott, chairman of the Public School Board.

And now notice has gone out that an English-French Model school is to open in September. Already the money of the Department of Education is assured for alterations in St. Mary's Convent, where the new school for the training of English-French public and separate school teachers is to be held.

The convent and the public school stand back to back. A stone could be tossed from one to the other. The public school has been deprived of its Model school, where for years teachers for English public and separate schools were trained. The convent is enriched by the acquisition of the Model school.

Case in a Nutshell.

The case is put in a nutshell by H. C. Jones of this town. He says: "We paid all but $500 of the expenses, we furnished the building free, we supplied the county with teachers, and they do away with our Model school where we trained teachers to teach in English, and they put in its place an institution to train teachers to teach in French, and they pay the expenses."

When the Public School Board found that it was the intention of the Government to open the new Model school they offered the public school building for that purpose.

"Here's our building with two vacant rooms, why not come to us?" Mr. Northcott says he asked Inspector Summerby.

"It might not be beneficial to your own school," is Inspector Summerby's reported reason for refusing to consider the offer.

Altering the Convent.

The Government has brushed aside this offer, and instead has assured a sum estimated at $300 to assist in remodelling three rooms in St. Mary's Convent. It is also stated that $300 is to be spent in improvements to the convent grounds, this amount also being a Government grant. The rooms will be rented for, it is said, $500 a year, by the Department.

E. Z. Labrosse, secretary of the Separate School Board, would not confirm any of the figures which are mentioned on the street here. He stated that he was still in communication with the Department, and Mary's Convent, where the new that things were not all settled yet.

Principal's Salary.

"We have nothing to do with that; the Government hires the principal," he remarked, when asked whether it was true that the Government was to pay $2,000 a year to the principal of the institution, as well as paying half the salary of the assistant.

"Hires and pays?" he was asked.

"Yes," he answered with a nod.

Edward Roberts, chairman of the Separate School Board, had heard a rumor that the Government was going to assist in paying the Board of the teachers-in-training, but he could not believe it.

"I cannot credit it," he declared.

It is further stated that the County Council at its next session in October will be asked to furnish a grant for the English-French Model school.

The position of inspector of English schools for the county is vacant, since the transfer of Inspector Summerby to the inspectorate of English-French schools. Apprehension is felt that the largely French County Council will not be over careful to select a properly qualified man for the inspection of the English schools.

BIG ATTRACTION FOR OTTAWA EXHIBITION

The official programme for the Dominion Exhibition and 25th annual Central Canada Fair, to be held jointly in Ottawa, from September 5th to 16th, is now available to anyone who applies for it to the office, in Ottawa. The booklet contains a terse summary of the big features arranged for the great Exhibition.

It is the first time the Dominion Exhibition has been brought within easy access of the people of Central Canada and it is evident that the event will attract thousands, who have not attended past Ottawa Fairs. The $50,000 federal grant, with the prestige of the Dominion Exhibition, gives the enterprise a unique advantage over any other Fair in Canada. On Ottawa's hundred acres of Fair ground will assemble thousands of peerless, well-bred animals and the rarest products of the field, in competition for $30,000 in prizes. Four immense pavilions will teem with manufactured wares, varying from tiny novelties to massive machinery.

New uses for labor-saving contrivances will be taught by demonstrations that impart information while they entertain the visitor. Government experts will carry out a large programme of educational work.

Before a grand stand of 12,000 seating capacity will appear clowns, gymnasts, balloonists, musicians, cavalry, infantry, cadets, race horses, equestrians, trained elephants, and miscellaneous vaudeville stars, gathered from two hemispheres. The Night Shows will be spectacular with a war pageant, chariot-of-fire races and pyrotechnics.

Five provinces and two states enjoy excursion rates to the Dominion Exhibition at one-third the usual cost of travel. The policy of assisting far-off producers to bear freight charges has drawn exhibits in carloads from the remotest parts of Canada. British Columbia will be represented by many splendid displays and all other provinces in like proportion.

For horse races, jumping, etc., there is $5,000 in premiums and every attraction is high-class. Six-for-a-dollar tickets, good at the gate any time and grand stand in the afternoon, are on sale all this month.

NEW YORK HERALD, SUNDAY, AUGUST 25

How the greatest pageant which the United States has ever projected may become a permanent naval exposition, floating in the autumn from one American port to another, is graphically told by Representative Steven B. Ayres in the forthcoming number of the Sunday New York Herald, August 25. One of the most remarkable mausoleums ever planned with its perpetual vigil of light and its warder ever on guard, is described and pictured. This government is making an interesting sociological experiment in its best prison, which, however, is not in this country. If you would know how the Wilson campaign backers are getting a run for their money, do not fail so read the Herald.

Did you ever consider what might happen if you fell overboard at sea? One who knows all about rescues tells exactly what you and the rescuers would experience.

Sprightly fiction, an article on art, and the best Woman's Page in the United States are some of the features of the forthcoming number.

TRIALS OF TRAVEL IN PERSIA.

The Ubiquitous Caravan and the Crude Methods of Transportation.

In Persia it is no simple undertaking to prepare for a caravan journey of 150 miles or so, as your arrangements must allow for at least eight days on the road—in many places merely a rough, stony track through mountain gorges. A string of six or eight mules is required, and you have to be smart at a bargain when you haggle with the owner of the beasts, though as a matter of fact the muleteer generally gets his price. The next business is the engagement of a smart boy for the road and a cook to prepare the meals, and upon their character the entire comfort of your caravan journey depends.

Persian servants could give points to the most expert swell mobsman going. They always make the very best use of opportunities for plunder when the provisions for the trip are bought. Gradually, however, the large saddle bags begin to swell out with packets of tea, loaves of sugar, tins of provisions, rice, meat, bread, candles, coal and other necessaries. You have also to provide a new samovar, plates, knives, forks, spoons, together with a teapot and tea cups.

Fortunately for eight months of the year in Persia the sun shines continually out of a fine blue sky, so journeys are generally taken under ideal conditions. Rain adds the last note of desolation to the mostly barren land, making the miserable villages, full of hungry, begging people, and the gloomy, fortlike caravansaries gray, nightmare visions of hopelessness.

Often during the long hours of the daily march are heard the low sounding bells telling of an approaching caravan. Surrounded by huge bales of cotton, cases of opium and bundles of carpets come a troop of Persians on pilgrimage to Mecca or Kubella, who for safety's sake generally travel with a large, well-guarded caravan. Their well-filled saddlebags contain everything necessary for their six or eight months' journey. So accustomed do the Persians become to the pace of their mules they can doze comfortably on their backs through the hot hours of the afternoon without running the slightest risk of misadventure, but the westerner has to keep wide awake to preserve his equilibrium.

The most useful vehicles for long journeys in Persia are the palakis and kajavahs, the quaintest contrivances for travel to be seen anywhere. These "Persian cabs" are fixed up on mules. Each animal carries two of them. Men, women and children sit in them cross legged, a painful and irksome position for Europeans, who usually prefer to ride horse or donkey rather than screw themselves up in these boxes.

Some skill, too, is required in loading up the mule with its human freight, care being taken that the two people who travel side by side are about the same weight. If a tiny husband and a fat wife have to go together his box must be filled with ballast so as to equalize the weight. Similar care has to be exercised in dismounting, for if one passenger jumps out without giving warning of his intention his neighbor is shot to the ground with unseemly haste.

The most comfortable means of travel, sacred to the use of the wealthiest class, is the takhtiravan, a kind of palanquin consisting of a box about seven feet long and five feet high fitted with doors and windows and furnished inside with a soft mattress and luxurious cushions. The vehicle is built on the sedan chair principles, the poles resting on a sort of saddle on the backs of the mules, which are harnessed tandem. Their area of usefulness is restricted to the plains and the sensation experienced while riding in them is like being tossed in an old-time liner on the stormy Atlantic.

In southern Persia there are no roads suitable for wheeled traffic, but Tartar guided post carriages are driven four horses abreast in the northern part of the country. Tartars are most reckless drivers and as their conveyances are springless only the most hardened westerner can travel in them with impunity.

Some British Glad Raiment.

The new mantle and cloak which the king has commanded for the knights of the Grand Cross of the Victorian Order will be very handsome indeed, of dark blue satin, with a border two inches deep of red, a cordon of blue and gold and white silk lining. The collar to be worn on "collar days" is beautiful indeed—all blue enamel and gold roses, with carbuncle centres and white enamel inscriptions. In the centre of all Queen Victoria's medallion is shown in gold. —London Gentlewoman.

BALLINGTON MAKES STATEMENT ABOUT THE ESTRANGEMENT

New York, Aug. 21.—Denying that any member of the Salvation Army had attempted to reconcile him with his father, General Wm. Booth, who died last night in London, Ballington Booth, estranged son of the dead commander, to-day made the following statement:

"Ballington Booth deplores any reference being made at this sad time to the estrangement between him and his father, which arose purely over matters of government and principle more than sixteen years ago. He desires to be silent about the Salvation Army statement, except to say that he has always treated his father with the deference due to a great man.

"His youngest brother and second sister are also out of the Army and he has no knowledge of any effort being made within these last days or at any time toward reconciliation. He would have gone to his sister, Eva, but when he and his brother, Herbert, attempted to offer their sympathy at the time of Mrs. Booth Tucker's death, they were met with rebuff.

"He has sought to avoid on this occasion a repetition of the public appearance of disagreement. Sympathy has been written with affectionate solicitude to his brother, Bramwell Booth."

CHEESE BOARD

Large Quantity Boarded On Wednesday's Meeting

The twenty factories that were represented at the Cheese Board meeting Wednesday morning boarded 2,250 cheese in all.

Mr. R. W. Warde, instructor for the county, made a short address in which he stated that in company with Instructor Publow and McKay, the latter of the Guelph Agricultural College, and Ald. Gillespie, he had made a tour of the factories Tuesday in an automobile and had found everything in a generally satisfactory condition.

"The most of the factories are well kept," said Mr. Warde, "but in some of them—" here he paused and made an expressive gesture.

"Name those factories," said several members of the Board.

"I will not," answered Mr. Warde, "but have no doubt that they will do better."

The bidding was soon over, stopping at 13 3-8.

BREWSTER'S MILLIONS AT THE GRAND.

Season Opens With a Splendid Production of This High Class Comedy.

The opera season opened at the Grand last night with Al. Rick's presentation of New York's big modern success, "Brewster's Millions." The audience was large and appreciatively demonstrative of the highly creditably manner in which the comedy was handled by a well balanced company. Unfortunately the beauty of the far-famed yacht scene was marred by the untimely burning out of the stage transformer, thus eliminating the electrical effects used for staging this act. However, both the Opera House and company managements rose splendidly to the occasion, and very creditably presented the stormy marine scene, a difficult one to handle even under the most favorable conditions.

Mr. Clyde Bates fits readily and naturally into the cast of Monty Brewster, his interpretation of which character is irresistably humorous. Mr. J. A. Mason and William McCrystall, as Nopper Harrison and Sunshine McCloud, respectively offer strong and pleasing support; and, together with "Monty" and Miss Catharine Cosgriff as Peggy Gray, are quite at home in the few lines of pathos that crop up here and there throughout the piece.

Last night's audience was delighted at the natural abandon with which "Monty" spent a million in twelve months to gain seven millions and the frantic efforts of his friends to stay his apparently insane extravagance.

PROMINENT SEATTLE MAN IN THE CITY

The Times had a visit yesterday from Mr. M. M. Colquhoun, of Seattle, who is on a brief trip east in connection with the development of the oil fields of the Colonial Oil Company, of which he is secretary. Mr. Colquhoun's object is to endeavor to interest capital in the undertaking, which is undoubtedly of a very lucrative character. Mr. Colquhoun has been a resident of Seattle for over thirty years, being a native of Morrisburg, Ont., where he has relatives. He represents a company which is owned and controlled by men of wealth and high business standing. He will remain in the city only a day or two before resuming his journey eastward. Those who have capital to invest in what we believe is not only an absolutely safe proposition, but where large profits are likely to accrue, should make it a point to see Mr. Colquhoun before he leaves the city. He is registered at the Oriental Hotel.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While such fund is only $60,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

TWO MEN OF NERVE.

A Dramatic Incident at the Siege of Varsovie.

It is doubtful if the soldiers of any nation are braver than those of Russia. It is related of Field Marshal Paskievitch that in the course of the siege of Varsovie, being somewhat discommoded by a hot fire from a certain battery, he ordered it to be shelled, but to no purpose. His troops did not seem able to locate the enemy, and their shot had no effect. Finally the field marshal himself galloped forward and sternly commanded:

"What imbecile is in command here?"

"I am," answered an officer who approached.

"Well, captain, I shall degrade you since you do not know your business. Your shells have no effect."

"True, sir, but it is not my fault. The shells do not ignite."

"Tell that to others. Don't come trying to fool me with such chaff. You will receive your punishment this evening."

The captain coolly took a shell from a pile near by, lit the fuse and, holding it in the palms of his hands, presented it to the marshal, saying:

"See for yourself, sir."

The marshal, folding his arms across his breast, stood looking at the smoking shell. It was a solemn moment. Both men stood motionless, awaiting the result. Finally the fuse burned out, and the captain threw the shell to the ground.

"It's true," remarked the marshal, turning away to consider other measures to silence the enemy's fire.

In the evening, instead of punishment, the captain received the cross of the Order of St. Vladimir.

Wilkie Collins' Masterpiece

After Wilkie Collins' "Woman In White" had been written, and the time has come to begin its serial publication a title had not yet been found. A story could not be published without a title, but neither the author nor his friends could hit upon one that seemed suitable. Dickens had been appealed to and had failed; so had Forster, who was prolific in good titles. Collins was in despair. The day was approaching when the story must begin. So one day the novelist took himself off to Broadstairs, determined not to return until a title had been found. He walked for hours along the cliff between Kingsgate and what is called Bleak House; he smoked a case of cigars, and all to no purpose. Then, vexed and much worn out by the racking of his brains, he threw himself on the grass as the sun went down. He was lying facing the North Foreland Lighthouse, and, half in bitter jest, half unconsciously, he began to apostrophize it thus:

"You are ugly and stiff and awkward, and you know you are—as stiff and as weird as my white woman—white woman—woman in white—the title, by Jove!"

A title had been hit upon, and the author went back to London delighted.

Missing Women.

The British Home Secretary gives in the Parliamentary papers a set of astounding figures regarding the number of women who were reported to the London police as having disappeared during the last twelve months. In reply to Mr. Snowden he writes: "During the last twelve months, 1,118 girls between the ages of 10 and 16 were reported to the Metropolitan Police as missing. Of these 1,102 were traced. Two thousand six hundred and seventy-six women of all ages above 16 were reported as missing, and 2,540 of them were traced. In the case of the 16 girls and 136 women who were not traced, their absence is in many cases explainable, for such reasons as their having abscond d to avoid paying debts, having quarrelled with friends or husbands, and a variety of other causes. One woman is known to have gone abroad with a foreigner with whom she had been keeping company."

The knights of the days of chivalry were so well protected by their armor that they were practically invincible to all ordinary weapons. Even when dismounted they could not be injured save by the misericorde, a thin dagger, which penetrated the chains of the armors. In more than one battle knights fallen from their horses could not be killed until their armor had been broken up with axes and hammers.

In Senegal red rice grows wild. The fields in which is grows are inundated regularly by the Senegal or by its affluents, and in measure as the tide rises the rice plant rises above the flood. The grain is very red and very dry and hard. It swells in the water and as it swells loses some of its rich color. It is very nourishing and requires no cultivation.

The death of Mr. Barrett Browning, the only son of the famous poet, which has occurred at the Italian town of Asolo as the result of asthma, recalls the romantic love story of Robert and Elizabeth Browning. Elizabeth Barrett's father had an almost insane objection to any of his three daughters marrying, and Robert Browning's addresses to her were perforce kept secret. Finally, on Sept. 12, 1846, the two were secretly married at St. Marylebone Church in London. A week later Elizabeth, slipping out of her father's house, departed with her husband for Italy. In April, 1847, they took up their residence in Florence. Of "Casa Guidi" the home where their only son was born in 1849, Mrs. Browning wrote, "We live for nothing or next-to-nothing, have six beautiful rooms and a kitchen, three of them quite palace rooms, and opening on a terrace opposite the grey wall of a church called 'San Felice' for good omen." The name "Wiedemann," which was bestowed on their child, was the maiden name of Robert Browning's mother, the daughter of a German shipmaster who had settled in Dundee and married a Scottish wife. Robert Browning loved his mother passionately, and her death, coming soon after his son's birth, was a terrible blow to him.

Mrs. Browning's father, whose family name was Moulton, and who had taken that of Barrett on succeeding to estates in Jamaica, never forgave his daughter for her audacity in marrying against his will. When she returned to England with her husband and child he refused to see her, and when she wrote pleading that he would at least kiss the child, the letter went unanswered. On the death of his wife at Florence in 1861 Browning took his son to London to be educated. The boy was brought up in his father's house at 19 Warwick crescent, the poet having resolved to train his son for the university without sending him to a public school. The profession eventually chosen by Mr. Barrett Browning was that of an artist. The poet himself had at intervals exhibited a strong artistic bent outside literature, and occasionally suspended his other work to devote himself to modelling. The early successes of his son as a painter gave him great pleasure. In October, 1887, the younger Browning married Miss Fannie Coddington, an American lady, and the two eventually resided in the Palazzo Rezzonico, at Venice, where the poet breathed his last.

The records of the lives of the Brownings show the deep affection they had for their son. When Mrs. Browning's "Aurora Leigh" was nearly finished, the Brownings left Florence for England, and on the journey the box containing the manuscript was lost at Marseilles. In the same box were also packed velvet suits and lace collars in which the little son was to have made a brave appearance before his English relatives. His mother's distress at the loss of her son's wardrobe far outweighed her concern for the manuscript. Happily the box was recovered. Robert Browning, referring to the composition of "Aurora Leigh," wrote: "My wife used to write it and lay it down to hear our child spell." Asolo was the scene not only of Robert Browning's "Alsolando," but of his equally famous poems, "Pippa Passes" and "Sordello." The town was in the 15th century the residence of the beautiful Caterina Cornaro, the last Quuen of Cyprus, after the forced resignation of her kingdom to the Venetians in 1489. The ruins of the castle that she inhabited are one of many old-time relics in the town which is surrounded by a wall with mediaeval turrets.

GROTESQUE FASHIONS.

Queerly Arrayed Women of the Rubber Jungles of Brazil.

It was a queer civilization that Algot Lange found among the rubber workers at Remate de Males, in Brasil, and described in his book, "In the Amazon Jungles." "The rubber worker is a well-paid laborer even though he belongs to the unskilled class. The tapping of the rubber trees and the smoking of the milk pay from $8 to $10 a day in American gold. This, to him, of course, is riches, and the men labor here in order that they may go back to their own province as wealthy men. There are fewer women than men in Remate de Males, and none of the former is beautiful. They are for the most part Indians or Brazilians from the province of Ceara, with very dark skin, hair and eyes, and teeth filed like shark's teeth. They go barefooted as a rule. Here you will find all the incongruities typical of a race taking the first step in civilization. The women show in their dress how the well-paid men lavish on them the extravagances that appeal to the lingering savage left in their simple natures.

"Women, who have spent most of their isolated lives in utterly uncivilized surroundings, will suddenly be brought into a community where other women are found, and immediately the instinct of self adornment is brought into full play. Each of them falls under the sway of 'Dame Fashion'—for there are the latest things even on the upper Amazon. A red skirt with green stars was considered at one time the height of fashion, until an inventive woman discovered that yellow dots could also be worked in.

In addition to these dresses, the women will squander money on elegant patent leather French slippers (with which they generally neglect to wear stockings), and use silk handkerchiefs perfumed with the finest Parisian eau de cologne, bought at a cost of from $14 to $15 a bottle. Arrayed in all her glory on some gala occasion, the whole effect enhanced by the use of a short pipe, from which she blows volumes of smoke, the woman of Remates de Males is a unique sight."

COMEDY IN COURT.

Trick by Which a French Lawyer Won a Hopeless Murder Case.

Maitre Lachand, the famous advocate, was perhaps the greatest master of comedy in France, and not a few eminent actors envied him his marvelous powers of mimicry. He was once employed to defend a murderer, against whom the facts were hopelessly clear.

When his pathetic appeals and his tears —, which were always at call when he pleaded before a country jury —failed to touch his stolid audience, he resorted to a most impudent piece of trickery. Thrusting his moistened white handkerchief into his pocket, he demanded if the jurors were men, if they had human hearts, if they could bring themselves to condemn a fellow man like the accused, whom he had credited with all sorts of chivalrous if not saintly merits.

His eloquence was not merely fruitless, but the jury responded to it at first with uneasy shuffling, then with biting lips, and finally with loud and uncontrolled bursts of laughter. Lachand, while flinging about his hands, had intentionally dipped his fingers into the great inkpot in front of him, and as he drew his right hand across his forehead, as if in agony of despair at the certain fate of the accused, he left upon his brow an enormous black mark like a crescent moon and drew two other black traces down his cheeks as he put his fingers to his eyes to dash away the tears.

Feigning high moral indignation at their conduct, he continued: "You are about to decide whether one of your fellow men shall be thrust by you out of the ranks of the living, and you choose such a moment for indulging in cruel and thoughtless laughter. Is this extravagant mirth a fitting mood in which to decide whether a man shall or shall not die?"

DESK FILE

It is a personal desk system! Keeps the details of your work always at your finger tips. It automatically reminds you of your appointments and engagements, it calls attention to collections due, prospective orders that need attention; it's a sort of mechanical memory—an automatic collection salesman and correspondent. It's the prod for the forgetter—the office alarm clock—the safety valve of the over burdened pigeon hole. Ask us about it.

A Curious Legend.

There is a curious legend in regard to Deadman's Place, Southwark, London. An ingenious old writer says that the name originated as follows: "In Deadman's Place, at St. Maryoverus, a man servant being buried at seven of the clocke in the morning, and the grave standing open for more dead Commodities, at foure of the clocke in the same evening he was got up alive againe by a strange miracle, which, to be true and certaine, hundreds of people can testifie that sawe him acte like a country Ghoste in his white peackled sheete." However, a more exact historian explained that the name was merely a corruption of Desmond's Place.

Becoming a Man.

The Prince of Wales looks distinctly more manly as a result of his sojourn in the Gay City, and both mentally and physically he shows the supreme advantage of a foreign social environment. The meeting between himself and his mother was a very affectionate one, and if there is one trait in his character which stands out more prominently than another, it is his profound love and admiration for the Queen. He was gaily chaffed by his sister, Princess Mary, about his French, but he speedily demonstrated to the satisfaction of those who ought to know that his time in Paris has been well utilized, by speaking the language with amazing facility. When his study in Paris comes to a close he will proceed to the long-looked-for holiday at Balmoral, prior to entering upon serious studies at Magdalen College.

Prince's New Honor.

The Prince of Wales has received one of the two Orders of the Golden Fleece—the Spanish one—on attaining his majority. He could never have got the other—the Austrian—because it is restricted to Roman Catholics. The Order was originally one, and was founded by Philip the Good, Duke of Burgunday, at Bruges in 1430, on the day of his marriage with Isabel of Portugal. There is quite a wide choice of explanations how the Order got its name. Some writers say it was taken from the Golden Fleece of Jason; others from the fleece of Gideon; others again suggest that woollen manufacture was then the staple industry of the Netherlands, where the Order was founded. Lastly, lovers of romance have claimed that the duke named the Order after "the fleece of golden hair" of his mistress, Marie de Rambrugge. But this would hardly have been delicate, even in the 15th century, on the day of the founder's marriage.

Angelo's Verdict.

Once a painter notorious for plagiarisms executed a historical picture in which every figure of importance was copied from some other artist, so that very little remained to himself. It was shown to Michael Angelo by a friend, who begged his opinion of it. "Excellently done," said Angelo, "only at the day of judgment, when all bodies will resume their own limbs again, I do not know what will become of that historical painting, for there will be nothing left of it."

A Curse and a Coincidence.

Superstitious folk in Germany are attributing the tragic death of Prince George of Cumberland to the far-reaching effects of a curse. His great-grandfather had a Swiss valet, who in 1810 was found dead under suspicious circumstances, and many people suspected his master of murdering him. Mme. Sellis, the valet's mother, was so convinced that this was the case that she journeyed from Switzerland to London, confronted the Duke of Cumberland and cursed him and his children to the fourth generation. Nine years later the duke's only son came into the world stone blind. His son in turn, the present duke, was born without a nose and has to wear an artificial one, and now Prince George has been killed shortly after making a marvelous recovery from an illness which had crippled him for years.

Interested in Agriculture.

The British Royal Agricultural Society has secured a very distinguished president for next year. The Earl of Northbrook is the head of the great Baring family, to which Lord Cromer and Lord Revelstoke also belong. The family owes its rise to John Baring, son of Franz Baring, a minister of the Lutheran Church at Bremen. This John Baring settled at Larkbeer, near Exeter, in 1747, and rapidly attained prosperity as a merchant and cloth manufacturer. Francis, his third son, became the first baronet, and founded the London family which has given so many distinguished servants to the state.

Japanese Persistence.

Wakao Ippei, the wealthiest man in the province of Yamanashi, Japan, did not learn to read until he was sixty years of age, nor had he up to that time begun to accumulate his present great fortune. At the age of ten he started to make his own way in the world. At one time he was a ragpicker. His first real business venture was the purchase of crystal balls, which sold at a good profit. As he grew in wealth he entered the silk field, in which most of his money was made. After reaching the age of sixty he engaged a tutor in Chinese classics, which study he pursued until his ninetieth year.

"Deprived of His See."

As an example of the ability of the juvenile scholar to evolve an unexpected meaning from his text a correspondent relates that the following question was put to a history class: "What misfortune then happened to Bishop Odo?" The reply came quite readily, "He went blind." An explanation was demanded, and the genius brought up the textbook. "There, sir," triumphantly: "the books says so." The sentence, indicated by an ink-stained digit, read, "Odo was deprived of his see."—London Spectator.

Whole Hog or None.

"Whole hog or none" refers to the alleged custom of Mohammed to allow his followers to eat all except one portion of a pig, which portion, however, was not specified. The result, therefore, was that if a Mohammedan did not wholly avoid the use of pork he might as well run the risk of consuming the whole hog as to eat any portion thereof.

Had Stomach Rumblings Distress Before Meals

Was Seldom Free From that Weary, Droopy, Half Dead Feeling.

Now Cured, and Gives Good Advice to Pthers With Dyspeptic Tendencies.

If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience, which is told by Mr. Edward Dawkins:

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

Refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c per box or five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

LAST WATER TRIP TO LINDSAY

On Friday, Aug. 23, Str. Stoney Lake will leave Wolfe street wharf at 7.30 a.m. for Lindsay. Round trip boat and rail $1.00.

C.M.B.A. Excursion.

A very enjoyable outing took place yesterday in the form of the C.M.B.A. annual excursion to Stoney Lake. A large number of people took in the trip and enjoyed the outing.

The Health Act Violated.

Messrs. Alex. Reid, Isaac Noble and J. E. Lillico appeared at the Police Court yesterday, charged with a violation of the Health Act, by not providing suitable covered receptacles for manure. The cases were enlarged for a week.

Axle Broke.

A wagon belonging to E. Wotten, while driving down Bethune street, yesterday afternoon an axle broke and the right hind wheel came off. An iron pipe was run down underneath the wagon, under the rear axle and the cart proceeded onward.

A Serious Offence.

Harry Johnston, of Cordova was charged at the Police Court yesterday with indecent assault. He was remanded until Tuesday, when it is probable that the accused will be committed for trial to a higher court. He was represented in court by G. N. Gordon.

Charged With Theft.

At the Police Court yesterday, Mort. Philips, of Campbellford, was charged with the theft of a bicycle wheel. He elected to be tried summarily and was remanded until Saturday. It is said that the parents of the youth are prepared to make restitution.

At the Grand Opera House.

"Brewster's Millions" was presented at the Grand Opera House last night, to a large and appreciative audience. The play was splendidly put on and the cast well maintained throughout. It was the opening attraction of the season, and the large audience present would indicate a greatly increased patronage during the coming season.

Peterborough Scouts at Exhibition.

About twenty-five Peterborough Boy Scouts will leave for Toronto Exhibition on Wednesday morning, Aug. 28th at 7.48 a.m., by C.P.R. Each boy will pay his own railway fare and there will be no other expenses. Each boy will carry his own haversack, whatever toilet articles he needs and the blankets will be supplied in Toronto.

A Narrow Escape.

Yesterday morning a boy about 14 years of age, so narrowly escaped being killed, that it will make his hair stand on end every time he thinks of it. While crossing the G.T.R. track in front of a freight car he stopped to pick something up and apparently did not notice another freight approaching. A man passing on the station yelled to him and he jumped only just in time.

Normal Entrance.

Successful candidates who desire to attend the Normal School this coming season, must make application for admission to the Deputy Minister of Education, not later than Tuesday September 3rd. Applicants are required to be at least 18 years of age before October 1st next. The Normal School opens on September 24th at 9 a.m., at which time all candidates must present themselves.

Leaving For the West.

The first big homeseekers' excursion to the west will leave Peterborough on Friday, Aug. 23rd, present indications being that it will be largely patronized. The next will leave on Aug. 28th. Quite a number of farm laborers from this vicinity have left for Toronto to go west on the special harvesters' exursions, run by the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk Railways.

S.A. Received Cable.

Lieut.-Col. Rees received the following telegram yesterday morning from Commissioners Rees, of Toronto, who is head of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda.

"Deeply regret just received cable from Chief (Bramwell Booth) announcing General died at 5 to-night. Chief broken hearted over loss, but strong in God that he will help us pray for him, the dear ones, the Army. Let us rally round that for which the General lived and died."

Regatta at Chemong.

This afternoon promises to be a big day at Chemong, when the annual regatta will take place. The sports will commence at 1.30 p.m. No doubt the dinghy race for the Kawartha challenge cup will be the chief event, but there are others which will command almost as much interest. The war canoe race promises to be a very exciting feature, between the Y.M.C.A. and St. Paul's crews. There is great rivalry between the two crews and it will likely be a close race as the St. Paul's boat only won from the Y.M.C.A. by the narrow margin of 18 inches at the Stoney Lake Regatta. The 57th Band will render pleasing music in the afternoon and also play for the dance in the evening.

LOCAL CORPS WILL HONOR GENERAL BOOTH

Memorial Service Will Be Arranged to Take Place at an Early Date.

The death of General Booth, although looked for, comes with quite a shock to the Salvation Army in this city, as it does to its members all over the world.

Lieut.-Col. Rees, referring to the great loss which the Army has sustained through the demise of its Chief, said: "For, although for some years the administration of affairs has been left in other hands, he was intermingled with the lives of his flock, as it were, in such a manner that it will be difficult to tell how we shall get along without the old gentleman."

The Lieutenant produced a letter gram which he received this morning from the Commissioner of the Salvation Army forces in the Dominion, which reads thus:

"Deeply regret just received cable from Chief announcing General died 5 to-night. Chief brokenhearted over loss, but strong in God that He will help us. Pray for me, the dear ones, the Army. Let us rally round that for which the General lived and died. Suitably inform your officers."

Lieut.-Col. Rees is the superintendent of men's social and prison work for the Dominion. He just completed a tour East and came here and held a service last night.

In regard to memorial services, nothing has yet been arranged.

Last night there was a special service, conducted by Col. Rees, which was of a memorial character, and which was largely attended.

Are Tea and Coffee Against You?

They contain CAFFEINE — a subtle, habit-forming drug which sooner or later shows in weak heart, short breath, stomach trouble, headache, sleeplessness, rheumatic pains, etc.

Why trifle with such beverages when there's health and comfort in well-made —a palatable, nourishing food-drink, made of wheat, which rebuilds in Nature's own way.

POSTUM

The morning cup will be hot, snappy and just as satisfying with no hurt following if you have Postum in place of tea or coffee.

KNIFED.

Old Soldier's Story of Coffee.

An old soldier, released from coffee at 72, recovered his health and tells about it as follows:

"I stuck to coffee for years, although it knifed me again and again." (Tea is just as harmful as coffee because it contains caffeine—the same drug found in coffee.)

"About eight years ago I was taken with a very severe attack of malarial fever. I would apparently recover and start about my usual work only to suffer a relapse. After this had been repeated several times during the year I was again violently ill.

"The Doctor said he had carefully studied my case and it was either 'quit coffee or die,' advising me to take Postum in its place.

"I had always thought coffee one of my dearest friends, and especially when sick, and I was very much taken back by the doctor's decision, for I hadn't suspected the coffee I drank could possibly cause my troubles.

"I thought it over a few minutes and finally told the Doctor I would make the change. Postum was procured for me the same day and made according to directions. Well, I liked it and stuck to it, and since then I have been a new man.

"The change in health began in a few days and surprised me, and now, although I am seventy-two years of age, I do lots of hard work, and for the past month have been teaming, driving sixteen miles a day, besides loading and unloading the wagon. That's what Postum, in place of coffee, has done for me. I now like the Postum as well as I did the coffee."

Look for the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Tourists are beginning to find out that there are more places than Stoney Lake for a summer's outing. M. Kennedy's cottage, Loon Lake, has been well patronized this summer. Also a number have been camping at Jack's Lake for some time. Another party is at Long and Trout Lakes, and a gentleman is taking a canoe trip from Long to Louck's Cadge and other lakes, Mr. Wm. Scott acting as guide. This trip is taken with the view of selecting a favorable spot for a cottage. In all of these lakes there is good fishing. The islands in big Cedar Lake are being rapidly taken up by Toronto and Peterborough people. You can find good fishing in all of these lakes, and in season, good deer-hunting and plenty of partridge.

Messrs. Hardill and Sherwood, of Peterborough, made their regular call on the Apsey merchants Wednesday, 14th, as usual, on schedule time. They were wise enough to have Ernie along this time, to drive and take care of them. They expect in the near future to make their trips in an airship.

Mrs. Lewis and Master Harry, of Rochester, are the guests of Mrs. Wm. Hales, Apsey. Harry and the collie gave the hens and chickens an interesting time.

Mrs. Wm. Shairp, Peterborough, is visiting her niece, Mrs. John Ricklea, Clanricarde.

Messrs. D. Philips, E. Philips, Isaac Wilson and Andrew McCauley and families, of Chandos, left this week for the Northwest. They are taking their horses, some cattle, household furniture, etc. R. Gallagher is accompanying them.

Some of the bays of Loon Lake are covered with water lilies.

Mr. Geo. Prosser, of Carleton, is visiting his father, Rev. Jas. A. Prosser, Apsley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan, of Chandos, leave this week for an extended tour through the Northwest. Mr. Buchanan intends to purchase a farm up there if suited with the country. He has sold his farm and stock here by private sale.

ANOTHER BIG WAR LOOMS UP IN THE FAR EAST

Collapse of Turkish Coalition Ministry—Bulgaria Clamoring For a Fight

London, Aug. 22.—The Balkan situation is still threatening. The Albanian difficulty apparently has been settled, but the Bulgarian populace is clamoring for war, and efforts to procure a settlement with Montenegro have failed, according to reports current in European capitals; and it is believed at Constantinople that formal peace negotiations are about to be commenced at Paris between Italy and Turkey.

The peace negotiations, however, are likely to be checked by a new crisis arising from the collapse of the Turkish coalition Cabinet. Hilmi Pasha, the Minister of Justice, who favored a policy of conciliating the young Turks, has resigned, and the difficulty of reconstructing the Ministry is so great that it is not unlikely that Kiamil Pasha, who strongly opposes the committee of union and Progress, may find himself compelled to present the resignation of the whole Cabinet.

Meanwhile, according to a Turkish report, not yet confirmed from Cettinje, the Montenegrin Cabinet has fallen.

FIFTEEN RUSSIANS SENTENCED TO HANG

Tashkent, Asiatic Russia, Aug. 22.—Two hundred and twenty eight Russian non-commissioned officers and soldiers were tried by court martial in the Sappers Camp here to-day on the charge of mutiny. Fifteen of then were sentenced to be hanged, seven were acquitted and 206 sent to jail for varying terms.

SUFFRAGETTES HAVE STARTED HUNGER STRIKE IN PRISON

Sheriff's Officers Have Seized Effects of Lawrences For Costs of Recent Trial

Dublin, Aug. 22.—Mary Leigh and Gladys Evans, two suffragettes who were sentenced here on Aug. 7th to five years' imprisonment on charges of wounding John F. Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary party, with a hatchet thrown at Premier Asquith's carriage, and of setting fire to the Theatre Royal respectively, have started a "hunger strike." They are being forcibly fed by the jail officials.

London, Aug. 22.—The British suffragettes are strongly indignant to-day because Sheriff's officers entered the country house of Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, two of their leaders who are now visiting Canada and ordered the furniture to be sold in order to pay the cost of the recent conspiracy prosecution. Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence were sentenced to nine months' imprisonment on May 22 at the Old Bailey sessions, for inciting their followers to malicious damage of property, but were liberated on June 27th.

MURDER AS A PASTIME

Miner and His Sister-in-Law Killed Each Other—Girl's Father a Victim

Herrin, Ill., Aug. 22.—Thos. Guffy, President of a miners' union at Colpville, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Flober, shot each other to death here last night when the latter tried to save the life of Mrs. Guffy, who had been attacked by her husband.

Guffy's wife left him a month ago and he called at his mother-in-law's home, where she had been staying, to see her. He told her he had come to kill the entire family and fired at her. The bullet went wild and Mrs. Flober opened fire on him from a window. Several shots were exchanged between the two, Guffy receiving six bullets. Mrs. Flober was shot through the heart.

Brushed Against Girl.

Shreveport, La., Aug. 22.—Thomas P. Whitehead warned Joseph Dwyer, 16 years old, that he must not brush against young Miss Whitehead as she walked along the street last night.

"Oh, you come out to the gate and we'll talk it over," replied Dwyer.

Whitehead walked out from his verandah and was shot dead. Dwyer, in jail, exhibits small concern.

NEW S. A. GENERAL TOUR THE DOMINION

Bramwell Booth Likely to Come Some Time Before Christmas—Will Direct Settlers to This Country.

London, Aug. 22.—General Bramwell Booth, the new commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, will probably be in Canada before Christmas as part of a tour of the world, visiting Army posts. Plans have not been definitely adopted yet, but it is known that the new general and other prominent Army leaders consider it his first duty to personally cement the allegiance of the entire organization to his authority and generalship.

His accession to the command will probably mean extraordinary activities in the way of directing British immigration towards Canada.

WAR GAME CONTINUED BY OPPOSING FORCES WITH SPIRITED ACTIVITY.

SEVENTH REGIMENT MARCHING TOWARD THE ENEMY!

BLUE SENTRY GUARDING WASHINGTON BRIDGE EAST OF STRATFORD, CONN.

LAND WIRELESS AT HEADQUARTERS, STRATFORD.

The war game between the regular army forces and the National Guard men continues with spirited activity and the efforts of the opposing forces are being met with a determined stand by the defending army.

The operations of the two armies were preceded by the use of the aeroplane to locate positions and make maps of the entire ground covered by the opposing armies.

500 MEMBERS OF SLEEPING GARRISON WERE SLAUGHTERED

Successful Ambush of Rebel Forces in Nicaragua—Only 3 or 4 Escaped—Women and Children on Warships

Managua, Nicaragua, Aug. 22.—News of the Government's defeat at Leon, 50 miles to the northwest of Managua, on August 17, when the Insurgents slaughtered almost the entire garrison of the city, was confirmed to-day.

At three o'clock on Saturday morning while the troops were camped on the Plaza in the centre of Leon, the Liberals, heavily armed, quietly occupied the surrounding buildings. On Saturday night at a given signal the rebels poured a terrific fire into the sleeping garrison and of the 500 soldiers who were caught in the trap all were killed except 70.

The Insurgents captured the fortress of Leon and now are in control of the city. The town is a stronghold of the Liberals, who are the traditional enemy of the Conservatives and the capture of the town means the re-opening of war between the Liberals and Conservatives.

WOMAN AND TEN MEN TAKE TOWN

Juarez, Mexico, Aug. 22.—For a few hours to-day a Mexican Joan of Arc was the dictator of this town. With 10 rebel soldiers marching at the heels of her horse, she rode up to the police station and disarmed the provisional chief of police and six of his men. The rebels rode away mounted on the policemens' horses.

The woman fearlessly entered stores and demanded and received provisions, and then, shortly before daylight, she rode out of town with her admiring followers. She is said to be the wife of Col. Tasero Alanis, rebel commander operating around Palomas. It is believed she has gone to join her husband after her raid on this town, which is unprotected but for a few police installed at the departure last week of Orosco's rebels.

To-night a guard of 40 citizens, armed with all manner of antique weapons, is patrolling the streets.

MANAGER BARRETT OF LONDON BALL TEAM BLAMED.

Team Has Lost Ten Consecutive Games and There is Trouble in the Air.

London, Aug. 22.—The London baseball team has lost ten games in a row, and it is time to look about and determine where the fault lies.

Manager Barrett is now bearing the brunt of the blame, and while the gentleman from the university might not be a leader, the fault is not all his. There has been a lack of foresightedness all season. In the first place Bowerman should not have been kept as long as he was. It was plain to be seen after he was here a month that he was not the man for the place. He got in bad with all his men, and he had no connection with Class AA or Class B leagues, from whom to get players. When Ottawa, Brantford, Berlin, or St. Thomas wanted players the managers of these clubs had friends in the other leagues who could help them out, not so with Bowerman. He hung on with his team because there was nothing else to do. Still he was kept here.

Then Barrett was brought in and he is in the same box. Players who have been brought in during this month to strengthen the team after the season was practically over were recommended to the directors by fans interested in the welfare of the club. Sammy Smith might have been secured weeks ago, but it seems as though there was a determination to keep him out of baseball. But Sammy was finally brought here and the club directors who suspected he would "give them dirt" have taken another view of the affair.

Then the release of Brant was a mistake. The boy was not going right, and instead of giving him a chance, he was let go to Peterborough, where he has been a sensation. The directors were strongly advised not to release him. Then Powell. Peace should have been made with the first baseman. He was worth more money, but instead of adopting a conciliatory tone one or more of the board fought with him and antagonized him. Barrett was not to blame for these troubles.

DON'T LIKE ORANGEMEN

Another Bunch of Hot Stuff From the Catholic Register.

Rev. Father Burke, editor of the Register, Toronto, the official organ of the Roman Catholic Church in Ontario, publishes the following in this week's issue. We give it without comment:

The Sentinel is still talking about a marriage amendment to the B. N. A. Act, and that old darkey preacher down in Georgia is still insisting that the earth is flat.

• • •

A writer in the Bombay Examiner is busy at the present time unmasking Chiniquy and Maria Monk. They were unmasked long ago in Canada, but their dirty volumes have travelled far and are still being circulated in places where the lies contained in them cannot well be run to earth, and where the authors and their checkered careers are still unknown.

• • •

We are having a blessed rest these days from the periodical outbreaks of bigotry in the columns of the daily press. A silk-hatted delegation from Dufferin County paraded Toronto's streets on Monday last, but the speeches were tame and many of the visitors gave evidence of possessing what Harry Lauder calls "a gift." Professional bigotry during the dog-days seems doomed to failure.

• • •

Our United States contemporaries are wasting a lot of valuable space these days on these interesting bigots known as the "Guardians of Liberty." Over here we have the real malignant brand of bigotry, the ancient and honorable L.O.L., but it is in the business in order to secure political plums for the shrewd and masterful leaders. It has been instrumental in uniting Catholics and it serves in many ways to show the chuckleheadedness of real, simon-pure Protestantism. All our priests over here are busy instructing converts, and we can thank Orangeism for the wave of conversion. When bigotry is dead it is a sign that Protestantism has given way to negative or positive atheism, and the last state is worse than the first. Something can be done with a bigot, but there is no hope for a half-baked atheist.

MR. BURNHAM AT THE COAST

What The Victoria Colonist Has to Say Concerning Our M. P.

The visit of our member, Mr. J. H. Burnham, to British Columbia, is made exceedingly interesting to the readers of The Times, by the chatty and instructive letters which appear in these columns from his versatile pen. The following, from the Victoria Colonist, shows that West Peterborough's capable representative is almost as well and favorably known in the Pacific Province as he is in his native city. Our contemporary says:

Mr. Burnham is a very peculiar combination of a Conservative and a Radical. In some things he is most Conservative; in others he is Radical. He is Conservative because he believes that Canada should do all within her power to aid the Empire in the matter of defence; he is Radical because he is anxious to extend to Canada the system of old age pensions which has been adopted by Great Britain in imitation of New Zealand.

Mr. Burnham is a lawyer and an author of international repute, but above all things he is a Protestant and a sociologist.

Has Got Much Data.

And in the latter connection he had the honor of moving in the House of Commons last year a resolution in favor of the adoption by Canada of the principle of old age pensions. At first he met with opposition, and strong opposition from even the minister of finance, who seemed to be appalled at the financial burden involved in the suggestion that every person over 60 years of age in Canada should be entitled to a pension from the state; but so cogent were his arguments that he managed to secure the appointment of a special committee to investigate the conditions in Canada which would be applicable to such a system. That committee only held three or four meetings last session, but its clerk has been able to secure during the recess a mass of material which will prove startling to the people of Canada as to the number of people in Canada who would come under the operation of an old age pension system.

Mr. Burnham will see Sir Richard McBride while in Victoria and will ask his co-operation in the matter of securing information from this province as regards the number of people who might come under the operation of an old age pension system. He is already fortified with a mass of information which the clerk of the special committee of the commons has secured and he can put up a strong case for provincial action in aid of his humanitarian campaign.

A National Developer.

Mr. Burnham is greatly impressed with the development of the West; but he is more impressed with the fact that the present members of the Dominion government are men who do things rather than promise them. All along the line from Winnipeg westward he has found that the present ministers are acting, while their predecessors only talked, and the crowning proof of his experience was the announcement of the development of the harbor of Victoria.

The M.P. for Peterborough is big enough to realize that there are many sides to this Dominion, and he will go back imbued with the idea that the future prosperity of Canada depends as much upon the development of its Pacific ports as it does upon the development of its lake routes and its Atlantic water carriage. He is, in fact, a big Canadian, without limit to his national grasp of our opportunities, and those who will hear him speak at the Conservative picnic at Goldstream on Saturday next will have the pleasure of listening to one of the best orators from the Province of Ontario, who can talk good Conservative and good Canadian doctrine.

GUN MEN AT THE BORDER

Gip the Blood and Whitely Lewis Trying to Get Into Canada

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 22.—A sharp watch is being kept along the Canadian border by Burns detectives for "Gyp the Blood" and "Whitey Lewis" the fugitive gun men in the Rosenthal case. The men are said to have been seen near Buffalo recently, and it is believed that they are trying to get into Canada.

REGATTA WAS BIG SUCCESS

Until The Rain Came Down The Crowd Were Having Good Time

The regatta at Chemong Lake yesterday was largely attended and everything was carried through in the most satisfactory manner. The rain, which had been threatening, fortunately kept off until the program was completed. During the afternoon every bus and auto that was available, was in evidence carrying the crowd to and from the park. The high grassy banks afforded a splendid view of the different races. Mr. Davis, manager of the hotel, had a couple of refreshment booths which were largely patronized.

In the evening when the rain was falling in torrents, the crowd retired to the hotel and pavilion, where they remained until they could get a chance to be taken home. Those having autos were of course envied, and these were, as far as possible, placed at the disposal of those less fortunate by their owners.

The dance in the pavilion was one of the features of the occasion, and was indulged in by a large number.

The list of prize winners will appear to-morrow.

ROYALTY IS ENRICHED BY FOSTERING DRUNKENNESS

Austria's Ruling Family As Well As Russian Czar Capitalize National Vice, Which Annually Brings Huge Profits In Premiums

Vienna, Aug. 22.—The Russian Czar is not the only monarch who makes money by poisoning his people with abominable schnapps. The Emperor of Austria and members of his family are in the same business, as recently discovered. Austria protects its schnappsmakers by certain premiums, and someone made it his business to find out who got the premiums.

The government was at first unwilling to show the books, but was finally compelled to do so. It was then learned for the first time that the Emperor and the Imperial family receive fifty thousand dollars per year schnapps premiums, and that Prince Furstenberg got over sixty thousand dollars per annum.

Altogether Austria pays 14,488,647 francs per annum by way of schnapps premiums, and of this the nobility get the greater portion. Hence it is a foregone conclusion that the House of Lords will not consent to a reduction of the schnapps premiums. The opponents to this tax then will endeavor to shame the recipients of the poison tax into consenting to its abolishment. The fact that the Imperial family receive schnapps premiums will help to bring about the change, it is supposed.

THE WEATHER.

To-day: Fresh to strong southwest and west winds; a few scattered showers, but mostly fair and moderately warm.

The old corn-cake was toothsome and rare,
As our forefathers were wont to boast;
But good as it was it can't compare,
With the Toasties made by Post.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a portion of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 60 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the [illegible] Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, extensive particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager. 46 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 to J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 75c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 75c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, tones up the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives brightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., [illegible] George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Only Single Faced.

This story is told of Sir George Reid in connection with a Parliamentary election in Australia. He was addressing a meeting of electors, and one of them, a pasty faced man, repeatedly accused the speaker of being "two faced."

Sir George turned on him at last. "Well, it's pretty clear," he said, "that you are not two faced."

The man, rather staggered, blurted out, "Why?"

"Because if you were two faced," retorted Sir George, "you'd have left that one at home and brought the other!"

Alberta's Cereal Map.

The second edition of the Cereal Map of Alberta, covering the crop areas for each township, is now being issued from the Railway Lands Branch of the Department of the Interior. The efforts of the Department have been for many years directed toward placing settlers on Dominion lands in the west. The lands available for free homesteading from existing lines of transportation are now, however, approaching exhaustion, and a question of great present interest, and the interest in which will increase from year to year, is "What is being done with the land?" The Cereal Map is an effort to answer this question.

The aim is to show graphically, and separately as to each, the areas under the four leading grains in correct proportion to the whole area and to each other. Circles in each township, drawn to scale, give at a glance the area under each grain and the colors show the variety of grain as follows. Red, spring wheat; dark red, winter wheat; green, oats; yellow, barley; blue, flax. An interesting feature of the map is the information with respect to the acreage throughout the province, which has been devoted to the production of fall wheat. The information incorporated in the publication has been furnished by the Provincial Government, having been compiled from the thrashers' returns for the province.

Willing to Be One.

"What!" began the father explosively. "You want to marry my daughter? You, who haven't a penny on earth? You, who aren't worth a picayune? You? Sir, let me ask you this: Don't you know that my daughter is accustomed to all the luxuries of wealth?"

"Y-yes, sir," replied the suitor, miserably. "But ain't I one of 'em?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mean Thing.

"No," said Miss Passay, "I don't like the photos Kamrer made for me. They make me look like a woman of forty."

"Well," replied Miss Peppery, "you should have told him not to touch them up if you didn't want them to look so youthful!"—Philadelphia Press.

MODELED FROM MEMORY.

Danton Was a Wonder, Though He Did Once Mix His Subjects.

Danton, the celebrated caricaturist, had a wonderful power of modeling from memory. After one long look at his subject he could go to his studio and make a bust quite perfect in the resemblance.

One day a young man came to him, saying that his sister was ill and about to die and that, although the family wished her bust modeled, they dared not excite her by mentioning it. Would he undertake to reproduce her features after seeing her once? Danton agreed, and next day the brother informed his sister that he intended to present her with some jewels and that a young man would bring some specimens for her approval.

Danton brought in the jewels and, going home, modeled a bust of striking resemblance. Next year an old gentleman, the father of the young woman, came to order a bust of the brother, who also had died. This, too, was a marvelous success.

The result of such planning, however, was not always as satisfactory to his patrons as in these cases. A gentleman who could not persuade his wife to sit asked Danton to enter a certain omnibus one day and fix in his memory the features of the lady opposite him.

He did so, modeled a beautiful bust and sent it home. It proved, however, to be not the mistress, but the maid, who had also taken the trip in the omnibus.

MONARCHS AND COINS.

Napoleon in a Temper and Louis Philippe on a Hunt.

The great Napoleon was not great at the whist table, and a characteristic story is told of him at St. Helena. At a private party of whist he took out four napoleons to use as markers, and one of the young ladies took up one of the coins and asked him what it was. The polite hero snatched it rather roughly from her and, pointing to the impression, exclaimed, "C'est moi."

The annoyance caused by this incident ruffled him so much that he made a misdeal. The party begged him to try again, and he did so with the same result. His countenance then displayed the signs of convulsive fury, and his anger was not appeased until the house had been searched for old cards, which could be more easily dealt. Meantime the unhappy Count Las Cases, his only attendant, was ordered to sit down at a spare table to play the cards alone until they should run smoothly.

Louis Philippe showed equal regard for the coin that bore his name. He dropped a louis on the carpet while playing whist and arrested the progress of the game to look for it, whereupon a foreign ambassador who was one of the party set fire to a billet of 1,000 francs to give light to the king under the table.

GUNPOWDER AS A FERTILIZER.

The United States navy has abandoned the old brown powder which it had used for many years, and has adopted smokeless powder. But the adoption of the smokeless powder left the naval authorities with large quantities of the old powder upon their hands, and no market for it. The naval authorities felt that they must dispense with it, and finally they decided that it might be worth something as a fertiliser. They communicated with the Agricultural Department, but that department, while agreeing that powder might make a good fertiliser, suggested that someone else make the experiment. Then the naval authorities took some of the powder, wet it, and worked it into their truck gardens, and have been rewarded by magnificent crops. They are now certain that gunpowder makes a good fertilizer, and this is where the navy's stock of old brown gunpowder will go. Would it not be a blessing if the world's stock of powder were used in the same way? The same stuff that will blow a ship or a city to pieces, will, rightly applied raise better crops for the maintenance of human life.

WHAT MILITARISM COSTS.

Lloyd George gives the following brief sketch of what militarism means to the world. He said: "The civilised countries of the world are spending nearly £500,000,000 ($2,500,000,000) a year upon weapons of war, and in the forging of the machinery they are withdrawing from useful and productive labor some of the most effective and skilled brains. In this country (Britain) the annual bill for armaments is something like £70,000,000, ($350,000,000); that is, it is costing us £8 ($40) for every household in the Kingdom. Were this burden removed, Great Britain could afford to pay every member of the wage earning classes an additional dollar a week, without interfering in the slightest degree with the profits of capital." In war the poor man gets killed; in peace he gets plundered; in both cases he foots the bill.

LABOUR UNREST STILL ON THE INCREASE.

Industrial conditions were seriously disturbed by labour disputes during July, the number in existence in that month being considerably greater than the number existing during June. The number actually commencing, however, during July compares favorably with that of the previous month. In all forty-six disputes were reported to the Department, an increase of nine as compared with July, 1911. About 17,000 employees were affected by these disputes as compared with 15,000 during June and 19,000 during July, 1911. A termination of the Garment Workers' strike occurred during July, which caused a resumption of operations by more than four thousand employees after nearly two months of idleness. Few of the disputes commencing during July were individually of serious consequence as factors in disturbing industrial conditions.

Gained In Weight, Digestion Restored, HealthRenewed

HERE IS MORE PROOF OF QUICK CURE FOR ALL FOLKS THAT ARE WEAK, AILING, NERVOUS.

More Praise for Dr. Hamilton's Pills

"For a period last summer the thought of food excited feelings of nausea," writes Mrs. C. A. Dodge of Bloomsbury. "The heat had made me listless, and the distaste for food reduced me to a condition of semi-starvation and brought me to the verge of nervous collapse. Tonics were useless to restore an active desire for food. The doctors told me my liver and kidneys were both at fault but the medicines they gave me were too severe and reduced my strength so that I had to abandon them. At the suggestion of a friend who had been cured of blood and skin trouble I began the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The difference I first noticed was that while they cleansed the system, instead of feeling weaker I felt better after taking them. Indeed, their activity was so mild it was easy to forget I had taken them at all; they seemed to go right to the liver, and in a very brief time not only did all source of nausea disappear but I began to crave food and I digested it reasonably well. Then I began to put on weight until within three months I was brought to a condition of good health. I urge Dr. Hamilton's Pills for all who are in poor health."

Get this best of all medicines today and refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers, 25c per box, or five for $1.00. Sent postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.
and beautiful.

EDITORIAL NOTES

If Lieutenant Becker is acquitted he should write a book on the advantages of thrift, showing how to save $70,000 a year on a salary of $2200.

The man who can engage in a political discussion without raising his voice above normal pitch ought to be recognized as the eighth wonder of the world.

An English vicar is wearing his hat again after going bareheaded for ten years. He declared ten years ago that he would never wear a hat again until the debt of his church was paid, and it took the parishioners ten years to pay up.

It is announced that Dr. Andrew Carnegie doesn't care to have his name given to the new Hamilton public library. However, this is not to be interpreted as a "knock" to Architect Peene.

A Western contemporary, who appears to be familiar with the history of the Minister of Militia, says that Col. Hughes used to sing in a Glee Club away back in the sixties. This g. f. j. might suggest that this training may account for the fact that he has been able to produce harmony in the great department over which he so ably presides.

WHERE RULERS SEEK HOLIDAY

Peter of Servia and Czar Nicholas Well Nigh Prisoners

KAISER GETS SEA SICK

Royalty of Europe Are Not a Particularly Happy Bunch — Enjoyment a Sort of "Armed Retirement" From Public Gaze.

(Special to The Times).

Rome, Aug. 22. — King Victor Emanuel works harder than ever this summer on account of the war. He is in steady wireless communication with Rome and can afford to go even on a yachting trip.

Alfonso at Health Spa.

Madrid, Aug. 22.—King Alfonso's family is spending the summer in San Sebastian. Unfortunately the King's health compels him to undergo medical treatment even during the heated term. He is staying at present at Gigon, where he hopes to find some relief from his tubercular ailments. In his emaciated body, tuberculosis asserts itself sometimes in the muscles, again in the neck, again in other parts. This summer the King is a very sick man.

North Sea Rulers Enjoy Ocean.

Copenhagen, Aug. 22. — All the northern monarchs are spending the summer at the seashore. King Christian is at Charlottenlund, King Gustavus, of Sweden, is at the Castle of Drottningholm, King Hakoon, of Norway, is at Oscarhall.

Kaiser on a Cruise.

Christiania, Aug. 22.—The Kaiser, who is cruising in northern waters, wired to King Hakoon the other day: "I am still fighting seasickness. It's nip and tuck between us who is the stronger."

Frederic in Residence.

Stuttgart, Aug. 22.—The King is spending the summer at Friedrichshafn and is a neighbor of Count Zeppelin, whom he visits frequently.

Italy's King on Northern Isle.

Dresden, Aug. 22.—The King and his motherless children are spending the summer on the Island of Zuist, in the North Sea.

Hunting Prince's Holiday.

Munich, Aug. 22.—The Prince Regent is now at Konigssee, staying at his beloved hunting box. He refuses to hold any communication with his ministers and spends his time fishing and going after game.

Czar in Guilded Palace.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—The Czar and his family will remain at the palace of Zar Skoje Selo during the summer. He doesn't think it safe to travel and this place can be watched better than others.

Royalty at Home.

Bucharest, Aug. 22.—The King is not well enough to undertake a journey this year and he and the Queen are staying at the Great Palace of Pelesch, one of the finest royal residences in the world.

Peter a Royal Prisoner.

Belgrade, Aug. 22. — King Peter seems to consider himself prisoner at his own palace. Though a sick man, he refuses to leave Belgrade to go to one of the numerous health resorts in Servia.

Hungary's Ruler Rests.

Sofia, Aug. 22. — King Ferdinand spends his summer on his great estates at upper Hungary. Just at present he takes the waters at Pistyan.

Nikita at Royal Residence.

Cetinje, Aug. 22.—King Nikita is spending the summer at Antivari, the new palace built for him by his son-in-law, the King of Italy. He is accompanied by the Queen and other members of the Royal family.

PRINCESS WILL NOT WED ENGLISHMAN

Sprightly Louise Bans Puritan-Like Mary As Mamma-in-Law.

Berlin, Aug. 22.—A friend of Princess Louise, the Kaiser's daughter, vouches for that young lady's estimate of an English alliance by way of marrying the Prince of Wales, as has been suggested.

"I won't," says Louise. "He may be ever so nice and rich, yet there is Queen Mary. I won't have her for a mother-in-law. I guess she would put her foot down at my dancing and riding horseback, and would have me visiting hospitals and opening schools half the time. That doesn't suit me a bit. When I marry I want to be free to do as I like, even freer than Cecilia."

The Cecilia referred to is, of course, the Crown Princess. For a young lady having for father-in-law the Kaiser, Cecilia is doing well indeed. Backed by her husband, she indulges in steady, long-drawn-out opposition to Papa William and generally carries the day. And Louise wants to go Cecilia one better. Not in England, if Queen Mary knows it.

BOUND MURDERER IN ROOM OF HOTEL

But He Used the Rope to Suicide While Police Were Coming.

Geneva, Aug. 22.—Four Germans staying at Montreux a few days since ascended the Rochers de Naye (1740 feet), and on arriving at the summit quarrelled with a Swiss shepherd named Gruningen, who was shot dead by one of the Germans, the latter firing a pistol only a few feet away from his victim.

Several tourists and also some Swiss workmen witnessed the tragedy, and they bound the murderer with a rope and imprisoned him in a room at a hotel. They then telephoned to the police at Montreux, who came with all speed by the Funicular Railway, only to find the German hanged with the rope that had been used to bind him. The other three Germans were arrested, and the two bodies were brought down to Montreux to await the inquest.

Countess in Auto Wreck.

Baltimore, Aug. 22.—Helena D'Orrovonz, wife of a Russian Count, and well known in Washington, was hurt in an automobile wreck here Friday night. She had been riding with three well-known young Baltimoreans.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

MEMORY OF SAVAGES.

Wonderful Feats of the Zulus in Conveying Verbal Messages.

The memory in savage or uncultivated peoples is often trained to a degree very surprising to those civilized men and women who have grown used to depending on the written much more than on the remembered word. The transmission of whole epics, like the "Iliad," by word of mouth no longer seems so incredible when you read of the feats of memory of which present day Zulus are capable.

These people, says Mr. Gibson in "The Story of the Zulus," have no writing and are accustomed to transmit messages and record events by memory alone. This they can do because their mental impressions are made especially distinct by reason of their acquired or inherited habit of giving undivided attention to the subject in hand.

Communications between the British authorities and the Zulu kings were almost invariably conducted by means of verbal messages carried by natives. A certain ultimatum addressed by the British to Cetywayo was conveyed to him, not upon paper, but in the brain cells of the messengers whom he had sent eighty miles to receive it from the British commissioners.

Although the document contained some 4,000 words and was accompanied by much comment on the state of things it was desired to remedy, the whole was repeated to Cetywayo with perfect accuracy.

MOVING PICTURES.

Why They Sometimes Show Wheels Turning the Wrong Way.

Every one must have noticed that in moving pictures the wheels of carriages or automobiles often seem to be turning backward instead of forward. One puzzled person wrote to the Scientific American asking why, and this is that paper's answer:

In taking a moving picture there are perhaps sixteen exposures made each second. If now the spokes of the wheel of a carriage move with a speed so that the spokes are in the same position at each exposure, that wheel will seem to stand still in the picture.

If the wheel is moving slower, then the spokes will be seen farther backward in the successive views, and the wheel will seem to turn backward, while it will seem to turn forward when the spokes move fast enough to occupy positions further forward in each exposure.

It is a matter of the interruption for the exposure and the motion of the wheel. If there are sixteen exposures and the wheel turns through the space between two spokes in one-sixteenth of a second the wheel would be in the same position at each successive exposure and so would not seem to move at all.

Gymnasium Training.

Every person who has received gymnasium training is aware of the fact that an exercise which calls for painful effort on the part of the beginner is often performed almost without any conscious effort at all after a certain amount of training has been received. Again, it is perfectly well known that brute strength alone does not make a gymnast and that even a simple exercise may offer great difficulty to a muscular and well developed individual who has not been trained in the gymnasium. The explanation for this is made in an article by Professor Dubois Reymond in Die Umschau, who points out that one of the essential functions of gymnasium work is not so much to build up muscle as to train nerves and nerve groups to work in proper unison and co-ordination.

Flags at Half Mast.

Ever since flags were used in war it has been the custom to have the flag of the superior or conquering nation above that of the inferior or vanquished. When an army found itself hopelessly beaten it hauled its flag down far enough for the flag of the victors to be placed above it on the same pole. This was a token not only of submission, but of respect. In those days when a famous soldier died flags were lowered out of respect to his memory. The custom long ago passed from purely military usage to public life of all kinds, the flag flying at half mast being a sign that the dead man was worthy of universal respect. The space left above it is for the flag of the great conqueror of all, the angel of death.

THE BLACK SQUAD

Grimy Vulcans That Feed the Fires on Ocean Liners.

HEROES OF THE STOKEHOLD.

These Models of Human Grit Practically Brave Death Every Time They Face the Blistering Searing Blasts of Heat From the Glowing Furnaces.

An inferno, all smoke and heat and fire and no [illegible], is the stokehold of an ocean liner. As you enter it, picking your way over the burning ashes, the hot blast from the furnace mouths smites you in the face; it scorches your eyes and sears your lungs with every gasping breath you draw. Your impulse is to turn and fly. Life seems impossible in such an atmosphere.

And yet the inferno hums with life and strenuous, almost savage, industry. Opposite the huge boilers, quivering with suppressed power, like so many chained giants, are the figures of men as if carved in ebony, glistening with the sweat that streams from every pore. They are working furiously, with muscles swelling and knotting as if they would burst through their sheath of skin—humans in quick succeeding poses of fierce labor which would delight the eye of the sculptor and baffle his skill.

Gathering up a shovelful of coals, each man propels them with a quick forward thrust of the body into the white hot heart of the furnace and with a dextrous turn of the wrist spreads them evenly over the fire. Then, quick as the eye can follow, another shovelful succeeds and another, as if life itself hung on the breathless swiftness of the sequence.

Such is the stokehold in which the vulcans of our mammoth liners and battleships feed the greedy furnaces, which keep the propellers revolving to the tune of twenty knots and more an hour—the men of the "black gang" who, clad in trousers almost as black as their grimy bodies, and with a filthy "sweat rag" loosely knotted round their necks, toil there for four hours at a stretch, until the last "ounce" is taken out of them, and they crawl back to their quarters for a well earned eight hours of rest.

If a fireman faints, overcome by the heat and exhaustion, he is quickly laid aside in some corner, with a little tepid water dashed on his face, and there he is left until he "comes round," while his fellows ply shovel and "slice" (the latter to clear the fire periodically from refuse) with a fiercer energy than before, adding the fallen man's labor to their own. The moment he recovers consciousness he struggles to his feet, seizes the shovel and is at it again. "Go off watch?" Not he! He's as good a man as any, and the fireman never knows when he's beaten.

To call such men heroes is no abuse of an often misunderstood word. They are not only the last word in human grit and pluck—for your fireman will die rather than give in—they are the men who face death every time they enter the stokehold, as lightheartedly as other men would sit down to their dinners. At any moment a fusible plug may fly, a boiler tube collapse, a gauge glass may splinter, and the captain may have occasion to "regret" that some good man or other has fallen a victim to his duty.

His ship may be sinking, the inrushing wat[illegible] swirling knee deep over the plates o[illegible] which he is standing, but no thought of t[illegible] boats and an escape to life is for him. He must stick to his post until the las[illegible] fire is drawn and if he has time to race [illegible] up the escape ladder to the boat deck [illegible] and good. If not—the odds are all again[illegible]—he goes down, a "mute, inglorio[illegible]" hero, [illegible] day's to his death. It is all part of th[illegible] work for which he draws his [illegible] pay, with a cheerful acceptance of th[illegible] fact that his life will be short and certainly not merry, for you find few stokers who have passed their forty-fifth birthday.

It is not only that the fireman's muscles and stamina must bear this inhuman strain. He must watch the gauge glasses with the keen eyes of a lynx to see that the line of bubbling beads never rises above or falls below the level that denotes safety. He must know his boilers as a jockey knows his mount; which of them requires coaxing and which requires forcing to stimulate its sluggishness, for boilers, it is said, have as many whims and caprices as a woman.

On the whole, the stoker is no un amiable man. He may growl at his food, though he often fares "like a fighting cock" aboard; he may have a vocabulary which would make the average bargee green with envy, but he will laugh you to scorn if you suggest that his work is too hard and that he is not "game" to the backbone.—London Answers.

A rural magistrate, listening to the testimony of the witness, interrupted him, saying:

"You said that you made a personal examination of the premises. What did you find?"

"Oh, nothing of consequence," replied the witness. "'A beggarly account of empty boxes,' as Shakespeare says."

"Never mind what Shakespeare said about it," said the magistrate. "He will be summoned to testify for himself if he knows anything about the case."—London Tit-Bits.

LONDON NOW EATS OUT

RESTAURANT DINNER ON SUNDAY AN INSTITUTION.

The Old-Fashioned Coffee House Has Made Way for the Fashionable European Room and When Hostesses Entertain They Go to a Restaurant and Save Worry—It Makes Sunday Easy for Servants.

The modern "Rip Van Winkle" has yet to be written. When it is, should the hero be a man of certain social position who fell into a long sleep toward the close of the nineteenth century, and woke when the first decade of the twentieth had run its course, an interesting chapter might be devoted to the astonishment of the awakened sleeper at the changes which have taken place in the social customs of Londoners, and more especially in connection with the remarkable development of the hotel and restaurant habit.

The hotel is no longer merely the home of the traveler; it is the resort during certain hours of the day and evening of a large number of non-residents who avail themselves freely of its comforts and luxuries.

The old-fashioned sombre "coffee room," which was really a dining room, has made way for the superbly-appointed restaurant, in which the hotel residents and the guests from outside mingle at the hour of the menu, and discuss the delicacies of the season to the music of the band or orchestra, which, owing to the decay of the art of conversation, is now considered a necessity wherever the world of Fashion, Finance or Frivolity flocks for luncheon, dinner, or supper.

The English bill of fare, with its time-honored joints and its homely puddings has been swept aside by the all-conquering cuisine of France. Alphonse, Carl and Luigi attend bowing and smiling on the guests, who of old time were waited upon with British stolidity by William and Thomas and Charles, faithful fellows who frequently remained to grow grey in the service of one employer, and were regarded with something akin to affection by the other clients of the establishment.

The cult of the restaurant came in with the decay of the club dinner, and the club dinner began to decay when women emancipated themselves from the thraldom of home and took their place behind their husbands to eat in public.

When women broke the bonds of the old-fashioned etiquette she gave the first impetus to the development of restaurant life in London, and the movement has been carried rapidly forward by the oncoming of the flat and the ever-increasing stress of the servant question. It was found to be but little more expensive and far more convenient to dine out than to dine at home, and all the anxieties which in the ordinary middle-class home attend the giving of a dinner party were removed by reserving a table for the function at one of the excellent and attractive restaurants with which London now abounds. The fashionable restaurant relieves the master of the house from the necessity of keeping a well-stocked wine cellar and the mistress of the house from the nervous dread of the result of the happy-go-lucky efforts of an uncertain cook.

The cult of the restaurant has put an end to the old-time reproach levelled at the hospitable English housewife of giving "expensive dinners, vilely chosen and unscientifically cooked."

But it is not necessary to be a Rip Van Winkle awakened—one need only be a middle-aged man whose eyes have been open all the time—in order to appreciate the remarkable contrast between the way in which we dined and wined in the sixties and seventies and the way in which we dine and wine to-day.

And there is no point of contrast more striking than that which concerns Sunday evening in London. It is on Sunday evening that the great hotels and restaurants present a spectacle which is a convincing proof of the great change in sentiment and habit of the people of the capital. The [illegible] gloom of Sunday has gone, never [illegible]rn, but whereas in the old days peop[illegible] flocked out of the capital [illegible] morning returning to it on Sunday [illegible] at a late hour, the swiftness of up-to-date transit [illegible]w enables them to return to it in [illegible] for the great Sunday function of di[illegible]ing out.

And so on Sunday eve[illegible] there is such an extensive patro[illegible] [illegible]aurants popular and fashionable [illegible] the that it frequently happens [illegible] late comers who have not [illegible] tables in advance have some difficulty in finding the eagerly-desired hospitality. The family party restaurant on Sunday night is a feature of modern London life. A variety of circumstances have contributed to the popularity of the idea, but the servant problem, acutely affecting as it does the domestic arrangements of the housewife, has played a considerable part in its development.

The old-fashioned midday dinner was accepted at one time as a solution of the difficulty of dispensing with the services of half the domestic staff in order that they might not be deprived of the "Sunday out," which is now cordially recognized not only as their privilege, but as their right. But the heavy midday meal at home fitted in badly with the modern view of Sunday pursuits and recreations, and so it gradually disappeared from the program in all but the most conservative of middle-class homes. All the world and his wife—or, to speak more precisely, all London and his lady—came to the conclusion that the splendidly-appointed restaurants of the West End offered the pleasantest and most acceptable "way out."

The restaurant did not come to its appointed place in the social program all at once. There were old traditions to break down. The movement began with the substitution in hotels of "separate tables" for the old fan-stretching table d'hote at which the company sat facing each other in two long rows.

DISCOVERY OF ARTIFICIAL RUBBER AROUSES EXCITEMENT.

Announcement of Manchester Professor That He Has Succeeded In Making a Perfect Substitute at One-Quarter the Present Cost — World Now Uses $200,000,000 Worth of Gutta Percha a Year.

What promises to be one of the most important chemical discoveries of the age is the process for making artificial rubber, by Prof. Perkin, of Manchester University. It is claimed that by the Perkin method rubber can be manufactured at one-quarter of the present cost. Since the world consumes some $200,000,000 worth of rubber a year, the saving is a great one. It will be felt most in the automobile industry, where the tire expense remains the most serious financial problem to be solved, but so many are the uses of rubber that it is safe to say that if the artificial rubber fulfils the claims made for it there will not be a man, woman or child in the country who will not reap some of the benefit.

The collection of crude rubber on the Congo and the Amazon has been one of the blackest pages of commerce, and humanitarians everywhere will be glad to believe that instead of gathering rubber thousands of miles from civilization it is likely to be manufactured in future in places like Manchester, under similar condition of labor to those that obtain in the textile industry.

When the popularity of the bicycle doubled the previous demand for rubber the attention of commercial scientists was directed toward the production of artificial rubber, and half a dozen times in the past fifteen or twenty years it has been announced that a substitute for the sap of the rubber tree has been found. The demand for automobile tires caused the scientists to redouble their efforts, and two or three preparations were placed on the market which were said to have all the qualities of rubber. As a matter of fact, all these announcements ended in disappointment.

Artificial rubber has been made before now, but at a cost far greater than the natural product, and the substitute materials that have been put forward were found to be almost worthless after a short trial. Nevertheless, the scientists were not discouraged, but kept experimenting, and at last the German Professor Carl Herries was rewarded by his investigations of isoprene, an elusive substance that is obtained by the decomposition of natural rubber under extreme heat.

This essence of rubber the professor endeavored to obtain artificially. After a long series of experiments he was successful in making isoprene from oil of turpentine. Shortly afterward he found a method of turning this isoprene into rubber, and it is to this German that credit must be given for having manufactured the first artificial rubber. Unfortunately, the process that was necessary to transform the isoprene into rubber was so elaborate and costly that the discovery had little commercial value, and in 1910 Herries came to a standstill, for he could find no way of cheapening any of his processes.

It was at this time that a group of English chemists came to the front. They had concentrated their efforts, not upon finding a cheap method of turning isoprene into rubber, but a cheap method of manufacturing isoprene, and they were rewarded; for after some brilliant research they discovered that isoprene could be manufactured from fusel oil, a heavy and acrid oil that occurs in the later stages of the distillation of alcoholic spirits.

To produce cheap rubber it was necessary to produce cheap fusel oil and cheap alcohol. Other investigators, spurred on by the demand for alcohol as a motive power, had been working simultaneously to discover a cheap method of producing alcohol, and it was found that alcohol could be made cheaply from vegetables of many kinds such as potatoes, beets and other starch-producing substances.

It was about six months ago that Prof. Perkin and Prof. Fernbach, a French scientist, had advanced far enough to take out their patents for the manufacture of cheap rubber. Three months later their German rivals had reached the same goal, but when they applied for their patents they found that they had been forestalled. It was a great race, with honors equally divided, for had it not been for the preliminary work done by Harries it is doubtful if Perkin and Fernbach would have succeeded.

It is said that automobile tires made of artificial rubber have been in use for several months, and have proved themselves to be in no respect inferior to those made of natural rubber. The artificial product can be obtained for about a shilling a pound, as compared with the four shillings that natural rubber is worth, and there is hope of still further reductions in price.

The cheap method of producing alcohol is likely to improve the automobile industry in two ways, first, by the manufacture of cheap rubber, and second, as a means of motive power, for recent investigations in the United States show that in a special engine alcohol will give more power than gasoline, and it is not explosive nor so dangerously inflammable as petrol. To produce the alcohol in quantities to meet the new demand it seems likely that millions of acres of land now uncultivated will be turned to account and it is expected that British agriculture, as well as British manufactures will receive a great impetus through the discoveries of the Manchester scientist.

The jeweler removed the dial, screwed his eyeglass into place and inspected the works of the ancient timepiece.

"Well, how much do I owe you?" asked the man.

THEY HAD TO KILL GAME.

So They Couldn't Waste Powder on a Man-Eating Crocodile.

In "Animal Life in Africa" is the following curious narrative, which shows the indifference of the natives of East Africa to the sacrifice of human life:

One morning I was standing on the banks of the Lujenda river, in Portuguese East Africa, watching, with my friend, Mr. Maugham, our stores crossing. We had just come to the conclusion that what we had fancied was the protruding nose of a crocodile was, in fact, only a piece of rock when a local native, who was standing near, said, "If you will come with me to the village I can show you a big crocodile." Mr. Maugham electing to stay and superintend the portage across the river, I went along with the "boy."

The village in question lay but some 200 yards distant and proved to be of considerable size and full of people, who at the moment were in a state of pleasurable and noisy excitement over the arrival of our large caravan. "But surely there can be no crocodile here with all this noise going on?" I remarked. "Oh, yes," nonchalantly replied the guide. "He lives here and does not mind the people."

Sure enough, on reaching the bank the first thing I saw was a huge crocodile basking at full length and with his mouth wide open on a rock not more than twenty yards away. He was not in the least disturbed by the chattering of the women and children and there was no question of stalking him. It was only necessary to sit leisurely down on the bank and put a bullet through his shoulder, when, after shutting and opening his mouth a few times, he fell off the rock and sank like a stone.

The headman was quite pleased, saying that the animal took some one, usually a woman or child, at least once a month. "Why, then," I said in astonishment, having noticed that about every second man seemed to be provided with a firearm of some sort, "did you not shoot it?" "Ah, well, we have very little powder, and it is very expensive, and we are poor and require all we have to kill game," was the surprising though characteristic answer.

THE DEATH ORCHID.

Its Lethal Odor Has the Effect of a Powerful Narcotic.

The death orchid of the Venezuelan Indians has been proved to be no mere campfire yarn.

Years ago an orchid hunter, Grayson, set out to find "El Lugar de los Flores Venenosas"—that is, "the place of the poisonous flowers"—which was said to be located in the dense and pathless wilderness occupying the vast stretches between the headwaters of the Orinoco and the Andes. Two weeks passed without any incident out of the ordinary. But one morning there was a perceptible smell of flowers in the air. When the orchid hunter and his Indians camped that night the jungle smells had been entirely lost in the cloying scent. Many of the band refused to go farther.

As Grayson and the others proceeded the rankly sweet and oppressive odor became stronger, attacking the senses like a narcotic. One after another the remaining Indians collapsed till only Grayson and the guide were left, pushing onward. The orchid hunter felt as if he was being attacked by the insidious power of opium, but retained enough consciousness to become aware that, gleaming through the trees ahead, he saw flowers of huge size and vivid colors, many hued clusters of them hanging in trails.

It was the death orchid!

When he recovered his senses he found himself being carried back to camp, where the rest of his porters had remained. Many of the band were severely sick and many half witted with the continued effect of the scent.—Suburban Life.

Fish Surgery.

Although the fish doctor probably finds less demand for his services than the practitioner of any other branch of the medical profession, his duties are of a most important character, and his knowledge of the disease and biology of the fish must be profound. Fish surgery is one of the least known of the various departments of surgical work. It requires a most delicate handling of instruments and a minute knowledge of the anatomy of the fish.

An Absent-Minded Inventor.

Several new stories have just been told about the famous Canadian inventor, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell. It appears that Dr. Bell hates the sight of his greatest invention, the telephone, so much that he does not make use of it unless he cannot possibly help it. In fact he has never appreciated its usefulness. Dr. Bell tells a story of how he was in a house where a child began to cough in the middle of the night, and the family feared the cough sounded croupy. He went to the telephone and asked a medical man to come over at once. It was an inconvenient hour, and the medical man desired some reason. When he heard what it was he asked why the child could not be brought to the phone. The inventor was immediately struck by the idea that it was quite possible, so that doctor decided over the telephone that the child did not have croup.

You Can't Cure Catarrh By Swallowing Drugs

Cough Syrup, Tablets and Sprays Sicken the Stomach, But Don't Reach the Germs of Catarrh, Hence Their Failure to Help.

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to rout out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts. This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhozone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhozone mix with the breath and descend through the throat down the bronchial tubes to the deepest air cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the rich piney essences that ease, heal and cure.

Catarrhozone has entirely displaced the old-fashioned remedies, such as cough syrups, sprays, tablets, and sedative powders. It contains none of the opium, chloral and drowsy narcotics so common'y found in liquid cough and catarrhal remedies.

Couldn't Breathe—"Catarrhozone" Cured.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal Catarrh than I suffered a month ago" writes Mr. G. E. Root, a well-known resident of Bridgetown, W.I. "My head ached terrifically, I sneezed about every three minutes, but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I couldn't breathe through them. Ten minutes inhaling Catarrhozone gave me a little relief, so I continued to use Catarrhozone every hour, and before the day was out I had improved. Catarrhozone quickly cured me. I am well ever since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy, it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. All reliable dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

GEO. IRWIN OF PETERBOROUGH INJURED IN TORONTO.

Struck by a Grand Trunk Train—Refuses to Account for the Accident.

The Mail and Empire of yesterday says:

George Irwin of Peterborough was found in the railway yards to the west of the Bay street crossing yesterday evening, lying in an almost unconscious condition as the result of being struck by a train. He was removed to Grace Hospital in the Police ambulance, where it was found that he was severely cut about the head, and his right leg was broken. His right thumb was also so badly crushed that it will be necessary to amputate it.

The manner in which Irwin was injured is a mystery. The man refuses to give any account of the accident, and no railway officer appears to know anything about it. The only statement that Irwin will make is that he left Peterborough yesterday afternoon. He refuses to say why he was in the yards. He was discovered by a trainman in the Grand Trunk Montreal express, No. 7. At that time he was lying close beside the track, and the train was stopped and he was carried into the station. Policeman Holmes (199) was notified and he accompanied the man to the hospital.

Mr. Irwin is a Charlotte street barber, and has a wife and family of little ones. He is reported to have left for Toronto Wednesday in company with Mr. Duffy of Crewman's Limited.

WILL IT BE ANOTHER WHITE ELEPHANT?

Complaints Seem to Be the Order of the Day re Collection of Garbage.

Since the inception of the Garbage By-law, trouble has been experienced regarding its proper enforcement, and it looks as though Ald. Buller's white elephant—the Romaine street sewer—is going to have a running mate in a sister white elephant with the Property Committee as keepers. Sanitary Inspector Spence is now hot-foot after garbage contractor Downer for not complying with the by-law in removing the garbage collected in properly covered receptacles. Citizens complain that its cartage through the streets in barrels, merely covered with a piece of cloth, permits the escape of offensive odors. The Sanitary Inspector threatens that unless the collector complies with the by-law in regard to the foregoing he will report the matter to the Property Committee for action thereon.

There certainly seems to be a big [illegible] in the application of the garbage removal measure, despite the earnest work of Inspector Spence. Still, such by-laws are satisfactorily working in other places, and Peterborough should prove no exception to the rule. Again, some citizens get along splendidly without the privilege of the application of the by-law in their districts.

It is a pity that the Inspector should have so much trouble regarding the garbage matter, as his attention might very profitably be directed once in a while to sewers for the [illegible] tainted atmosphere in districts served by sewers and where in many instances connections are not made.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—A strong feeling continues to prevail in the local oats situation and prices scored a further advance of ½c per bushel under a good demand from local and export buyers, but owing to the limited supplies available on spot the volume of business doing is not large. The export trade in wheat was quiet, the demand being much smaller, but during the past ten days sales of about 1,000,000 bushels were made. WM. WRIGLEY JR. TROPHY

$22,000 PRIZE FOR WORLD'S FASTEST MOTOR BOAT

The Wm. Wrigley, Jr., Trophy for the power boat championship of the world represents over $22,000. It is a perpetual trophy to be won each year by the club whose motor speed boat entry makes the best three out of five races in competition open to the world, free for all boats under 40 feet in length.

It is a reproduction in silver of a "Flying Mercury" presenting to Neptune a hydroplane motor speed boat. Neptune with his trident, dolphins and water surrounding are in bronze. The round pedestal is of green marble. The figure of Mercury and the model speed boat contain 1,000 ounces of sterling silver. The trophy stands 5 feet 5 inches high. The base is 47 inches in diameter.

Mr. Wrigley will provide annually a replica of this big $5,000 trophy, which becomes the personal property of the winner of each year's races. To provide this trophy annually will require an endowment of about $17,500, thus giving Mr. Wrigley's trophy a value of about $22,000. In addition to these prizes are a $1,500 cash prize for the winner and a $500 cash prize for the second boat.

The first races will be held at Chicago during the Water Carnival and Naval Review, Aug. 10 to 17 inclusive, 1912. It is expected that there will be boats from all over the world.

Water Carnival week at Chicago will include the other races in the Fourth Annual Regatta of the Western Power Boat Association, the International Yacht Race between the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto and the Chicago Yacht Club, the Lipton Cup Races of Columbia Yacht Club, fireworks displays, naval parades, swimming and diving contests and exhibitions by sailors, marines and naval reserves.

In all the competitions there will be handsome trophies or liberal cash prizes. William Hale Thompson, Commodore, Associated Yacht and Power Boat Clubs, Chicago, will be glad to supply information.

The engagement here means much to the theatre-goer who likes to forget his troubles and have a good hearty laugh at the other poor fellows who are continually in hot water, but come out all right at the finish. AS CANADA DECIDES, SO WILL REST OF OVERSEAS DOMINIONS

Lesson of Withdrawal of Roman Legions When Heart of Empire Was Menaced Caused Australia to Act—Moral for Canada

Montreal, Aug. 23.—"Australia is watching keenly Canada's decision as to what form the proposed naval contribution shall take. The line adopted by Canada will largely influence Australian action in defence matters generally, especially in the Pacific," declared W. A. Lloyd, of Sydney, Australia, and former member of the New South Wales Government, here yesterday. "The lesson of the withdrawal of the Roman legions from Britain when the heart of the Empire was menaced, has caused Australia to act. Seems to me there is a moral here somewhere for Canada too."

CANNOT RECOVER THOUSANDS POLICE SECURED IN GRAFT

Blackmail Will Have to Be Left in Hands of the Crooks

New York, Aug. 23.—Tracing the devious trail of graft the State's Attorney believes to-day that it leads directly to police headquarters. The blackmail phase of the Rosenthal murder case is now being probed by District Attorney Whitman, who has let it become known that he has obtained evidence implicating a police inspector and a civilian, with an office at headquarters, in grafting.

TELL-TALE DEPOSITS.

The State's Attorney has been able to note a series of interesting coincidences from four bank accounts and safe deposit boxes belonging to the inspector and the civilian, whose records are being inquired into. Heavy withdrawals of funds by the inspector was invariably followed on the same day by a visit of a civilian to his safe deposit box. There were many of these coincidental visits. The State's attorney says he believes that the inspector was "splitting" with the civilian.

While Mr. Whitman will not commit himself, it is known that he expects an offer of a complete confession from a man high in police circles whose story will lay bare the graft system to its roots and whose narration will involve many others who have profited by blackmail on gambling and disorderly houses.

CAN'T CONFISCATE.

District Attorney Whitman admits that no matter what exposure is made it will be impossible to take away the thousands of dollars of blackmail from the grafters, as it can never be proven that the money in their possession at the time of the indictment was the same money which they extorted from the victims of the system.

CANADIAN PACIFIC PROTESTS AGAINST PANAMA CANAL BILL

Strong Representations Said to Have Been Made To The Canadian Government Regarding the Matter

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—It is understood that the C.P.R. is making representations to the Canadian Government protesting against the clause in the Panama Canal Bill prohibiting railway-owned vessels from the use of the Canal. It is understood a meeting of the directors was held, at which it was decided to make vigorous protest. The C.P.R. as well as the Grand Trunk and C.N.R. are making big preparations to handle Western grain via Vancouver, so that the question is a most vital one. It is understood that no definite action will be taken by the Canadian Government until after the return of Premier Borden. He has taken the question up with the British authorities and it is understood that the two Governments will work in conjunction in protecting against the bill, which it is believed here is a direct violation on the Haye-Pauncefote treaty.

Hon. George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, returns to-day from a brief holiday in New Brunswick and he will take the matter up at once.

GUESTS OF SIR WILFRID

Miss Ethel Roosevelt Pays Her First Visit to Ottawa—Southerners in the Party

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Miss Ethel Roosevelt, a daughter of the "Bull Moose" Presidential candidate; ex-Lieut.-Governor Willard of Virginia, Mrs. Willard and Miss Willard, are in Ottawa as the guests of Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier. This is Miss Roosevelt's first visit to Canada.

Yesterday Sir Wilfrid Laurier took the party sightseeing and visited the Parliament buildings, the Archives and the Museum. A particularly long visit was paid to the Archives. Sir Wilfrid gave a dinner last night and Consul-General Foster was among the guests. Mr. Willard is an old friend of the ex-Premier.

Sir Wilfrid, last spring, spent a couple of weeks at Mr. Willard's Virginia home.

Speedy action will be taken by the authorities in New York to try the murderers of Gambler Rosenthal. Governor Dix has assigned Justice Goff to try the cases at the request of District Attorney Whitman. Together with this the grafting conditions prevailing for years are being investigated, by Emory R. Buckner and Henry H. Curran, assisted by Corporation Counsel Watson. There ought to be some sensational revelations due in the next few weeks, when the trials begin.

TRIP THROUGH THE WEST

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Writes Another Interesting Letter

Sir.—The last of the tenderfoot series to reach you related to the trip as far as Banff, where I got lost in the beauties of nature. Mr. David Galletly is there, in full charge of the Cave, and is as wonderful to the tourists as the Cave itself. When a Scotchman starts in on blarney, he would make even a native of the Emerald Isle stare. Long may he remain to charm the wayfarer.

The trip through the Rockies, the Selkirks and the Fraser Canyon to the Coast is not so striking as beautiful. The apparent heights and frights have been exaggerated slightly, but the beauties of the imposing Selkirk range have not been done justice, in my humble opinion. Although I got up at 4.30 and sat at the end of the observation car during our ride (at 60 miles an hour) through the "terrible" canyon, I was not a bit scared. It takes a lot, probably, to scare a politician. I am going back by the Kootenays and Crow's Nest Pass, and will stop off to see what Charlie Brown is doing at Penticton, where I hear he is raising fruit and other things. Vancouver is, I should think, a most promising city, as is Victoria the beautiful. Looking for my nephew's office in Vancouver I ran into Mr. Robinson, a cousin of T. W.'s, and related to Mr. Adam and Mr. Robert Hill. He owns a magnificent pharmacy here, and is doing well. But people over here and in the middle West don't pretend to make money by what we call legitimate enterprise. It is all real estate; at least, three-fifths of the business from Lake Superior to the coast is real estate. Cut this out and you have a true estimate of the present state of development of the West. I have seen Lt.-Col. Rogers. He and his people are all well, and still interested in the old town. The future of the West will no doubt revolutionize Canada generally. But when I tell them that Toronto increased by 70,000 last year and Montreal's assessment by 25 millions, it gives them pause, and maintains that necessary respect for the effete east which the east must retain or go to the wall in the Government of the Dominion. Things in the west appear to be wonderful because they are new (and beautiful). The money and the business is still certainly in the east. Why any man making a good living should wish to leave Ontario I cannot understand, unless he wants to make money out of real estate To keep selling to the east it is necessary to keep the east "posted" don't you know. That is largely why "wonders never cease," out here. It is a "great" country, but so is the east, and both together in the hands of [illegible] and patriotic people will work it up into a still greater one.

I met many Americans, and what the Republicans are going to do to their own Teddy and Tafty is a shame. Whenever I discussed Reciprocity with them they smiled, or rather grinned, I should say. They have given up politics, apparently, as a craze, and using it as an instrument for their own and their country's good. As one man said, "The politicians can't, by waving a party flag, lead us round by a bull-ring any longer. Party means politicians, and yet some people are so crazy about party that their mind is warped." I wonder if this is true also about us? It is not true in the House, however, whatever it may be out of it.

I am billed to speak at Sir Richard's picnic in Lotus, and will try my best to let the poor people here know that Ontario is still alive and worthy of notice.

I went to the exhibition of fruits, vegetables, cattle, etc., at Vancouver. It isn't 1, 2, 3 with Ontario. Though a provincial affair and loudly tooted, it is painfully meagre to my eyes. The fruit, vegetables, etc. are not in it with ours.

J. H. BURNHAM.

THROUGH TRAIN TO HALIBURTON

Board of Trade Asked To Try And Secure Daily Service

FOR years the train service between Peterborough and the country to the north has not been satisfactory. People who have business to transact at Fenelon Falls, Kinmount, Minden, Haliburton and other points on Victoria branch of the Grand Trunk Railway are obliged to leave Peterborough in the morning and remain in Lindsay several hours going and returning. And the people in the north (and there are hundreds of them) who have business in Peterborough are forced to devote a couple of days to travel on account of the poor railway service.

The Times would therefore suggest to the Board of Trade the advisability of endeavoring to secure a direct daily train service between Peterborough and Haliburton. This should be easily arranged by having the train which now reaches Lindsay daily about 9 a.m. run through to Peterborough and return again, leaving Peterborough at say one o'clock, and Lindsay at two, which is its present time of leaving.

The Board of Trade, we trust, will take this matter up with the railway company and impress upon them the advantage that such a service will be to Peterborough as well as the back country. If our Board of Trade are in earnest in promoting the best interests of Peterborough it will lose little time in starting negotiations with the railway authorities along the above lines.

DUKE'S PARTY IN DISABLED BOAT

St. Andrew's N.B., Aug. 23.—On the way from the steamer Earl Grey to Sir William Van Horne's Island home last night, the motor boat containing H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught and party became disabled and drifted in the bay a couple of hours. Their condition was then noticed and a sardine steamer went to their aid.

THEY CAN ALL APPLY.

WELCOME TO MR. BORDEN

Ottawa City Council Preparing for a Non-Political Reception—All Conservative Premiers May Honor Him at the Banquet

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—A big reception awaits Premier Borden when he returns to Ottawa from his visit to England. This is his first return from a trip abroad and the city is preparing to give him a royal welcome, such as it was twice gave Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The city fathers have taken up the matter and he will be tendered a non-political civic welcome. There will likely be an automobile parade, an address at the City Hall and other festivities.

The Conservative Association of Ottawa is completing preparations for a monster banquet on September 10th, to the Premier. The Premier will be the guest of honor and all of the members of the Cabinet will be guests. It is expected that most of the Conservative members of the House will be present, and it is understood that the Conservative Premiers, throughout the Dominion, will be present.

OVER 500,000 ULSTER MEN WILL SIGN THE COVENANT

London, Aug. 23.—The Times says the covenant to which Ulster men will pledge themselves at the meeting on September 28 is that if Home Rule is enacted they will not acknowledge the Parliament at Dublin, will not obey its laws, and will not pay taxes. It is expected that the Privy Councillors will be the first to sign, and those signing the covenant will number from 500,000 to 750,000.

There is reason to believe moreover, that the Unionist leaders at the meeting in Belfast on September 28 will announce the heads of the constitution which they will sign up in the contingency of the enactment of Home Rule. It will separate the judiciary as well as the assembly.

Stories of an armed rising, the seizure of the Belfast post office, and other such plots are untrue.

The Times says editorially that the Ulster men have but to conduct their movement on the lines indicated by their leaders to ensure success. It is by its gravity, its moderation and its unflinching firmness that it will arrest attention and command the support of the English and Scottish peoples.

WOOD ALCOHOL KILLS ELEVEN

Two More Die This Morning at Montreal, in Frightful Agony

Montreal, Aug. 23.—The toll of death in the city's Russian colony in the train of a general debauch on wood alcohol, was this morning swollen by two additions, to a total of eleven. Stephen Soliesork died in frightful agony at the general hospital after he had gone blind, and Ilcon Boichinick, little more than a boy in years, died in convulsions in an east-end lodging house.

With prospects of the death list reaching twenty, the police to-day instituted a systematic search of the foreign lodging houses under suspicion for the illegal sale of the fiery beverages on which the Russians have from time to time been transformed from quiet laborers into demented desperadoes, ready to fight with their own countrymen, with foreigners, or with police. Up to noon to-day over half a hundred different brands of liquors had been seized, most of them from 40 Vallee street, and 309 St. George's street, in the heart of the foreign quarter.

Boichinick had procured his fatal potation only yesterday. Drifting rapidly into unconsciousness when a doctor was summoned last night, he said he had taken only two glasses. Agonizing cramps followed, and when Dr. Martineau arrived, he found the man's friends rubbing his body with the same liquor he had been drinking in a vain effort to relieve the pain. In an hour he was dead, having lost his sight 15 minutes before death put an end to the struggles which two of his friends could not restrain.

FORSAKEN COUNTRY IS CONGO REGION KAISER NOW OWNS

Successful Colonization By Whites Is Doubtful—Sleeping Sickness Is Widespread and Heat is Unbearable

Berlin, Aug. 23.—The Imperial Colonial Office has prepared for immediate publication an exhaustive report dealing with the economic, hygienic and climatic conditions in Germany's newly-acquired territory in the Congo region. To judge from the excerps published in advance, the report is scarcely likely to mitigate the dissatisfaction with which the majority of the German public has always regarded the outcome of the Morocco negotiations.

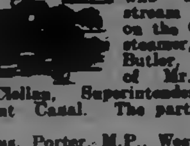
In its comments upon the health question and the probable chances of successful colonization by whites, the official document is quite as severe as Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter's sharpest critics have been. In the southern section of the territory sleeping sickness is spreading rapidly, while the heat, intensified by humidity, is almost insupportable.

Along the Saga and Ubangi rivers conditions are even worse. The majority of the native population is infected, and the immunity which, for a time, white men were supposed to enjoy in this district has been proved to be a myth. As to the "Sanga Tip," the southernmost of the two points of land projecting into the Zrench Congo, the report says:

"The permanent residence of white men in this region is considered by experts to be impossible; even a sojourn of a few months is terrible."

Scarcely more promising are the conditions as regards the economic exploitation of this country and the development of trade, the chief drawback being the difficulty of getting labor. In view of the repeated declarations of the German Foreign Office that Germany's sole object in going to Agadir was from the outset the acquisition of the Congo cession, this utterance from another department of the Government is not without a certain piquant interest. Those Germans who were last summer protesting that nothing which could be obtained in the Congo could compensate for the great risks involved in the Agadir venture now find their judgment practically confirmed, from an official source.

ON INSPECTING TOUR OF TRENT CANAL



LAKE Simcoe is the destination of the party of M. P.'s who started up stream yesterday on the Government steamer, Bessie Butler, in charge of Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Canal. The party consisted of:

Gus. Porter, M.P., West Hastings.
W. B. Northrup, M.P., East Hastings.
C. Munson, M.P., West Northumberland.
J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., East Peterborough.
Major S. Sharp, M.P., North Ontario.
W. H. Bennett, M.P., East Simcoe.
W. A. Boys, M.P., South Simcoe.

It was expected that Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Customs, and Acting Minister of Railways and Canals, would also have been amongst the number, but he may join them at Bobcaygeon or Lindsay. Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., is in the West, as also is Mr. Wm. Walker, M.P., East Northumberland, which accounts for their absence.

The party were to stop over last night in Lindsay and then proceed to Kirkfield, where they will be entertained by Sir William and Lady Mackenzie at their summer home. They will then continue their journey to Lake Simcoe, spending Sunday at Orillia, Barrie and other points. After inspecting the new wharves, lighthouses, etc., under construction, they will return, reaching Peterborough Monday.

On account of the accident to the lift lock, particulars of which are given elsewhere, the Bessie Butler was held up until evening. This may alter the plans to the extent that the party will not likely call at Lindsay, but will push on to Kirkfield.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This lease period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Master Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Low, Ontario, Manager, 43 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 to J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 9c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., [illegible] George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit? If Not, Here is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

A man once owned a fine and resourceful goat of which he was very proud. One day this goat lost caste with his master by swallowing a red flannel shirt which was the property of his owner. Angered beyond reason, the man led the goat to the railroad track and, tying the animal to the ties, left him to what he believed was certain death. The goat was opposed to capital punishment and made violent efforts to release himself from his bonds. In this he was unsuccessful, but in straining himself he produced a violent fit of coughing, and he coughed up the shirt and flagged the train.

PUNISHED THE SHREW.

Story of the Vixen's Head That Decorates a House in Berlin

In Berlin, as a tourist turns into the Heiligengeist, not far from the kaiser's palace, he will see, fixed in a niche in the second story of the house No. 23, a bust carved in stone. This is called the "Neidkopf." It represents a hideous, harpy faced woman, with snakelike curls of hair and tongue sticking out in mocking derision. This is the story of its origin and purpose:

One day almost 200 years ago Frederick William of Prussia, "Old Fritz," was walking about the streets of his city in the shabby, free and easy way he loved, looking about for some grievance to redress or some load to lighten, which was an agreeable habit of this plain living king. Looking in at a window, he was struck by the intent industry of a humpbacked goldsmith, and so the king entered the little shop for a chat. The result of this interview was an order for a gold table service for the royal household, which made the fortune of the hunchback. Later the king made other visits to see how the work was progressing and on one of these occasions noticed a woman in the window of the opposite house, making the most hideous grimaces and pointing a derisive finger at the little cripple.

"What is the matter with the shrew over there?" asked Frederick William.

"It is envy, your majesty," exclaimed the goldsmith. "She is the wife of a rival goldsmith, and ever since your majesty gave me this order she and her daughter have not ceased to mock and deride me."

Frederick William, paternal in punishment as well as in reward, at once made inquiries as to the ownership of the house wherein this shrew lived. He found that it belonged to her husband, and therefore reasoned that there was little likelihood of the family moving. This seemed to please him. He next enlisted the services of a sculptor and ordered him to make the bust of a woman with the most shrewish, Xantippe like face he could imagine. The king then bought and renovated the house in which the hunchback had his workshop, presented it to him and caused the bust to be placed conspicuously above the workroom window. Thus whenever the envious woman across the street looked forth from her casement the first thing on which her eyes fell was this intended portrait of her amiable self.

For more than 100 years the "Neidkopf," "spiteful vixen head," as one would say in English, stood in proud prominence, a reproach to the envious Frau Goldschmied and her descendants. It afterward mysteriously disappeared, but in 1840 or thereabouts it was found again in a forgotten collection of bric-a-brac. Frederick William IV. bought the bust for a very large price and had it replaced in its original niche, where it stands today.—New York Press.

STRIKING A MATCH.

An Act In Which, It Is Claimed, You May Read One's Character.

"There is no better way to judge a person's character than to watch how he strikes a match," remarked the man who had acquired the rare habit of observation. "It may seem only a trifle, but it is the little things that count, after all. We often poke fun at the way a woman lights a match, but if you watch half a dozen different men do it you will find that you have just as much to laugh at.

"Take the conceited man, for instance, who thinks he knows it all and who has so much misplaced confidence in himself that it merely makes him obstinate. He will try to strike a match on a damp surface or in a gale without paying any attention to which way the wind is blowing. Knowing it all, experience teaches him nothing, and he will waste a whole box of matches before he will seek a place that is dry and sheltered.

"The careless man will grab a match haphazard and viciously strike it against the nearest thing at hand. Failure makes him lose his temper, and when he goes up in the air he is likely to waste several matches before he succeeds in getting a light.

"The man who lacks common sense will attempt to strike a match under impossible conditions. If he had the least bit of judgment he would realize that he was going about it the wrong way, but his case is hopeless, and he never learns.

"Hungry Joe the king of the confidence operators, used to size up his victim in this way: The first thing he did after striking up an acquaintance was to offer the man a cigar. If he lighted it properly with the first match Hungry Joe passed him up as a bad proposition, convinced that he possessed judgment, shrewdness and too much common sense to be buncoed."

The Social Weaver.

Perhaps the most curious nesting habit is that of a certain species of weaving bird to be found in Africa called the social weaver. A number of these begin clubbing together and build immense grass canopies, like umbrellas, on the tops of trees, weaving the grass so closely together that it acts as a rainproof roof. Under this shelter each pair of birds build their own nest and thus form happy little colonies.—London Tit-Bits.

PUNISHING THE SUFFRAGETTES

In Dublin two suffragettes have been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for five years, one for setting fire to a theatre and the other for wounding John Redmond with a hatchet. This indicates that the Irish courts believe in political equality when it comes to criminal prosecutions. The news of the punishment of the suffragettes was received with impassionate outbursts by the London sisterhood, but not so by the sisterhood in the United States and Canada.

American women who favor the extension of political rights to their sex, have not yet unsexed themselves, hence they depreciate the rowdyism which has made their British sisters notorious and created sentiment unfavorable to the cause. They realize that if a reckless British politicians had set fire to a theatre in which an opposition meeting was in progress or had used a hatchet upon an opposing leader, a five year sentence would have aroused no outburst of denunciation and public opinion would have sustained the sentence.

It seems now that equal rights to the sexes are to be a part of the programme of the future, but the day will not be advanced by the methods adopted by the amazons who seem to lead the suffragette party in Great Britain.

THE LURE OF THE SEA.

When the chief barber of the Titanic was rescued after having spent several hours in the water, he vowed that he would never again leave terra firma but it appears that he recently sailed from New York on a big liner where he is pursuing his old time occupation "After all," he remarked philosophically, "an accident like the Titanic may never occur again, and I think I will risk it, anyway."

If one may judge from the passenger lists a great many persons this season must be of the same way of thinking as the chief barber, for in a single day recently, there were landed at the port of New York 10,200 passengers from Europe, a record that has been exceeded only once before. As a matter of fact the assumption now is that ocean travel is much safer than before the Titanic disaster, and it rests upon the fact that to-day an adequate supply of lifeboats and rafts is carried by the big liners, and there is greater observance of the precautions that were neglected in the case of the Titanic.

Sufficient time has not elapsed to carry into effect proposed improvements in steamship construction, but the next big vessel to be launched will have an inner shell or skin which it is reported, incurs an additional expense of $350,000. But the inner shell may not prevent a ship from sinking, hence persons who cross the Atlantic and other oceans must continue to trust to capable and cautious seamanship.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The New York police official who saved $2250 a week out of his salary of $43.75 a week was evidently not troubled much by the high cost of living.

"A miserable pittance dealt out with a niggardly hand" is the way an eastern clergyman characterizes the $100 grant to the Fenian raid veterans. Paltry as it is, it has proven a veritable Gabriel's trumpet in resurrecting the dead.

A Chicago lawyer says Mr. Taft is the greatest living American, but he is all wrong. Miss Alpine Blitch, a Coney Island side-show attraction, weighs 650 pounds, and was married the other day to a printer of the leatherweight class.

The Examiner says the bosses are behind Hon. R. L. Borden. Well, that's the proper place for them. He put them where the Saviour of Mankind put the devil, and the Canadian people may rest assured that Borden will keep them there.

Within the last week two inoffensive Canadians have been wantonly murdered by immigrants carrying revolvers. Every immigrant ought to be searched at the port of debarkation, and if he has a revolver on him he should be at once deported as an "undesirable."

The glaring bad faith of the United States in the Panama Canal affair has killed Reciprocity forever. Canadians will be more than ever set against basing their business ventures on any agreement with a country that will break a treaty without notice when it sees any material advantage in so doing.

The return of the Hon. R. L. Borden to Ottawa from England is to be celebrated by a banquet which will be held in the Grand Trunk's hotel, "the Chateau Laurier" on Sept. 10th. It is understood that all the Cabinet Ministers will be present, and that the function is likely to be one of the most brilliant of its kind that the Capital has ever seen.

The contract for all the catering in the big new Union station at Winnipeg has been awarded by the Terminals Board to the Canadian News and Restaurant Company of Toronto, which does most of the restaurant for the Grand Trunk Railway in eastern Canada. Orders have been given for extensive alterations to the north wing of the ground floor for the purpose of giving adequate catering accommodation and it is expected that this restaurant will be opened inside of a month.

Greatest Invention of Age For Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered is so Beneficial to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as Catarrhozone.

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhozone cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes huskiness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhozone keeps the mucous surfaces in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's greatest source of anxiety—unfitness of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhozone, and credit in no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhozone.

"For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as Catarrh.

"Being a professional singer you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill.

"One year ago I read in the Progress a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your God-sent invention, Catarrhozone.

"Believing in the merits of Catarrhozone, I tried it.

"Catarrhozone cured me and has been the means of my success.

"You are at liberty to use my name, if it will help relieve some from suffering, and I will always remain.

"Bob Bixley, New Glasgow, N.S."

Mr. Bixley is one of the best known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him, and his testimonial for Catarrhozone is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhozone is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler, and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely to your address by mail if price is forwarded to the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., or Kingston, Ont.

WEIGHING OF COAL.

(Editor Morning Times).

Sir,—In a late issue of The Times "Honest Weight" wants to know who weighs Peterborough's coal. About this time every year "Honest Weight," "One Who Knows," "I've Been Stung," and a raft of other corner orators, or calamity howlers, want to know who "weighs the coal, not only here but in every other place where these "Honest Weights" live.

Now, Mr. Editor, it's not fair to the coal dealers here nor anywhere else to accuse or intimate that he is working the short weight game. No more so than "Honest Weight" would say the same about the grocer, druggist, butcher or any respectable merchant.

I am not a coal merchant, but I do believe in fair play, and if "Honest Weight" believes he is being cheated, why not say so to his dealer like a man, instead of rushing into print. Possibly "Honest Weight" has been "summed" for a bill.

"Just Me."

SAYS DOCTRINE IS NO GOOD

Monroe Theory Serves to Permit Rebels to Fight

IN CENTRAL AMERICA

American Salesman Now in Peterborough Has Poor Opinion of the Monroe Doctrine——Is Sure To Bring Trouble to Uncle Sam.

The Times was favored with a call from Mr. A. E. Sawtell, of New York, who recently returned from a business trip amongst the Southern Republics.

"Uncle Sam's dear old Monroe doctrines may be elastic, but there is bound to be a limit to its stretching capacity," he said. "When it does reach the limit, you are going to hear a pop that will sound very much like an artillery gun."

He was speaking particularly of the present crisis in that country. His reference to the Monroe doctrine as elastic epitomizes the opinion of all Americans and other foreigners in Central America. They feel that sooner or later one of the great powers of Europe, probably Germany, will become so incensed at the treatment of its natives in Nicaragua or some other Roman Catholic republic that it will disregard the Monroe doctrine and all that it means to Uncle Sam.

"Here is the position assumed by the United States in its relations with Spanish-America: It refuses to intervene, even when the lives and property of its natives are endangered—and, furthermore, it refuses to allow any other nation to intervene! 'Hands off,' says Uncle Sam to John Bull and Kaiser William. Heretofore they have heeded this admonition—but how long will they continue to do so? Germany is strong, and feels that strength. She has a standing army that makes Uncle Sam blush every time it takes a squint at it, and her navy rivals that of the old Mistress of the Seas herself. Will Germany continue to tolerate this bugbear known as the Monroe doctrine, when her interests in Central America are so vitally affected? It may be only a question of time—but sooner or later Kaiser William will take a good look at his hand and call Uncle Sam's bluff."

May Give Germany An Excuse

This commentary on what threatens to be an international complication was called forth by the report of the bombardment of Managua during the early part of the week by the revolutionary forces under General Mena. Twelve women and children are reported to have been killed in this attack on the Nicaraguan capital, and, what may be of more significance from an international viewpoint, the residence of the German Consul was damaged by shot

More than 20,000,000 square miles of the earth yet remain unexplored. Africa has the largest unexplored area, nearly 6,500,000 square miles, while North America contains fewer than 1,500,000 square miles of virgin territory. The largest continuous stretch of unexplored country is in Liberia, Africa. The tract consists of about 20,000 square miles, all of which is within 200 miles of the sea. Regions adjoining the Kongo, the basin of the upper Nile, parts of Morocco, Abyssinia, Somaliland, have yet to be surveyed, mapped out and if suitable commercially exploited.

Left Handed.

Among the world's left handed geniuses was Leonardo da Vinci, who wrote a treatise on aviation, the handwriting of which travels from the right side of the page to left. Nelson, too, was left handed, but that was from necessity.

J. R. Green records a story of Admiral Nelson's visit to Yarmouth to receive the freedom of the borough. "A storm met him on his landing, but the danger failed to prevent his appearance on the quay. When the freeman's oath was tendered to him the town clerk bade him place his left hand on the book. Shocked at the [illegible] he said 'Your right hand, my lord!' 'That,' answered Nelson, 'is at Teneriffe.'"

FROCK COAT STILL WORN BY THE KING

But Neither It Nor Silk Hat is Favored in London.

London, Aug. 23.—Apropos of the marked decline in the wearing of the tall hat by well-dressed men, a correspondent of the Standard draws attention to the fact that no other hat has yet been invented which harmonizes properly with a frock coat, or even with the long cutaway coats which are now so fashionable.

The writer continues:

"Nor can I quite understand why the frock coat is no longer the supreme garment for ceremonial dress during the day, in view of the example set by the King, who, like his father, the late King Edward, invariably wears one whenever the tall hat replaces the bowler, in which he appears with ordinary tweed or blue serge mufti. At Ascot His Majesty wore a gray frock suit and a tall gray hat; but when he visited Shakespeare's, England, with the Queen, it is interesting to know that he wore a black frock coat with a black waistcoat showing an edging of white slip and dark gray trousers. His necktie was of deep blue, sailor's knot fashion, with a small jeweled pin, and his vividly brown gloves had black stripes. The tops of His Majesty's black buttoned boots were also brown, and he carried a crook-handled umbrella with gold mounting. A medium black band encircled his glossy tall hat. There is the fashion as set by 'the first gentleman of London.'"

500 EXECUTIONS IN SINGLE MONTH

Death Penalty in Canton for Such Offences as Theft and Gambling.

Canton, Aug. 23.—More than 500 executions have occurred here in the past month, including another big batch to-day. The police, the military commander, the naval authorities and the courts all claim and exercise the right to impose and execute capital sentences.

Death is the penalty for gambling, false representation, piracy, theft, extortion, selling arms without license, joining anti-Government organizations, treason, murder, and harboring criminals.

LICENSE DEPARTMENT WINKS AT VIOLATION

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 23.—The Whig editorially says: "Recently the License Department of the Ontario Government prosecuted with vigor a local preacher in Frontenac county, for having sold liquor without a license, and he was fined $100.

It was claimed by the seller that he was in total ignorance of the fact that the wine he was disposing of had a greater quantity of alcohol than the law allowed, but a conviction necessarily followed. But how is the law carried out in Toronto under the very shadow of the department itself? We are given to understand that there are boats going in and out of its harbor that are constantly defying the law. This is undoubtedly known to the authorities for, in years past boat-owners have been summoned and annually fined $100 and costs, practically a license fee, and we presume that this year the same proceeding will occur. Isn't it high time the License Department of the Ontario Government woke up and insisted that the law it has put into force should not be rendered inoperative in the way it has been?"

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While such fund is only $60,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the protection admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

Active Business Requires Adequate Telephone Service.

The essentials of adequate telephone service for a busy establishment are:—

1. An open door for outgoing telephone calls.
2. An open door for incoming telephone calls.
3. Facilities for immediate intercommunication between offices and departments.

Private Branch Exchange telephone service meets these requirements. Outgoing and incoming messages can be handled simultaneously. Interior intercommunication can be carried on independently.

Private Branch Exchange telephone service is recognized as the only suitable service for active organizations, and it costs even less than the simpler form of telephone service.

Let us send our representative to explain it in detail and to quote rates.

THE CRISIS AT PEKIN NOW CONSIDERED OVER

But Further Explanations of Executions of Members of Dr. Sun's Party Were Refused

Pekin, Aug. 22.—President Yuan Shi Kai yesterday sent a despatch to the Chinese National Assembly, declining to accede to its demands that the Premier and the Minister of War attend the session of the Assembly and further explain their reasons for the execution of General Chang Chen-Wu and General Feng-Wei, members of the Dr. Sun Yat Sen's party, who recently were summarily put to death. The President suggested that the Hupeh members of the Assembly visit him.

Instead of accepting the invitation Yuan Shi Kai's attitude toward the Assembly and decided to hold a secret meeting for the purpose of drawing up a form of impeachment of the Government.

Later they met the President who explained the Government's attitude so effectively that his visitors volunteered to persuade the House not to impeach the Government unless further re-actionary acts were committed. The crisis is considered over.

DANISH WOMEN TO HAVE THE SUFFRAGE

If Premier Can Carry Through Policy He Has Formed.

Copenhagen, Aug. 23.—Herr Berntsen, the Danish Premier, has recently made a pronouncement which has aroused the greatest interest throughout Denmark, and particularly among those in sympathy with the women's movement. On his advent to power he definitely adopted woman suffrage as part of the Government program. To accomplish this, however, an amendment to the constitution is required.

Two points are involved, one is the manner of election to the upper house, and the other the widening of the franchise for the House of Commons, including the lowering of the voting age from thirty to twenty-five and the recognition of the right of women to vote. It has hitherto been the intention of the Government to take this reform in two stages.

It is now proposed to push the two projects through simultaneously, so that the question of woman suffrage will be bound up with the abolishing of certain privileges of the Upper House and the democratization of the manner of the election. At first sight it would appear that the chances for women must be lessened by this conjunction. The women, however, have a firm friend in Herr Bernstein, who professes himself convinced that the political equality of men and women is essential to true progress. The whole question is to come up for discussion in the autumn session.

SAYS DOCTRINE NO GOOD

and shell. While the United States has more at stake than any other foreign nation in Nicaragua, her dilly-dallying when it comes to the question of intervention is so well known abroad that the Europeans would hardly wait for this country to take the initiative in an emergency. Such an emergency would give Germany an excuse to test the effectiveness of the Monroe doctrine which merely means that the United States will not meddle in the affairs of Europe, and that in return the Europeans are not to meddle in the affairs of America.

Says War Would Be Good Thing.

Aside from the fact that Germany, or any other able-bodied nation, hates to sit idle, with folded hands, while a little bunch of perpetual revolutionists are shooting up its subjects, there is deeper reason why Europe should call Uncle Sam's hand at this time, according to the deposters. It is not only a question of honor, or patriotism, or whatever the diplomats may call it, but it is a question of commercial supremacy in Central America.

"The United States may have the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. to take care of," added the traveling salesman, "but the Germans are pretty strong all over Central America. If Uncle Sam wants to intervene, well and good, but if Uncle Sam wants to work through the underground route for the benefit of financiers, the Germans will not stand for it. Personally, I believe that a war with Germany would be a good thing for the United States. While it would no doubt be a stand-off in the treaty of peace, it would teach my country a lesson. The war with Spain was not a lesson—it was more like play—recreation. But a war with Germany would convince the most skeptical of our need for a standing army, and I think it would puncture that gas balloon that the Washington diplomats have a habit of blowing whenever they want to put something over the Europeans—I refer to the Monroe doctrine."

In referring to the Panama Canal matter, Mr. Sawtell said that a decent country-loving American blushed with shame for the course which the nation, through Congress, was pursuing in this matter. It was most dishonorable and could not be defended in any quarter.

THE C. P. R. IN EUROPE

Hungary Wants the Great Canadian Company's Austrian Observation Car System.

The highly successful inauguration of the C.P.R.'s magnificent observation cars on the State Railways of Austria is leading the neighboring country to look with longing eye on its innovation. The Hungarian press is pointing out the many advantages of the C.P.R. service and the great benefit it would prove to the country if introduced there in promoting tourist traffic. One paper has pointedly questioned the Government whether it had considered the advisability of following Austria's enterprise, and the Minister of Commerce replied "that in his opinion it is a very good idea, which would certainly give highly satisfactory results and be an excellent means for calling the attention of foreign countries to the natural beauties of Hungary." He had therefore immediately given the necessary instructions to the Government Railways, who will study this matter very carefully and communicate with the C.P.R. authorities so as to give him as soon as possible the results of the negotiations.

The Under Secretary of State replied that the introduction of C.P.R. observation cars into Hungary's railway service would be very useful. It was a question of great importance, and he has already instructed the management of the Government Railways to carefully study the question. A representative was sent to Vienna on the inaugural trip of the cars in Austria.

The "Pesti Hirlap," one of the leading papers of Hungary, expresses the hope that the promise of the Government may be kept and the highly necessary promotion of the influx of foreign visitors may not remain a vain desire.

KAISER GENEROUS TO ARMY OFFICER

Vienna, Aug. 23.—The Emperor has accorded a special mark of his favor to First Lieutenant Blaschke, who has made excellent records in aviation lately. The Emperor received the officer in audience, inquired into his personal circumstances, and heard he was engaged to be married, but could not marry, as the necessary "caution" money required from the wife of every officer was not forthcoming. The Emperor thereupon presented the pair with over $5,000, the sum which was wanting to complete the dower, from his privy purse. The fiancee of Lieutenant Blaschke, Fraulein von Osakay, made several ascents with him during the Vienna flying week.

RUSSIA'S RED STAIRCASE.

Its Steps the Scene of Many Fateful and Historic Incidents.

The red staircase is very ancient and very memorable in the history of Russia. From the Church of the Assumption, where all the czars are crowned, it led to the old palace of the Kremlin, as now it leads to the new. This marble structure was built on the site of the former church by the Emperor Nicholas, but he left the historic staircase undisturbed.

It was on the red staircase that Ivan IV., known as "the Terrible," stood when he received the celebrated letter from Kurbski, his traitor general, who from a safe place of refuge sent a message of defiance by his servant. This haughty czar is said to have nailed the foot of the messenger to the red staircase with his famous iron staff while the letter was being read to him.

This same iron staff in the hands of the angry czar afterward killed his son and heir. Great and fierce was the sorrow of Ivan over this horrible tragedy, and as he stood on the red staircase one night mourning for his son he saw the comet which, he believed, foretold his own death.

Another historic scene on the red staircase began with the ringing of the 600 bells of Moscow, relates the New York Herald. Regiments of soldiers, numbering thousands, followed by a great crowd of people dragging cannon, were marching to the Kremlin. They had been roused into fury by a false rumor that a brother of Natalia, widow of the Czar Alexis, had seized the crown and that Ivan, the heir of the Russian throne, had been murdered.

Reaching the palace, they clamored for vengeance. Suddenly the tumult was quelled as Natalia appeared on the platform of the red staircase with her two children beside her—Ivan, her feeble, imbecile stepson, and Peter, her own bright, handsome boy.

Natalia trembled as she faced the angry crowd, who had placed ladders against the rails and climbed up to the platform, but the young prince, Peter, afterward Peter the Great, stood and looked at them without showing a sign of fear.

On July 6, 1682, the same young boys, Ivan and Peter, appeared on the red staircase surrounded by boyars and nobles, but under very different circumstances. Peter looked on the crowd with the same calm gaze as when he stood holding the trembling hand of his mother before a mob insane with rage. The people now greeted him with joy, and the great procession that preceded and followed the two brothers passed slowly down the red staircase on its way to the Cathedral of the Assumption, where, amid the pomp, magnificence and ceremonial of the Russian church, Ivan and Peter were crowned czars by the patriarch.

The steps of the red staircase have been ascended by conqueror and conquered. Napoleon ascended these steps when he took possession of Moscow, and perhaps he felt forebodings of his destiny when he passed over them for the last time.

BROKE HER PROMISE.

She Hated to Do It, but Then She Felt That She Was Justified.

A widely known motor racer was asked by a friend if he would be so kind as to allow three young women to accompany him while he was trying out a new racing car.

"Why, I can't be bothered with passengers at a time like that, and especially with women. They always talk to me, and I can't have my mind distracted. It might prove dangerous, you know."

"But these girls won't bother you. I'll tell them not to. One of them is my sister. They are crazy to go; want to say they have ridden with you. You know how girls are."

"Well, if you will tell them they mustn't speak to me while I am driving they may go. They mustn't move around or do anything to distract my attention. You impress this upon them. If they are willing to do this they can go."

The promise was made, and they started. At one place the driver ran over a water guard and there was a tremendous bump. He did not try to look around, as he was going at a rapid rate of speed, but presently he felt a timid touch on his shoulder.

"What is it?" he growled.

A weak little voice answered him: "Really, I hate awfully to bother you. I know I shouldn't and promised not to. But I feel I must tell you Helen isn't with us now."

Heat From The Moon.

The moon is made of material supposed to be stone, since its specific gravity is about that of the rocks within reach here on earth. It reflects the light it receives from the sun to the earth, but in greatly weakened proportion. Therefore this light will affect plants in the same ratio. The effect is very small indeed. Heat energy sent from the sun to the moon is very nearly the same as that radiated to the earth, but the quantity sent from the moon to the earth is so small that it is negligible.

One of the most famous entrances in the world is doubtless the ancient Traitors' Gate, in the Tower of London. The C.G.E. property has been entirely surrounded by a red board fence. The road given in exchange for the end of Townsend street is reported to be in good condition as specified in the agreement.

Declined Invitation.

Rev. H. J. Keith, pastor of Knox church, received an invitation to preach in St. Paul's church, Calgary, with a view to taking the position there. Mr. Keith declined the invitation yesterday, as he has no desire to part with his present flock and is happy where he is.

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out?

Here is Good Advice to All Who Feel as if Their Vigor and Life Had All Oozed Away.

This Condition Can Be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleansing Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the daytime, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Prizes for Best Home Made Bread.

The Quaker Oats Company are offering four prizes for home made bread made from Quaker flour and exhibition at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. Each competitor must have a receipt from the dealer certifying as to where the flour was purchased.

57th Band Concert.

The 57th Band gave their second last band concert in Victoria Park last night, and despite the coolness of the evening a large crowd turned out and appreciated the splendid program rendered as was shown by their unstinted applause after each number.

Many Leave for West.

About fifty local people and many others from the surrounding country, left yesterday morning for Toronto, where they will get the trains to Winnipeg to work in the harvest fields of the west. The big excursion leaves Peterborough on August 28th, when a special train will leave at 1.30 p.m.

Special Train For Exhibition.

The special rate on all railways for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will be in effect where the single fare does not exceed $2.50. The directors have arranged for a special train to Campbellford and Hastings on Saturday, the last day of the exhibition. It will leave the Grand Trunk depot at 7.30 p.m.

Miss Lydia Moffatt.

Miss Lydia Moffatt passed away yesterday morning at her home, 292 Townsend street. The deceased was born in Marmora and was 22 years of age. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moffatt, three brothers and two sisters. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 to the Little Lake cemetery.

Richmond Known Here.

Arthur Richmond who is held in Toronto in connection with the shortages of money from the El street branch of the Bank of Toronto, is well known in Peterborough, and spent his vacation at Stoney Lake last year. Before going to Toronto, he was teller in the Hastings branch of the Bank of Toronto.

K. of C. New Home.

The Knights of Columbus have moved to their new home on Simcoe street, which is now being furnished and when completed should make a fine addition to the city's club quarters. They will hold their first meeting in the new rooms on September 3rd, when arrangements will be made for the formal opening.

Good Advertising for Peterborough.

In the latest issue of the "Canadian Courier," which is a special issue for home products, there appears a large cut giving a view of the Canadian General Electric Co., of Peterborough, with the inscription, "Where everything in electrical development is made, from a Niagara water wheel to an electric light fixture for a drawing room."

Game District Boundaries.

The boundary line between the northern and southern game districts is the present line to the town of Perth. From there it branches down to Belleville and runs between the Grand Trunk and Canadian Northern Railways to Toronto. The open season for duck is from the first of September to the fifteenth of December, both days inclusive in the northern district. No Sunday shooting is permitted.

The New Heating System.

The new heating system installed in St. Paul's church has been completed, and is now ready for use. The work has been done by Mr. Alex Archibald, and cost $3000. The old boiler was taken out and two up-to-date boilers put in. This will effect a considerable saving in fuel, besides making the church and the connecting rooms comfortable during the coldest weather. The G. Walter Green Company purchased the old boiler, the price being $300.

The funeral will be held in London, England, on Wednesday next, and on Thursday noon, the hour, according to the English time, when the burial services will be taking place an hour of prayer will be held in all the Salvation Army Temples in the Dominion.

Stranded in Rice Lake.

On Thursday, the steamer Stoney Lake with the Knox Church Sunday School excursion on board, ran aground on one of the old piers of the Cobourg and Peterborough railway bridge. Mr. Fred Finney and one of the deck hands paddled to Jubilee Point where the Geneva had landed with a crowd of excursionists from Hastings. The Harris responded to the call for help and soon the Stoney Lake was clear, after two hours on the pier.

Mr. Allen Has Arrived.

Mr. John Allen, professor of music and late organist and choirmaster of Crescent street Presbyterian church, Montreal, Mrs. Allen and Miss Dorothy Allen have arrived in the city and have located at 539 Downie street. Mr. Allen is the new organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Mr. Allen has had the honor on several occasions of playing before most of the members of the Royal family at Balmoral Castle, Abergeldie Castle, Mar Lodge &c.

Peterborough Man in Runaway.

Mr. W. Brethour, of Lindsay, and Mr. Wm. Waugh, of Peterborough, who represent the McCormack Implement Company, figured in a fierce runaway about seven miles from Lindsay on Wednesday. The horse became unmanageable and from some unknown cause kicked over the shafts and started to run towards town. Mr. Waugh was thrown backwards out of the buggy, alighting on his shoulders and head, and to-day he is suffering from a stiff neck as a result. Mr. Brethour was uninjured.

To Drill for Oil and Gas.

Mr. Finnely J. Forsyth, of Warsaw, has succeeded in organizing a local company to drill and prospect in this locality and around Warsaw for oil, gas, salt and other minerals. The company is capitalized at $40,000 and shares are now being offered to the public at $1.00, par value. The company will begin operations as soon as sufficient capital is subscribed to warrant a beginning. Peterborough has tried sinking a few wells at various times, but without result. We hope our friends in Warsaw will meet with better success.

A Busy M.P.

Havelock Standard: J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., spent the greater part of last week travelling over different parts of the county for the purpose of laying out routes for rural free mail delivery. These routes will cover most of the leading highways of Otonabee, Douro, Dummer and Asphodel. Later on, as soon as circumstances will admit, it is expected that the service will be extended to the northern portion of the riding. What's the matter with the Belmont farmers? Don't they want to have improved conditions in mail delivery? See Mr. Sexsmith about it.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

IS THIS WHY ENGLISH BEAUTIES ARE SO FAIR?

(From London Herald).

Ever since the discovery that mercolized wax would absorb and remove a soiled complexion, its use by ladies as a substitute for toilet creams has grown rapidly. A perfect complexion can be maintained indefinitely if this remarkable substance is used. Its beneficient cleansing, clearing and preservative action is quickly apparent, and ladies who have been paying as high as a guinea a jar for "special cream" from beauty specialists, soon recognize that mercolized wax outranks them all. It has become so popular that it can be obtained at all chemist shops in the British Isles. American druggists also have great demand for it, in original one-ounce packages. The favorite way of using is to apply it, like cold cream, before retiring, washing it off in the morning.

The saxolite lotion for wrinkles and the facial contour has also become extremely popular. One ounce powdered saxolite is dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this has a splendid effect.

THE DOWAGER QUEEN REFUSED MONUMENT

Maria Christina Asked Fund Be Given to Poor Children.

San Sebastian, Aug. 23.—A local newspaper which collected large sums of money for a monument to Dowager Queen Maria Christina, mother of the King, was forced by Her Majesty to abandon the plan.

"There is no reason why I should have a monument erected to myself," said the Queen. "Take the money collected and use it for the benefit of poor children."

The editor had to promise to do as directed.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

UNIONIST LEADERS NOW DISAVOW THE USE OF ARMS TO RESIST HOME RULE

But the Arming and Drilling Continues—Violence Probable at September Meeting—London Times Says Passive Resistance Might Easily Become Active

London, Aug. 25.—Sensational reports from Ulster continue to arive, and it is often difficult to winnow the real facts from the sensational. The more violent Unionist leaders, alarmed by the Government's scarcely veiled threat of prosecution for sedition, hastened to disavow physical violence. The Ulster protest, in the words of Lord Hugh Cecil, is to have nothing disorderly about it—is not to be marked by serious violence unless the Government attempts to suppress it by force. While organized and disciplined, it is to be free from rioting, disorder, and casual violence.

However, despite Lord Hugh, the arming of Protestants continues and gun clubs continue to flourish amazingly.

That September's monster gatherings, when the Ulster men will pledge themselves not to acknowledge a Parliament in Dublin if Home Rule becomes law, not to obey its laws, nor pay its taxes, may lead to violence, is admitted on all sides. The Times says: "The leaders of the Ulster men are too clear sighted and to honest to delude themselves by fine distinctions between active and passive resistence. They must know that passive resistence may easily devflop into active resistence."

A large section of the English Unionists, while denouncing Home Rule, openly deplore the Ulster attitude, and it is notable that although Bonar Law has openly allied himself with the extremists, many of his chief supporters have refrained.

TAKES THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH SEVERELY TO TASK

Holds That It is Responsible For The Murder of Thousands in Peru

The Roman Church will find it difficult to escape responsibility for the loss of thirty thousand lives in Peru sacrificed to the greed of the rubber monopoly. Rome has been in full control of Peru for nearly four hundred years. She has had the country to herself without interference from Protestants. Here is the state religion. None other is recognized or tolerated. The government has been under her complete domination. Yet the Roman Catholic officials who yielded obedience to the papacy, as in the Congo, permitted Romanists acting for the rubber monopoly, to so brutally treat the natives they compelled to work for them, that thirty thousands perished.

But there is additional reason for charging the church with these wholesale murders. Five years ago the Baptist Church tried to send a mission into the district affected. Had it been permitted to do so, the presumption is that it would have given such publicity to the cruelties practised that a major portion of the thirty thousand victims would have been saved. As it was, the Baptists were told that the proposed mission would violate the constitution by which Peru professes the Roman Catholic Apostolic religion and "does not permit the public exercise of any other whatsoever." So years went by before the horrors were brought to the attention of Protestant England, which came to the rescue of the oppressed as in the case of the natives of the Congo.

Doubtless to distract attention from her own culpability, the church is now appealing to the world to subscribe $200,000 for the maintenance of a Roman Catholic mission in the rubber country. Is this to be for the Christianizing of the natives or of their Roman Catholic oppressors? Even Protestants would subscribe if it were for the latter purpose and any good would come of it, but the object is plainly for the conversion of the pery people, in the wholesale slaughter of whom Rome must be considered an accessory.

The Roman Church seeks to prevent Protestants from again attempting to establish missions in Peru. The appeal for funds is accompanied by a statement by Sir Roger Casement, who made the investigation, in which he says, "Neither the Peruvian nor his government would recognize Protestant intervention as

RESENTS ATTACK ON "BACHELOR GIRL"

MISS HELEN M GOULD

Miss Helen Miller Gould has not the slightest intention of going to live on a desert island because she has never been married, and the Rev. Elmer V. Hupper, of Grand Junction, Col., who recommended that deportation of all bachelors and "bachelor maids," has food for thought in a letter he has just received from the daughter of the late Jay Gould.

Miss Gould in her letter says in part:—"Many bachelor maids are not living alone because they so choose, but have been unable to find a suitable companion. If I had found a suitable helpmate I might have spent my money in a different way, which might not have done as much good as it is now."

KINGS MIGHT WELL ENVY THE TRIBUTE TO GENERAL BOOTH

London, Aug. 25.—London has been profoundly moved by General Booth's death, and yesterday the scenes at Clapton, where his body lies in state were exceedingly touching. All classes, from the German Emperor's aide-de-camp, bearing a wreath from his imperial master, to ragged children from the slums, filed in front of the heavy oak coffin. There were no trappings of mourning, save the white arm bands. The lofty canopy of yellow and white above the body gave an utmost barbaric touch of color to the scene, but grief was on every face.

Kings might well envy the voluntary tribute of affection and admiration the silent red-jerseyed figure is receiving at Clapton. All yesterday despite the heavy rain, crowds waited their turn to enter and pay their last respects.

Amid these modern days of rush—meals often late or hasty,
How nice it is to find a food that's quickly served and tasty.
All first class grocers keep it, or if they don't they should,
I mean of course, "Post Toasties," they're everything that's good.

ARRESTED FOR SHOOTING THIEF

Father and Son Held tor Peppering Man Who Stole Tomatoes

St. Catharines, Aug. 24.—Larry Henckle, a laborer, employed on the sewer construction here, has found that tomatoes come high even in the far-famed Niagara District. Larry has been working at Carleton street and entered the firm operated by William Leith to secure a few tomatoes. Hardly had he consumed the ripe juicy tomatoes when Leith and his son appeared armed with shot guns.

Both peppered away at Henckle, with the result that he was painfully injured about the legs and back. The injured man then lodged a charge with the police and Leith and his son were apprehended, charged with "wounding and intent to kill." They were allowed out on $500 bail each until next Tuesday. Fruit growers in the district report that they lose many dollars every year by people breaking into tomato patches and fruit orchards and helping themselves to fruit.

DR. W. B. NESBITT SERIOUSLY ILL

Lies in Private Hospital Afflicted With Heart and Kidney Trouble

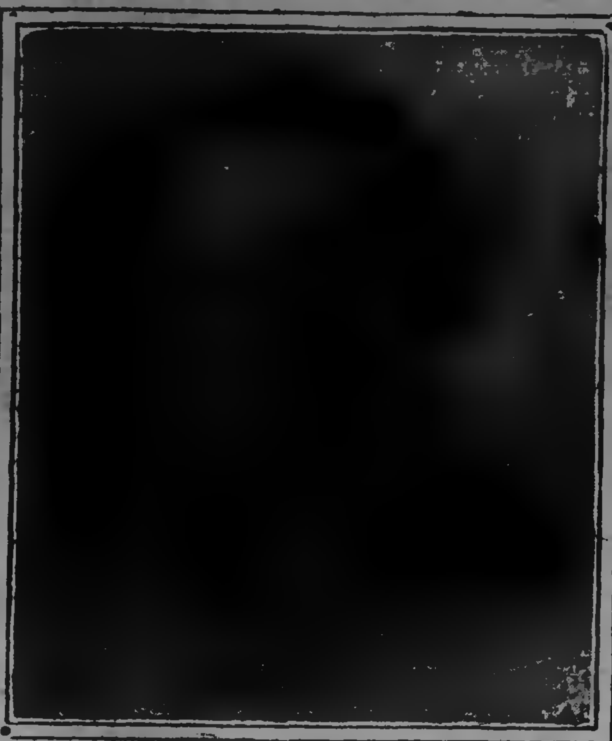
Toronto, Aug. 25.—His condition so serious that two prominent physicians have held a consultation over his illness.

Dr. William Beattie Nesbitt lies in the Lyndurst Hospital on College Street, suffering from heart and kidney trouble. The doctor has been sick for the past week and has been confined to bed at the private institution.

Dr. Nesbitt is held on heavy bail to appear in the fall assizes on charges of signing false returns to the government while he was president of the Farmers' Bank. Shortly after the police court hearing Dr. Nesbitt went to his island at Muskoka, where the family were summering. It is said that an abundance of flowers, and especially golden rod and nasturtium and other circumstances had a strong influence on Dr. Nesbitt, and he contracted hay fever, which later developed into asthma.

The hasty flight which he took into the United States following the bank exposures, followed by fits of brooding over his safety, are in a measure partly responsible for Dr. Nesbitt's state.

WILSON CAMPAIGN CRAYON HAS BEEN COMPLETED BY SEYMOUR THOMAS



THE CAMPAIGN PORTRAIT OF GOVERNOR WILSON BY SEYMOUR THOMAS

The latest portrait of Governor Woodrow Wilson, which will be used as the chief campaign sketch of the democratic Presidential candidate, has been completed in the Beaux Arts Building at the studio of Seymour Thomas, an old friend of Governor Wilson, in New York. Mrs. Wilson, also a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, believes the black and white crayon to be the best which has been made of her husband. She has made frequent visits to the studio, where five heads of Governor Wilson have been occupying Mr. Thomas' attention.

IMPERIAL NAVY TO HELP THE EMPIRE IS CANADA'S PURPOSE

Text of Memorial to be Presented to Federal Government For a Navy to Help the Empire

Following is the memorial drawn up by representative citizens for presentation to the federal government:

We, the undersigned citizens of Canada, members of both political parties, unite in urgently representing to the Premier and Cabinet of Canada and the leader of the Opposition:

1. That in our judgment it is the desire of the majority of the people of Canada that the Dominion should forthwith take her part in the naval defence of the Empire.

2. That capacity for self-defence being a necessary incident of nationhood, that Canadian people look forward to equipping themselves with all reasonable despatch with the necessary means of defence and that the permanent policy of the Dominion should look to the establishment of a navy that will be worthy of our national aspirations.

3. That if international relations as disclosed by official information are such as to indicate the existence of an urgent situation, substantial evidence should be given forthwith of Canada's recognition of her responsibilities as part of the Empire; and that the action taken in accordance with this idea should be of such notable character as to be adequate in the light of the responsibilities of Canada, and of the exigencies of the case, and worthy of Canada's material wealth and prosperity.

4. That the motive animating Canadians is not to promote the military spirit as such, and in particular, is not to render more acute the tension between Great Britain and any other power; but to show in a practical way their belief that the effective maintenance of the British navy makes for the preservation of the world's peace, and to demonstrate unmistakably the strength of the overseas' resources which are available for the defence of the Empire.

5. That it is highly desirable that the policy of the Dominion of Canada, both for the moment and permanently, with regard to the matter should not be or become a party question.

6. That without delay an earnest effort should therefore be made by the government, through friendly consultation with His Majesty's Opposition in Canada, to give to such immediate action and to the Dominion's permanent policy, a form which, securing the adhesion of both parties, may remove the whole question of Imperial Defence from the domain of contentious politics.

THE ULSTER HUNGER STRIKE.

MISS CARSON—Oi tell yis, Oi won't swallow it, no matther phwat ye do. Oi'll die foist."—John Bull.

THE END OF TRIPOLITAN WAR NOW EXPECTED BY POWERS

Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs Expresses Conviction That "Before Long Our International Relations Will Be Once More on a Firm Basis of Peace." —European Countries are Watchful

New York, Aug. 24.—Now that M. Poincare, the French Premier is back from Russia, events in the near east are again engrossing attention. The belief prevails that the end of the Turco-Italian War is near.

That Turkey is anxious for peace is indicated in a statement made to The Matin's Constantinople correspondent by the Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs, who expressed the conviction that "Before very long our foreign relations will be once more on a firm basis of peace."

In Berlin and Rome, to judge from telegrams appearing in the Paris press, the general opinion is that peace will be the outcome of the informal negotiations now afoot.

It is certain that France, Russia, England, Italy and Germany will do everything possible to insure the success of the negotiations in order to obviate the necessity of any intervention by the powers in the Balkans, for as time goes on increasing coolness is manifested toward Count Berchthold's proposal that the powers should exchange views with the object of arriving at an agreement on advice to be given to Turkey and the Balkan States with a view to consolidating peace in the near east.

The Italian press is apprehensive, after the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, that Austria's disinterestedness is open to question. Italy sees in Count Berchthold's proposal of autonomy for Albania an effort to strengthen Austrian influence in that region, leading ultimately to the establishment of a sort of moral protectorate.

SAYS WAR IS PREFERABLE TO PRESENT RUINOUS CONDINIONS

Lord Congleton Says Trouble is Inevitable Unless an Understanding With Germany, Regarding Limitation of Armament Can Be Reached

Edmonton, Aug. 25.—War between Great Britain and Germany is inevitable unless arrangement can be made for curtailment of armaments, stated Lord Congleton in an interview here. He declared even war would be better than a continuance of the present ruinous competition in naval preparations and he expressed gratification that the Canadian Government should have come forward at this time to let the world and Germany know that the Dominion was eager to go to the aid of the Motherland.

Discussing Ulster's attitude towards Home Rule his Lordship, who is a fervent Unionist, said that within the near future action of a kind that would surprise the Liberal party would be taken. What the plans were he said would be kept secret until they take form. He forcasted the defeat of the Asquith Ministry before the end of the normal term or the passage of the Home Rule and he expressed the belief that Unionists would repeal the Parliament Act.

Lord Congleton is about to start on a hunting expedition into British Columbia. Lord Congleton predicts that Lord Lansdowne will be the next Premier of Great Britain.

NEW YORK GAMBLERS HAVE SUDDEN ATTACK ILL HEALTH

Ten Process Servers Sent Out by Attorney Smith Fail to Serve Subpoenas to Witnesses—They are Either Sick or have Left Town—No Immunity for Crooks

New York, Aug. 25.—Scores of gamblers and keepers of disorderly houses have suddenly found themselves suffering from ill-health and subpoena servers attached to District Attorney Whitman's office said to-day that it was surprising how many persons of the underworld had found it so necessary to leave the city at this time.

Ten process servers under command of Assistant District Attorney Smith invaded Broadway in three automobiles to serve subpoenas to appear in the John Doe proceedings to enquire into police graft. Only four of the men for whom subpoenas had been issued were found. Scores of others for whom subpoenas were issued, it was learned, had left the city for various health resorts.

Emery R. Buckner, counsel for the aldermanic investigating committee into police corruption, to-day, made it clear that no persons would be permitted to testify before the committee who ought to be arraigned on a criminal charge. Mr. Buckner said:

"It will be the duty of counsel to find out in advance what a witness knows and then have him testify. It will not be possible for a witness to get testimony into the record that will give him immunity from a criminal charge.

"I repeat with emphasis that the aldermanic committee does not purpose to lend aid and comfort or give immunity to any crook in New York."

District Attorney Whitman has received from Police Commissioner Waldo a list containing the addresses, names of supposed proprietors of alleged gambling and disorderly houses and owners of the property. Police Commissioner Waldo said the state's attorney could make public the names of the owners of the property if he desired. So far as the police records show it would be the first time that the names of owners of such properties had been even threatened with publicity. Police Commissioner Waldo intimated that the names of many of the owners were socially and financially prominent.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as [illegible] years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Master Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address AM. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 7c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?

THE H.B. CO'S BIRTHDAY

MAY 13TH WAS THE 242ND. ANNIVERSARY OF CHARTER.

Great Trading Company, Which Has Played So Notable a Part In the History of Canada, Was Born In the Reign of Charles II., But Did Not Become Really Extensive Until Early In the Last Century.

A short time ago an interesting anniversary passed almost unnoticed, for it was on May 13, 1670, that King Charles II., granted to his cousin, Prince Rupert, the dashing young cavalry leader at the time of the Great Rebellion, and seventeen other gentlemen, the charter under which the famous Hudson Bay Co. has conducted its widespread operations for nearly two centuries and a half, says The Standard of Empire. Second only to the great East India Company in the list of large trading corporations of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, the development of the two companies could hardly have been more diverse. In one respect they shared a similar source of annoyance. Both suffered severely at times from the almost ceaseless strife between England and France, and both gained their immunity from French attack in the second half of the eighteenth century. But while the East India Company was formed to trade in a densely populated tropical country, already highly civilized, and with well-established industries and commerce, its Canadian contemporary busied itself with an unknown wilderness, very sparsely inhabited, and subject to a severe winter climate, while industries and commerce were entirely lacking. The East India Company is defunct, weighed down by a burden of government too heavy for any private corporation to have borne, but the Hudson Bay Company is still in vigorous activity as regards its trading operations, though it has been shorn of the governmental incubus which eventually ended the life of the Indian corporation.

In the days when the royal charter was granted to "The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England trading into Hudson Bay," the vast territory in which the company was permitted to operate was not included under its present name of Canada. The region was christened Rupert's Land, after the first governor of the company, and this designation is still perpetuated in the style and title of the Canadian Primate — the Archbishop of Rupert's Land.

The wording of the original charter conferred on the company "the sole trade and commerce of all those seas, straits, bays, rivers, lakes, creeks and sounds, in whatsoever latitude they shall be, that lie within the entrance of the straits commonly called Hudson Straits, together with all the lands and territories upon the countries, coasts, and confines of the seas, bays, etc., aforesaid, that are not already actually possessed by or granted to any of our subjects, or possessed by the subjects of any other Christian Prince or State."

The first posts established by the company under the terms of this charter, which deeded an empire in itself to Prince Rupert and his associates, were located at the mouth of the Churchill and Hayes rivers and on the shore of James Bay. Of recent years Fort Churchill has been much in the public eye as the possible terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway, and the site of a port whence a large portion of the grain grown in western Canada will be transported to the markets of Europe. In view of the discussion that has taken place as to the feasibility of the navigation of Hudson Straits, it is interesting to note that this was for many years the only outlet for the Hudson Bay Company's produce, the St. Lawrence route being then in alien and hostile hands. Yet these little trading vessels which regularly penetrated to Hudson Bay posts were the veriest cockleshells by comparison with even the most battered cargo tramp of the present age.

As late as 1749 the company's operations were on a very small scale. In that year it had four or five trading posts on the shores of the bay from which it takes its name, and its regular employes numbered only some 120. In fact, an attempt was made in Parliament to cancel the charter, on the ground that the company was a "non-user." The real development of the company's territory did not begin until the cession of Canada to Great Britain in 1763. Soon afterwards a rival concern, the Northwest Fur Company, of Montreal, came into existence, and a fierce contest between the two corporations ensued, only ending with their amalgamation in 1821. From then until confederation the Hudson Bay Company continued to exercise full jurisdiction over its far-flung possessions. In 1869 the Deed of Surrender was completed, in terms of which the company yielded to the Dominion Government all its rights of government and other privileges, subject to certain conditions and the payment by the Canadian Government of $1,500,000. The company retained its posts and stations, and the right to claim one-twentieth of the land contained in the tract known as the "Fertile Belt," lying between the United States boundary, the Rocky Mountains, the northern branch of the Saskatchewan river, and Lake Winnipeg and the Lake of the Woods.

A Delicate Position.

"That was an annoying coincidence," said Mr. Biggins. "It took great tact to manage it."

"What's the trouble?"

"The pension examiner and the life insurance doctor both called on me at the same time."—Washington Star.

THE PROGRESS OF SURGERY.

Dr. John B. Murphy, in an interesting interview given the Paris correspondent of the Chicago Daily Review, predicts that the surgery of the future will tend more and more to the prevention of diseases instead of being the last desperate resort to stricken humanity.

The examples cited by Dr. Murphy of what is already done in this respect, through transplantation of living tissues and bones, and the treatment of the "four mysterious glands" which control the growth of the body, are impressive. By stimulating the thyroid gland, he says, a youth may be able to grow much taller than he would under normal conditions. So, also one of the other glands regulates the growth of the body in width, and both affect the size and shape of the bones.

Even the layman is aware of the fact that since the discovery of anaesthesia there have been marvels of surgery, but if surgeons shall become active agents in preventing disease in co-operation with physicians, and if they also shall perform such wonders as regulating the development of the body they will add much to the welfare of the human race.

WILL GERMANY GET HOLLAND?

The Rhine problem, which Germany is said to have just raised in acute form, is by no means a new one. Holland sits across the mouths of this German river, and has profited by its trade. Germany now desires to get more direct control of this most important outlet to the sea. It is a most natural desire—such a desire as we would feel if a foreign nation straddled the St. Lawrence just below Quebec. From the German point of view the case is simple.

But there is also the Dutch point of view. What would we in Canada say if the Americans were to argue that the St. Lawrence route is really an international route, and that consequently they should share with us the government of the river to its mouth. They do now share in its privileges; but that is quite different from having a joint commission which should control its dredging, its lighting, its buoying, its pilotage, and all the rest of it. Then there is another case in Eastern Europe. The Danube is an Austrian river; but does that give Austria the right to govern it through the Balkan States?

Holland quite as naturally desires to keep the advantage of her geographical position; and, if she cannot because she is small, what becomes of her national independence? And if her national independence is so honeycombed, how long will it be before she will say that, if she is to be governed from Berlin, she might as well have a share in her own government? We may hear more about this matter before it is settled.

EDITORIAL NOTES

We are sure there are a few persons who will agree with us that to be thrown out of an automobile is hardly so painful and sickening as the dull thud one experiences when dumped out of a good political job.

Bright, Ruddy Cheeks For Pale Girls

No Longer Any Need to be Pale, Weak or Anaemic.

By Following the Advice of Miss McEwen You Can Quickly Become Strong Again.

The pallid girl always lacks appetite. What little she eats is badly digested.

At night she is restless, she dozes, but doesn't sleep soundly.

Vital force must be increased, new blood must be applied and a general rebuilding take place before she will feel like she ought.

Dr. Hamilton has invaluable experience in these cases and found nothing so prompt in building up young women as his vegetable pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills begin by cleansing the system and purifying the blood; they also improve digestion and render food ready for absorption. Additional nourishment is quickly supplied and the patient is fast strengthened and invigorated.

Full of spirit, ruddy and strong is the girl that assists her system by the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

The following recent letter from Miss Etta McEwen, of Haliburton, speaks for itself:

"In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills I find my system is wonderfully built up. It is certainly the most effective remedy I ever used. I have now a good appetite, sleep more soundly, and awaken in the morning feeling quite refreshed.

"Formerly I felt tired and depressed. I looked as if a severe illness were hanging over my head.

"Nothing could give quicker results than Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I strongly advise every young woman to use them."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

The fool who rocks the boat does not figure in the news from the seaside resorts this year as the person responsible for deaths by drowning. It seems that he has been shunted into obscurity by the fellow who strikes matches in a gasoline launch.

The party of Scottish teachers who have been touring the lines of the Grand Trunk Railway in Eastern Canada returned to Montreal last evening, coming in from Kingston by boat. They express themselves as being highly pleased with the accommodation provided for them by the company and as charmed by the wonderful loveliness of such spots as the Algonquin National Park and Niagara Falls.

The town of Edson, a divisional point on the Grand Trunk Pacific west of Edmonton, has just been celebrating its second birthday. Two years ago the post office was established at the back of a store, and a single sack once a week carried the mail. Now, of course, Edson has a fully equipped post office doing every sort of postal business and for the last week or two the total cash business done there has averaged $2,000 a day.

The recent trip of Sir Frank Wills, Lord Mayor of Bristol, Eng., and his party, through Eastern Canada, has forcibly impressed upon them the rapidity with which the Dominion is going ahead. At Ottawa Sir Frank was eulogistic in his praises of the beautiful city, saying that it was admirably adapted for what it is, the Capital of Canada. The party were registered at the Chateau Laurier, the new Grand Trunk hotel, in connection with which the Lord Mayor observed: "I have travelled the world over, but for comfort and beauty this hotel excels all others I have seen." The party left Montreal for home Aug. 20th.

THE OBJECTIONABLE BILLBOARD

(Editor Morning Times.)

Sir.—I notice that in many places there is a decided objection to billboards, which are disfiguring streets, not only in the United States, but in Canada. Also are the people agitating for their abolishment. Nor is this all. In France a heavy tax is imposed, as will be seen by the following, which I have taken from a Toronto paper:

"The French Government is determined to get rid of the billboard nuisance, and for that purpose is imposing a tax on billboards which will be practically prohibitory. Boards less than six meters in length will be taxed $10 a square meter yearly; from that size up to ten meters $20 a year the square meter; thence up to twenty meters $40; and all above that size, $80. Thus, a signboard fifty meters long and three meters high—and there are not a few as large as that—will be taxed $12,000 a year."

The billboard nuisance in Canada is not quite as bad as in France, but it is bad enough, and taxation may be the remedy.

FATHER AND SON PLOTTED MURDER

Rejected The Youth, Sorrowing The Parent's Heart

FATHER THEN SUICIDES

Extraordinary Tragedy That is Exciting France at the Present Time.

(Special to The Times)

Paris, Aug. 22. Meseriat, near Macon, has been the scene of an extraordinary drama, the motives of which are far from clear.

Some two years ago M. Michel, who owned a brick works at Lacouille, rented from Mdlle. Guyon a second brickyard at Meseriat. A divorce suit was pending between Michel and his wife, so the brick manufacturer, with his son, came to live at Meseriat, near their young proprietress, with whom at first they seemed on the best of terms. But six months later Mdlle. Guyon married a chemist of Macon, named M. Corre. From that time relations changed, and the young wife, well aware that her tenants bore her a bitter grudge, took good care never to be alone with them.

Last Sunday this lady was in the garden with her husband gathering vegetables. Taking advantage of a moment when she was alone, M. Corre, having gone to the kitchen to empty the basket, the young Michel, who had been concealed behind a bush, leaped out and fired ten revolver shots six of which struck her. Madam Corre fell, mortally wounded, and died some hours later, not, however, before she had given a complete account of the crime.

Father Killed Himself.

Almost at the moment of her death a shot was heard in the adjoining house, occupied by her murderer and his father. The elder Michel had shot himself through the head. A letter left by him expressly states that his action was not a mark of remorse, but a sign of his approval of the act of his son. According to this letter, Madame Corre, when still Mdlle. Guyon, had promised to marry the younger Michel, and her death was the punishment of her perfidy.

Perhaps the most extraordinary feature in this strange case is the statement also made in a letter, that father and son had rehearsed the whole drama a week before. After the younger Michel had mimmicked the projected murder his father experimented with a rifle to the trigger of which he had fastened a string. The event proved that both knew their parts only too well. The actual murderer, when arrested, expressed only one regret, viz., that his victim had not been killed on the spot. He is quite cool, even complacent, and promises to tell the whole truth at the trial.

Passion or Interest.

Meanwhile it is impossible to gather whether passion or interest is the motive of the crime. The solution must be left for the inquest. One of the letters left by the elder Michael is in the following terms:

"She, who then was called Mdlle. Guyon, and now bears the name of Madame Corre, by breaking her promise has ruined the future of my dear son, and thus has destroyed the peace of my last years. The justice of man can not reach her, so the duty of vengeance is ours. In the face of the desire, formally expressed by my dear son himself to assume this task, I have renounced it myself. As soon as he has avenged himself on the traitress he will give himself up. As for me I shall go my own way, happy and at peace at last. Good night."

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—The foreign demand for Manitoba spring wheat was much better and more general. Cables were strong at an advance of 3d and a fair amount of business was worked in both old and new crop wheat. Owing to the heavy demand from foreign buyers for oats for both prompt and future shipment at an advance in prices of 3d to 6d there was some little excitement in the local market and prices scored a further rise of ½c per bushel. The volume of business done for export was small, notwithstanding the fact that some of the bids received would have brought back over [illegible] afloat for extra No. 1 feed, but holders were at this figure not anxious sellers, as they have confidence in still higher prices, as none can be bought in Winnipeg and late advices report the English crop a failure. A fair local trade is passing in flour, but the foreign demand is quiet. Millfeed fairly active and firm.

FRIGHT IN BATTLE.

How Grant Cured a Badly Scared Staff Officer.

One of General Grant's newly appointed staff officers had never been in any serious engagement. But almost the first day that he reported to Grant he was placed under a fire of the hottest and most severe kind. The screaming of the balls, the roaring of the cannon and the sharp crack and rattle of the musketry thoroughly demoralized him. He became absolutely sick and paralyzed with fear. He was so weak from nervous excitement that he lost physical control over himself.

General Grant came up at the very climax of his fright, and, noticing his pale face, his blue lips and chattering teeth, he said: "Captain, you are frightened. That is natural enough. You will get over it. Suppose," continued Grant, "I should come to you with a hat containing ninety-nine white beans and one black one and I should ask you to thrust your hand into the hat at a venture and pick out the black bean. Do you think your chance of getting that black bean would be very good? Well, your chance for being hit under this fire is no greater than your chance for drawing the black bean."

This officer at once took heart, and from then on he never showed the slightest sign of fear.—Life.

A DYED BEARD.

It Probably Changed the History of the Whole Human Race.

The most striking case in history of the importance of trifles is furnished by the story of Musa, the leader of the Moslem host which won from Christendom in three and a half years dominions which it took the soldiers of the cross twenty generations to win back. He had a red beard. This was a trifle.

Musa, though a very great general, was a very vain man, and he dyed his beard black. This was another trifle. One of his captains chaffed him on the subject, and Musa forthwith had him stripped and scourged. For this, at the very height of his conquering career, Musa was recalled by the caliph and disgraced. This made it impossible for him to command the Moslem army at the battle of Tours, on the issue of which, as all historians agree, the destinies of Europe and perhaps of the whole human race depended.

It is almost certain that if the genius of Musa had replaced the incompetence of the half dozen tribal leaders whose dissensions made victory impossible the forces of Islam would have joined hands from the west to the east and inclosed Europe in their grasp.—London Standard.

Animals That Are Always Enemies.

Many animals are born with an inherent antipathy for other animals. The excessive fear shown by young rabbits which for the first time smell a ferret and of young turkeys which hear the shrill cry of a hawk they have never heard or seen before are proved examples of the strength of these instinctive antipathies. But the case of the weasel and rat is, perhaps, more to be noticed because of the greater equality of the antagonists. The feud is so bitter that a meeting between them almost certainly means death to one or both. Friendships are not uncommon between the cat and dog and have been known between a dog and wolf, but the mutual attitude of the weasel and rat is invariably war—war that is waged to the death.

Great In His Line.

Robert Barr once showed a portrait of Mark Twain to a silk merchant of Lyons. "Tell me who that is," Mr. Barr said. The merchant gazed at the portrait and answered, "I should say he was a statesman." "Supposing you wrong in that, what would be your next guess?" asked Mr. Barr. "If he is not a maker of history he is perhaps a writer of it—a great historian, probably. Of course it is impossible for me to guess accurately except by accident, but I use the adjective 'great' because I am convinced this man is great in his line, whatever it is. If he makes silk he makes the best." Mr. Barr told the French merchant who the portrait represented and said, "You have summed him up in your last sentence."—London News.

Gladstone and Grillion's.

Mr. Gladstone's election to Grillion's club, which took place in 1840, was far from delighting him at the time. He declared it to be "a thing quite alien to my temperament, which requires more soothing and domestic appliances after the feverish and consuming excitements of party life, but the rules of society oblige me to submit." Lord Morley adds: "As it happened, so narrow is man's foreknowledge Grillion's down to the very end of his life nearly sixty years ahead, had no more faithful or congenial member."—London Chronicle.

Soon Remedied.

Irate Householder—Why can't you answer this bell sooner? The fire's out again. Where have you been?

Maid of all work (resigned and leaving)—I've been packin' up my things. I can't stop to do that. It'll light itself soon. The 'ouse is afire!—London Punch.

A Changed Man.

Mrs. Knagg—You were a different man when I married you. Mr. Knagg—I sincerely hope so, for then I was a fool.—Boston Transcript.

ERRORS OF SPEECH.

Common Abuse of the Verbs to Get, to Lay and to Lie.

The verb to get is one of our much misused words. It means to acquire, win, obtain, and primarily it signifies the putting forth of effort to attain something. Consequently it is not only superfluous, but incorrect, to speak of a man as "getting drowned" or "getting sick," and you may unfortunately "have a cold," but it is impossible that you "have got a cold."

At this moment no exceptions occur to the writer to the rule that got should never be used in connection with have, which alone sufficiently expresses possession. Say "I have the picture," not "I have got the picture." "The dog has a broken leg," not "The dog has got a broken leg."

The irregular verbs lay and lie are frequently confounded. Lay is an active or transitive verb, and lie is passive or intransitive. We lay things down or have laid them down, but we and things lie at rest. You lie down, have lain down, will lie down or are lying down. She lay down yesterday and is going to lie down this afternoon.

A frequent error is to confound the past tenses of these verbs. One should say, "Mary laid the book on the table and lay down herself," but the book lies on the table.—Exchange.

BAD FOR THE STOMACH.

When Non-fatty Foods Are Intimately Mixed With Grease.

The stomach never has the least power of digesting true fat. This is disposed of in the intestines. When eaten in the ordinary forms, as fat meat, butter, etc., the fat separates out in the stomach and does not in the least interfere with the work of the gastric juice on the other food, but when a non-fatty food has been intimately mixed with grease the latter prevents the gastric juice getting at the food it could digest.

Fish fried in oil or butter is by no means the most marked example, as the fat does not penetrate very deeply. Potatoes mashed with butter are rather worse, and minced vegetables fried with butter are bad offenders. The reason advanced explains why pork is difficult of digestion. The muscular fibers are mixed up with fat cells, and by the liberation of the oil in each tiny cell the eaten pork is made into an oily paste.

A very strong stomach will do the work required, but it is not a fair task to impose frequently, and a weak stomach will refuse to do anything beyond reminding its owner by a few stabs that it will not stand such treatment.—Exchange.

Horse Hatred.

Of all the domestic animals the horse is probably the most gentle, but there are exceptions. A California man had in his stable a fine thoroughbred horse, of which he made quite a pet. One day he went into the stable, and, stopping to pat his favorite steed, he was surprised when the horse, with a violent plunge, broke the halter and came at him with open mouth. At first he thought it was in fun, but he soon realized his mistake and hastily climbed up a ladder and yelled for help. On the arrival of his son the horse went back to the stall and immediately resumed its former gentleness to all but its owner. To him it remained a deadly foe until he was compelled to sell it. He never knew the reason for its sudden animosity.

The Brighter Side.

A brick fell from a lofty wall
And knocked him senseless in the street,
But he did not complain at all
When others helped him to his feet.
"Why should I grumble or be sad,"
He asked them, "though I suffer pain?
I might have cause to sigh or cling
To fretful sadness if the thing
Had fallen from an aeroplane."

His Hostess—Is that so?

Tom—Yes. The only thing she said to me the whole evening was "No," and I had to propose to her to get her to say that.—Boston Transcript.

By trading here you have the opportunity of inspecting the goods and comparing values on the spot.

You save the time, trouble, postage, express, and disappointment.

You have immense stocks of new goods to choose from.

You have the reputation of business men who are here all the time to back up the quality of what you buy.

You are not trading sight unseen. You see the goods you buy, and buy the goods you see.

It Will Pay You to Trade in Peterboro

Just make that comparison once or twice and convince yourself. In the meantime, read the advertisements in this issue; there are some great bargains offered. See the goods, get the prices, examine the stocks, and the rest may safely be left to your good judgment.

A Funny Misprint.

One of the most ludicrous announcements that ever appeared perhaps was made by a London newspaper in the earlier half of the last century to the effect that Sir Robert Peel "and a party of fiends were shooting peasants in Ireland." The words misprinted, of course, were "friends" and "pheasants."

PRESERVING THE BISON.

Nearly a Thousand Head in the Wainwright Park.

There are now 980 bison in the national preserve at Wainwright, Alberta, and the number is increasing rapidly. Last year 170 calves were born in the herd, and it is expected that this year the natural increase will be about 250. Mr. Ellis, who has charge of the park at Wainwright, has stated in the course of an interview that it is not probable that many more of the animals will be brought up from the Flathead range in Montana. There may be twenty or thirty brought up this summer, but it is not likely that the men who are engaged in rounding up the herd will be successful in catching more than this number.

Mr. Ellis states that a profitable industry might be evolved from the bison farm because of the value of the heads and hides. The old cows and bulls might be killed off each year for their hides. The cost of feeding the animals is very small. During the summer they are out on the range, and even in the winter they are able to graze and obtain sufficient nourishment to keep them in good condition. Last winter only 600 tons of hay have been required. This hay is grown on the farm in connection with the range, and about 1,200 tons of hay were put up last year, so that 600 will be carried over this year.

The range is one hundred thousand acres in extent, and the bison roam this tract during the summer, but in the winter they are confined to the winter quarters, which are about twelve square miles in extent. The animals browse on this tract, and their feed is carried out to them on hay racks. Mr. Ellis says that some of the cows are becoming very fierce, and it will be necessary to shoot them in all probability. They have charged the herders several times, and there have been a number of narrow escapes. None of the animals have charged the teams on the hay racks as yet, but it is feared that they will do so some day. The bulls, however, seem to be much more quiet than the cows, as they have not given any trouble as yet.

There is a large herd of bison in the country north of Fort Chipewyan, and it is probable that some of these animals will be brought down to Wainwright to put new blood into the herd there.

There are a number of moose, elk, antelope, and deer at the range now, it being the Government's intention to use this place as a stock farm. Animals which are native to this country will be bred there and used to stock the parks all over the Dominion.—Standard of Empire.

Friendship.

The plant of friendship grows only in the warm air of congeniality. Confidence binds its parts together and is the cohesive power of its nature, while sympathy is the life-giving sap coursing through every fiber. It is an evergreen and is indigenous to all lands. Its most beautiful flowers open during the night, and, while a perennial bloomer, it is most fragrant in winter. Time cannot wither or destroy it, age but strengthens and develops.—C. S. Field.

Sun and Fire Symbols.

There are to be found occasionally upon the walls of old brick houses in Canada, at about the line of division between the first and second stories, flat pieces of iron five or six inches in length and shaped somewhat like the letter "S." The use of these articles was clearly brought from England, where it is still continued, and there are a curious origin and meaning attached to them. The figure in question is an early symbol of the sun. It is still used in Herefordshire and other parts of England. There one is informed that the reason for the particular form of these irons is that they were made thus in order to protect the house from fire as well as from collapse.

A Poultry Novelty.

Included among the numerous poultry exhibits at this year's Royal Agricultural Show at Doncaster, England, is a novel variety of hen—a pure white bird. Experiments now progressing, it is believed, are likely to be successful in changing the color of the egg in another breed from white to brown.

Red In Battle.

Red has always been a favorite military color. Its employment dates from the time of Lycurgus, the Spartan, who commanded his army to be arrayed in red tunics in order that new recruits might not be dismayed at the sight of blood. Its first use in the British army dates from 1485, when the yeomen of the guard were dressed in red.

Dickens' Humanness.

The best part of Charles Dickens, the great novelist, was the humanness of him, coming out in the tender pathos with which he streaked the funny side of life. Primarily a humorist, he was, like many another humorist, a humanist too. Dickens came out of that lower London life, one-third grotesque, one-third pitiful, one-third heroic, which he pictured in his writings. He had lived the struggles of Oliver Twist, of David Copperfield and of Philip in "Great Expectations." That was the reason why he was able to lay hold of people's hearts when he described these deathless persons.—New York Mail.

How Seeds Travel.

They have been discovering some extraordinary plants in England, plants which puzzled the botanists, to whom they were either utterly unknown or known as growing only in far distant lands. One naturalist picked on the grounds of the Bradford sewage works 160 species of foreign plants. Among these were several Australian burrs, Jimson weed, prickly poppies from Mexico, others native to Peru, Siberia and the Azores. All were of a prickly nature. Investigation proved that the dust from wool combing establishments was being used as fertilizer and the washings of wool were run into the sewers. The burrs of these foreign plants had come in the wool and had grown. Other plants had sprung from seed in rags and others been brought in soil on foreign timber.—New York World.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Mr. Geo. Irwin Recovering.

Mr. Geo. Irwin, the Charlotte street barber who was injured in a railway accident in Toronto a few days ago is doing nicely, and will soon be all right. He did not sustain a broken leg, as reported. Mrs. Irwin went up to Toronto on Saturday to pay him a visit.

Dropped Dead on His Farm.

Richard Dundas, a well known farmer of Springville, died suddenly on Saturday morning. He left the house to bring in the cows, and his wife becoming alarmed, when he did not return, went to the fields, and found him dead. He had complained for some time of heart trouble.

Too Much Rain.

The incessant rainy weather is causing the farmers considerable uneasiness. An Otonabee farmer told The Times that there was grain rotting in the fields owing to the heavy rainfall, what with unfavorable weather conditions and the scarcity of farm help the life of the farmer, he stated, was one not to be envied just now.

Another Regatta at Chemong.

The Chemong Cottagers are to have a children's regatta on Thursday afternoon next, open to youths of 16 and under. At least, this is the original idea, but efforts are being made to have a few events for adults, including war canoe races. There will be a dance at the pavilion in the evening. Further particulars in to-morrow's issue.

Worth Looking Into.

It is said that the great Vera Chemical works of Milwaukee are looking for a suitable location in Ontario for a Canadian branch, which they propose to establish. This company is sending much of its products into Canada, a chemical used in the manufacture of paper and paying the duty thereon. It would be no harm for our acting Industrial Commissioner to get in touch with the company, with a view to having them locate in Peterborough.

A Successful Excursion.

The annual excursion of the Brinton Carpet Company's employees to Cobourg on Saturday was largely attended, about 250 taking in the trip. The train was made up of six coaches. The rain interferred with the pleasure of the party, although the outing, notwithstanding this, was greatly enjoyed. The committee who had the matter in hand spared no pains or expense in perfecting arrangements. Had the weather been favorable, the event would have been one of the most enjoyable of the season.

Mr. Perrin's Address.

Yesterday two addresses were delivered in the premises of the Woodman of the World, one at 3 o'clock and one in the evening at 8, by Mr. Perrin, a Bible student of considerable note. The subjects were, "The Divine Plan of the Ages," and "The Permission of Evil." The speaker bases his conclusions on the Word of God which he uses from Genesis to Revelations to prove the complete harmony of God's justice, Wisdom, Love and Power in permitting evil for a time.

Child Killed.

Mr. George Elder, of Bobcaygeon, has received word that the young son of his daughter, Stella McKay, was killed in an accident, when a car in which they were travelling from Sparling to Winnipeg, jumped the rails. The child, who was but two years of age, was killed, but the father and mother escaped serious injury. Mr. Elder's daughter, Edith who is Mrs. Arnold Probin, of Winnipeg, is also seriously ill. Both Mrs. McKay and Mrs. Probin have many friends in Peterborough, who will regret to learn of their misfortune.

When Nostrils Are Plugged Your Catarrh Is Bad

BY ACTING TO-DAY YOU CAN QUICKLY CURE CATARRH AND AVOID BRONCHITIS, PERHAPS CONSUMPTION.

Most Agreeable and Surest Cure is Catarrhozone, Which Cures Every Curable Case.

Catarrhozone proves especially good in those chronic cases where mucous drops down the throat, sickens the stomach and pollutes the breath. When the nostrils are stuffed only a few breaths through the inhaler are needed to clear the passages, and where there is coughing and sore bronchial tubes the soothing, healing properties of Catarrhozone act almost as magic.

Once you stop taking medicine into the stomach and get the healing oils and pure balsams of Catarrhozone at work you can be sure of quick and lasting cure for nose colds, catarrh, weak lungs, bronchitis and speaker's sore throat.

13 YEARS OF CATARRH CURED.

"As Catarrhozone has cured me of a Catarrhal Cough and Asthma that lasted thirteen years I feel I can honestly recommend it. I really used all kinds of medicine, but Catarrhozone was the only one that did any real good. I am entirely cured — have no cough, no bad breathing spells, not a sign of a cold or catarrh about me. But I will always occasionally use Catarrhozone, as I prize it so highly.

"Mrs. E. L. Osgood,
Johnson P. O., Ont.

The complete $1.00 Outfit of Catarrhozone is sufficient for 2 months' treatment, and is guaranteed. Smaller size, 50c., at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Warning to Sunday Hunters.

Lindsay Post: The Government fishery patrol boat Naiad, in charge of Captain Carson, arrived in port last night, and left again to-day. Capt. Hunter, of Bellevile, Fish and Game Magistrate for the province, was also on board and during his stay here had a conference with Fishery and Game overseer Bradshaw, regarding conditions in his territory. Capt. Hunter wishes Mr. Bradshaw to ask the press to kindly state that the law in regard to Sunday hunting would be enforced with the utmost vigor. The department is determined to put an end to this practice, so a word to the wise is sufficient.

Rev. W. H. French at St. John's.

At St. John's church last night, the Rev. W. H. French (Fenelon Falls) preached on the evils of bad company, as evinced by the story of Ahab and Jehosophat at Ramoth Gilead, taken from 1 Kings, chap. 22. The preacher afterwards referred to the late General Booth, as a hero who undertook a seemingly hopeless task, and yet to-day thousands upon thousands owe much to the great work originated in the hero's heart by the grace of God. His influence for good has been wonderful, and thousands to-day rise up and call him blessed. The choir sang Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," at the close of the sermon and Miss Ruth Dawson gave a fine rendering of Alliken's "The Lord is My Light."

WILL BE COSTLY RIDE.

Young Man Took Dr. Alex Robertson's Overland Car.

A young man named Webb was charged in the police court on Saturday with theft of Dr. A. J. Robertson's car from a George street garage. While out the car met with an accident, which will cost in the neighborhood of $50.

Mr. G. N. Gordon made a strong plea for the defendant who was only 18 years of age, and offered to make restitution. The Magistrate was willing and adjourned the case for a week.

WELCOMED AT ST. PAUL'S.

Mr. John Allen Enters Upon His Duties Yesterday as Organist.

Mr. John Allen, the newly appointed organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's church, formally entered upon his duties yesterday. As our readers have already been told, Mr. Allen comes to Peterborough from Montreal, where he filled a similar position in one of the large churches of that city.

Rev. Mr. Pogue, before beginning his discourse yesterday morning, on behalf of the congregation extended a hearty welcome to Mr. Allen which also included Mrs. and Miss Dorothy Allen.

Mr. Crane, whom Mr. Allen succeeds, although a banker, never let an (organ) note go to protest during the 19 years in which he presided as musical director of St. Paul's. The future in this particular is equally safe with Mr. Allen, who is regarded as one of the most talented musicians in Canada.

ROBBER A VICTIM OF HIS OWN GREED

Held Up a Train and Robbed First-Class Mail Matter.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 23.—An unidentified robber, who boarded the Union Pacific train No. 101 at Kansas City last night, bound and gagged three mail clerks, and rifled all the first-class mail, was captured here after he was fatally wounded by a bullet from his own revolver.

The train was the westbound St. Louis-Colorado Limited, which left Kansas City at 10.15 o'clock.

After rifling the mail car the robber left it at Laurence and boarded a Pullman on the same train, robbing the passengers as he passed through. When the train entered the Topeka yards Conductor M. E. Smith, of Kansas City, attacked the robber. In the scuffle that followed the bandit's revolver was discharged, and a bullet entered the robber's heart. He was taken to a local hospital in a dying condition.

All of the stolen mail was found in the grip.

THREE KILLED AND TWO HURT

Howard City, Mich., Aug. 23.—Dr. F. W. Joslin, a Big Rapids dentist, his wife, and four-year-old son, Howard, were killed; his mother probably fatally injured, and his son, Burr, 11 years old, slightly hurt last night, when a freight train crashed into their automobile less than a mile from here.

The party had been to Niagara Falls and were motoring home from Detroit. The accident occurred on a grade crossing, but no one saw the tragedy until after it had occurred.

A special train was secured and Mrs. Joslin, Sr. and her grandson, were hurried to a Big Rapids hospital.

The bodies of the three victims were terribly mutilated, and nothing remained of their automobile but debris.

TAKES ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH TO TASK

a legitimate religious act, but would regard it as a meddlesome act of foreign interference in private concerns." Will Protestant churches be intimidated by such an attitude? Their mission would not be to the Peruvian, so-called, but to the aborigines in the interior. They might meet with opposition, but on other occasions they have not failed to brave hostility from governments and hierarchies.

The situation in Peru constitutes a challenge to Protestantism. The atrocities there are directly traceable to the intolerance of Rome. Rome says it will be an act of foreign interference for the Protestant churches to send a Christian mission to the natives, though only a genuine act of foreign interference on the part of a Protestant government, revealed to the world the cruelties perpetrated. Here we have a continent, unwisely left to the absolute control of Rome, which after several centuries, as Bishop Neely, of the Methodist church who lived in South America for year, said, is "a continent almost submerged in superstition; a "continent with an appalling degree "of illiteracy and ignorance; a con"tinent with a general-low social "condition, and generally, with a "low standard of morality." The need of the Gospel is undoubted. The men and the money can be secured. Shall the work not proceed because of an element of danger from wicked men or the operations of a malevolent hierarchy? What does the "Christian Guardian" say about this? Has the "Presbyterian" no advice for its readers? Will not the "Baptist" take a stand? What about the "Churchman?"

What is everybody's business is apt to be nobody's business. All the Canadian churches has missions in other lands which test their resources. Is Peru, therefore, to be neglected? Canada is abundantly able to do something for the spiritual and material well-being of thousands of neglected people. Would it be possible for the spirit of church union to be put to a practical test, and to establish an undenominational Christian mission in Peru? This mission would not only preach the gospel, but would demonstrate to the world the right of religious freedom. Peru would be forced by public opinion, and, if necessary by warships, to protect those who would preach and practise the Protestant faith. The battle must be fought, sooner or later, and the time is propitious, now that the eyes of the world have been centred in Peru by the story of the atrocities.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. A SIDE-SPLITTING COMEDY

Is "The Arrival of Kitty" in the Hands of its Present Touring Company.

"The Arrival of Kitty" was enthusiastically received at the Grand Opera House, Saturday, matinee and night. The story of the comedy is too well known by Peterborough theatre-goers to need recapitulation. This season it is in the hands of a clever and well balanced company, who do the piece justice throughout. It is an irresistably humorous production, which carries its audience through three acts of sparkling comedy. The musical numbers while acceptable, are not actually necessary to the success of the play; they afford, however, a pleasing annex. The piece demands histrionic ability of no mean order, which it has in its present touring company.

Mr. Fred R. Wren fits the part of "Colonel Charlie" Bell, as though it were written for him. His conception of "a gay old boy" is so natural as to render it difficult to distinguish art from the real thing. Hal Johnston in the cast of Billy Brown, the college student, is an admirable female impersonator, whose conception of the immitation "Kitty," is mirth-provoking in the extreme. Ned. Woodley, and Ting, R. J. Bentley as Benjamin Moore, are also irresistible comedians offering splendid support to the gay old penniless Colonel in his perplexities arising from an amorous nature and his intrigue as a matrimonial match maker with $20,000 at stake. Miss Forrest, as the real Kitty, a vivacious vaudeville artiste, suits the part very pleasingly; her duet, "Peaches and Cream," with Col. Bell was the musical hit of the evening. Margaret Rees as niece Jane, is charmingly acceptable, while Marie Carlton in the character of Aunt Jane, faithfully portrays the anxious old maid offering $10,000 for a husband.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyet, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

SAYS THAT SIR WILFRID REFUSED TO CONFER WITH BORDEN AS TO THE NAVY

Birmingham Post Declares That the Imperial Government Made the Suggestion—Winston Churchill Not Likely to Visit Canada On Political Mission

London, Aug. 26.—In the course of an editorial to-day on the proposed visit of the First Lord of the Admiralty to Canada, the Birmingham Post makes the announcement that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has declined to fall in with the suggestion made by the Imperial Government that he meet Premier Borden and his Cabinet to discuss Canada's part in the naval defence of the Empire.

After stating that the belief that Winston Churchill will not go to Canada is widespread, the Post continues:

"The acceptance of Premier Borden's invitation has never been approved by the pacificist section of the ministerial party, members of which expressed privately the fear that the visit would afford Mr. Churchill a chance for a display of spread-eagleism that he could not resist and might have awkward results. Their distrust of the idea was deepened when Sir Wilfrid Laurier declined to fall in with the Imperial Government's suggestion to meet the Dominion Prime Minister in consultation upon the whole naval problem."

Apropos of the above it will be remembered that the Canadian Associated Press a little time back was able to announce that no decision either for or against such a visit could possibly be concluded before the Canadian Ministers returned to Ottawa. Several papers here, notably Ministerial organs, are publishing long extracts from Canadian Liberal papers deprecating such a visit.

CASE FOR THE HAGUE SAYS THE LONDON TIMES

London, Aug. 26.—The signing of the Panama Canal bill by President Taft was the signal for editorial comment in most of the principal London newspapers this morning.

The Times says: "We understand and make full allowance for the exceptional conditions which dominate which American politics in a Presidential year, but considerations of that kind, it need hardly be said, cannot be allowed to affect our attitude on a subject of such deep consequence to the interests of our trade and the trade of the whole Empire.

"Should the text of the law bear out, upon examination, the view that it does in fact gravely violate our clear rights in the matter of first-rate importance, we shall, of course, renew the representations to the Government at Washington, and should these unhappily fail to bring about a satisfactory settlement we shall appeal to the Arbitration Treaty of 1908, and request that the whole controversy, and the proper construction, scope, and bearing on the Canal Treaty, be referred to The Hague for decision.

"Suggestions have been freely made in certain quarters that the United States is not likely to entertain a request of that kind. That, as we have said before, is a blow to the whole principle of arbitration which we absolutely refuse to contemplate, unless and until it is delivered.

"No Government or no nation has more loudly preached resort to arbitration than the Government and people of the United States. It is hardly credible after so preaching it to others they should cynically decline to adopt it where it concerns themselves.

"A refusal of this kind would inevitably create a certain indisposition on the part of all self-respecting nations to enter into contractional arrangements with a State which reserved to itself the exclusive right of interpreting the measure of its own obligations."

FRENCH-CANADIANS CALLED ON TO RESIST GOVERNMENT

In Regard to New Regulations of Sir James Relative to Bilingual Schools—Attack of Ottawa Paper

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—A vigorous appeal to French-Canadians of Ontario to resist the new regulations of the Whitney Government relative to bilingual schools is contained in Saturday's issue of La Justice, published here, and edited by Jules Tremblay, late secretary of the Congress d'Education d'Ontario. Under the heading, "Organization is Urgent," an article alludes to the reopening of the schools on September 3, and says that the French people view the situation with inquietude.

On one side withdrawal of the grants is threatened; on the other, the complete abolition of French in the schools. The Government, continues La Justice, would declare that the bilingual teaching of French children should come from Anglicized teachers, who naturally would have the tendency to neglect the instruction of French children in their mother tongue, which officially, has equal rights with English in all parts of Canada.

The only thing to do is to resist the new regulations. To that end La Justice calls on the French clergy to take the lead, that urges the formation in every district, parish, and village of committees to aid and estimate the school boards if they are faint-hearted.

"This is not an ill-tempered agitation, but a necessary one, provoked by official persecution. As it will probably be necessary to expend moneys upon our rural schools, let national subscriptions be raised from one part of the country to the other, to compensate for the loss of the grants. Let all French-Canadians unite, and the bilingual schools will have nothing to fear from the new legislation which comes into force next month."

La Justice does not concede the right of the Government to withhold the grant as a matter of constitutional right.

LAUNCHING OF A NEW SUBMARINE BOAT.

LAUNCHING OF THE SUBMARINE, G4

The submarine G 4, the first of its type built in this country, was launched at the Cramp Shipyard. The new submarine is 157 feet 5¾ inches over all, 17 feet 6 inches beam. Its armament is four torpedo tubes and eight 18-inch torpedoes, having a range of five thousand knots. It is propelled on the surface by four six cylinder gasoline engines and by electric motors when submerged.

It is designed for a surface speed of fourteen knots. Exactly similar submarines are now in use in the navies of Italy, Sweden, Denmark and Portugal.

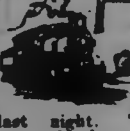
BANDITS HOLD UP A FREIGHT

Only Succeeded in Robbing a Brakesman—$1600 in the Air

A NOVEL POINT IN LAW

Water Main Blows Up in Kansas City—Other News from Across the Border.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 26.



FOUR mask bandits armed with revolvers and coupling pins, held up a freight train on the Nickel Plate railroad on the outskirts of Cleveland last night. The head brakesman was robbed at the points of revolvers, but his money was all the booty the hold-up men got. The engineer, Charles Lanegan, Bellevue, on getting a signal, stopped the train and walked back to see what was wrong. Finding the brakesman being robbed, he sought to interfere and was felled with a coupling pin. The thieves fled before reinforcements from the caboose arrived. It is thoubht the men planned to rob a passenger train which would be halted by the freight.

$1600 in the Air.

Woodlawn, Pa., Aug. 26.—E. T. Walther, a contractor, tried to drop $900 in bills and $700 in silver coin off an express train going sixty miles an hour into the hands of his brother, Charles Walther, at a station here last night. Charles Walther failed to make the catch and the packages burst, scattering the money for a hundred yoods along the track. The police formed a cordon around the money, while all but seventy cents of the $1,600 was picked up.

Water Mains Blown Up.

Kansas City, Aug. 26.—Dynamite was used early this morning to blow up two sections of the 24-inch water main that supplies Kansas City. It will take three days to repair the main. Meantime that town will have to depend on a small five-inch pipe for its water. The same main was destroyed by dynamite on July 19 last near the points of this morning's explosion. Two men were seen running from near the scene of the explosion. No reason for the dynamiting can be assigned by the police.

A Novel Point.

Nyack, N. Y., Aug. 26.—A novel point of law has been raised here by Benjamin Bryant, a one-time lawyer who was arraigned before Justice Street yesterday charged with drunkenness. He has been before the same court on the same charge and pleaded guilty.

"You are charged with being drunk," said the magistrate when Bryant appeared the second time. "What have you to say?"

"Your honor," answered Bryant, "this is the same jag and the constitution says that no man can be placed in jeopardy twice for the same offence."

"The point is well taken," said the judge, "You are discharged."

New York's Budget.

New York, Aug. 26.—Budget estimates with various city departments for the year 1913 are now being received by the New York board of estimate and most of those so far in hand seem to indicate a large increase in the expense of running the city. Police Commissioner Waldo, for example, asks for $19,350,000 as compared with $16,000,000 this year, an increase of about 20 per cent.

SCIENTISTS ON ORIGIN OF LIFE

Biggest Subject Which Humanity Can Tackle

CAN LIFE BE MADE?

London, Aug. 26.—The "Origin of Life," which may be termed the biggest subject with which science is concerned will be the main topic for discussion at the meeting of the British Association opening at Dundee on September 4th. Professor Schafer of Edinburgh, eminent psychologist, will devote his presidential address to this vital subject. It is expected the address will be the most remarkable delivered in many years.

At the Association's annual congress important additions to the sum of knowledge are likely to be made and vigorous discussion among many notable scientists is expected on the question. "Is it possible that life can be manufactured chemically?"

Discoveries made by students of plants have in some cases corroborated results of animal life study. It has therefore been arranged for the sections of botany and zoology to meet jointly to discuss the mystery of life.

Dr. Chalmers Mitchell, of the London Zoo, who will join the discussion, has an interesting theory of the origin of life. Many scientists believe they have touched at least one important secret in maving rudimentary life which may lead to practical results in the laboratory.

A COSTLY DISSIPATION.

COL. ASTOR HAD 100 MILLIONS

Estimate Placed by New York Authorities on Victim's Estate

New York, Aug. 26.—John Quinn, counsel for State Comptroller Sohmer in all matters relating to the estate of the late John Jacob Astor, and Lewis Cass Ledyard of the firm of Carter, Ledyard and Milburn, attorneys for the estate, appeared before Official Appraiser John V. Coggey to-day and reported that they had come to an agreement as to the forms of appraising the wealth of the late Col. John Jacob Astor.

In contrast to custom pursued, it was decided not to have two separate sets of appraisers, one representing and paid by the heirs. Seven men have been mutually agreed upon by the two interests concerned to estimate the values of the various parts of the Astor wealth. These appraisers will receive payment in equal parts from the Astor estate and the state of New York and as a result the representatives of both parties agreed to-day before Mr. Coggey that there should be no contest on the final figures.

Insofar as Col. Astor left his entire estate to his next of kin, the maximum rate of transfer tax is 4 per cent. It is generally believed at the State comptroller's offices that the estate is worth $100,000,000, in which case the tax will approach $4,000,000. By tentatively paying this tax within six months of the date of Col. Astor's death, the estate will save 1 per cent, or in this case very near $200,000.

It was stated that the appraisers wodld commence actual work at once.

A MILLION DOLLAR CO.

The Moira River Mining Company Organized With Peterborough Man as President.—Will Operate in Hastings County, About three Miles North of Tweed.

The Moira River Mining Company has recently been organized, with an authorized capital of $1,000,000. Mr. J. S. Waldron, the President, is a citizen of Peterborough, and has been instrumental in forming the Company, which has acquired valuable mining properties in Hastings County, about three miles north of Tweed. The followowing are the directors of the company:

J. S. Waldron, Peterborough; E. A. Peck, Peterborough; James Murphy, Tweed; P. W. Courneya, Tweed; E. J. Cowan, Tweed.

The work of development has already begun, a gang of men having commenced to sink a shaft. The ore at the surface is very rich in gold, silver and other minerals, and it is expected that the values will increase as the shaft is deepened.

Mr. Waldron, who promoted the company, is a miner of large experience, having handled a number of successful mining propositions, amongst which is the old Galway Lead Mine, which has now become very valuable. On Saturday Mr. Waldron left The Times a sample of the ore taken from the Moira Company's Mine, which looks good to us. There is no doubt that Hastings as well as the Northern portion of Peterborough County is rich in minerals, as also is Victoria and Haliburton Counties. All that is required is a few practical miners like Mr. Waldron, to interest capital and start the work going.

SEVERE EELCTRIC STORM

Little Damage Reported—Power and Light Wires Were Put Out of Business for a Time.

One of the severest electric storms of the season passed over the city yesterday evening, between five and six o'clock. The lightning was interspersed with terrific crashes of thunder.

The Times called up Chief Howard of the Fire Department, who said that no fires were reported.

The rain came down in torrents, filling the sides of the streets with pools of running water.

NEW YORK PRESS CONDEMNS TAFT FOR SIGNING THE BILL

World Says He Hasn't Even Convinced Himself He Was Right re-Panama Canal—Sun Says It's a Blunder—Times Says It Violates the Treaty

New York, Aug. 26.—Commenting on President Taft's signing of the Panama Tolls bill to-day, the World said:

"President Taft's justification of the official signature to the Canal bill is labored and long, but not convincing, and in his protestations of no intention to violate the treaty we may doubt if he has convinced himself."

The Sun: "President Taft's sincere and disinterested friends will regret both his approval of the Panama Canal bill and the memorandum in which he defends that act. Opportunity to blunder existed. The President embraced it."

The Times: "The action (Taft's signing of the bill), in our judgment plainly violated a permanent treaty. The President, while not holding this view, admitted that it was held by some of the highest authorities in our own Congress, and knew that it had been presented by the other party to the treaty in question."

GOVERNMENT OF U.S. ON PAR WITH POLICE OF NEW YORK

Pall Mall Gazette Disposed to Agree With Paris Temps—Contempt for National Honor and Police Graft Points to a Generic Evil In Public Life

London, Aug. 26.—The Panama Canal bill is characterized to-day as practically a dishonest repudiation of a direct bargain by newspapers representing the views of all the British political parties.

Meanwhile, no definite procedure by the British Government in regard to the bill can be framed, for nearly all the Cabinet Ministers are scattered over the European continent at various watering places, or else are shooting grouse on the Scotch moors, and most of the prominent politicians outside of the Cabinet are engaged in similar ways.

It is certain, however, that the Government will propose the reference of the question to The Hague Court of Arbitration, although no details of the method of submitting it have yet been settled.

The Pall Mall Gazette, in an editorial, is disposed to agree with the Paris Temps that the probity of the United States Government is on a par with that of the New York police. It prints in parallel columns details of the Panama discussion and of the New York Police scandals, and says:

"No honest-minded American looking at the parallel columns in to-day's newspaper which records these two reproachful histories can avoid feeling that contempt for national honor in high places coupled with such grave infamies in the details of administration point to a generic evil in public life that calls for most strenuous and united efforts at reform."

A Little More Friendly.

The Westminster Gazette in a more friendly article praises the great work of canal building, and says that it did not occur to any one in Europe that in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty the United States did not limit itself in the exercise of its sovereign rights, as nations generally do when they make treaties.

QUEEN MOTHER SENT WREATH

Memory of General Booth Honored—Tributes in Leading Pulpits

London, Aug. 26.—Great crowds gathered outside Congress Hall all day yesterday hoping to view the body of the late Salvation army leader, General William Booth, which for the past two days had been lying in state. The body, however, had been removed overnight to the General's private room, and the hall was used for the regular Salvation Army service.

The hall was filled to its capacity of 2,000 persons at each of the three services. Of the floral tributes massed on the platform those of Queen-mother Alexandria and Emperor William were the most notable. The British and foreign flags and the decorations on the walls of the halls had not been removed.

Tributes were paid to the dead evangelist in all the Nonconformist pulpits and in most of the pulpits of the Established Church. Eulogies also were read in the Catholic churches.

FROM THE QUEEN MOTHER.

London, August 26.—A wreath sent by Queen-mother Alexandra was laid on General Booth's bier. The inscription read: "To the memory of General Booth, to whom this whole nation owes an eternal debt of gratitude for the services he rendered to suffering humanity—(Signed) Alexandra."

PRIESTS LEAD ALBANIAN WAR

Constantinople, Aug. 26.—Thirty Albanian insurgents were killed and 20 wounded during a sharp attack yesterday on the Turkish seaport of Durazzo, on the Adriatic coast.

The Albanians, who numbered [illegible], were under the command of priests, who led them in a furious onslaught. The Turkish troops at first gave way but reinforcements arrived and routed the insurgents, who fled into the surrounding country.

The commander of the Turkish garrison reports six casualties among his men.

Durazzo was formerly a flourishing port, but the harbor has become silted and much of the town is in ruins.

AWAY AT CARD SINGS BABY TO SLEEP BY WIRE

Steubenville, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Putting babies to sleep by singing lullabys to him over the telephone from bridge whist parties is the newest thing in social circles here. This method was introduced by Mrs. Harry G. Zanier, while she attended an afternoon bridge game at a neighbor's home.

The nurse telephoned to Mrs. Zanier that the baby had been crying for an hour and that she could not quiet the child. Mrs. Zanier gave a few hurried instructions to the nurse and a moment later the guests were surprised to hear Mrs. Zanier singing softly into the transmitter.

The baby had been placed in a basket on a stand near the telephone, the receiver to its ear, and it was lulled into dreamland by the mother's voice. In five minutes she had resumed her place at the card table.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South, Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Kissimmee Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a [illegible] day. Write for maps, illustrated booklets, [illegible] particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Low, Ontario, Manager, [illegible] street, Toronto. D-4 in J4

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 50c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives briskness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 356 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¾ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A Veteran Legislator.

One of the veterans of the British House of Commons is Mr. Henry Chaplin, who has advocated tariff reform in season and out of season for longer than probably he cares to remember. He has ever displayed solicitude for the agricultural portion of the community, and there is certainly no politician of the day who understands rural constituencies better than Mr. Chaplin.

He is, of course, an old hand at electioneering, and knows exactly what will go down with Farmer Giles and his friends. As a sportsman and a landlord they appreciate him highly.

IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

What Occurs When Two or More Peers Want to Speak at Once.

There is no rule against a dozen peers, or the entire peerage for that matter, rising and addressing the Lord Chancellor at the same time. The Lord Chancellor has no power to select the peer who shall speak. A Lord Chancellor's leg may be pulled, we imagine, but his eyes can never be caught. For all he can do, two peers wishing to addres the House and refusing the give way one to the other could stay on their feet until one of them dropped from exhaustion.

This is no exaggeration. Within living memory two peers engaged in an adventure which at first threatened to develop into a tiring down contest after the manner of Goldsmith's dancers. It happened in 1864 on a warm July day and was very entertaining while it lasted.

The two were Earl Granville and Lord Cairns. Both rose simultaneously to speak. The two peers stood facing each other at the table, and each tried to speak, while their partisans kept shouting "Granville!" and "Cairns!" in an aristocratic manner. Lord Selborne sat on the woolsack helpless. The scene might have lasted until either Earl Granville or Lord Cairns had fallen fainting had not Lord Beauchamp earned immortal fame by creating a precedent in the House of Lords. He moved, in a tone of anger, that Lord Cairns be heard, and Lord Cork, in a similar tone, moved that Lord Granville be heard.

A vote was taken, and Lord Granville won by a majority of one in a House of fifty-three excited peers. So if the Lord Chancellor at any time finds himself confronted by two noble but obstinate orators there is a precedent to fall back upon which may be found useful.—London News.

V. C. Man In Workhouse.

There is at present in the infirmary of the Cambridge (Eng.) workhouse an ex-noncommissioned officer of the army who holds the Victoria Cross, and is a member of a family of soldiers, three brothers, two sons, and eight nephews either serving or having served in various branches of the army.

The man is James Collis, who was born in Cambridge in 1861, and enlisted in the 49th Foot in 1872. He was transferred to the R.H.A., and went out to India, where he arrived just before the war broke out with Afghanistan. Collis went to the front with Major Blackwood and E Battery of B Brigade of the R.H.A., and was present at the disaster at Maiwand, when the British force was almost annihilated by Ayub Khan.

Collis, who was then a gunner, loaded sick and wounded on his gun and made for the British base, which he reached after great difficulties. He was nearly cut off on the way, and to save his charges unlimbered his gun, under fire of which the wounded were removed on the limber. He was relieved by a troop of Bombay cavalry, under Gen. Nuttall, who complimented him upon his bravery.

Shortly afterwards he made a daring trip with despatches.

Twelve months later, at a parade on the Poonah Racecourse, Collis had his name called out and had the Victoria Cross pinned on his coat by Lord Roberts (then Gen. Roberts).

Collis afterwards joined the Bombay police in which he became an inspector, and experienced various adventures. He returned to England, where his health gave way, and he finally decided to make for his native place, whose workhouse infirmary now shelters him.

Two Recipes.

For a Wedding—To one summer's night add two young persons, a bench and a little propinquity. Mix in one lock of wavy hair, an atom of delicate perfume and stir with a slight breeze. Sprinkle the whole with moonlight and let alone for the evening.

For Happy Wedded Life.—To one woman add numerous kisses, each supplemented with "Yes, dear; I love you more than ever." Mix thoroughly with long pleased expressions at sight of new gowns and hats, and season with many remarks about "youthful appearance." Sprinkle liberally with checks and bonbons (courtship brand). Do not stir up.

Maund and Maunder.

Neither maund, a basket, nor maunder, to whine or grumble, is obsolete. Both are still in common use in South Notts and Leicestershire, at any rate. The former is used only, however, of a particular kind of basket, used for carrying butter to market. The basket is nearly square in shape and has two lids opening from the middle part, where the handle is, and it is called the "butter mawn" (maund). Maunder is usually heard in such sentences as "What are you maundering at?" A Northumbrian will say, "He's a maundering old fool," when the man of whom he is speaking strings words together in a senseless sort of way somewhat akin to maudling.—London Notes and Queries.

Sir Sam Evan's Story.

Sir Samuel T. Evans, president of the British Divorce Court, has several good stories to tell relating to his profession. One which concerns a man who stole a pair of trousers is decidedly naive. This man received a favorable verdict, but when the case was over he showed no signs of leaving the court. At last his lawyer asked him why he didn't go. The innocent (?) man whispered in reply: "The fact is, sir, I did not like to move till the witnesses had left the court. You see I've got on the trousers wot I stole."

No better aid to digestion—no more pleasing beverage—nothing better for you.

Pure, sparkling, delicious. Relieves brain fag. Bucks you up. The mildest of stimulating liquid food.

DIRTY BANK BILLS

The Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association says that the public is responsible for the circulation of dirty bills. The figures given as to the destruction of bank notes, $[illegible],335 in 1911, are certainly impressive as they represent more than a third of the average circulation of bank notes during that year. Still, we are inclined to be skeptical as to the conclusion drawn from them by banking authorities. We can believe that the public will accept dirty notes from the banks but we have yet to hear of the man who refused to accept a clean bill and asked for a dirty one in exchange. The Government, too, is partly to blame, as it controls a circulation of over $21,000,000 in small notes. Still, we fancy that the banks have the key to the situation. They can destroy their own soiled currency, and they can turn back the Dominion notes on the Government.

SIXTY YEARS YOUNG.

That despite the alleged Osler theory a man is not too old for work at sixty years of age is shown by figures just made public by the Pennsylvania railroad, which has in active service 4,717 employees who are between the ages of sixty and seventy. Under the road's pension system, an employe may retire at the age of seventy, and there are now 182 men receiving pensions who have served forty years or more in the company's service. But there are even more active employees than that who have worked for the good forty years or longer, the number being altogether 2,040.

A man is only as old as his arteries, say the philosophic physicians, and a man's arteries are what he himself has been. If dissipated and otherwise a violator of nature's commands, the arteries will tell a sure tale of past years. On the other hand, a man who has lived regularly and soberly, as most railway men necessarily do, should be good for active service long after he has passed sixty and even seventy. Not only is the regular and careful liver served with better health, but his chances of accumulating a competence for his later years are infinitely better and brighter. In addition, he is getting the best out of life.

Sixty isn't too old for work, nor is seventy too old to enjoy the fruits of labor. Every day something is coming to light which makes the world a still better place in which to live, and every day there are more people forgetting to grow old and are keeping young by active and cheerful labor.

Headaches Over the Eyes Means Frontal Catarrh

APT TO GET INTO EARS, CAUSING DEAFNESS, OR TO REACH THE LUNGS AND END IN CONSUMPTION.

You Can Cure Catarrh in Any Stage by Breathing the Healing Balsamic Fumes of Catarrhozone, and Here is Proof.

Mr. Urie Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetsburg, Que., inherited catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

"Every organ of my body seemed affected, and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

"Catarrhozone pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continuously and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Everyone in town knows I was just about dead with catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

Two months' treatment, large size, price $1, and guaranteed. Small size, 50c., all reliable dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont. Beware of dangerous substitutes and imitations for "Catarrhozone."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The commanding general of the Salvation Army continues to be General Booth.

Evidently Sir Wilfrid Laurier intends to have a hot time when he visits the West this autumn, as he purposes, according to the London Advertiser, to "set the prairie on fire."

Mayor Gaynor, who, a few days ago vehemently asserted that there is no graft in the police department of New York, says now that it has been rampant for the past twenty years. It is obvious that he wants the country to know it began before his administration.

If the Whitney government were to undertake the work of preventing floods in the Grand river valley, as requested by a deputation, it would have to assume responsibility for all the floods on all the rivers in the province—and there would be no revenue left for other purposes.

"I do not intend to discuss dead issues," said the Hon. Ted Roosevelt, referring to the Hon. Bill Taft. It is safe to say that when the Hon. Bill learned that he had been called the "dead issue" his indignation reached a higher pitch than when he declared he was tired of being "a straw man" and was going to fight like "a cornered rat."

"The West is swinging to Laurier," says a writer in a Liberal paper. But this great family journal is of opinion, in the light of the recent action of Sir Wilfrid's quondam friends (Bill Taft and others in the United States) that the West is swing at him and not to him. Patriotic Canadians have no stomach for nations who have no regard for their treaties.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

WEIGHING OF COAL.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—I notice in your paper, purporting to be a reply to my former letter, in which I suggest that all coal be weighed on the market scales. Your correspondent, who signs himself "Just Me," compares the coal dealer to the grocer, the butcher and the dry goods merchant. How ridiculous! He knows that in every well regulated home they check off their groceries, meat, etc., by weighing them on their arrival. This is impossible with coal, as it is put into the coal dealer's rig. When "Just Me" gets any money does he not count it. Does not the coal man likewise count the money he receives for his coal? Then why not also weigh the coal?

I say again that all coal should be weighed on the public scales, and I hope the council will make this a law. If the coal men are honest, as we naturally presume they (or some of them) or if they make a mistake (we all make mistakes) in the weight, they cannot possibly object to having their weights checked.

I was told that a citizen, who had reason to suspect short weight, took the trouble to get a platform scale and personally weighed the coal, of course entailing a large amount of work. He found he was over a ton shy. This may have been a mistake on the part of the coal man, and this was the charitable view he took of it.

—Honest Weight.

IN LEAGUE WITH POACHERS?

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—In Saturday's Review I find the following:

"Look out for the Government fishery patrol boat "Naiad." It called at Lindsay yesterday, in charge of Captain Carson and is coming this way. Capt. Hunter, of Belleville, Fish and Game Magistrate for the Province, is also on board, and is conferring with the local game and fishery overseers, wherever the Naiad ties up."

What does this mean? Why should the Review warn poachers to be on their guard? Why not help Captain Carson to catch the law breakers instead of warning them of the approach of the river police boat? Is this another case of graft, and if so, what is the rake-off for the paper? Somebody should go around with a club and try and knock a little sense into the skull of your contemporary.

—Common Sense.

IN MEMORIAM.

In Loving Memory of Mrs. Fred Calder, Who Died July 11th, 1912.

She has drifted out beyond our sight
Across the dreary, tideless sea,
Which rolls 'twixt us and mansions bright,
Prepared our glorious home to be.

Her soul was planned for Heaven and here,
No longer might she stay,
Far guardian angels hovering near,
On radiant pinions wafted her a-way.

Death loosed the prison bars of clay,
Each galling fetter gently broke,
No more she treads the thorny way,
Or bends beneath the weary yoke.

Calmly she walked the narrow way,
That steep ascends mid grief and pain,
The path which leads no foot astray,
But guides through death to priceless gain.

Let not one tear bedim our eyes,
For her whose trial course is run;
Nor mourn when safe in paradise,
Her glad employ is now begun.

Tho' dwelling now where ne'er shall set
The sun on world of fadeless bliss,
They err who thinks she can forget
Dear friends so lonely now in this.

For ah! We miss the friendship true
The pleasant smile and kindly face,
And see beneath the cloudless blue,
A shade the sun can never chase.

Still faith and hope with silvery song,
Sings in our hearts the sweet refrain,
In patience wait, twill not be long,
Until in joy we meet again.

Aye, joy beyond our longings vain
To meet where care is felt no more
Unchecked by fear of death or pain,
Love's farthest limit to explore."

To drink of living streams that pour
Fresh from the Throne a crystal flood,
And praise his name for evermore,
Who won our passport with His blood.

Sweet be her slumber on the hill,
Where Summer's sainted dead repose,
While sweep the wind of winter shrill
Or summer's softest zephyr blows.

Time fleeting rends each earthborn tie,
That binds our fickle hearts below,
Till all our treasures in the sky,
We hear the welcome call to go.

Coming obedient to Thy kind behest,
Which sets the captive exile free,
Grant us dear Lord at last a rest,
Like her in Warsaw and in Thee

NOTHING IMPROPER IN LORD'S PRAYER

Attorney-General of Oklahoma Renders Important Decision.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 26.—After carefully reading the Lord's Prayer, Attorney General Charles West of Oklahoma, has come to the conclusion that it is proper that the public school should be permitted to have it read or recited in the schools. He made the announcement Wednesday when giving out an opinion render at the request of A. V. Hamilton, superintendent of schools at Coalgate, Okla., where a controversy has hinged on the question of repeating the prayer in the schools.

"I have been familiar with the prayer all my life," declared the attorney general, "and have lately read it very carefully. I find nothing in it intolerant to the religious views of any one."

SANDS THAT SING.

A Scientist Declares That Scotland Has the Best Singing Sands.

A lecture given recently at the Royal Societies Club by Mr. Carus-Wilson was devoted to a consideration of the extraordinary sands known as "musical" or "singing" sands.

The best singing sands in the world come from the Isle of Egg, off the coast of Scotland, and it is comforting to know that, whatever figure Britain may cut in grand opera, she is at least prominent when it comes to a question of singing sand. But what is singing sand? Mr. Carus-Wilson went to great pains to leave no doubt on the subject, and although his audience contained many eminent geologists, he asked leave to begin at the very beginning and to treat his audience "as an audience of boys."

The lecturer showed how the rocks of which the earth is composed are decomposed by the action of natural causes, chiefly the weather; how cliffs become boulders; how boulders become pebbles, and pebbles in turn become sand. In the course of time it occurs that nature, that most versatile old lady, produces a kind of sand which has music in its soul; a sand composed of quartz, rounded and highly polished, of a uniform size, and very clean.

And when these are agitated so as to produce vibrations, by means of the wind, by being trodden upon, or by being struck, they produce musical notes. Such perfect deposits are found in the Isle of Egg, and it was by means of samples of the real Egg variety that the lecturer produced musical notes.

Filling a wooden egg-cup with sand from the Isle of Egg, he stabbed the sand with a wooden ninepin abstracted, he said, from the nursery at home, and produced a high musical note. The sand behaved better in the egg-cup than in anything else. In a cardboard box its musical note remained dumb, as it did in a flower-pot and in the half of a rubber ball. In half a wooden Easter egg the sand from the Isle of Egg, as the lecturer remarked, "positively revelled" in its surroundings, and emitted a sharp, joyous squeaking.

Musical sands have been known for 1,000 years, and it is believed that there is a reference to them in one of the tales of the "Arabian Nights." But nature, who conducts experiments on quite a different scale from those at the Royal Societies Club, produces much finer results. There is the Mountain of the Bell on the shores of the Red Sea, which makes extraordinary sounds and boomings when the winds set the countless millions of particles rubbing against each other and vibrating.

A Queer Club.

"The Little Club" of London was a distinctly original institution. It was intended for those not five feet high. Invitations to be present at the inaugural meeting did not meet with a very hearty response. The scheme had to be modified owing to the occasional awkward situations created through the use of ordinary sized furniture; as when a member, imaging the president to be absent, gave vent to some contemptuous criticisms of him, only to find that his face had been temporarily eclipsed by a flash of wine which stood before him on the table. After this the premises were furnished in proportion to the size of the club members, the door was made high enough to admit a man of five feet, and no more, and to "brush your foretop" on entering was to be disqualified for membership.

Queer Clubs.

The title "Cave of the Golden Calf" bestowed on London's first Cabaret Theatre Club, which has just been opened, recalls other curiously-named clubs which have flourished in this country at different times. For instance, there was the "Calves' Head Club," founded in "ridicule of the memory of Charles I.," whose meetings for obvious reasons were rather suspiciously regarded after the Restoration. "The Everlasting" was a purely social club, with a membership of 100 souls. Social intercourse was always obtainable within its walls, for the rules arranged for the presence of members day and night throughout the year.

Rousseau in England.

Part of Rousseau's stay in England was spent at Chiswick, where he lodged over a small grocer's shop. "The philosopher sits in the shop," writes a contemporary, "and learns English words, which brings many customers to the place."

KILLED A PROSPECTOR.

And British Expedition Takes Summary Vengeance on Cannibals.

Further details of the recent attack by pagan cannibals in Nigeria on a British mining expedition and the murder of Mr. Campbell, the [illegible] prospector in charge, have been received in London.

As soon as the news of the outrage reached the British Resident, punitive measures were taken, and all the villages implicated were destroyed. There was no casualties on the British side apart from a few arrow wounds, but a large number of natives were killed. It is not expected that there will be any further trouble.

It seems that Mr. Campbell with his only white companion, Mr. Poole, had been working in the locality of the attack for two weeks during which time the natives treated the expedition well. All went satisfactory until it became necessary for the party to erect flags and beacons to mark the limits of the ground. Unfortunately for these, and especially small white cloth flags which were planted among the native crops, aroused the superstitious fear of the pagans, who regarded them as a "juju" against their farms.

Warnings were given as to the threatened danger, but apparently these were not regarded as serious. Suddenly one morning two old pagan chiefs arrived on the scene, throwing earth over their heads, a proceeding which it was thought, was intended to indicate that the visitors should go, as the people were getting out of hand.

Definite news on the point is wanting, but it is probable that this action was wrongly explained by the interpreter as merely being a native form of salute. In any case, the chiefs retired, and in a few minutes the expedition was attacked.

By good luck Mr. Poole, who was wounded, reached his horse, but Mr. Campbell missed his and was shot down by innumerable arrows. A few days after his body was recovered and buried.

MAGIC WATER TOYS.

Wonderful Play Toys That Amuse the Children of the Orient.

Europe and America turn out for the edification of their children many ingenious toys, but the occidental youngsters have nothing to compare with the strange expanding water toys with which the children of the far east have for centuries amused themselves.

They are placed in small wooden boxes similar to the little paint boxes so often seen in our own country. They have the appearance of soiled shavings, broken matches and dilapidated toothpicks, but when thrown into the water the ingenious toys at once exhibit properties that show them to be considerably more than mere bits of stick.
